Source Note Information

A source note shows the legislative history of a C.R.S. section and is located immediately after the text of the section. The source note for each section indicates the year the section was added, each year it was amended, and the page of the Session Laws and the section of the bill where the amendment can be found. The source note includes the number of the section in prior codifications when applicable. For amendments made after 1973, information on each specific provision of the section that has been changed by a bill, the specific change to the provision (i.e. added, added with relocations, amended, amended with relocations, repealed, repealed and reenacted, or recreated and reenacted), and the effective date of the bill are shown.

The legislative history is arranged by year of passage; if the section was amended by two or more acts in the same year, the order of the information for that year is determined by the effective dates of the acts. The effective date in the source note indicates the date the act or portion of the act takes effect even if the text of the amendment indicates a different date. If the year is not included with the month and day, the provision is effective the year of passage. Additional information to assist the user in researching C.R.S. sections can be found beginning on page vii.

The following provides a further explanation of the information found in a source note:

“L.” is the symbol for “Session Laws” and will be followed by a number indicating the year when the C.R.S. section was changed by an act generally either creating new law, amending existing law, or repealing existing law; except that, in the constitution, “L.” also means constitutional measures referred by the General Assembly and voted on by the people of Colorado at a general or an odd-year election.

“Ex. Sess.” is the symbol for “Extraordinary Session”. If this symbol follows the year, the amended provision can be found in the Session Laws for an extraordinary session for that year and not in the Session Laws for the regular session of the General Assembly for that year (S, S2 in the Red Book).

“p.” is the symbol for “page” and will be followed by a number indicating the page of the Session Laws where the amendment to the C.R.S. section can be found.

“§” is the symbol for “section” and will be followed by a number indicating the section of the act where the amendment to the C.R.S. section can be found.

“IP” is the symbol for the “introductory portion” to a section, subsection, paragraph, or subparagraph.

“Added” means the provision was newly enacted by the act (N in the Red Book).

“Added with relocations” means the provision in existing law was relocated from one title, article, part, or section to another title, article, part, or section with amendments by the act.

“Amended” means the provision in existing law was amended by the act (A in the Red Book).

“Amended with relocations” means the provision in existing law was amended to reorganize an entire title, article, part, or section by the act.

“Repealed” means the provision was deleted from the existing law by the act through the use of a repeal provision (R in the Red Book).

“R&RE” is the symbol for “Repealed and Reenacted” and means the provision in existing law was repealed and reenacted by the act (RE in the Red Book).

“RC&RE” is the symbol for “Recreated and Reenacted” and means a previously repealed provision has been recreated by the act (RC in the Red Book).

“Added by revision” means a provision providing for the repeal of a statutory provision on a specified date has been added by the Revisor of Statutes as a C.R.S. provision. Adding the provision is necessary because a separate section of the act provided for the repeal of the provision with a future effective date.

“Initiated” means a provision that was amended by means of an initiated petition approved by a vote of the people of Colorado at a general or an odd-year election.

“Referred” means a provision that was amended by a measure referred by the General Assembly and voted on by the people of Colorado at a general or an odd-year election; except that, in the constitution, a referred measure is indicated by “L.” and also means constitutional measures referred by the General Assembly and voted on by the people of Colorado at a general or an odd-year election.

Starting in 2009, references to the bill number and chapter number have been included in the source note. If you are conducting a search on-line, the bill number reference within the source note links directly to the bill itself.

Colorado Statutory Research

Legislative history is not already written. It must be compiled by the researcher from many different sources and materials. The following information is a helpful starting point in identifying information you wish to research. Consult the red book table distributed with the session laws, the softbound editions of Colorado Revised Statutes beginning in 1997, the comparative tables located in the back of the C.R.S. index, C.R.S. 1963 and subsequent cumulative supplements thereto through 1971, and C.R.S. 1973 and annual cumulative supplements thereto through 1996.

Prior to 1921, enacted laws were not compiled into a comparative table, thereby making it more difficult to track the legislative history. Determining the subject matter in the statutory index is the only choice for tracking the history of a statute since a statute did not retain its original number. The General Statutes of 1883 arranged laws into numbered chapters, alphabetically entitled, collated, and arranged by sections. This became the foundation and model for compiling the statutes until the codification of C.R.S. 1973. (See Revised Statutes of Colorado 1908, An Act Providing For the Compilation, Publication, and Distribution of all the general statutes of the state.)

References in some source notes throughout the Colorado Revised Statutes to “Code 08”, “Code 21”, and “Code 35” are to the Revised Statutes of Colorado 1908, the Compiled Laws of Colorado 1921, and the Colorado Statutes Annotated 1935, respectively. Each of these volumes set forth the general statutes of the state of Colorado, including the Code of Civil Procedure and, in 1935, the Colorado Supreme Court Rules. On January 6, 1941, the Colorado Supreme Court adopted the new Rules of Civil Procedure, which became effective on April 6, 1941, resulting in the publication of a replacement volume. Thereafter, the publication of the Colorado Court Rules, although a continuing part of the Colorado Revised Statutes, contained a combination of the Federal Rules and the Colorado Code of Civil Procedure and, in addition, included some provisions that were entirely distinct from both the Federal Rules and the Colorado Code of Civil Procedure, as adopted or amended by the Supreme Court of Colorado.

To research a statute as it existed in previous years, the following is a chronological list of C.R.S. publications and the correct citation for each publication.

- 1969 hardbound supplement containing laws enacted in 1968 and 1969
- 1971 hardbound supplement containing laws enacted in 1970 and 1971

The softbound publication of the “Official Report of the Committee on Legal Services” was not intended as an official publication of our office. Copies were distributed to the members of the General Assembly for the purpose of certifying the laws enacted in the 1972 and 1973 Sessions for inclusion in the compilation of the 1973 C.R.S., which was not available until 1974. To find the 1972 or 1973 amended language, refer to the session laws of either 1972 or 1973.

Bills Enacted Without A Safety Clause
Explanation of Effective Date

If a bill is enacted without a safety clause and an effective date is not indicated in the bill, the effective date is the day following the expiration of the ninety-day period after final adjournment of the General Assembly that is allowed for submitting a referendum petition pursuant to article V, section 1 (3) of the state Constitution unless a referendum petition is filed against the act within such time period. If a referendum petition is filed, the act, if approved by the people, will take effect on the date of the official declaration of the vote thereon by proclamation of the Governor or the date indicated in the act if it is later than the Governor’s proclamation. The source note for a provision contained in such an act will indicate the actual date following the ninety-day period or the date set out in the act. If a referendum petition is filed, the date in the source note will be adjusted accordingly in the next publication following the election where the referendum petition is considered.

Annotations

Beginning in 2012, the annotations for Colorado state appellate court decisions include both public domain and regional reporter case cites. In preparing annotations to court decisions, we endeavor to include the most recent decisions. Occasionally, this may result in the inclusion of a decision before it becomes finalized and published in an official reporter. In such instances, the case cite will contain blank spaces for the volume and page number of the reporter. The volume and page number will be substituted for the blank spaces in subsequent publications of the statutes.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BUDGET LAW OF COLORADO

Editor's note: This part 1 was numbered as article 1 of chapter 88, C.R.S. 1963. The provisions of this part 1 were repealed and reenacted in 1990, resulting in the addition, relocation, and elimination of sections as well as subject matter. For amendments to this part 1 prior to 1990, consult the Colorado statutory research explanatory note and the table itemizing the replacement volumes and supplements to the original volume of C.R.S. 1973 beginning on page vii in the front of this volume. Former C.R.S. section numbers are shown in editor's notes following those sections that were relocated.

Cross references: For the constitutional provision that establishes limitations on spending, the imposition of taxes, and the incurring of debt, see section 20 of article X of the Colorado constitution; for standards of conduct for local government officials, see article 18 of title 24.

29-1-103. Budgets required. (1) Each local government shall adopt an annual budget. To the extent that the financial activities of any local government are fully reported in the budget or budgets of a parent local government or governments, a separate budget is not required. Such budget shall present a complete financial plan by fund and by spending agency within each fund for the budget year and shall set forth the following:

(a) All proposed expenditures for administration, operations, maintenance, debt service, and capital projects to be undertaken or executed by any spending agency during the budget year;

(b) Anticipated revenues for the budget year;

(c) Estimated beginning and ending fund balances;

(d) The corresponding actual figures for the prior fiscal year and estimated figures projected through the end of the current fiscal year, including disclosure of all beginning and ending fund balances, consistent with the basis of accounting used to prepare the budget;

(e) A written budget message describing the important features of the proposed budget, including a statement of the budgetary basis of accounting used and a description of the services to be delivered during the budget year; and

(f) Explanatory schedules or statements classifying the expenditures by object and the revenues by source.

(2) No budget adopted pursuant to this section shall provide for expenditures in excess of available revenues and beginning fund balances.

(3) (a) The general assembly finds and declares that the use of lease-purchase agreements by local governments creates financial obligations of those governments and that the disclosure of such obligations is in the public interest and is a matter of statewide concern.

(b) In addition to the governmental entities included in the definition of "local government" in section 29-1-102, the provisions of this subsection (3) shall apply to every home rule city, home rule city and county, school district, and junior college district.

(c) As used in this subsection (3), "lease-purchase agreement" means a capital lease as defined in the generally accepted accounting principles issued by the governmental accounting standards board that the controller prescribes for the state as specified in section 24-30-202 (12), C.R.S.

(d) (I) The budget adopted by every local government shall separately set forth each of the following:

(A) The total amount to be expended during the ensuing fiscal year for payment obligations under all lease-purchase agreements involving real property;

(B) The total maximum payment liability of the local government under all lease-purchase agreements involving real property over the entire terms of such agreements, including all optional renewal terms;

(C) The total amount to be expended during the ensuing fiscal year for payment obligations under all lease-purchase agreements other than those involving real property;

(D) The total maximum payment liability of the local government under all lease-purchase agreements other than those involving real property over the entire terms of such agreements, including all optional renewal terms.

(II) Each budget required to be filed pursuant to section 29-1-113 shall include a supplemental schedule that contains the information described in this paragraph (d).

(e) (I) No local government shall enter into any lease-purchase agreement whose duration, including all optional renewal terms, exceeds the weighted average useful life of the assets being financed. In the case of a lease-purchase agreement involving both real property and other property, the lease-purchase agreement shall provide that the real property involved shall be amortized over a period not to exceed its weighted average useful life and the other property shall be separately amortized over a period not to exceed its weighted average useful life. This provision shall not prevent a local government from releasing property from a lease-purchase agreement pursuant to an amortization schedule reflecting the times when individual pieces of property have been amortized.

(II) Nothing contained in this paragraph (e) shall be construed to apply to any lease-purchase agreement entered into prior to April 9, 1990.

29-1-108. Adoption of budget - appropriations - failure to adopt. (1) The governing body of the local government shall hold a hearing to consider the adoption of the proposed budget, at which time objections of the electors of the local government shall be considered. The governing body shall revise, alter, increase, or decrease the items as it deems necessary in view of the needs of the various spending agencies and the anticipated revenue of the local government. Adoption of the proposed budget shall be effective only upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the governing body.

(2) Before the mill levy is certified pursuant to section 39-1-111 or 39-5-128, C.R.S., the governing body shall enact an ordinance or resolution adopting the budget and making appropriations for the budget year. Changes to the adopted budget or appropriation shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section 29-1-109.

(3) If the governing body fails to adopt a budget before certification of the mill levy as provided for in subsection (2) of this section, then ninety percent of the amounts appropriated in the current fiscal year for operation and maintenance expenses shall be deemed reappropriated for the purposes specified in such last appropriation ordinance or resolution.

ANNOTATION

Annotator's note. Since § 29-1-108 is similar to §§ 29-1-110 and 29-1-111 as they existed prior to the 1990 repeal and reenactment of this part 1, relevant cases construing those provisions have been included in the annotations to this section.

This section requires the governing body of such subdivisions to enact an appropriation resolution for each fiscal year and further states that the amounts appropriated shall not exceed the amounts established by the budget as adopted. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

Taxpayers may demand refund of excess school taxation. If school directors, although proceeding in form as required by law, certify an amount to be raised by taxation greatly beyond the school requirements, they thereby supply a basis for a demand by taxpayers for a refund of the excess. Lowden v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 101 Colo. 52, 69 P.2d 779 (1937).

Circumstances to be considered by governing body in determining reasonableness of salaries include the amount of revenue available, the needs of other county departments, and the ability of the county's taxpayers to fund additional requests, as well as the requesting department's need for the expenditures. Tihonovich v. Williams, 196 Colo. 144, 582 P.2d 1051 (1978).

Purpose of subsections (3) and (4) is to prevent collapse of governmental subdivision.

These provisions were designed to insure that various governmental subdivisions regulated by the budget law would not collapse through failure to adopt a budget or to appropriate moneys; rather, under it, subdivisions failing to budget or appropriate are at least allowed to maintain themselves and to carry out essential functions of public service until such time as a proper budget is adopted and appropriations made. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

Certification of tax levy no substitute. Certification of the tax levy to the board of county commissioners does not correct a water and sanitation district's failure to adopt a budget and pass an appropriation resolution. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

This section does not permit initiation of new projects or capital expenditures. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

29-1-109. Changes to budget - transfers - supplemental appropriations.

(1) (a) If, after adopting the budget and making appropriations, the governing body of a local government deems it necessary, it may transfer appropriated moneys between funds or between spending agencies within a fund, as determined by the original appropriation level, in accordance with the procedures established in subsection (2) of this section.

(b) If, after adoption of the budget, the local government receives unanticipated revenues or revenues not assured at the time of the adoption of the budget from any source other than the local government's property tax mill levy, the governing body may authorize the expenditure of such funds by enacting a supplemental budget and appropriation.

(c) In the event that revenues are lower than anticipated in the adopted budget, the governing body may adopt a revised appropriation ordinance or resolution as provided in section 29-1-108.

(2) (a) Any transfer, supplemental appropriation, or revised appropriation made pursuant to this section shall be made only by ordinance or resolution which complies with the notice provisions of section 29-1-106.

(b) For transfers, such ordinance or resolution shall set forth in full the amounts to be transferred and shall be documented in detail in the minutes of the meeting of the governing body. A certified copy of such ordinance or resolution shall be transmitted immediately to the affected spending agencies and the officer or employee of the local government whose duty it is to draw warrants or orders for the payment of money and to keep the record of expenditures as required by section 29-1-114. A certified copy of such ordinance or resolution shall be filed with the division.

(c) For supplemental budgets and appropriations, such ordinance or resolution shall set forth in full the source and amount of such revenue, the purpose for which such revenues are being budgeted and appropriated, and the fund or spending agency which shall make such supplemental expenditure. A certified copy of such ordinance or resolution shall be filed with the division.

29-1-110. Expenditures not to exceed appropriation. (1) During the fiscal year, no officer, employee, or other spending agency shall expend or contract to expend any money, or incur any liability, or enter into any contract which, by its terms, involves the expenditures of money in excess of the amounts appropriated. Any contract, verbal or written, made in violation of this section shall be void, and no moneys belonging to a local government shall be paid on such contract.

(2) Multiple-year contracts may be entered into where allowed by law or if subject to annual appropriation.

Editor's note: This section is similar to former § 29-1-113 as it existed prior to 1990.

ANNOTATION

Annotator's note. Since § 29-1-110 is similar to § 29-1-113 as it existed prior to the 1990 repeal and reenactment of this part 1, relevant cases construing that provision have been included in the annotations to this section.

The purposes of this section are to protect the taxpayer against improvident use of tax revenue, to encourage citizen participation and debate prior to the institution of public projects, to insure public disclosure of proposed spending, and to encourage prudence and thrift by those elected to direct expenditures of public funds. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

Effect of no appropriation. Since there is an absolute prohibition against spending in excess of an appropriation, there can be no sum spent when there is no appropriation. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

Specific project allocations not deemed appropriations. A contractor was allowed to collect for change orders over and above his original bid because the appropriation ordinance to the sewer fund by the town board prevailed over later specific allocations to projects by town officials which were not deemed appropriations. R.L. Atkins, Inc. v. ARIX, 675 P.2d 336 (Colo. App. 1983).

Required formalities. This section requires that certain formalities, such as public hearings and formal adoption of budgets, be complied with before public funds can be spent. Shannon Water & San. Dist. v. Norris & Sons Drilling Co., 29 Colo. App. 48, 477 P.2d 476 (1970).

Recovery in specie where property furnished under unenforceable contract. Where property is furnished to a municipal corporation under an unenforceable contract and the municipality has not paid for the property, then the seller or person supplying the property may, upon equitable terms, recover it in specie. F.J. Kent Corp. v. Town of Dillon, 648 P.2d 669 (Colo. App. 1982).

But no recovery where property no longer in existence. There can be no recovery where the property is no longer in existence or identifiable, or where it cannot be restored to the plaintiff without serious damage to other property of the municipality. F.J. Kent Corp. v. Town of Dillon, 648 P.2d 669 (Colo. App. 1982).

Representations sheriff made to his deputies and clerks regarding cash compensation for overtime were made without approval of the board and, thus, are not binding on the county or the board. Johnson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 676 P.2d 1263 (Colo. App. 1984).

This section does not prohibit an award of attorney's fees pursuant to a remedy-granting provision in a contract between a municipality and a construction company. When a good faith dispute arises between a public entity and a contractor concerning the contractor's right to receive additional compensation under a remedy-granting provision of a public works contract, § 24-91-103.6 (4) precludes the use of the defense authorized by this section that no moneys have been appropriated as long as the contractor has complied with the provisions of the contract. Town of Alma v. AZCO Constr., Inc., 10 P.3d 1256 (Colo. 2000).

Applied in City of Englewood v. Ripple & Howe, Inc., 150 Colo. 434, 374 P.2d 360 (1962); People v. Losayio, 199 Colo. 212, 606 P.2d 856 (1980); Gude v. City of Lakewood, 636 P.2d 691 (Colo. 1981); Groditsky v. Pinckney, 661 P.2d 279 (Colo. 1983); Thyssenkrupp Safway, Inc. v. Hyland Hills Parks & Recreation Dist., 271 P.3d 587 (Colo. App. 2011).

29-1-111. Contingencies. In cases of emergency which could not have been reasonably foreseen at the time of adoption of the budget, the governing body may authorize the expenditure of funds in excess of the appropriation by ordinance or resolution duly adopted by a majority vote of such governing body at a public meeting. Such ordinance or resolution shall set forth the facts concerning such emergency and shall be documented in detail in the minutes of the meeting of such governing body at which such ordinance or resolution was adopted. A certified copy of such ordinance or resolution shall be filed with the division.

ANNOTATION

Annotator's note. Since § 29-1-111 is similar to § 29-1-114 as it existed prior to the 1990 repeal and reenactment of this part 1, relevant cases construing that provision have been included in the annotations to this section.

Absent a contingency, contract in excess of appropriations void. A contract by a city for a survey and detailed study for a sewer system is void where no appropriation had been made, where there was no casualty, accident, or unforeseen contingency. City of Englewood v.

Ripple & Howe, Inc., 150 Colo. 434, 374 P.2d 360 (1962).

Failure to set forth facts is technical deficiency. A city resolution authorizing an unforeseeable expenditure which fails to set forth in full the facts necessitating a departure from the normal budgeting and appropriations process is a technical deficiency and does not justify striking down a contract. Gude v. City of Lakewood, 636 P.2d 691 (Colo. 1981).

29-1-112. Payment for contingencies. In case of an emergency and the passage of an ordinance or resolution authorizing additional expenditures in excess of the appropriation as provided in section 29-1-111 and if there is money available for such excess expenditure in some other fund or spending agency which will not be needed for expenditures during the balance of the fiscal year, the governing body shall transfer the available money from such fund to the fund from which the excess expenditures are to be paid. If available money which can be so transferred is not sufficient to meet the authorized excess expenditure, then the governing body may obtain a temporary loan to provide for such excess expenditures. The total amount of the temporary loan shall not exceed the amount which can be raised by a two-mill levy on the total assessed valuation of the taxable property within the limits of the local government of such governing body.

Transfer to road and bridge fund not authorized. This section does not authorize the transfer of general fund revenue to the road and bridge fund to avoid the requirement of a mill levy pursuant to §§ 43-2-202 and 43-2-203. City of Greeley v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 644 P.2d 76 (Colo. App. 1981).

Section 30-25-106 (1) specifically prohibits the transfer of county general fund money for expenditures for roads and bridges. City of Colo. Springs v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 648 P.2d 671 (Colo. App. 1982).

29-1-113. Filing of budget. (1) No later than thirty days following the beginning of the fiscal year of the budget adopted pursuant to section 29-1-108, the governing body shall cause a certified copy of such budget, including the budget message, to be filed in the office of the division. Copies of such budget and of ordinances or resolutions authorizing expenditures or the transfer of funds shall be filed with the officer or employee of the local government whose duty it is to disburse moneys or issue orders for the payment of money.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 29-1-102 (13), budgets shall be filed with the division by home rule cities, cities and counties, and towns and cities operating under a territorial charter for the purpose of information and research.

(3) If the governing body of a local government fails to file a certified copy of the budget with the division as required by this section, the division, after notice to the affected local government, may notify any county treasurer holding moneys of the local government generated pursuant to the taxing authority of such local government and authorize the county treasurer to prohibit release of any such moneys until the local government complies with the provisions of this section.

Such record shall be kept so that it will show at all times the unexpended balance in each of the appropriated funds or spending agencies. 29-1-204. Establishment of separate governmental entity. (1) Any combination of cities and towns of this state which are authorized to own and operate electric systems may, by contract with each other or with cities and towns of any adjoining state, establish a separate governmental entity, to be known as a power authority, to be used by such contracting municipalities to effect the development of electric energy resources or production and transmission of electric energy in whole or in part for the benefit of the inhabitants of such contracting municipalities.

(2) Any contract establishing such separate governmental entity shall specify:

(a) The name and purpose of such entity and the functions or services to be provided by such entity;

(b) The establishment and organization of a governing body of the entity, which shall be a board of directors in which all legislative power of the entity is vested, including:

(I) The number of directors, their manner of appointment, their terms of office, their compensation if any, and the procedure for filling vacancies on the board;

(II) The officers of the entity, the manner of their selection, and their duties;

(III) The voting requirements for action by the board; except that, unless specifically provided otherwise, a majority of directors shall constitute a quorum, and a majority of the quorum shall be necessary for any action taken by the board;

(IV) The duties of the board which shall include the obligation to comply with the provisions of parts 1, 5, and 6 of this article;

(c) Provisions for the disposition, division, or distribution of any property or assets of the entity;

(d) The term of the contract, which may be continued for a definite term or until rescinded or terminated, and the method, if any, by which it may be rescinded or terminated; except that such contract may not be rescinded or terminated so long as the entity has bonds, notes, or other obligations outstanding, unless provision for full payment of such obligations, by escrow or otherwise, has been made pursuant to the terms of such obligations.

(3) The general powers of such entity shall include the following powers:

(a) To develop electric energy resources and produce or transmit electric energy in whole or in part for the benefit of the inhabitants of the contracting municipalities;

(b) To make and enter into contracts, including, without limitation, contracts with cities and towns in any adjoining state, irrespective of whether such cities and towns are parties to the contract establishing the separate governmental entity;

(c) To employ agents and employees;

(d) To acquire, construct, manage, maintain, or operate electric energy facilities, works, or improvements or any interest therein;

(e) To acquire, hold, lease (as lessor or lessee), sell, or otherwise dispose of any real or personal property, commodity, or service;

(f) To condemn property for public use, if such property is not owned by any public utility and devoted to such public use pursuant to state authority;

(g) To incur debts, liabilities, or obligations;

(h) To sue and be sued in its own name;

(i) To have and use a corporate seal;

(j) To fix, maintain, and revise fees, rates, and charges for functions, services, or facilities provided by the entity;

(k) To adopt, by resolution, regulations respecting the exercise of its powers and the carrying out of its purposes;

(l) To exercise any other powers which are essential to the provision of functions, services, or facilities by the entity and which are specified in the contract;

(m) To do and perform any acts and things authorized by this section under, through, or by means of an agent or by contracts with any person, firm, or corporation;

(n) To deposit moneys of the power authority not then needed in the conduct of the power authority affairs in any depository authorized in section 24-75-603, C.R.S. For the purpose of making such deposits, the board of directors may appoint, by written resolution, one or more persons to act as custodians of the moneys of the power authority. Such persons shall give surety bonds in such amounts and form and for such purposes as the board requires.

(o) To acquire or cross railroad rights-of-way in the manner set forth in section 40-5-105, C.R.S.

(4) The separate governmental entity established by such contracting municipalities shall be a political subdivision and a public corporation of the state, separate from the parties to the contract, and shall be a validly created and existing political subdivision and public corporation of the state, irrespective of whether a contracting municipality, including a city or town of an adjoining state, withdraws (whether voluntarily, by operation of law, or otherwise) from such entity subsequent to its creation under circumstances not resulting in the rescission or termination of the contract establishing such entity pursuant to its terms. It shall have the duties, privileges, immunities, rights, liabilities, and disabilities of a public body politic and corporate. The provisions of articles 10.5 and 47 of title 11, C.R.S., shall apply to moneys of the entity.

(5) The bonds, notes, and other obligations of such separate governmental entity shall not be the debts, liabilities, or obligations of the contracting municipalities.

(6) The contracting municipalities may provide in the contract for payment to the separate governmental entity of funds from proprietary revenues for services rendered by the entity, from proprietary revenues or other public funds as contributions to defray the cost of any purpose set forth in the contract, and from proprietary revenues or other public funds as advances for any purpose subject to repayment by the entity.

(7) (a) To carry out the purposes for which the separate governmental entity was established, the entity is authorized to issue bonds, notes, or other obligations payable solely from the revenues derived or to be derived from the function, service, or facility or the combined functions, services, or facilities of the entity or from any other available funds of the entity. The terms, conditions, and details of said bonds, notes, and other obligations, the procedures related thereto, and the refunding thereof shall be set forth in the resolution authorizing said bonds, notes, or other obligations and shall, as nearly as may be practicable, be substantially the same as those provided in part 4 of article 35 of title 31, C.R.S., relating to water and sewer revenue bonds; except that the purposes for which the same may be issued shall not be so limited and except that said bonds, notes, and other obligations may be sold at public or private sale. Bonds, notes, or other obligations issued under this subsection (7) shall not constitute an indebtedness of the entity or the cooperating or contracting municipalities within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitation or other provision. Each bond, note, or other obligation issued under this subsection (7) shall recite in substance that said bond, note, or other obligation, including the interest thereon, is payable solely from the revenues and other available funds of the entity pledged for the payment thereof and that said bond, note, or other obligation does not constitute a debt of the entity or the cooperating or contracting municipalities within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitations or provisions. Notwithstanding anything in this section to the contrary, such bonds, notes, and other obligations may be issued to mature at such times not beyond forty years from their respective issue dates, shall bear interest at such rates, and shall be sold at, above, or below the principal amount thereof, all as shall be determined by the board of the entity. Notwithstanding anything in this section to the contrary, in the case of short-term notes or other obligations maturing not later than one year from the date of issuance thereof, the board of the entity may authorize officials of the entity to fix principal amounts, maturity dates, interest rates, and purchase prices of any particular issue of such short-term notes or obligations, subject to such limitations as to maximum term, maximum principal amount outstanding, and maximum net effective interest rates as the board shall prescribe by resolution. Such action may be taken by the board of the entity only at a public meeting preceded by adequate notice, and the action of the board shall be properly recorded on the permanent records of the board.

(b) The resolution, trust indenture, or other security agreement under which any bonds, notes, or other obligations are issued shall constitute a contract with the holders thereof, and it may contain such provisions as shall be determined by the board of the entity to be appropriate and necessary in connection with the issuance thereof and to provide security for the payment thereof, including, without limitation, any mortgage or other security interest in any revenues, funds, rights, or properties of the entity. The bonds, notes, and other obligations of the entity and the income therefrom shall be exempt from taxation, except inheritance, estate, and transfer taxes.

(8) A separate governmental entity established by contracting municipalities shall, if the contract so provides, be the successor to any nonprofit corporation, agency, or other entity theretofore organized by the contracting municipalities to provide the same function, service, or facility, and such separate governmental entity shall be entitled to all rights and privileges and shall assume all obligations and liabilities of such other entity under existing contracts to which such other entity is a party.

(9) The authority granted pursuant to this section shall in no manner limit the powers of governments to enter into intergovernmental cooperation or contracts or to establish separate legal entities pursuant to the provisions of section 29-1-203 or any other applicable law or otherwise to carry out their powers under applicable statutory or charter provisions, nor shall such authority limit the powers reserved to cities and towns by section 2 of article XI of the state constitution. Nothing in this part 2 constitutes a legislative declaration of preference for electric systems owned by separate governmental entities over electric systems owned by other or different entities.

(10) For the purposes of subsection (1), paragraph (b) of subsection (3), and subsection (4) of this section, "cities and towns of any adjoining state" means any city or town located in any state sharing a common border with the state of Colorado which owns an electric system and which is located not more than fifteen miles from the common border of the state of Colorado and such adjoining state.

29-1-204.5. Establishment of multijurisdictional housing authorities. (1) Any combination of home rule or statutory cities, towns, counties, and cities and counties of this state may, by contract with each other, establish a separate governmental entity to be known as a multijurisdictional housing authority, referred to in this section as an "authority". Such an authority may be used by such contracting member governments to effect the planning, financing, acquisition, construction, reconstruction or repair, maintenance, management, and operation of housing projects or programs pursuant to a multijurisdictional plan:

(a) To provide dwelling accommodations at rental prices or purchase prices within the means of families of low or moderate income; and

(b) To provide affordable housing projects or programs for employees of employers located within the jurisdiction of the authority.

(2) Any contract establishing any such authority shall specify:

(a) The name and purpose of such authority and the functions or services to be provided by such authority;

(a.5) The boundaries of the authority, which boundaries may include less than the entire area of the separate governmental entities and may be modified after the establishment of the authority as provided in the contract;

(b) The establishment and organization of a governing body of the authority, which shall be a board of directors, referred to in this section as the "board", in which all legislative power of the authority is vested, including:

(I) The number of directors, their manner of appointment, their terms of office, their compensation, if any, and the procedure for filling vacancies on the board;

(II) The officers of the authority, the manner of their selection, and their duties;

(III) The voting requirements for action by the board; except that, unless specifically provided otherwise, a majority of directors shall constitute a quorum, and a majority of the quorum shall be necessary for any action taken by the board;

(IV) The duties of the board, which shall include the obligation to comply with the provisions of parts 1, 5, and 6 of this article;

(c) Provisions for the disposition, division, or distribution of any property or assets of the authority;

(d) The term of the contract, which may be continued for a definite term or until rescinded or terminated, and the method, if any, by which it may be rescinded or terminated; except that such contract may not be rescinded or terminated so long as the authority has bonds, notes, or other obligations outstanding, unless provision for full payment of such obligations, by escrow or otherwise, has been made pursuant to the terms of such obligations;

(e) The expected sources of revenue of the authority and any requirements that contracting member governments consent to the levying of any taxes or development impact fees within the jurisdiction of such member. If the authority levies any taxes or development impact fees, the contract shall further include requirements that:

(I) Prior to and as a condition of levying any such taxes or fees, the board shall adopt a resolution determining that the levying of such taxes or fees will fairly distribute the costs of the authority's activities among the persons and businesses benefited thereby and will not impose an undue burden on any particular group of persons or businesses;

(II) Each such tax or fee shall conform with any requirements specified in subsection (3) of this section; and

(III) The authority shall designate a financial officer who shall coordinate with the department of revenue regarding the collection of a sales and use tax authorized pursuant to paragraph (f.1) of subsection (3) of this section. This coordination shall include but not be limited to the financial officer identifying those businesses eligible to collect the sales and use tax and any other administrative details identified by the department.

(3) The general powers of such authority shall include the following powers:

(b) To make and enter into contracts with any person, including, without limitation, contracts with state or federal agencies, private enterprises, and nonprofit organizations also involved in providing such housing projects or programs or the financing for such housing projects or programs, irrespective of whether such agencies are parties to the contract establishing the authority;

- (c) To employ agents and employees;
- (d) To cooperate with state and federal governments in all respects concerning the financing of such housing projects and programs;
- (e) To acquire, hold, lease (as lessor or lessee), sell, or otherwise dispose of any real or personal property, commodity, or service;
- (f) To condemn property for public use, if such property is not owned by any governmental entity or any public utility and devoted to public use pursuant to state authority;

(f.1) (I) Subject to the provisions of subsection (7.5) of this section, to levy, in all of the area within the boundaries of the authority, a sales or use tax, or both, at a rate not to exceed one percent, upon every transaction or other incident with respect to which a sales or use tax is levied by the state, excluding the sale or use of cigarettes. The tax imposed pursuant to this paragraph (f.1) is in addition to any other sales or use tax imposed pursuant to law. The executive director of the department of revenue shall collect, administer, and enforce the sales or use tax, to the extent feasible, in the manner provided in section 29-2-106. However, the executive director shall not begin the collection, administration, and enforcement of a sales and use tax until such time as the financial officer of the authority and the executive director have agreed on all necessary matters pursuant to subparagraph (III) of paragraph (e) of subsection (2) of this section. The executive director shall begin the collection, administration, and enforcement of a sales and use tax on a date mutually agreeable to the department of revenue and the authority.

(II) The executive director shall make monthly distributions of the tax collections to the authority, which shall apply the proceeds solely to the planning, financing, acquisition, construction, reconstruction or repair, maintenance, management, and operation of housing projects or programs within the means of families of low or moderate income.

(III) The department of revenue shall retain an amount not to exceed the cost of the collection, administration, and enforcement and shall transmit the amount retained to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same amount to the multijurisdictional housing authority sales tax fund, which fund is hereby created in the state treasury. The amounts so retained are hereby appropriated annually from the fund to the department to the extent necessary for the department's collection, administration, and enforcement of the provisions of this section. Any moneys remaining in the fund attributable to taxes collected in the prior fiscal year shall be transmitted to the authority; except that, prior to the transmission to the authority of such moneys, any moneys appropriated from the general fund to the department for the collection, administration, and enforcement of the tax for the prior fiscal year shall be repaid.

(f.2) Subject to the provisions of subsection (7.5) of this section, to levy, in all of the area within the boundaries of the authority, an ad valorem tax at a rate not to exceed five mills on each dollar of valuation for assessment of the taxable property within such area. The tax imposed pursuant to this paragraph (f.2) shall be in addition to any other ad valorem tax imposed pursuant to law. In accordance with the schedule prescribed by section 39-5-128, C.R.S., the board shall certify to the board of county commissioners of each county within the authority, or having a portion of its territory within the district, the levy of ad valorem property taxes in order that, at the time and in the manner required by law for the levying of taxes, such board of county commissioners shall levy such tax upon the valuation for assessment of all taxable property within the designated portion of the area within the boundaries of the authority. It is the duty of the body having authority to levy taxes within each county to levy the taxes provided by this subsection (3). It is the duty of all officials charged with the duty of collecting taxes to collect such taxes at the time and in the form and manner and with like interest and penalties as other taxes are collected and when collected to pay the same to the authority ordering the levy and collection. The payment of such collections shall be made monthly to the authority or paid into the depository thereof to the credit of the authority. All taxes levied under this paragraph (f.2), together with interest thereon and penalties for default in payment thereof, and all costs of collecting the same shall constitute, until paid, a perpetual lien on and against the property taxed, and such lien shall be on a parity with the tax lien of other general taxes.

(f.5) (I) To establish, and from time to time increase or decrease, a development impact fee and collect such fee from persons who own property located within the boundaries of the authority who apply for approval for new residential, commercial, or industrial construction in accordance with applicable ordinances, resolutions, or regulations of any county or municipality.

(II) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (I) of this paragraph (f.5), an impact fee may only be imposed by an authority if all of the following conditions have been satisfied:

(A) No portion of the authority is located in a county with a population of more than one hundred thousand;

(B) The fee is not levied upon the development, construction, permitting, or otherwise in connection with low or moderate income housing or affordable employee housing;

(C) The rate of the fee is two dollars per square foot or less; and

(D) The authority also imposes a sales and use tax pursuant to paragraph (f.1) of this subsection (3), an ad valorem tax pursuant to paragraph (f.2) of this subsection (3), or both.

(g) To incur debts, liabilities, or obligations;

(h) To sue and be sued in its own name;

(i) To have and use a corporate seal;

(j) To fix, maintain, and revise fees, rents, security deposits, and charges for functions, services, or facilities provided by the authority;

(k) To adopt, by resolution, regulations respecting the exercise of its powers and the carrying out of its purposes;

(l) To exercise any other powers that are essential to the provision of functions, services, or facilities by the authority and that are specified in the contract;

(m) To do and perform any acts and things authorized by this section under, through, or by means of an agent or by contracts with any person, firm, or corporation;

(n) To establish enterprises for the ownership, planning, financing, acquisition, construction, reconstruction or repair, maintenance, management, or operation, or any combination of the foregoing, of housing projects or programs authorized by this section on the same terms as and subject to the same conditions provided in section 43-4-605, C.R.S.

(4) The authority established by such contracting member governments shall be a political subdivision and a public corporation of the state, separate from the parties to the contract, and shall be a validly created and existing political subdivision and public corporation of the state, irrespective of whether a contracting member government withdraws (whether voluntarily, by operation of law, or otherwise) from such authority subsequent to its creation under circumstances not resulting in the rescission or termination of the contract establishing such authority pursuant to its terms. It shall have the duties, privileges, immunities, rights, liabilities, and disabilities of a public body politic and corporate. The authority may deposit and invest its moneys in the manner provided in section 43-4-616, C.R.S.

(5) The bonds, notes, and other obligations of such authority shall not be the debts, liabilities, or obligations of the contracting member governments.

(6) The contracting member governments may provide in the contract for payment to the authority of funds from proprietary revenues for services rendered or facilities provided by the authority, from proprietary revenues or other public funds as contributions to defray the cost of any purpose set forth in the contract, and from proprietary revenues or other public funds as advances for any purpose subject to repayment by the authority.

(7) (Deleted by amendment, L. 2001, p. 966, § 1, effective August 8, 2001.)

(7.1) The authority may issue revenue or general obligation bonds, as the term bond is defined in section 43-4-602 (3), C.R.S., and may pledge its revenues and revenue-raising powers for the payment of such bonds. Such bonds shall be issued on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in section 43-4-609, C.R.S.

(7.3) The income or other revenues of the authority, all properties at any time owned by an authority, any bonds issued by an authority, and the transfer of and the income from any bonds issued by the authority are exempt from all taxation and assessments in the state.

(7.5) (a) No action by an authority to establish or increase any tax or development impact fee authorized by this section shall take effect unless first submitted to a vote of the registered electors of the authority in which the tax or development impact fee is proposed to be collected.

(b) No action by an authority creating a multiple-fiscal year debt or other financial obligation that is subject to section 20 (4) (b) of article X of the state constitution shall take effect unless first submitted to a vote of the registered electors residing within the boundaries of the authority; except that no such vote is required for obligations of enterprises established under paragraph (n) of subsection (3) of this section or for obligations of any other enterprise under section 20 (4) of article X of the state constitution.

(c) The questions proposed to the registered electors under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection (7.5) shall be submitted at a general election or any election to be held on the first Tuesday in November of an odd-numbered year. The action shall not take effect unless a majority of the registered electors voting thereon at the election vote in favor thereof. The election shall be conducted in substantially the same manner as county elections and the county clerk and recorder of each county in which the election is conducted shall assist the authority in conducting the election. The authority shall pay the costs incurred by each county in conducting such an election. No moneys of the authority may be used to urge or oppose passage of an election required under this section.

(7.7) (a) For the purpose of determining any authority's fiscal year spending limit under section 20 (7) (b) of article X of the state constitution, the initial spending base of the authority shall be the amount of revenues collected by the authority from sources not excluded from fiscal year spending pursuant to section 20 (2) (e) of article X of the state constitution during the first full fiscal year for which the authority collected revenues.

(b) For purposes of this subsection (7.7), "fiscal year" means any year-long period used by an authority for fiscal accounting purposes.

(8) An authority established by contracting member governments shall, if the contract so provides, be the successor to any nonprofit corporation, agency, or other entity theretofore organized by the contracting member governments to provide the same function, service, or facility, and such authority shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges and shall assume all the obligations and liabilities of such other entity under existing contracts to which such other entity is a party.

(9) The authority granted pursuant to this section shall in no manner limit the powers of governments to enter into intergovernmental cooperation or contracts or to establish separate legal entities pursuant to the provisions of section 29-1-203 or any other applicable law or otherwise to carry out their individual powers under applicable statutory or charter provisions, nor shall such authority limit the powers reserved to cities and towns by section 2 of article XI of the state constitution. Nothing in this part 2 constitutes a legislative declaration of preference for housing projects owned by authorities over housing projects owned by other or different entities.

(10) An authority and the property of an authority shall be exempt from all taxes and special assessments on the same basis and subject to the same conditions as provided for city housing authorities in sections 29-4-226 and 29-4-227.

ANNUAL LEVY - INCREASE OR REDUCTION - LIMITATION

Cross references: For the constitutional provision that establishes limitations on spending, the imposition of taxes, and the incurring of debt, see section 20 of article X of the Colorado constitution.

29-1-301. Levies reduced - limitation. (1) (a) All statutory tax levies for collection in 1989 and thereafter when applied to the total valuation for assessment of the state, each of the counties, cities, and towns not chartered as home rule except as provided in this subsection (1), and each of the fire, sanitation, irrigation, drainage, conservancy, and other special districts established by law shall be so reduced as to prohibit the levying of a greater amount of revenue than was levied in the preceding year plus five and one-half percent plus the amount of revenue abated or refunded by the taxing entity by August 1 of the current year less the amount of revenue received by the taxing entity by August 1 of the current year as taxes paid on any taxable property that had previously been omitted from the assessment roll of any year, except to provide for the payment of bonds and interest thereon, for the payment of any contractual obligation that has been approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the taxing entity, for the payment of expenses incurred in the reappraisal of classes or subclasses ordered by or conducted by the state board of equalization, for the payment to the state of excess state equalization payments to school districts which excess is due to the undervaluation of taxable property, or for the payment of capital expenditures as provided in subsection (1.2) of this section. For purposes of this subsection (1), the amount of revenues received as taxes paid on any taxable property that had been previously omitted from the assessment roll shall not include the amount of such revenues received as taxes paid on oil and gas leaseholds and lands that had been previously omitted from the assessment roll due to underreporting of the selling price or the quantity of oil or gas sold therefrom. In computing the limit, the following shall be excluded: The increased valuation for assessment attributable to annexation or inclusion of additional land, the improvements thereon, and personal property connected therewith within the taxing entity for the preceding year; the increased valuation for assessment attributable to new construction and personal property connected therewith, as defined by the property tax administrator in manuals prepared pursuant to section 39-2-109 (1) (e), C.R.S., within the taxing entity for the preceding year; the increased valuation for assessment attributable to increased volume of production for the preceding year by a producing mine if said mine is wholly or partially within the taxing entity and if said increase in volume of production causes an increase in the level of services provided by the taxing entity; and the increased valuation for assessment attributable to previously legally exempt federal property which becomes taxable if such property causes an increase in the level of services provided by the taxing entity.

(b) For property tax years beginning on or after January 1, 1991, any taxing entity may apply to the division of local government in the department of local affairs for authorization to exclude the following from the computation of the limitation set forth in paragraph (a) of this subsection (1): All or any portion of the increased valuation for assessment attributable to new primary oil or gas production for the preceding year from any producing oil and gas leasehold or land if such oil and gas leasehold or land is wholly or partially within the taxing entity and if such new primary oil or gas production has caused or will cause an increase in the level of services provided by the taxing entity.

(c) Any application submitted by a taxing entity pursuant to paragraph (b) of this subsection (1) shall contain the following information:

(I) An explanation of the causal relationship between the new primary oil or gas production specified in paragraph (b) of this subsection (1) and the increase in the level of services provided or to be provided by the taxing entity;

(II) The statutory mill levy and estimated amount of revenue that the taxing entity would collect if said exclusion is authorized;

(III) The statutory mill levy and estimated amount of revenue that the taxing entity would collect if said exclusion is not authorized;

(IV) The nature and amount of the expenditures which would be made from any increased amount of revenues collected if said exclusion is authorized.

(d) Upon receipt of an application which complies with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this subsection (1), the division of local government may grant or deny authority to the taxing entity to exclude all or any portion of such increased valuation for assessment specified in paragraph (b) of this subsection (1). Any authorization granted pursuant to this paragraph (d) shall specify the amount of such valuation for assessment which may be excluded. If said exclusion is authorized by said division, the taxing entity shall deposit any increased amount of revenues collected as a result of said exclusion into a fund created by the taxing entity which shall consist solely of such revenues. Moneys in such fund shall be used exclusively for any increase in the level of services provided by the taxing entity which occurs as a result of the new primary oil or gas production specified in paragraph (b) of this subsection (1).

(e) Upon receipt of an application which complies with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this subsection (1), the division of local government shall provide a copy of such application to the oil and gas operators of record wherein the taxing jurisdiction the increased valuation from new primary oil and gas production has occurred.

(f) Standing to challenge any determination made by the division of local government pursuant to this subsection (1) shall be limited to the owners of taxable property located wholly or partially within the taxing entity on the date the taxing entity is granted or denied authorization to make an exclusion pursuant to this subsection (1).

(1.2) (a) The limitation provided for in subsection (1) of this section shall not apply for the purpose of raising revenue to pay for capital expenditures. Such revenue shall not be included in determining the limitation in following years. For the purposes of this paragraph (a), "capital expenditure" means an expenditure made by a taxing entity for long-term additions or betterments, which expenditure, under generally accepted accounting principles, is not properly chargeable as an expense of operation and maintenance. This paragraph (a) shall apply to counties, cities, and towns.

(b) If a county imposes an increased mill levy pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (1.2) for a one-time, nonrecurring expenditure for a county road or bridge capital project or county road or bridge capital asset, the county may also request that the division of local government waive application of the provisions of section 43-2-202 (2), C.R.S., to the revenue received from that increased levy. In that event, said division shall notify the governing body of each municipality in the county of the request and of the period of time, not less than twenty days, during which the division will receive comment on the request. In considering whether to waive application of said section 43-2-202 (2), C.R.S., the division shall consider, among other relevant matters, the benefit of the project or asset to the municipalities in the county, the need for the project or asset, and alternative methods of and timing for financing the project or asset. No approval for such waiver shall be granted or continued until the division determines that the property tax revenues in the road and bridge fund, excluding the revenues from such increased levy, for the year for which the increase is imposed bear at least the same proportion to all countywide property tax revenues as in the immediate prior year budget.

(c) Any decision to exceed the limitation for the purpose of raising revenue for capital expenditures pursuant to this subsection (1.2) shall conform with the advertising and public hearing requirements of this paragraph (c). No taxing entity may exceed the limitation to raise such revenue unless the governing board of such taxing entity has advertised its intention to do so and unless such excess has been approved by at least two-thirds of the members of such governing board voting at a public hearing. The advertisement specified in this paragraph (c) shall be in a newspaper published within the taxing entity, and, if there is no newspaper published within the taxing entity, then by publication in a newspaper published within the county which has general circulation within the taxing entity and shall appear twice therein. The second such appearance shall not be more than eight days prior to the date upon which the public hearing is to be held. The advertisement shall be no less than one-quarter page in size and shall have a caption in capital letters in a type no smaller than twenty-four-point stating "a public hearing shall be held to consider increasing your property taxes for capital expenditures". Such advertisement shall be in a type no smaller than eighteen-point and shall not be placed in that portion of the newspaper in which legal notices and classified advertisements appear. Such advertisement shall state that such board will hold a public hearing, at a time and place fixed in the advertisement, and the purpose of such hearing and shall apprise the general public of its right to attend the hearing and make comments regarding the proposed matter. Such advertisement shall also state what the property taxes would be without such excess and what the property taxes will be with such excess and the percentage difference between such property taxes. Any public hearing held pursuant to this paragraph (c) shall be open to the general public. An opportunity shall be provided for all persons to present oral testimony within such reasonable time limits as shall be set by the board conducting the hearing. Prior to the conclusion of the public hearing, the governing board of the taxing entity shall publicly announce the percent by which the mill levy required to raise such excess exceeds the mill levy computed without such excess.

(1.3) Repealed.

(1.5) All property tax revenues, except such revenues as are exempted in subsection (1) of this section, raised from any property tax levied by a taxing entity which is subject to this section, shall be combined for the purpose of determining the total amount of property tax revenue which the taxing entity is allowed to raise subject to the limitation imposed by this section. The limitation shall be applied to such aggregate property tax revenues. However, such aggregate amount shall not include any property tax revenue which is raised by or on behalf of a district, authority, or area which is within but is not comprised of the entire taxing entity and which is raised by a tax upon only property within such district, authority, or area; such property tax revenue is subject to a limitation independent of the limitation which is applied to the taxing entity within which such district, authority, or area is located. No statute establishing a set mill levy or establishing a maximum mill levy or authorizing an additional mill levy for a special purpose shall be construed as authorizing the taxing entity to exceed the limitation imposed by this section.

(1.7) For property tax years commencing on or after January 1, 1988, any taxing entity which is subject to the provisions of this section shall not levy any property tax for purposes which are exempt from the limitation imposed by subsection (1) of this section in an amount which is greater than the amount of revenues required to be raised for such purposes during any year as specified by the provisions of any contract entered into by such taxing entity or any schedule of payments established for the payment of any obligation incurred by such taxing entity. Where bonds, contractual obligations, or capital expenditures have been approved, but actual revenues required for such purposes are not known at the time the levy is set, the taxing entity may base its levy on the estimated revenues which are so required for one year only and in subsequent years the levy shall be based on the actual revenues which are so required. Nothing in this subsection (1.7) shall preclude refunding of any obligation or contract.

(2) If an increase over said limitation is allowed by the division of local government in the department of local affairs or voted by the electors of a taxing entity under the provisions of section 29-1-302, the increased revenue resulting therefrom shall be included in determining the limitation in the following year. However, any portion of such increased revenue which is allowed as a capital expenditure pursuant to section 29-1-302 (1.5) shall not be included in determining the limitation in the following year.

(3) The limitations of this part 3 shall apply to home rule counties unless provisions are included in the county home rule charter which are, as determined by the division of local government, equal to or more restrictive than the provisions of this part 3.

(4) In the event of a consolidation or merger, in whole or in part, of two or more political subdivisions or taxing entities, the surviving entity or the entity assuming service responsibilities shall use a direct proportion of the combined entities' prior year property tax revenues as the base for computing the limitation in the year first succeeding such consolidation or merger.

(5) Repealed.

(6) Where a taxing entity exceeds the limitation imposed by subsection (1) of this section during any year, the division of local government shall order a reduction in the authorized revenue of the taxing entity for the subsequent year in an amount which offsets the excess revenues levied in the preceding year. Such order shall be preceded by notice to the taxing entity of the proposed order and an opportunity for the taxing entity to respond prior to issuance of the order.

Editor's note: Subsection (3) provided for the repeal of this section, effective January 1, 1988. (See L. 86, p. 1020.)

29-1-302. Increased levy - submitted to people at election. (1) If the board of any special district authorized to levy a tax or any officer charged with the duty of levying a tax in any special district is of the opinion that the amount of tax limited by section 29-1-301 will be insufficient for the needs of such special district for the current year, the question of an increased levy may be submitted to the division of local government in the department of local affairs, and it is the duty of said division to consider the public awareness of the question, the public support therefor, and the public objection thereto and to examine the needs of such special district and ascertain from such examination the financial condition thereof, and, if in the opinion of the division such special district is in need of additional funds, the said division may grant an increased levy for such special district above the limits specified in this part 3, and such special district is authorized to make such excess levy. The division of local government shall not under any circumstance grant an increased levy based upon increased valuation for assessment purposes from reappraisals. As used in this section, "special district" means any district organized pursuant to law, except school districts operating pursuant to title 22, C.R.S., which is authorized to levy an ad valorem tax on property within its boundaries, and the term includes, but is not limited to, districts organized under article 20 of title 30, C.R.S., articles 25 and 35 of title 31, C.R.S., and titles 32 and 37, C.R.S.

(1.5) (a) The general assembly recognizes the need for periodic increased levies in order to finance capital projects and purchases of capital assets which are a one-time, nonrecurring expenditure. It is the intent of the general assembly that the division of local government may grant an increased levy for such expenditures if, in its opinion, a special district, to which section 29-1-301 (1.2) (a) does not apply, is in need of additional funds for such expenditures. Any increased levy granted by the division of local government in a given year which is designated by it as a capital expenditure shall not be included in determining the limitation in the following year. If the division is of the opinion that such additional funds will be needed for two or more years after reviewing the long-range plan of the special district concerning the expenditure of such funds, it may grant an increased levy, and such increased levy shall automatically be allowed for each year during which such additional funds will be needed. During such years, the increased levy for each year shall not be included in determining the limitation in the following year.

(b) Repealed.

(2) (a) In case the division of local government, after consideration of the public awareness of the question, the public support therefor, and the public objection thereto, refuses or fails within ten days after submission to it of an adopted budget to grant an increased levy to a special district pursuant to subsection (1) or (1.5) of this section, the question may be submitted to the qualified electors of said district at a general or special election called for the purpose and in the manner provided by law for calling special elections in such special district.

(b) Any taxing entity to which section 29-1-301 (1) applies may, at its discretion, submit the question of an increased levy directly to an election of the qualified electors without first submitting the question of an increased levy to the division of local government.

(c) In lieu of utilizing the provisions of section 29-1-303, any city or town having a population of two thousand or less, based upon the latest estimates of the department of local affairs, may utilize the provisions of subsections (1) and (1.5) of this section and paragraph (a) of this subsection (2).

(3) Due notice of submission of the question of whether to grant the increased levy shall be given as required by articles 1 to 13 of title 1, C.R.S. If a majority of the votes cast at any such election is in favor of the increased levy, then the officers charged with levying taxes may make such increased levy for the year or years voted upon.

29-1-304.5. State mandates - prohibition - exception. (1) No new state mandate or an increase in the level of service for an existing state mandate beyond the existing level of service required by law shall be mandated by the general assembly or any state agency on any local government unless the state provides additional moneys to reimburse such local government for the costs of such new state mandate or such increased level of service. In the event that such additional moneys for reimbursement are not provided, such mandate or increased level of service for an existing state mandate shall be optional on the part of the local government.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to:

(a) Any new state mandate or any increase in the level of service for an existing state mandate beyond the existing level of service which is the result of any requirement of federal law;

(b) Any new state mandate or any increase in the level of service for an existing state mandate beyond the existing level of service which is the result of any requirement of a final state or federal court order;

(c) Any modification in the share of school districts for financing the state public school system;

(d) Any new state mandate or any increase in the level of service for an existing state mandate beyond the existing level or service which is the result of any state law enacted prior to the second regular session of the fifty-eighth general assembly or any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder;

(e) Any new state mandate or any increase in the level of service for an existing state mandate beyond the existing level of service which is undertaken at the option of a local government which results in additional requirements or standards; and

(f) Any order from the state board of education pertaining to the establishment, operation, or funding of a charter school or any modification of the statutory or regulatory responsibilities of school districts pertaining to charter schools.

(3) For purposes of this section:

(a) "Increase in the level of service for an existing state mandate" does not include any increase in expenditures necessary to offset an increase in costs to provide such service due to inflation or any increase in the number of recipients of such service unless such increase results from any requirement of law which either enlarges an existing class of recipients or adds a new class of recipients.

(b) "Local government" means any county, city and county, city, or town, whether home rule or statutory, or any school district, special district, authority, or other political subdivision of the state.

(c) "Requirement of federal law" means any federal law, rule, regulation, executive order, guideline, standard, or other federal action which has the force and effect of law and which either requires the state to take action or does not directly require the state to take action but will, according to federal law, result in the loss of federal funds if state action is not taken to comply with such federal action.

(d) "State mandate" means any legal requirement established by statutory provision or administrative rule or regulation which requires any local government to undertake a specific activity or to provide a specific service which satisfies minimum state standards, including, but not limited to:

(I) Program mandates which result from orders or conditions specified by the state as to what activity shall be performed, the quality of the program, or the quantity of services to be provided; and

(II) Procedural mandates which regulate and direct the behavior of any local government in providing programs or services, including, but not limited to, reporting, fiscal, personnel, planning and evaluation, record-keeping, and performance requirements.

ANNOTATION

Requirement in subsection (1) of this section that state reimburse counties for costs associated with an increased level of service inapplicable to requirement in § 1-8-113 (1)(a) that counties must provide drop-off boxes for mail-in ballots at every polling place on election day, notwithstanding that this increase in service may create additional costs to the county. Statute requiring that the costs of conducting an election be a county charge, § 1-5-505 (1), is in irreconcilable conflict with subsection (1). However, § 1-5-505 (1), which pertains only to election funding, is more specific than subsection (1), which broadly applies its reimbursement requirement to most existing state programs. Although subsection (1) was adopted after § 1-5-505 (1), there is no manifest intent that it should prevail in a conflict with the other statute. Rather, the intent of the legislature was to prioritize citizens' access to free and fair elections over convenience or cost savings to counties. Thus, § 1-5-505 (1) should prevail over subsection (1), making the unfunded mandate requirement of subsection (1) inapplicable to the requirement of § 1-8-113 (1)(a) that counties provide drop-off boxes for mail-in ballots at every polling place on election day. Gessler v. Doty, 2012 COA 4, __ P.3d __.

29-1-304.7. Programs delegated by the general assembly - termination or reduction - requirements. (1) Any local government which, pursuant to section 20 (9) of article X of the state constitution, intends to reduce or terminate its subsidy to any program delegated to such local government by the general assembly for administration shall provide written notice of such intention to the governor, the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the chairman of the joint budget committee of the general assembly, and the head of any state department or agency affected.

(2) The notice required by this section shall contain information sufficient to identify the program and shall state whether the local government intends to reduce or terminate its subsidy to the program. If a reduction is intended, the notice shall also specify the amount of such reduction.

(3) The notice may specify an effective date for such reduction or termination; except that in no event shall the reduction or termination take effect prior to ninety days after receipt of the notice by all of the parties named in subsection (1) of this section.

(4) Any reduction or termination for which notice is given pursuant to this section shall take place over a three-year period in three equal annual amounts.

(5) The director of the division of local government of the department of local affairs is authorized and empowered, after consultation with the affected departments or agencies, if any, to promulgate, adopt, amend, and repeal such rules and regulations, as may be necessary for the implementation and administration of this section.

(a) The program is one of the inherent powers, duties, or functions of an officer whose office is created as a county office by the state constitution, including but not limited to the county clerk and recorder, the county sheriff, the county coroner, the county treasurer, the county surveyor, the county assessor, and the county attorney; or

(b) The program is required by the state constitution to be administered by the local district, including but not limited to duties related to the maintenance of the state court system and the equalization of property tax assessments.

(2) Nothing in the general assembly's enactment of a requirement that a local district contribute toward the funding of a program operated by an agency or officer which is not under the jurisdiction of that local district, including but not limited to the requirement that counties pay a portion of the costs of maintaining the office of the district attorney, shall imply that the general assembly has delegated the program to the local district for administration within the meaning of section 20 (9) of article X of the state constitution.

(3) A board of county commissioners shall not cease exercising or performing its inherent legislative, executive, or quasi-judicial powers, duties, or functions in the guise of reducing or ending its subsidy to a program pursuant to the provisions of section 20 (9) of article X of the state constitution.

(4) As used in this section:

(a) "Administration" means the executive management or superintendence of public affairs, as distinguished from policy-making.

firms, will broaden the economic base of local areas, and will contribute to increased economic vitality throughout the state; and that the provisions of this part 7 are enacted in the exercise of the police powers of this state for the purpose of protecting the health, peace, safety, and welfare of the people of this state.

LIMITATIONS ON SOURCES OF REVENUE

29-1-1001. Moratorium on taxes, fees, and charges - internet and on-line services - definitions. (1) (a) From May 1, 1998, to and including April 30, 2001, there shall be a temporary moratorium during which no statutory or home rule city and county, county, city, or town, nor any political subdivision of the state, including, without limitation, a special purpose authority, special district, or school district, shall impose, assess, or collect any tax, fee, or charge, however designated, upon the direct charges for provision of internet access services.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this subsection (1) shall not apply to taxes on internet access services actually collected and enforced by a home rule city on or before April 15, 1998.

(c) Paragraph (a) of this subsection (1) shall not apply to any franchise fee on interactive computer services delivered via a cable television system unless the federal communications commission or a court of competent jurisdiction determines that such services are not cable services within the meaning of 47 U.S.C. sec. 522 (6).

(1.5) (a) On and after April 30, 2001, no statutory or home rule city and county, county, city, or town, or any political subdivision of the state, including, without limitation, a special purpose authority, special district, or school district, shall impose, assess, or collect any tax, fee, or charge, however designated, upon the direct charges for provision of internet access services, whether offered separately or as part of a package or bundle of services.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this subsection (1.5) shall not apply to taxes on internet access services actually collected and enforced by a home rule city on or before April 15, 1998.

(c) Paragraph (a) of this subsection (1.5) shall not apply to any franchise fee on interactive computer services delivered via a cable television system unless the federal communications commission or a court of competent jurisdiction determines that such services are not cable services within the meaning of 47 U.S.C. sec. 522 (6).

(2) From May 1, 1998, to and including April 30, 2001, there shall be a temporary moratorium during which no provider of internet access services shall be required to collect sales or use taxes from persons who purchase taxable property or services through use of the internet unless such provider acts as a vendor of taxable property or services.

(2.5) On and after April 30, 2001, no provider of internet access services shall be required to collect sales or use taxes from persons who purchase taxable property or services through use of the internet unless such provider acts as a vendor of taxable property or services.

(3) As used in this section:

(a) "Internet" means the international computer network consisting of federal and nonfederal, interoperable, packet-controlled, switched data networks.

(b) "Internet access services" means services that provide or enable computer access by multiple users to the internet, but shall not include that portion of packaged or bundled services providing phone or television cable services when the package or bundle includes the sale of internet access services.

(4) (a) The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that:

(I) Access to the internet insures access to information and government services, therefore, it is crucial that all people living in Colorado have equal access to the internet regardless of economic standing, educational background, or location. It is in the state's interest to ensure that local governments do not impose taxes on internet access, as such local taxation would inhibit equal access to the internet and the accessibility of on-line services for the people living in any local jurisdiction that imposes an internet access tax.

(II) Any tax on internet access imposed by a local government would present unique administrative challenges for the internet service providers required to collect that tax. Such issues include, but are not limited to, tracking which local governments impose a tax, ascertaining the location of every customer, and determining the customers from which a tax must be collected. These logistical concerns may result in an internet service provider refusing to offer service to customers living in local jurisdictions that impose a tax on internet access, thus reducing competition and disenfranchising certain localities from affordable on-line services.

(III) The promotion of economic development is of the utmost importance for Colorado. To foster the state's economic growth, Colorado strives to become a center for electronic commerce and taxing internet access on the state or local level would impede that goal.

(b) The general assembly further finds, determines, and declares that the imposition, assessment, or collection of any tax, fee, or charge, however designated, upon the direct charges for the provision of internet access service is a matter of statewide concern and the provisions of this section shall preempt any provisions of any local government ordinance, resolution, regulation, or other restriction to the contrary.

29-1-1002. Mobile telecommunications services - taxation by local governments - remedies - definitions. (1) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "Act" means the federal "Mobile Telecommunications Sourcing Act", 4 U.S.C. secs. 116 to 126, as amended.

- (b) "Customer" means customer as defined in section 124 (2) of the act.
- (c) "Home service provider" means home service provider as defined in section 124 (5) of the act.
- (d) "Local government" means any statutory or home rule city and county, county, city, or town, and any political subdivision of the state, including, without limitation, any authority, special district, or school district.
- (e) "Mobile telecommunications service" means mobile telecommunications service as defined in section 124 (7) of the act.
- (f) "Place of primary use" means the place of primary use as defined in section 124 (8) of the act.
- (g) "Taxing jurisdiction" means taxing jurisdiction as defined in section 124 (12) of the act.
- (2) (a) On and after August 1, 2002, any local government that imposes a sales tax pursuant to section 39-26-104 (1) (c), C.R.S., on a mobile telecommunications service shall impose such tax in accordance with the provisions of the act.
- (b) Pursuant to section 117 (b) of the act, mobile telecommunications service taxable by a local government on or after August 1, 2002, may be subject to any sales tax or other charge imposed by said local government on the service only if the customer's place of primary use is within the geographical boundaries of the local government.
- (3) (a) If a customer believes that a tax, charge, or fee assessed by a local government in the customer's bill for a mobile telecommunications service is erroneous, or that an assignment of place of primary use or taxing jurisdiction on said bill is incorrect, the customer shall notify the home service provider in writing within two years after the date the bill was issued. The notification from the customer shall include the street address for the customer's place of primary use, the account name and number for which the customer seeks a correction, a description of the alleged error, and any other information that the home service provider may require.
- (b) No later than sixty days after receipt of notice from a customer pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (3), the home service provider shall review the information submitted by the customer and any other relevant information and documentation to determine whether an error was made. If the home service provider determines that an error was made, the home service provider shall refund or credit to the customer any tax, fee, or charge erroneously collected from the customer for a period not to exceed two years. If the home service provider determines that no error was made, the home service provider shall provide a written explanation of its determination to the customer.
- (c) Any customer that believes a tax, charge, or fee assessed by a local government in the customer's bill for mobile telecommunications services is erroneous, or that an assignment of place of primary use or taxing jurisdiction on said bill is incorrect may file a claim in the appropriate district court only after complying with the provisions of this subsection (3).

PROHIBITION OF LOCAL LIMITS ON THE FREQUENCY OF RELIGIOUS MEETINGS IN HOMES

29-1-1201. Legislative declaration - matter of statewide concern. The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that the imposition of restrictions by a local government upon when or how often individuals may meet upon private residential property to pray, worship, or otherwise study or discuss issues relating to religious beliefs infringes upon the fundamental right to the free exercise of religion. The general assembly further finds and declares that such restrictions are of significant interest to people living outside the jurisdiction of the local government. In addition, the ability of individuals to freely determine when and how often they wish to meet for such purposes should be uniform throughout the state. Accordingly, the general assembly finds that restrictions that specifically limit when or how often individuals may meet upon private residential property to pray, worship, or otherwise study or discuss issues relating to religious beliefs are a matter of statewide concern and the provisions of this section shall preempt any provisions of any local government ordinance, resolution, regulation, or other restriction to the contrary.

29-1-1202. Local limits on time or frequency of religious meetings - definitions. On or after August 2, 2000, a local government shall be prohibited from enacting or enforcing any ordinance, resolution, regulation, or other restriction that specifically limits when or how frequently individuals in the state may meet upon private residential property to pray, worship, or otherwise study or discuss issues related to religious beliefs. For the purposes of this part 12, the term “local government” shall mean any county, city and county, city, or town, including any county, city and county, city, or town that has adopted a home rule charter.

29-1-1203. Applicability to other local laws. This part 12 shall not be construed to affect the enactment or enforcement of laws generally regulating traffic, parking, excessive noise, or other adverse conditions affecting the health, welfare, and safety of citizens of a local government.

ANNOTATION

Section does not apply to ordinance to re-strict parking because the ordinance not only regulates parking but also establishes a land use regulation. Town of Foxfield v. Archdiocese of Denver, 148 P.3d 339 (Colo. App. 2006).

29-2-101. Legislative declaration. The general assembly hereby declares that the imposition of sales or use taxes, or both, by counties, cities, and incorporated towns in this state affects the flow of commerce within this state and the welfare of the people of this state. The purpose of the general assembly in the enactment of this article is to provide a higher degree of uniformity in any sales taxes imposed by such entities.

ANNOTATION

State's interest in uniformity does not outweigh the home rule city's interest in preventing tax avoidance. Where a home rule city's excise tax is intended to collect only the difference between what it would have collected in sales tax had the purchase been made locally and any sales or use tax previously paid to another municipality, the state's interest in uniformity does not outweigh the home rule city's interest in preventing tax avoidance by purchasing outside of the city limits. Winslow Constr. Co. v. City & County of Denver, 960 P.2d 685 (Colo. 1998).

Applied in Deluxe Theatres, Inc. v. City of Englewood, 198 Colo. 85, 596 P.2d 771 (1979).

29-2-102. Municipal sales or use tax - referendum. (1) Any incorporated town or city in this state may adopt a municipal sales or use tax, or both, by ordinance in accordance with the provisions of this article, but only if the ordinance provides for the submission of the tax proposal to an election by the registered electors of the town or city for their approval or rejection at a regular municipal election or at a special election called for the purpose if no regular municipal election will be held within ninety days after the adoption of the ordinance. The election shall be conducted in the manner provided in the "Colorado Municipal Election Code of 1965", article 10 of title 31, C.R.S.

(2) (a) No incorporated town or city shall adopt a sales or use tax ordinance pursuant to subsection (1) of this section on or after the date of the adoption of a resolution for a countywide sales tax, use tax, or both by the board of county commissioners of the county in which all or any portion of the town or city is located until after the date of the election on the county proposal.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this subsection (2) shall not apply to any incorporated town or city that has been incorporated for less than five years as of the date of adoption of the sales or use tax ordinance.

(c) Nothing in this article shall preclude the initiation of a sales or use tax proposal by the registered electors of any incorporated town or city pursuant to section 31-11-104, C.R.S.

29-2-103. Countywide sales or use tax - multiple-county municipality excepted. (1) Each county in this state is authorized to levy a county sales tax, use tax, or both in accordance with the provisions of this article. No proposal for a county sales tax, use tax, or both shall become effective until approved by a majority of the registered electors of the county voting on such proposal pursuant to section 29-2-104. Such a proposal for a sales tax, use tax, or both, upon approval by a majority of the registered electors voting thereon, shall be effective throughout the incorporated and unincorporated portions of the county except when less than countywide application is authorized pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(2) A county may levy a sales tax, use tax, or both, in whole or in part, in less than the entire county when the following conditions are met:

(a) (Deleted by amendment, L. 2008, p. 990, § 4, effective August 5, 2008.)

(b) The area to be excluded from the tax levy is comprised solely of a portion of a municipality whose boundaries are located in more than one county; and

(c) All other counties in which a portion of the municipality described in paragraph (b) of this subsection (2) is located have agreed to provide fair compensation to the county for any services extended to such municipality as a result of revenues derived from the county tax levy from which the municipality is excluded.

(3) The approval provisions of subsection (1) of this section, the restrictions on contents of sales or use tax proposals set forth in section 29-2-105, and the collection procedures of section 29-2-106 shall apply to county sales or use taxes or both levied pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(b) Any county which uses sales tax revenues which are imposed pursuant to this section for the provision of mass transportation services shall establish standards for such service.

(c) The county shall issue a request for proposals for such service in order to compare the costs of a private carrier in providing such service with the costs of the county, as determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, in providing such service directly.

(d) If the costs to the county are less when the service is provided by the private carrier, the county shall contract with the private carrier for the mass transportation service.

(e) Any private carrier selected to provide mass transportation service pursuant to this subsection (2) shall provide such performance bond or other surety as the county may reasonably require.

(f) In the event that no private carriers are able to provide mass transportation services, the county shall provide such services.

(g) In contracting with a private carrier, the county shall require that the carrier not use the contract to cross-subsidize any other services provided by the carrier.

(3) (a) No sales tax, use tax, or both shall be levied pursuant to the provisions of subsection (1) of this section until such proposal has been referred to and approved by the registered electors of the county in accordance with the provisions of this article.

For any year thereafter, such sales and use tax increase proposal may only be submitted on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each year and shall be conducted by the county clerk and recorder in accordance with the "Uniform Election Code of 1992", articles 1 to 13 of title 1, C.R.S.

(4) The provisions of this section shall not be construed to expand the use tax base of any county in this state as such base is described in section 29-2-109 (1).

(5) All revenues collected from such county sales tax shall be credited to a special fund in the county treasury known as the county mass transportation fund. The fund shall be used only for the financing, constructing, operating, or maintaining of a mass transportation system within the county.

29-2-104. Adoption procedures. (1) A proposal for a countywide sales tax, use tax, or both shall be referred to the registered electors of the county either by resolution of the board of county commissioners or by petition initiated and signed by five percent of the registered electors of the county. The right of petition allowed pursuant to this subsection (1) shall extend only to the initial proposal of a tax and shall not extend to the extension of an expiring tax, use of tax revenues, or changes in distribution of tax revenues among local governments.

(2) Such proposal shall contain a description of the tax in accordance with the provisions of this article and shall make provision for any distribution of revenue collections between the county and the incorporated cities and towns within the county. Such proposal shall also state the amount of tax to be imposed. Unless otherwise agreed to by the governing bodies of the county and municipalities within the county, any use tax proceeds shall be distributed among such county and municipalities in the same proportion as the sales tax proceeds distributed to each jurisdiction.

(3) A proposal for a countywide sales tax, use tax, or both, by resolution of the board of county commissioners, shall be submitted at the next regular general election if there is one within the next succeeding one hundred twenty days after the adoption of such resolution. If no general election is scheduled within such time, the board of county commissioners, in its resolution, shall submit the same to the registered electors of the county at a special election called for the purpose, to be held not less than thirty days nor more than ninety days after the adoption of such resolution.

(4) Upon being presented with a petition requesting a proposal for a countywide sales tax, use tax, or both signed by five percent of the registered electors of the county, the board of county commissioners shall, upon certification of the signatures on the petition, submit such proposal to the registered electors of the county. The proposal shall be submitted at the next general election if there is one within one hundred twenty days of the filing of the petition. If no general election is scheduled within one hundred twenty days following the date of filing of the petition, the board of county commissioners shall submit such proposal at a special election called not less than thirty days nor more than ninety days from the date of filing of the petition.

(5) Upon the adoption of a resolution by the board of county commissioners as provided in subsection (3) of this section or upon the filing of a proper petition as provided in subsection (4) of this section, the county clerk and recorder shall publish the text of such proposal for a sales tax, use tax, or both four separate times, a week apart, in the official newspaper of the county and each city and incorporated town within the county. The cost of the election shall be paid from the general fund of the county. The conduct of the election shall conform, so far as practicable, to the general election laws of the state.

(6) If approved by a majority of the registered electors voting thereon, the countywide sales tax, use tax, or both shall become effective as provided by section 29-2-106 (2).

(7) If a majority of the registered electors voting thereon fail to approve the countywide sales tax, use tax, or both at any election, the question shall not be submitted again to the registered electors for a period of one year three hundred fifty days.

ANNOTATION

Prior to the submission of a proposal initiated pursuant to subsection (1) to the electorate, a county has a discretionary duty to review the proposal for compliance with the procedural requirements of the county sales tax act and a court has jurisdiction to determine whether such an initiative complies with those procedural requirements. In contrast to a municipal or statewide initiative explicitly allowed by the Colorado Constitution, a statutorily authorized county initiative is limited and defined by the procedural and substantive provisions of the authorizing statute and the exercise of the statutory power of the initiative must comply with that statute. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. County Road Users Ass'n, 11 P.3d 432 (Colo. 2000).

Writ of mandamus ordering a county to submit a proposal initiated pursuant to subsection (1) to the electorate was inappropriate where the proposal failed to comply with the procedural requirements of the county sales tax act. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. County Road Users Ass'n, 11 P.3d 432 (Colo. 2000).

Distribution to all municipalities within a county is not required by subsection (2). Orchard City v. Delta County Comm'rs, 751 P.2d 1003 (Colo. 1988).

29-2-106. Collection - administration - enforcement. (1) The collection, administration, and enforcement of any countywide or any city or town sales tax adopted pursuant to this article shall be performed by the executive director of the department of revenue in the same manner as the collection, administration, and enforcement of the Colorado state sales tax. Unless otherwise provided in this article, the provisions of article 26 of title 39, C.R.S., shall govern the collection, administration, and enforcement of sales taxes authorized under this article. In collecting, administering, and enforcing a sales tax authorized under this article, the state sales tax authorized under part 1 of article 26 of title 39, C.R.S., or any other sales tax imposed within the boundaries of a county, the executive director of the department of revenue may enter into an intergovernmental agreement with a county pursuant to the provisions of section 39-26-122.5, C.R.S., to enhance systemic efficiencies in the collection of such taxes.

(2) The effective date of any countywide sales tax or city or town sales tax adopted under the provisions of this article shall be either January 1 or July 1 following the date of the election in which such county sales tax proposal is approved; and notice of the adoption of any county sales tax proposal shall be submitted by the county clerk and recorder or by the clerk of the city council or board of trustees of a city or town to the executive director of the department of revenue at least forty-five days prior to the effective date of such tax. If such a sales tax proposal is approved at an election held less than forty-five days prior to the January 1 or July 1 following the date of election, such tax shall not be effective until the next succeeding January 1 or July 1.

(3) (a) The executive director of the department of revenue shall, at no charge, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this subsection (3), administer, collect, and distribute any sales tax imposed in conformity with this article. The executive director shall make monthly distributions of sales tax collections to the appropriate official in each county and in each incorporated city or town in the amount determined under the distribution formula established in accordance with this article. Except as provided in section 39-26-208, C.R.S., any use tax imposed pursuant to section 29-2-109 shall be collected, administered, and enforced by the city, town, or county as provided by ordinance or resolution.

(b) The executive director is hereby authorized to contract and enter into agreements with the county clerk and recorder and municipalities for the collection of state, county, and city or town use taxes upon motor vehicles, and the county clerk and recorder may charge and retain a fee as the director may approve to fully cover the cost of such collection by the county clerk and recorder.

(c) (I) A qualified purchaser may provide a direct payment permit number issued pursuant to section 39-26-103.5, C.R.S., to any vendor or retailer that is liable and responsible for collecting and remitting any countywide sales tax or city or town sales tax imposed on any sale made to the qualified purchaser pursuant to the provisions of this article. A vendor or retailer that has received in good faith from a qualified purchaser a direct payment permit number shall not be liable or responsible for collection and remittance of any sales tax imposed on such sale that is paid for directly from such qualified purchaser's funds and not the personal funds of any individual.

(II) A qualified purchaser that provides a direct payment permit number to a vendor or retailer shall be liable and responsible for the amount of sales tax imposed on any sale made to the qualified purchaser pursuant to this article in the same manner as liability would be imposed on a qualified purchaser for state sales tax pursuant to section 39-26-105 (3), C.R.S.

(4) (a) (I) The executive director of the department of revenue shall, at no charge, administer, collect, and distribute the sales tax of any home rule municipality upon request of the governing body of such municipality:

(A) If the provisions of the sales tax ordinance of said municipality, other than those provisions relating to local procedures followed in adopting the ordinance, correspond to the requirements of this article for sales taxes imposed by counties, towns, and cities;

(B) If no use tax is to be collected by the department of revenue except as provided in section 39-26-208, C.R.S.; and

(C) Whether or not the ordinance applies the sales tax to the exemptions listed in section 29-2-105 (1) (d) (I).

(II) When the governing body of any home rule municipality requests the department of revenue to administer, collect, and distribute the sales tax of said municipality as specified in subparagraph (I) of this paragraph (a), said governing body shall certify to the executive director of the department a true copy of the home rule municipality's sales tax ordinance.

(b) The executive director of the department of revenue shall furnish the governing body of each municipality and county a monthly listing of all returns filed by the retailers in such municipality or county. The governing body of such municipality or county shall notify the executive director of the department of revenue of any retailers omitted from this listing as soon as practicable, but in no event more than one hundred eighty days after receiving said monthly listing. Failure of the governing body of such municipality or county to notify the executive director of the department of revenue of any omitted retailers, within such period, shall preclude the municipality or county from making any further claims based upon such omissions. Neither the executive director of the department of revenue nor any municipality or county shall be held liable for any omissions which have not been called to the executive director's attention within this period.

(c) (I) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 39-21-113, C.R.S., the executive director of the department of revenue shall report monthly to each municipality and county for which the department of revenue collects a sales tax information identifying licensed vendors within the municipality or county and, where the chief administrative officer or his designee has executed a memorandum of understanding with the department of revenue providing for control of confidential data, the status of each vendor's account including the amount of such municipality's or county's sales tax collected and paid by each such vendor. The executive director of the department may, in his discretion, provide additional information to a municipality or county concerning collection and administration of such municipality's or county's sales tax if such a memorandum has been executed.

(II) Except in accordance with judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, no official or employee of a municipality or county receiving sales tax information from the department of revenue pursuant to this paragraph (c) shall divulge or make known to any person not an official or employee of such municipality or county any information which identifies or permits the identification of the amount of sales taxes collected or paid by any individual licensed vendor. The municipal or county officials or employees charged with the custody of such sales tax information shall not be required to produce any such information in any action or proceeding in any court except in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this article to which the municipality or county having custody of the information is a party, in which event the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said sales tax information as is pertinent to the action or proceeding. Any municipal or county official or employee who willfully violates any of the provisions of this paragraph (c) is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars and shall be dismissed from office.

(5) The executive director of the department of revenue may promulgate rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this article.

(6) The executive director of the department of revenue may, in his discretion, exchange information with the proper official of any home rule city which imposes a sales and use tax relative to gross sales reported, changes in gross sales resulting from audits, and other information concerning licensed vendors within the jurisdiction of the home rule city.

(7) For the purpose of the administration by the state of the provisions of this article, as well as any other state or federal program, each county, home rule county, statutory town or city, home rule town or city, city and county, or territorial charter town or city shall file, pursuant to section 29-2-110, with the executive director of the department of revenue a copy of each sales or use tax ordinance or resolution, or any amendment thereto, no later than ten days after the effective date thereof. A copy of any sales or use tax ordinance or resolution in effect on March 11, 1982, shall be filed no later than July 1, 1982. The failure to file a copy of any such ordinance or resolution shall not give rise to any claim for refund by any taxpayer, other than for overpayment which is determined to be allowable under such ordinance or resolution.

(8) Uniform collection procedures. Each home rule city, town, and city and county shall follow, and conform its ordinances where necessary to, the statute of limitations applicable to the enforcement of state sales and use tax collections, the statute of limitations applicable to refunds of state sales and use taxes, the amount of penalties and interest payable on delinquent remittances of state sales and use taxes, and the posting of bonds pursuant to section 39-21-105 (4), C.R.S.

(9) Standard sales and use tax reporting form. (a) The executive director of the department of revenue shall adopt, by regulation, a standard municipal sales and use tax reporting form. Such form shall be separate from the state form and shall be the only sales and use tax reporting form required to be used by any person collecting the sales or use tax of any home rule city, town, or city and county which collects its own sales or use tax.

(b) Such form shall be designed so as to permit reporting of variations in base, rate, and vendor's fee, and shall contain adequate location coding and use tax remittance items. Prior to the adoption of and any revision to the form, each home rule city, town, and city and county which collects its own sales tax shall be given the opportunity to comment on the proposed form or revision to the form.

(c) Such standard form and any subsequent revisions shall be used by each home rule city, town, and city and county which collects its own sales tax by the first full month commencing one hundred twenty days after the effective date of the regulation adopting or revising the standard form.

(d) (I) In addition to the standard municipal sales and use tax form set forth in paragraph (a) of this subsection (9), on or before December 1, 1994, the executive director of the department of revenue shall cooperate with and assist local governments in the development of a common local sales and use tax form. For purposes of this paragraph (d), "local government" means a city, home rule city, town, city and county, or other political subdivision of the state which collects its own sales or use tax.

(II) The common local sales and use tax form shall:

(A) Allow a person collecting the sales and use tax of any local government to report all sales and use taxes collected for a local government on the common local sales and use tax reporting form;

(B) Be accepted by all local governments; and

(C) Be made available at all state and local sales and use tax reporting locations.

(III) The executive director of the department of revenue shall cooperate with and assist local governments in the development of a uniform local government sales and use tax license application form. Any uniform local government sales and use tax license application form developed shall be made available at all state and local sales and use tax reporting locations.

(IV) The provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection (9) notwithstanding, in addition to the standard sales and use tax form set forth in paragraph (a) of this subsection (9), the common local sales and use tax form developed pursuant to this paragraph (d) may be used by a person collecting the sales or use tax of any city, home rule city, town, city and county, or other political subdivision of the state which collects its own sales or use tax.

(10) Delayed distributions. (a) If any sales tax to be distributed pursuant to this section is not distributed within sixty days after the processing date, interest shall be added to the undistributed amount from the sixtieth day after the processing date until the date such sales tax is distributed. The rate of said interest shall be equal to the average rate, rounded to one-thousandth of a percent, being earned by the investment of moneys in the state treasury for the same period.

(b) The provisions of this subsection (10) shall apply only to sales tax collected by the department of revenue with a processing date occurring on or after January 1, 2001. The provisions of this subsection (10) shall not apply in the event that the distribution of sales tax was delayed as a result of unforeseen circumstances or caused primarily by an entity other than the department of revenue. Such determination shall be made in good faith by the department.

ANNOTATION

Applied in Rancho Colo., Inc. v. City of Broomfield, 196 Colo. 444, 586 P.2d 659 (1978).

29-2-106.1. Deficiency notice - dispute resolution. (1) The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that the enforcement of sales and use taxes can affect persons and entities across the jurisdictional boundaries of taxing jurisdictions and that dispute resolution is a matter of statewide concern for which the procedures set forth in this section shall be applied uniformly throughout the state.

(2) (a) When a local government asserts that sales or use taxes are due in an amount greater than the amount paid by a taxpayer, such local government shall mail a deficiency notice to the taxpayer by certified mail. The deficiency notice shall state the additional local sales and use taxes due. The deficiency notice shall contain notification, in clear and conspicuous type, of the time limit to file a protest to the notice and that the taxpayer has the right to elect a hearing on the deficiency pursuant to subsection (3) of this section. Any protest to the deficiency notice shall be filed with the local government within thirty days after the date of the notice.

(b) The taxpayer shall also have the right to elect a hearing pursuant to subsection (3) of this section on a local government's denial of such taxpayer's claim for a refund of sales or use tax paid.

(c) The taxpayer shall request the hearing pursuant to subsection (3) of this section within thirty days after the taxpayer's exhaustion of local remedies. For purposes of this paragraph (c), "exhaustion of local remedies" means that one of the following events has occurred:

(I) The taxpayer has timely requested in writing a hearing before the local government, and such local government has held such hearing and issued a final decision thereon. Such hearing, if any, shall be held and any decision thereon issued within one hundred eighty days after the taxpayer's request in writing therefor or within such further time as the taxpayer and local government may agree upon in writing.

(II) The taxpayer and local government agree in writing that no hearing before the local government will be held, or that no final decision will issue from the local government. Such written agreement shall state that the taxpayer exhausted local remedies in accordance with this section, shall identify the date of such exhaustion, and shall advise the taxpayer of the right to pursue further review pursuant to subsection (3) or (8) of this section within thirty days after such exhaustion.

(III) One hundred eighty days or more after the date of the taxpayer's request for a hearing, the local government notifies the taxpayer in writing that the local government does not intend to conduct a hearing. In such instance, the written notification shall also state that the taxpayer exhausted local remedies in accordance with this section, that such exhaustion occurred on the date of the written notification, and that the taxpayer may pursue further review pursuant to subsection (3) or (8) of this section within thirty days after such exhaustion.

(d) In the event the taxpayer has timely requested in writing a hearing before the local government and none of the events described in paragraph (c) of this subsection (2) have occurred, the taxpayer may request a hearing pursuant to subsection (3) of this section at any time after the period prescribed in subparagraph (I) of paragraph (c) of this subsection (2).

(e) Any hearing before a local government shall be informal and no transcript, rules of evidence, or filing of briefs shall be required; but the taxpayer may elect to submit a brief, in which case the local government may submit a brief.

(3) (a) If a taxpayer satisfies the requirements of paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of this section, the taxpayer may request the executive director of the department of revenue to conduct a hearing on such deficiency notice or claim for refund, and such request shall be made and such hearing shall be conducted in the same manner as set forth in section 39-21-103, C.R.S. Any local government to which the deficiency notice being appealed claims taxes are due, or, in the case of a claim for refund, the local government that denied such claim, shall be notified by the executive director that a hearing is scheduled and shall be allowed to participate in the hearing as a party.

(b) If the taxpayer requests a hearing before the executive director, then the local government whose decision is being appealed may not require a bond or payment of tax in lieu thereof until thirty days after the final decision of the executive director or his delegate; but such local government may require a bond or payment of tax in lieu thereof in the manner provided in section 39-21-111, C.R.S., prior to the hearing before such local government or the executive director if either such local government reasonably finds that collection of the tax will be jeopardized by delay or the taxpayer requests a postponement of the hearing before such local government or the executive director, other than on account of a death, physical illness or injury, or catastrophe, which substantially impairs the taxpayer's ability to present his case. Any such bond or payment of tax in lieu thereof shall be filed with and payable to the local government whose decision is being appealed, and such bond shall be filed or such tax shall be paid in the manner provided in section 39-21-105, C.R.S. In the event that payment of the tax or posting of a bond is required by the local government, the taxpayer, after payment of the tax or posting of the bond, may appeal such decision of the local government to the executive director and shall be granted an expedited hearing on such appeal pursuant to section 39-21-103 (6), C.R.S., and the executive director may affirm, reverse, or modify such decision.

(c) If the taxpayer appeals the decision of the executive director on the hearing pursuant to this subsection (3) the district court in the manner provided in section 39-21-105, C.R.S., then the tax shall be paid to or a bond shall be posted with the local government whose decision is being appealed in the manner provided in that section, unless payment of tax or posting of bond was previously required, in which case such previous payment or posting shall continue in effect.

(d) Any hearings before the executive director of the department of revenue or his delegate shall be de novo, without regard to the decision of the local government. The taxpayer shall have the burden of proof in any such hearings.

(4) In the event that all parties to a hearing arrive at a settlement prior to the hearing, such parties may agree to cancel such hearing. No party shall thereafter have a right to a hearing before the executive director on the deficiency notice or claim for refund. By agreement of all parties to the hearing, the hearing may be cancelled and the matter may be determined by the executive director upon written briefs submitted by the parties in the same manner as provided in section 39-21-103 (7) and (8), C.R.S.

(5) If the taxpayer asserts that all or part of a sales or use tax which is the subject of the hearing has been paid to or is due to another local government, then such other local government shall be joined as a party to the hearing. The taxpayer need not file a claim for refund in order to pursue the remedy provided by this subsection (5). If the executive director determines that the disputed tax was paid, but to the wrong local government, then the taxpayer shall be relieved of the tax due up to the amount paid together with an abatement of interest thereon and all penalties.

(6) If the amount paid exceeds the tax found to be due, then the government in receipt of such payment shall refund the overpayment to the taxpayer within thirty days of the executive director's decision, together with interest thereon from the date the taxpayer made the payment until the date the overpayment is refunded, unless a timely appeal is taken by such government pursuant to subsection (7) of this section. If the amount paid is found to be less than the taxes due, then the taxpayer shall pay the deficiency, less any amount paid in lieu of bond, to the appropriate local government within thirty days of the executive director's decision with interest from the date full payment was due until the date that the deficiency is paid, unless a timely appeal is taken by the taxpayer pursuant to subsection (7) of this section. A local government which is found to have erroneously received payment from the taxpayer shall forward such payment to the appropriate local government within thirty days of the executive director's decision with interest from the date the amount was received from the taxpayer until the date the amount was forwarded to the appropriate local government, unless a timely appeal is taken pursuant to subsection (7) of this section by a local government which is found to have erroneously received payment from the taxpayer. All interest payable pursuant to this subsection (6) shall be at the same rate which applies to deficiency payments.

(7) Appeals from the final determination of the executive director may be taken in the same manner as provided in and shall be governed by section 39-21-105, C.R.S., by any party bound by the executive director's decision. Any such appeal shall be heard de novo and shall be heard as provided in section 39-21-105, C.R.S., except as follows: If the appellant is a local government, the taxpayer shall have the burden of proof as to all factual matters, and the appellant shall have the burden with respect to any legal determination of the executive director of the department of revenue which the appellant seeks to reverse; except that the local government shall always have the burden of proof with respect to the issue of whether the taxpayer has been guilty of fraud with intent to evade tax and with respect to the issue of whether the taxpayer is liable as a transferee of property of another taxpayer, but not to show that the transferor taxpayer was liable for the tax; and except that the executive director may, at his request, be a party to any such appeal.

(8) (a) If a deficiency notice or claim for refund involves only one local government, in lieu of requesting a hearing pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, the taxpayer may appeal such deficiency or denial of a claim for refund to the district court.

(b) The taxpayer shall appeal to the district court pursuant to this subsection (8) within thirty days after the taxpayer's exhaustion of local remedies. For purposes of this subsection (8), "exhaustion of local remedies" means that one of the following events has occurred:

(I) The taxpayer has timely requested in writing a hearing before the local government, and such local government has held such hearing and issued a final decision thereon. Such hearing shall be informal and no transcript, rules of evidence, or filing of briefs shall be required; but the taxpayer may elect to submit a brief, in which case the local government may submit a brief. Such hearing, if any, shall be held and any decision thereon issued within one hundred eighty days of the taxpayer's request in writing therefor or within such further time as the taxpayer and local government may agree upon in writing.

(II) The taxpayer and local government agree in writing that no hearing before the local government will be held or that no final decision will issue from the local government. Such written agreement shall state that the taxpayer exhausted local remedies in accordance with this section, shall identify the date of such exhaustion, and shall advise the taxpayer of the right to pursue further review pursuant to subsection (3) of this section or this subsection (8) within thirty days after such exhaustion.

(III) One hundred eighty days or more after the date of the taxpayer's request for a hearing, the local government notifies the taxpayer in writing that the local government does not intend to conduct a hearing. In such instance, the written notification shall also state that the taxpayer exhausted local remedies in accordance with this section, that such exhaustion occurred on the date of the written notification, and that the taxpayer may pursue further review pursuant to subsection (3) of this section or this subsection (8) within thirty days after such exhaustion.

(c) In the event the taxpayer has timely requested in writing a hearing before the local government and none of the events described in paragraph (b) of this subsection (8) have occurred, the taxpayer may appeal such deficiency or denial of a claim for refund to the district court at any time after the period prescribed in subparagraph (I) of paragraph (b) of this subsection (8).

(d) An appeal pursuant to paragraph (c) of this subsection (8) shall be conducted in the same manner as provided in section 39-21-105, C.R.S.; except that venue shall be in the district court of the county wherein the local government whose decision is being appealed is located.

(9) In lieu of electing a hearing pursuant to this section on a notice of deficiency or claim for refund, a taxpayer may pursue judicial review of a local government's final decision thereon as otherwise provided in such local government's ordinance.

(10) As used in this section, "local government" means home rule and statutory cities, towns, cities and counties, and counties.

(11) If any local government which collects its own sales or use tax to which the deficiency notice claims taxes are due reasonably finds that the collection of the tax will be jeopardized by delay, it may utilize the procedures set forth in section 39-21-111, C.R.S.; however, utilization of such procedures shall not preclude the taxpayer from appealing to the executive director pursuant to subsection (3) of this section.

ANNOTATION

Party claiming that administrative methods for challenging municipal sales and use tax as set forth in municipal code were unconstitutional and conflicted with provisions of this section is not required to exhaust all administrative remedies prior to seeking declaratory judgment on issue. Fred Schmid Appliance & Tel. v. Denver, 811 P.2d 31 (Colo. 1991).

A local government cannot undercut or supplant the right to judicial review afforded by this section by precluding de novo review. Service Merch. Co., Inc. v. Schwartzberg, 971 P.2d 654 (Colo. App. 1997).

Under subsection (9), a local government that enacts an alternative avenue for appeals of sales and use tax assessments must comply with the procedure it creates for such appeals. Where a local government has created a sales or use tax assessment appeals process that requires a taxpayer to obtain a final decision rendered after a hearing as a prerequisite to an appeal, the local government may not deprive the taxpayer of the right to an appeal by refusing to hold a hearing and issue a final decision. Asphalt Specialties, Co. v. City of Commerce City, 218 P.3d 741 (Colo. App. 2009).

Appeals taken from locally imposed use or sales taxes are a matter of statewide concern, and therefore subject to the appellate procedures of this section rather than the appellate procedures of local rules. Walgreen Co. v. Charnes, 819 P.2d 1039 (Colo. 1991).

General assembly has determined the need for a statewide uniform process to avoid inconsistent treatment of taxpayers and confusing and conflicting remedies. MDC Holdings, Inc. v. Town of Parker, 223 P.3d 710 (Colo. 2010).

Section supersedes municipal code that requires an additional formal hearing. The section contains its own controlling prescription for "exhaustion of local remedies" that defines and controls the appellate process in local sales and use tax appeals. MDC Holdings, Inc. v. Town of Parker, 223 P.3d 710 (Colo. 2010).

In appeal involving challenge to sales and use tax provisions of municipal code, appropriate remedy on appeal is not to remand to district court for de novo review under this section since taxpayer pursued review under municipal code. Arapahoe Roofing & Sheet Metal v. Denver, 831 P.2d 451 (Colo. 1992).

Challenge of sufficiency of notice of assessment issued pursuant to this section is moot issue when taxpayer failed to timely file petition for hearing to challenge sufficiency. Am. Drug Store v. Denver, 831 P.2d 465 (Colo. 1992).

Taxpayer could appeal after 90-day wait period under section because the local government had no provisions for making a final decision following an informal hearing. MDC Holdings, Inc. v. Town of Parker, 223 P.3d 710 (Colo. 2010).

29-2-106.2. Location guides - precinct locators. (1) Each home rule city, town, and city and county collecting its own sales or use tax shall make available to any requesting vendor a map or other location guide showing the boundaries of the municipality. The requesting vendor may rely on the map or other location guide and any update thereof available to the vendor in determining whether to collect a sales or use tax, or both, of the municipality. No penalty shall be imposed or action for deficiency maintained if the requesting vendor in good faith complies with the most recent map or other location guide available to it.

(2) (a) As used in this subsection (2), unless the context otherwise requires:

(I) "Local taxing entity" means a home rule or statutory municipality, county, city and county, or any other local governmental entity that imposes a sales or use tax.

(II) "Precinct locator" means the record regularly maintained by a county clerk and recorder and used to determine within which jurisdiction or jurisdictions an address is located for voting purposes and, for determining the location of commercial or industrial addresses, shall include the record regularly maintained by the county clerk and recorder and used to determine within which jurisdiction or jurisdictions an address is located for the purpose of properly remitting sales or use tax on motor vehicles.

(b) Any public utility may rely upon the precinct locator maintained by the county clerk and recorder for the county or counties in which a local taxing entity is located in determining whether to collect a sales or use tax, or both, of the local taxing entity.

(c) No penalty shall be imposed upon, interest charged to, or action for deficiency maintained against a public utility in connection with the collection of a sales or use tax, or both, by the public utility if, in determining whether to collect the tax, the public utility relied in good faith upon the most recently updated version of a precinct locator in existence at the time of the taxable transaction. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not apply to the extent that the local entity has informed the public utility in writing prior to a taxable transaction that the most recently updated version of the precinct locator is inaccurate and, in such writing, provides the public utility with a corrected copy of the precinct locator information.

29-2-107. Limitation on applicability. (1) Nothing in this article shall be construed to apply to, affect, or limit the powers of home rule municipalities organized under article XX of the state constitution to impose, administer, or enforce any local sales or use tax except those provisions which specifically refer to "home rule".

(2) No provision of this article shall be construed to require any incorporated town or city or any county to impose any sales tax or to increase any sales tax imposed prior to July 1, 1967.

(3) Nothing in this article shall be construed to invalidate any sales or use tax adopted by ordinance or resolution by any town, city, city and county, or county, whether home rule or statutory, prior to January 1, 1986. Except as provided in subsection (1) of this section, no sales or use tax of any such local government shall conflict with the provisions of this article after January 1, 1986.

ANNOTATION

Municipal ordinance creating a lien for the collection of its sales taxes that is superior to a lien held by a bank was a proper exercise of the municipality's authority under § 6 of article XX of the state constitution and especially § 6(g). The priority of local liens for unpaid sales taxes, at least with respect to their superiority over private commercial liens, is a local and municipal concern for which the municipality may legislate, even if such legislation were to conflict with a state statute. Given that the levy and collection of a local sales tax by a home-rule municipality is a local and municipal concern, it would be anomalous to conclude that, while the general assembly may grant priority to the sales tax liens of statutory cities and towns, a home rule municipality may not make its sales tax lien superior to the commercial lien of a private lender. Town of Avon v. Weststar Bank, 151 P.3d 601 (Colo. App. 2006).

29-2-109. Contents of use tax ordinances and proposals. (1) The use tax ordinance, resolution, or proposal of any town, city, or county adopted pursuant to this article shall be imposed only for the privilege of using or consuming in the town, city, or county any construction and building materials purchased at retail or for the privilege of storing, using, or consuming in the town, city, or county any motor and other vehicles, purchased at retail on which registration is required, or both. For the purposes of this subsection (1), the term “construction and building materials” shall not include parts or materials utilized in the fabrication, construction, assembly, or installation of passenger tramways, as defined in section 25-5-702 (4), C.R.S., by any ski area operator, as defined in section 33-44-103 (7), C.R.S., or any person fabricating, constructing, assembling, or installing a passenger tramway for a ski area operator. The ordinance, resolution, or proposal may recite that the use tax shall not apply to the storage and use of wood from salvaged trees killed or infested in Colorado by mountain pine beetles or spruce beetles as exempted from the state use tax pursuant to section 39-26-723, C.R.S. The ordinance, resolution, or proposal may recite that the use tax shall not apply to the storage and use of components used in the production of energy, including but not limited to alternating current electricity, from a renewable energy source, as exempted from the state use tax pursuant to section 39-26-724, C.R.S. The ordinance, resolution, or proposal shall recite that the use tax shall not apply:

(a) To the storage, use, or consumption of any tangible personal property the sale of which is subject to a retail sales tax imposed by the town, city, or county;

(b) To the storage, use, or consumption of any tangible personal property purchased for resale in the town, city, or county, either in its original form or as an ingredient of a manufactured or compounded product, in the regular course of a business;

(c) To the storage, use, or consumption of tangible personal property brought into the town, city, or county by a nonresident thereof for his own storage, use, or consumption while temporarily within the town, city, or county; however, this exemption does not apply to the storage, use, or consumption of tangible personal property brought into this state by a nonresident to be used in the conduct of a business in this state;

(d) To the storage, use, or consumption of tangible personal property by the United States government, or the state of Colorado, or its institutions, or its political subdivisions in their governmental capacities only or by religious or charitable corporations in the conduct of their regular religious or charitable functions;

(e) To the storage, use, or consumption of tangible personal property by a person engaged in the business of manufacturing or compounding for sale, profit, or use any article, substance, or commodity, which tangible personal property enters into the processing of or becomes an ingredient or component part of the product or service which is manufactured, compounded, or furnished and the container, label, or the furnished shipping case thereof;

(f) (I) With respect to the use tax of a town or city, to the storage, use, or consumption of any article of tangible personal property the sale or use of which has already been subjected to a legally imposed sales or use tax of another statutory or home rule town, city, or city and county equal to or in excess of that imposed by this article. A credit shall be granted against the use tax imposed by this article with respect to a person's storage, use, or consumption in the town or city of tangible personal property purchased by him in a previous statutory or home rule town, city, or city and county. The amount of the credit shall be equal to the tax paid by him by reason of the imposition of a sales or use tax of the previous statutory or home rule town, city, or city and county on his purchase or use of the property. The amount of the credit shall not exceed the tax imposed by this article.

(II) With respect to the use tax of a statutory or home rule county, to the storage, use, or consumption of any article of tangible personal property the sale or use of which has already been subjected to a legally imposed sales or use tax of another statutory or home rule county equal to or in excess of that imposed by this article. A credit shall be granted against the use tax imposed by this article with respect to a person's storage, use, or consumption in the subsequent statutory or home rule county of tangible personal property purchased by him in a previous statutory or home rule county. The amount of the credit shall be equal to the tax paid by him by reason of the imposition of a sales or use tax of the previous statutory or home rule county on his purchase or use of the property. The amount of the credit shall not exceed the tax imposed by this article.

(g) To the storage, use, or consumption of tangible personal property and household effects acquired outside of the town, city, or county and brought into it by a nonresident acquiring residency;

(h) To the storage or use of a motor vehicle if the owner is or was, at the time of purchase, a nonresident of the town, city, or county and he purchased the vehicle outside of the town, city, or county for use outside the town, city, or county and actually so used it for a substantial and primary purpose for which it was acquired and he registered, titled, and licensed said motor vehicle outside of the town, city, or county;

(i) To the storage, use, or consumption of any construction and building materials and motor and other vehicles on which registration is required if a written contract for the purchase thereof was entered into prior to the effective date of such use tax;

(j) To the storage, use, or consumption of any construction and building materials required or made necessary in the performance of any construction contract bid, let, or entered into at any time prior to the effective date of such use tax ordinance, resolution, or proposal.

(2) No use tax of any town shall be imposed with respect to the use or consumption of taxable tangible personal property within the town that occurs more than three years after the most recent sale of the property if, within the three years following such sale, the property has been significantly used within the state for the principal purpose for which it was purchased.

(3) Construction equipment which is located within the boundaries of a home rule city, town, or city and county for a period of thirty consecutive days or less shall be subjected to the use tax of such home rule city, town, or city and county in an amount which does not exceed the amount calculated as follows: The purchase price of the equipment shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is one and the denominator of which is twelve, and the result shall be multiplied by the use tax rate of the home rule city, town, or city and county. Where the provisions of this subsection (3) are utilized, the credit provisions of subsection (6) of this section shall apply at such time as the aggregate sales and use taxes legally imposed by and paid to other statutory and home rule cities, towns, and cities and counties on any such equipment equal the full use tax of the subsequent home rule city, town, or city and county.

(4) In order to avail himself of the provisions of subsection (3) of this section, the taxpayer shall comply with the following procedure:

(a) Prior to or on the date the equipment is located within the boundaries of a home rule city, town, or city and county, the taxpayer shall file with such home rule city, town, or city and county an equipment declaration on a form provided by such home rule city, town, or city and county. Such declaration shall state the dates on which the taxpayer anticipates the equipment will be located within and removed from the boundaries of the home rule city, town, or city and county, shall include a description of each such anticipated piece of equipment, shall state the actual or anticipated purchase price of each such anticipated piece of equipment, and shall include such other information as reasonably deemed necessary by the home rule city, town, or city and county.

(b) The taxpayer shall file with the home rule city, town, or city and county an amended equipment declaration reflecting any changes in the information contained in any previous equipment declaration no less than once every ninety days after the equipment is brought into the boundaries of such home rule city, town, or city and county or, for equipment which is brought into the boundaries of a home rule city, town, or city and county for a project of less than ninety days duration, no later than ten days after substantial completion of the project.

(c) The taxpayer need not report on any equipment declaration any equipment for which the purchase price was under two thousand five hundred dollars. If such equipment declaration is given, then as to any item of construction equipment for which the customary purchase price is under two thousand five hundred dollars which was brought into the boundaries of the home rule city, town, or city and county temporarily for use on a construction project, it shall be presumed that the item was purchased in a jurisdiction having a local sales or use tax as high as that of such home rule city, town, or city and county where the construction takes place and that such sales or use tax was previously paid. In such case the burden of proof in any proceeding before such city, town, or city and county, the executive director of the department of revenue, or the district court, shall be on such home rule, city, town, or city and county where the construction takes place to prove such local sales or use tax was not paid.

(5) If the taxpayer fails to comply with the provisions of subsection (4) of this section, the taxpayer may not avail himself of the provisions of subsection (3) of this section. However, substantial compliance with the provisions of subsection (4) of this section shall allow the taxpayer to avail himself of the provisions of subsection (3) of this section.

(6) No use tax of any home rule city, town, or city and county shall apply to the storage, use, or consumption of any article of tangible personal property the sale or use of which has already been subjected to a sales or use tax of another statutory or home rule city, town, or city and county legally imposed on the purchaser or user equal to or in excess of that imposed by the subsequent home rule city, town, or city and county. A credit shall be granted against the use tax of the home rule city, town, or city and county with respect to the person's storage, use, or consumption in the home rule city, town, or city and county of tangible personal property, the amount of the credit to equal the tax paid by him by reason of the imposition of a sales or use tax of the previous statutory or home rule city, town, or city and county on his purchase or use of the property. The amount of the credit shall not exceed the tax imposed by the subsequent home rule city, town, or city and county.

(7) The use tax of any town, city, city and county, or county, whether home rule or statutory, shall not apply to the storage of construction and building materials.

ANNOTATION

County's interpretation of "construction and building materials" to include equipment used in connection with natural gas operations was unreasonably broad. The general assembly intended to impose a use tax on "construction and building materials" that constitute permanent improvements to real property, not on other systems used for industrial operations. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Rio Blanco v. ExxonMobil, 192 P.3d 582 (Colo. App. 2008), aff'd by operation of law, 222 P.3d 303 (Colo. 2009).

State statute prohibiting the imposition of local use taxes on tangible personal property purchased more than three years prior to its use is inapplicable where it is in conflict with a home rule city use tax that deals with a matter of local concern such as an excise tax constituting a one time use fee imposed on a privilege at the time the privilege is exercised. Winslow Constr. Co. v. City and County of Denver, 960 P.2d 685 (Colo. 1998).

Applied in Rancho Colo., Inc. v. City of Broomfield, 196 Colo. 444, 586 P.2d 659 (1978); Associated Dry Goods Corp. v. City of Arvada, 197 Colo. 491, 593 P.2d 1375 (1979).

29-2-110. Filing with executive director - when deemed to have been made.

(1) Any report, claim, tax return, statement, or other document required or authorized under this article to be filed with or any payment made to the executive director of the department of revenue which:

(a) Is transmitted through the United States mails shall be deemed filed with and received by the executive director on the date shown by the cancellation mark stamped on the envelope or other wrapper containing the document required to be filed;

(b) Is mailed but not received by the executive director, or is received and the cancellation mark is not legible or is erroneous or omitted, shall be deemed to have been filed and received on the date it was mailed if the sender establishes by competent evidence that the document was deposited in the United States mails on or before the date due for filing. In such cases of nonreceipt of a document by the executive director, the sender shall file a duplicate copy thereof within thirty days after written notification is given to the sender by the executive director of the failure to receive such document.

(2) If any report, claim, tax return, statement, remittance, or other document is sent by United States registered mail, certified mail, or certificate of mailing, a record authenticated by the United States postal service of such registration, certification, or certificate shall be considered competent evidence that the report, claim, tax return, statement, remittance, or other document was mailed to the executive director, to the state officer or state agency to which it was addressed, and the date of the registration, certification, or certificate shall be deemed to be the postmark date.

(3) If the date for filing any report, claim, tax return, statement, remittance, or other document falls upon a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, it shall be deemed to have been timely filed if filed on the next business day.

29-2-111. Pledging of sales and use tax for capital improvements. (1) A sales or use tax proposal made pursuant to this article by, or on behalf of, any county, city, or incorporated town may contain a provision for the creation of a special fund, to be known as a "sales and use tax capital improvement fund", for the deposit of all or any part of the revenue from the sales or use tax, or both, and to be used solely to provide capital improvements. A sales or use tax proposal of any county, city, or incorporated town which has been approved by the registered electors and which does not contain a provision for the creation of such a special fund may be subsequently amended by ordinance or resolution of the governing body to provide for such a special fund. Any such amendment shall take effect only after approval by a majority of the registered electors of the county, city, or town voting at a regular or special election, but no election shall be required in order to create a capital improvement fund for the deposit of any portion of sales or use tax revenue allocated for capital improvement purposes in a sales or use tax proposal previously approved by the voters.

(2) A city or town by ordinance adopted by the governing body may pledge all or any part of the sales or use tax revenue, or both, it receives from the countywide sales or use tax for capital improvement purposes. Any such pledge shall take effect only after approval by a majority of the registered electors of the city or town voting at a regular or special election.

(3) When sales or use tax revenue, or both, is pledged solely for capital improvement purposes, it shall be deposited immediately upon being received or collected into the sales and use tax capital improvement fund. Upon deposit in this fund, such revenue is thereafter not available to be pledged or expended for any general municipal or county purpose.

(4) For purposes of this section and section 29-2-112, "capital improvement purposes" include:

- (a) Paying the costs of acquiring or constructing any capital improvement;
- (b) Acquiring land or equipment;
- (c) The costs of issuing bonds;
- (d) The costs of capitalized interest and reserves; and
- (e) The costs of operating and maintaining the capital improvements to be financed.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision to the contrary, no sales or use tax revenues in the sales and use tax capital improvement fund may be expended in any year for the purposes specified in subsection (4) of this section unless said fund contains sufficient revenues to pay the anticipated annual debt service on any sales and use tax revenue bonds for which moneys in the fund have been pledged.

ANNOTATION

Language of ballot question that specified financing of capital improvements would be accomplished by increasing sales and use taxes is not clearly misleading even though it did not state that bonds could be issued and secured by a fund containing the increased taxes. Leek v. City of Golden, 870 P.2d 580 (Colo. App. 1993).

29-2-112. Sales and use tax revenue bonds. (1) Any county, city, or incorporated town which has pledged sales or use tax revenue, or both, solely for capital improvement purposes and has created a sales and use tax capital improvement fund may, in anticipation of collection of sales or use tax revenues, issue revenue bonds payable solely from the fund for the purpose of financing capital improvements.

(2) The revenue bonds may be authorized and issued by ordinance or resolution of the governing body of the county, city, or incorporated town, without further election.

(3) The revenue bonds shall bear interest at a rate such that the net effective interest rate of the issue of bonds does not exceed the maximum net effective interest rate authorized, payable semiannually or annually, and such interest shall be evidenced by one or two sets of coupons, if any, executed with the facsimile or manually executed signature of any official of the county, city, or incorporated town; except that the first coupon appertaining to any bond may evidence interest not in excess of one year. The resolution or ordinance authorizing the issuance of such bonds shall specify the maximum net effective interest rate. Such bonds may be issued in one or more series, may bear such date, may mature at such time as determined by the governing body but in no event beyond thirty years from their respective dates, may be in such denomination, may be payable in such medium of payment, at such place within or without the state, including but not limited to the office of the county treasurer, may carry such registration privileges, may be subject to such terms of prior redemption in advance of maturity in such order or by lot or otherwise at such time with or without a premium, may be executed in such manner, may bear such privileges for reissuance in the same or other denomination, may be so reissued, without modification of maturities and interest rates, and may be in such form, either coupon or registered, as may be provided by the governing body.

(4) (a) The governing body may provide for preferential security for any bonds, both principal and interest, to the extent deemed feasible and desirable by such governing body over any bonds that may be issued thereafter.

(b) The revenue bonds may be sold at, above, or below the principal amounts thereof, but they may not be sold at a price such that the net effective interest rate of the issue of bonds exceeds the maximum net effective interest rate authorized.

(c) The revenue bonds may be sold at either public or private sale.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the governing body in any proceedings authorizing bonds under this section may:

(a) Provide for the initial issuance of one or more bonds, referred to in this subsection (5) as a "bond", aggregating the amount of the entire issue;

(b) Make such provision for installment payments of the principal amount of any such bond as it may consider desirable;

(c) Provide for the making of any such bond, payable to bearer or otherwise, registrable as to principal or interest or both and, where interest accruing thereon is not represented by interest coupons, for the endorsing of payments of interest on such bond; and

(d) Make further provision in any such proceedings for the manner and circumstances in and under which any such bond may in the future, at the request of the holder thereof, be converted into bonds of smaller denominations, which bonds of smaller denominations may in turn be either coupon bonds or bonds registrable as to principal or principal and interest, or both.

(6) (a) The revenue bonds and any coupons bearing the facsimile or manual signatures of officers in office on the date of the signing thereof shall be valid and binding obligations of the county, city, or incorporated town, notwithstanding that before the delivery thereof and payment therefor any or all of the persons whose signatures appear thereon have ceased to be officers of the entity issuing the same.

(b) Any officer authorized or permitted to sign any bond or interest coupon, at the time of its execution and of the execution of a signature certificate, may adopt, as and for his or her own facsimile signature, the facsimile signature of his or her predecessor in office in the event that such facsimile signature appears upon the bond or coupons appertaining thereto, or upon both the bond and such coupons.

(7) The clerk of the county, city, or incorporated town may cause the seal of such entity to be printed, engraved, stamped, or otherwise placed in facsimile on any bond. The facsimile seal has the same legal effect as the impression of the seal.

(8) The revenue bonds and the income therefrom are exempt from taxation, except inheritance, estate, and transfer taxes.

(9) The revenue bonds shall not constitute an indebtedness of the county, city, or incorporated town within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory debt limitation or provision. Each bond issue under this section shall recite in substance that said bonds, including the interest thereon, are payable solely from a special fund and that said bonds do not constitute a debt within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitation.

(10) Any ordinance or resolution authorizing any bonds under this section may provide that each bond therein authorized shall recite that it is issued under authority of this section. Such recital shall conclusively impart full compliance with all of the provisions of this section, and all bonds issued containing such recital shall be incontestable for any cause whatsoever after their delivery for value.

(11) A home rule municipality may elect to issue sales or use tax revenue bonds pursuant to this section unless a provision of the municipal charter prohibits the issuance of such bonds.

ANNOTATION

Language of ballot question that specified financing of capital improvements would be accomplished by increasing sales and use taxes is not clearly misleading even though it did not state that bonds could be issued and secured by a fund containing the increased taxes. Leek v. City of Golden, 870 P.2d 580 (Colo. App. 1993).

Suppression doctrine. City charter provision that gives city power to issue bonds is not inconsistent with § 29-2-112, so the suppression doctrine of article XX, § 6 of the Colorado Constitution does not apply. Leek v. City of Golden, 870 P.2d 580 (Colo. App. 1993).

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, “Financing Real Estate Developments”, see 11 Colo. Law. 2093 (1982).

This section does not contravene § 1 of art. XI, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Revenue bond financing, as authorized by this section, does not constitute the pledging of credit for a private corporation and does not subject the county to the debt, contract, and liability of a private corporation in contravention of § 1 of art. XI, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Nor § 6 of art. XI, Colo. Const. Revenue bond financing authorized by this statute does not unlawfully create county debt without the required election and for unauthorized purposes in contravention of § 6 of art. XI, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Since there is no pledge of the credit of the county for the payment of revenue bonds, no “debt” is thereby created, and, consequently, the issuance of such bonds has no effect whatsoever on the debt limitations prescribed in § 6 of art. XI, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

The provisions of this section do not contain delegations of power in contravention of § 35 of art. V, Colo. Const., and § 8 of art. XIV, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Not violative of substantive due process. The revenue bond financing authorized by this section serves a bona fide public purpose and thereby does not deprive taxpayers of substantive due process of law in contravention of § 25 of art. II, Colo. Const., and of the fourteenth amendment to the United States Constitution. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

The argument under the “due process” clauses of the state and federal constitutional provisions that the revenue bond financing authorized by this statute favors one private enterprise over another engaged, or wishing to engage, in the same business in the same locality (in short, that the financing is for the private benefit of a private enterprise); that there is no assurance a competitor would receive the same consideration; and consequently that the project is not for a public purpose is without merit. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Public project not necessarily municipal. The fact that project financed by revenue bonds is for a “public purpose” does not necessarily make its existence or its function municipal in nature. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

But its effect may fulfill public purpose. It is the effect of, or the benefits flowing from, the completed project and its operation by private enterprise that fulfills the “public purpose” requirement and not, “per se”, the county’s participation therein. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

The mechanics of securing obligations are constitutionally immaterial. Since revenue bonds do not create a “debt” within the meaning of that term as used in § 6 of art. XI, Colo. Const., the mechanics of securing the obligations of those who advance the funds for the project are constitutionally immaterial. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Under Colorado law, public revenue bonds do not create debt, if there is no pledge of public property. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

No monetary liability of county. A county is not authorized to, and could not under the law, use general county funds, nor is it in any manner responsible for any shortages or deficiencies which may occur as the result of the development or the operation of the project financed with revenue bonds. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Purchaser on notice as to no such liability. If a bond purchaser sees fit to purchase revenue bonds of a project for the sake of a federal tax advantage, he certainly will be on notice of the fact that there will never be any pecuniary liability against the city, and that he will be able to look only to the revenues of the project and the project property itself for payment of his bonds. With it expressed clearly in the law and on the face of each bond that neither the credit nor taxing power of the municipality is pledged, no bondholder will ever be heard to say he was deceived or that he thought otherwise. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

The participation of a county as a “lessor” under this section does not constitute a “municipal function”. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Validity sustained by weight of authority. The employment of public revenue bonds to foster the promotion of local industry is not a new concept, and the weight of authority sustains the validity of laws such as this statute. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Law cognizant of supreme court decisions. This section was passed with full knowledge by the general assembly of the decisions of the supreme court approving revenue bond financing. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Supreme court would not determine the constitutionality of this section when requested by the governor, stating that the question should only be answered after thorough analysis and study, with full opportunity for those who may be affected to be heard. In re House Bill No. 1503 of the Forty-sixth General Assembly, 163 Colo. 45, 428 P.2d 75 (1967).

29-3-102. Legislative declaration. (1) It is the intent of the general assembly by the passage of this article to authorize counties and municipalities to finance, acquire, own, lease, improve, and dispose of properties to the end that such counties and municipalities may be able to promote industry and develop trade or other economic activity by inducing profit or nonprofit corporations, federal governmental offices, hospitals, and agricultural, forestry, fisheries, mining, construction, manufacturing, transportation, communications, public utilities, wholesale and retail trade, finance, education, insurance, real estate, technology, and any related small business enterprises to locate, expand, or remain in this state, to mitigate the serious threat of extensive unemployment in parts of this state, to secure and maintain a balanced and stable economy in all parts of this state, or to further the use of its agricultural products or natural resources.

(2) It is the further intent of the general assembly to authorize counties and municipalities to finance, refinance, acquire, own, lease, improve, and dispose of properties to the end that pollution may be ameliorated and controlled, more adequate hospital care may be provided, more adequate residential housing facilities for low- and middle-income families and persons may be provided, more adequate facilities for disposing of sewage and solid waste and furnishing water, energy, and gas may be provided, more adequate facilities for sports events and activities and recreation activities, conventions, and trade shows may be provided, more adequate airports, mass commuting facilities, parking facilities, or storage or training facilities may be provided, and more adequate research, product-testing, and administrative facilities may be provided, all of which promote the public health, welfare, safety, convenience, and prosperity.

(3) It is therefore the intention of the general assembly to vest such counties and municipalities with all powers that may be necessary to enable them to accomplish such purposes, which powers shall in all respects be exercised for the benefit of the inhabitants of this state for the promotion of their health, safety, welfare, convenience, and prosperity.

(4) It is not intended by this article to authorize any county or municipality to operate any manufacturing, industrial, commercial, or business enterprise, or any research, product-testing, or administrative facilities of such enterprise, nor to prohibit the operation of utility plants, residential housing facilities, hospitals, sewage or solid waste disposal facilities, facilities for the furnishing of water, energy, or gas, sports and recreation facilities, convention or trade show facilities, airports, mass commuting facilities, parking facilities, or storage or training facilities by any county or municipality.

ANNOTATION

Valid public purpose. The general assembly's desire to afford a vehicle to aid in the relief of extensive unemployment, to maintain a balanced and stable economy, and to promote the use of the state's agricultural products represents a valid public purpose. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Weight given legislative intent. Although the expressed intent of the general assembly under this section has no magical quality which validates the invalid, it is entitled to reverent weight in determining whether this article promotes a public purpose. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

This section and § 29-3-119 prohibit county operation of the project. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

(2) "County" means any county within this state.

(3) "Finance" or "financing" means the issuing of bonds by a county or municipality and the use of substantially all of the proceeds therefrom pursuant to a financing agreement with the user to pay (or to reimburse the user or its designee) for the costs of the acquisition or construction of a project, whether these costs are incurred by the county, the municipality, the user, or a designee of the user. Title to or in the project may at all times remain in the user, and, in such case, the bonds of the county or municipality may be secured by mortgage or other lien upon the project or upon any other property of the user, or both, granted by the owner or by a pledge of one or more notes, debentures, bonds, or other secured or unsecured debt obligations of the user, as the governing body deems advisable, but no county or municipality shall be authorized hereby to pledge any of its property or to otherwise secure the payment of any bonds with its property; except that the county or municipality may pledge the property of the project or revenues therefrom.

(4) "Financing agreement" includes a lease, sublease, installment purchase agreement, rental agreement, option to purchase, or any other agreement, or any combination thereof, entered into in connection with the financing or refinancing of a project pursuant to this article.

(5) "Mortgage" means a deed of trust or any other security device for both real and personal property.

(10.5) “Refinance” or “refinancing” means the issuing of bonds by a county or municipality and the use of all or substantially all of the proceeds therefrom pursuant to a financing agreement with the user to liquidate any obligations previously incurred to finance or aid in financing of a project specified in paragraphs (b) to (l) of subsection (10) of this section which would constitute such a project had it been originally undertaken and financed by a county or municipality pursuant to this article. If a county issues revenue bonds as provided in this article to finance, refinance, or acquire projects, such projects shall be located within said county, or, if a municipality issues revenue bonds as provided in this article to finance, refinance, or acquire projects, such projects shall be located within the municipality or within eight miles from the nearest point of its corporate limits.

(b) To enter into financing agreements with others for the purpose of providing revenues to pay the bonds authorized by this article; to lease, sell, or otherwise dispose of any or all of its projects to others for such revenues and upon such terms and conditions as the governing body may deem advisable; and to grant options to renew any lease or other agreement with respect to the project and to grant options to buy any project at such price as the governing body deems desirable;

(c) To issue revenue bonds for the purpose of defraying the cost of financing, refinancing, acquiring, improving, and equipping any project, including the payment of principal

(2) The bonds and interest coupons, if any, appurtenant thereto shall never constitute the debt or indebtedness of the county or municipality within the meaning of any provision or limitation of the state constitution, statutes, or home rule charter, and shall not constitute nor give rise to a pecuniary liability of the county or municipality or a charge against its general credit or taxing powers. ANNOTATION

Section held constitutional under § 2 art. XI, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

Authorization. This section authorizes the county to grant the lessee an option to purchase the project at a stipulated price, and it also authorizes the county, as lessor, and the lessee to agree that the rentals paid by the lessee prior to and at the time of the exercise of such an option be applied toward the purchase price and that such rentals shall be in full or partial satisfaction thereof. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d-982 (1970).

The option to purchase a project financed with revenue bonds is an appropriate and integral part of the entire transaction between the county and the lessee. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

29-3-116. Refunding. (1) Any bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this article and at any time outstanding may be refunded at any time and from time to time by a county or municipality by the issuance of its refunding bonds in such amount as the governing body may determine to refund the principal of the bonds to be so refunded, all accrued and unaccrued interest thereon to the normal maturity dates of such bonds or to the prior redemption dates selected by the county or municipality in accordance with the proceedings under which the bonds to be refunded were issued, including any mortgage or trust indenture given to secure the same, and any premiums and incidental expenses necessary to be paid in connection therewith. The principal amount of any such refunding bonds may be equal to, less than, or greater than the principal amount of the bonds to be so refunded. The net effective interest rate on any such refunding bonds may be equal to, less than, or greater than the net effective interest rate on the bonds to be so refunded.

(2) Any such refunding may be effected, whether the bonds to be refunded have matured or shall mature thereafter, either by sale of the refunding bonds and the application of the proceeds thereof, directly or indirectly, to the payment of the bonds to be refunded thereby or by exchange of the refunding bonds for the bonds to be refunded thereby, but the holders of any bonds to be so refunded shall not be compelled, without their consent, to surrender their bonds for payment or exchange prior to the date on which they are payable at normal maturity date or prior redemption date selected by the county or municipality in accordance with the proceedings under which the bonds to be refunded were issued, including any mortgage or trust indenture given to secure the same.

(3) The proceeds of the refunding bonds shall either be immediately applied to the retirement of the bonds to be so refunded or be placed in escrow in any state or national bank within or without this state which possesses and is exercising trust powers to be applied to the payment of the bonds being refunded or the refunding bonds or both upon their presentation therefor, to the extent, in such priority, and otherwise in the manner in which the county or municipality may determine. Except to the extent expressly inconsistent with the provisions of this article, the proceedings under which the bonds to be so refunded were issued, including any mortgage or trust indenture given to secure the same, shall govern the issuance of such refunding bonds, the establishment of any escrow in connection therewith, and the investment and reinvestment of any escrowed proceeds.

(4) All refunding bonds issued under authority of this article shall be payable solely from revenues out of which the bonds to be refunded thereby are payable or from revenues out of which bonds of the same character may be made payable under this article or any other law in effect at the time of the refunding or from the escrowed proceeds of such refunding bonds, including any proceeds realized from the investment and reinvestment of such escrowed proceeds.

(2) The cost of acquiring any project shall be deemed to include the actual cost of acquiring a site and the cost of the construction of any part of a project which may be constructed (including architects' and engineers' fees), the purchase price of any part of a project that may be acquired by purchase, and all expenses in connection with the authorization, sale, and issuance of the bonds to finance such acquisition.

29-3-118. No payment by county or municipality. (1) No county or municipality has the power to pay out of its general fund or otherwise contribute any part of the costs of acquiring a project and, unless specifically acquired for uses of the character described in this article or unless the land is determined by the governing body to be no longer necessary for other county or municipal purposes, shall not have the power to use land already owned by the county or municipality, or in which the county or municipality has an equity, for the construction thereon of a project or any part thereof.

(2) The entire cost of acquiring any project must be paid out of the proceeds from the sale of the bonds, but this provision shall not be construed to prevent a municipality from accepting donations of property to be used as a part of any project or money to be used for defraying any part of the cost of any project.

Applied in Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

29-3-119. No county or municipal operation. (1) When all principal of, interest on, and any prior redemption premium due in connection with the bonds issued for a project leased to a user have been paid in full and in the event the option to purchase or option to renew the lease, if any, contained in the lease has not been exercised as to all of the property contained in the project, the lease shall terminate and the county or municipality shall sell such remaining property or devote the same to county or municipal purposes other than manufacturing, commercial, or industrial.

(2) Any such sale which is not made pursuant to the exercise of an option to purchase by the user of a project shall be conducted in the same manner as is then provided by law governing the issuer's sale of surplus property.

ANNOTATION

This section and § 29-3-102 prohibit county operation of the project. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

29-3-120. Payment in lieu of taxes. (1) Pursuant to section 4 of article X of the state constitution, all property owned by a county or municipality pursuant to this article shall be and remain exempt from taxation. Nevertheless, any county or municipality acquiring or extending any project as provided in this article shall annually pay, solely out of the revenues from the project and not from any other source, to the state of Colorado and to the city, town, school district, and any other political subdivision or public body corporate wherein such project is located, authorized to levy taxes, a sum equal to the amount of tax which the taxing entity would annually receive if the property were owned by any private person or corporation, any other statute to the contrary notwithstanding. In addition to the requirements of sections 29-3-113 and 29-3-114, the governing body, before entering into a financing agreement pursuant to this article, shall make a prior determination of sufficiency of revenues for the purposes of this section, and each financing agreement shall provide for revenues sufficient to meet the payments required by this section.

(2) If and to the extent the proceedings under which the bonds so provide, the county or municipality may agree to cooperate with the user of a project in connection with any administrative or judicial proceedings for determining the validity or amount of any such payments and may agree to appoint or designate and reserve the right in and for such user to take all action which the county or municipality may lawfully take in respect of such payments and all matters relating thereto, but such user shall bear and pay all costs and expenses of the county or municipality thereby incurred at the request of such user or by reason of any such action taken by such user in behalf of the county or municipality.

(3) Any user of a project which has paid, as revenues additional to those required to be paid pursuant to section 29-3-114, the amounts required by subsection (1) of this section to be paid by the county or municipality shall not be required to pay taxes on such property to the state or to any county, city, town, school district, or other political subdivision, any other statute to the contrary notwithstanding. In the event the project is owned by a private person or corporation, the financing agreement shall require such private person or corporation to pay the taxes which such taxing entity or entities are entitled to receive from such private person or corporation with respect to the project.

ANNOTATION

The property of a county is specifically exempted from tax. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

It is the interest of the lessee — the leasehold — upon which the charge in lieu of taxes is made under this section. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

This section makes it clear that it was designed to fully comply with §§ 3, 4, 8, 9, and 10 of art. X, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

The obligation imposed by this section is constitutional. The obligation under this section to make annual payments “in lieu of”, but in the same amount as, taxes on the county-owned project does not violate §§ 3, 4, 8, 9, or 10 of art. X, Colo. Const. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

If rentals “in lieu of taxes”, can be considered taxes, there is no lack of uniformity under this section, which authorizes the taxing of all lessees of “projects” on the same basis, as the tax on other property and the rents on municipal property for industrial uses operate equally and uniformly on all persons and corporations in like circumstances. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

This section is intended to apply only to ad valorem property taxes, not to any excise taxes. City of Pueblo v. Weed, 39 Colo. App. 415, 570 P.2d 15 (1977), rev’d on other grounds, 197 Colo. 52, 591 P.2d 80 (1979).

29-3-121. Eminent domain not available. No land acquired by a county or municipality by the exercise of condemnation through eminent domain can be used for the project to effectuate the purposes of this article.

ANNOTATION

Applied in Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 476 P.2d 982 (1970).

29-3-122. Limitation of actions. No action shall be brought questioning the legality of any contract, financing agreement, mortgage, trust indenture, proceeding, or bonds executed in connection with any project or improvements authorized by this article on and after thirty days from the effective date of the resolution or ordinance authorizing the issuance of such bonds.

29-3-123. Sufficiency of article. (1) This article, without reference to other statutes of the state, constitutes full authority for the exercise of powers granted in this article, including but not limited to the authorization and issuance of bonds under this article.

(2) No other act or law with regard to the authorization or issuance of bonds that provides for an election requiring an approval or in any way impeding or restricting the carrying out of the acts authorized in this article to be done shall be construed as applying to any proceedings taken under this article or acts done pursuant to this article.

(3) The provisions of no other law, either general or local, shall apply to the things authorized to be done in this article, and no board, agency, bureau, commission, or official not designated in this article has any authority or jurisdiction over any of the acts authorized in this article to be done.

(4) No notice, consent, or approval by any public body or officer thereof shall be required as a prerequisite to the sale or issuance of any bonds, the making of any contract or financing agreement, or the exercise of any other power under this article, except as provided in this article.

(5) The powers conferred by this article shall be in addition and supplemental to, and not in substitution for, and the limitations imposed by this article shall not affect, the powers conferred by any other law.

(6) No part of this article shall repeal or affect any other law or part thereof except to the extent that this article is inconsistent with any other law, it being intended that this article shall provide a separate method of accomplishing its objectives and not an exclusive one; and this article shall not be construed as repealing, amending, or changing any such other law except to the extent of such inconsistency.

CITY HOUSING LAW - SLUM CLEARANCE

29-4-101. Short title. This part 1 shall be known and may be cited as the "City Housing Law".

Source: L. 35: p. 498, § 1. CSA: C. 82, § 4. CRS 53: § 69-2-1. C.R.S. 1963: § 69-2-1.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, "Municipal Powers and the Public Purpose Doctrine", see 21 Rocky Mt. L. Rev. 277 (1949).

Section is constitutional. This section does not violate article XX, Colo. Const., since it is of public concern within the police power of the state. People ex rel. Stokes v. Newton, 106 Colo. 61, 101 P.2d 21 (1940).

And was enacted to make federal funds and credits available. To take advantage of the funds and credit provided by the United States Housing Act, 42 U.S.C.A. §§ 1401-1436, our general assembly enacted this article. People ex rel. Stokes v. Newton, 106 Colo. 61, 101 P.2d 21 (1940).

29-4-102. Legislative declaration. (1) It is hereby declared:

(a) That unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations exist in the various cities and that such unsafe or unsanitary conditions arise from overcrowding and concentration of population, the obsolete and poor condition of the buildings, improper planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air, and space, unsanitary design and arrangement, lack of proper sanitary facilities, and the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes;

(b) That in all such cities persons of low income are forced to reside in unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations; that in various cities there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations available to all the inhabitants thereof, and that consequently persons of low income are forced to occupy overcrowded and congested dwelling accommodations;

(c) That these conditions cause an increase in and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals, and welfare of the citizens of the state and impair economic values; that these conditions cannot be remedied by the ordinary operations of private enterprises;

(d) That the clearance, replanning, and reconstruction of areas in which unsanitary or unsafe housing conditions exist and the providing of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations, at such rentals that persons who now live in unsafe or unsanitary dwelling accommodations or in overcrowded and congested dwelling accommodations can afford to live in safe or sanitary or uncongested dwelling accommodations, are public uses and purposes for which public money may be spent and private property acquired;

(e) That in order to remedy these conditions it is necessary that the powers provided in this part 1 be conferred upon each city; that it is in the public interest that work on such projects be instituted as soon as possible in order to relieve unemployment which now constitutes an emergency.

(2) The necessity in the public interest for the provisions enacted in this part 1 is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination.

29-4-112. Tax resolution - payment of bonds. (1) Before delivering any bonds payable from or additionally secured by taxes and authorized to be issued pursuant to this part 1, the council shall adopt a resolution, referred to in this part 1 as the "tax resolution", which shall recite in substance that adequate provision will be made for raising annually a tax upon all property subject to taxation by the city of a sum sufficient to pay the interest on and principal of such bonds as the same become due. A tax sufficient to pay, when due, such principal and such interest shall be levied annually and assessed, collected, and paid in like manner with the other taxes of such city and shall be in addition to and exclusive of the maximum of all other taxes which such city is authorized or required by law to levy and assess upon the property subject to taxation.

(2) It is the duty of the tax collector of the county in which such city is located, upon the filing in the office of such county clerk of the county wherein such city is located of a duly certified copy of such tax resolution, to levy and assess a tax sufficient to pay the interest on and principal of such bonds as the same become due; but if the bonds are payable from taxes only in the event of a deficiency in revenues or are payable from taxes and additionally secured by a pledge of revenues and if the tax resolution so provides, then, in such events, the tax to be levied and assessed by such county clerk may be reduced by such amount and under such conditions as may be determined in such tax resolution. When for any reason all or any part of the principal of or interest on any bonds payable from or additionally secured by taxes and issued by any city pursuant to this part 1 is paid when due, there shall be levied and assessed by the county clerk and collected by the proper collecting officers a tax sufficient to pay the same.

The bonds may be sold in such blocks as the council may by resolution determine, but no bonds shall be sold at less than par. The bonds may be purchased by the city at a price not more than the principal amount thereof plus the accrued interest, and all bonds so purchased shall be cancelled. The bonds shall be fully negotiable within the meaning of and for all the purposes of article 8 of title 4, C.R.S., pertaining to investment securities.

(2) The validity of the authorization and issuance of the bonds authorized under this part 1 shall not be dependent on or affected in any way by proceedings taken, contracts made, acts performed, or things done in connection with the construction of any housing project. Bonds issued under this part 1 bearing the signature of officers in office on the date of the signing thereof shall be valid and binding obligations, notwithstanding that before the delivery thereof any persons whose signatures appear thereon shall have ceased to be officers of the city issuing the same. Pending the authorization, preparation, execution, or delivery of the definitive bonds for the purpose of financing the construction of a housing project, interim certificates or other temporary obligations may be issued by the city to the purchaser of such bonds. Such interim certificates or other temporary obligations shall be in such form and contain such terms, conditions, and provisions as the council of the city issuing the same may determine.

Housing authority created pursuant to the Housing Authorities Law is a distinct, independent governmental entity from the city within which it operates. Roe v. Hous. Auth. of City of Boulder, 909 F. Supp. 814 (D. Colo. 1995).

29-4-202. Legislative declaration. (1) It is hereby declared:

(a) That unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations exist in various cities and that such unsafe or unsanitary conditions arise from overcrowding and concentration of population, the obsolete and poor condition of buildings, improper planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air, and space, unsanitary design and arrangement, lack of proper sanitary facilities, and the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes;

(b) That in all such cities persons of low income are forced to reside in unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations; that in various cities there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations available to all the inhabitants thereof and that consequently persons of low income are forced to occupy overcrowded and congested dwelling accommodations;

(c) That these conditions cause an increase in and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals, and welfare of the citizens of the state, and impair economic values; that the aforesaid conditions also exist in certain areas surrounding such cities, and that these conditions cannot be remedied by the ordinary operations of private enterprises;

(d) That the clearance, replanning, and reconstruction of the areas in which unsanitary or unsafe housing conditions exist and the providing of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations on such financial terms that enable persons who now live in unsafe or unsanitary dwelling accommodations or in overcrowded and congested dwelling accommodations to afford to live in safe and sanitary or uncongested dwelling accommodations, are public uses and purposes for which public money may be spent and private property acquired;

(e) That, in order to remedy these conditions, a housing authority with the boundaries, powers, and duties provided in this part 2 shall be established for each city and that it is in the public interest that work on such projects be instituted as soon as possible in order to relieve unemployment which now constitutes an emergency.

(2) The necessity in the public interest for the provisions enacted in this part 2 is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination.

29-4-204. Petition for creation of authority - notice - hearing. (1) Any twenty-five residents of the city may file a petition with the city clerk setting forth that there is a need for an authority to function in the city. Upon the filing of such a petition, the city clerk shall give notice of the time, place, and purposes of a public hearing at which the council will determine the need for such an authority in the city. Such notice shall be given at the city's expense by publishing a notice, at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held, in a newspaper having a general circulation in the city, or, if there is no such newspaper, by posting such a notice in at least three public places within the city at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held.

(2) Upon the date fixed for said hearing, held upon notice as provided in this section, a full opportunity to be heard shall be granted to all residents and taxpayers of the city and to all other interested persons. After such a hearing, the council shall determine:

(a) Whether unsanitary or unsafe inhabited dwelling accommodations exist in the city; or

(b) Whether there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations in the city available for all the inhabitants thereof.

(3) In determining whether dwelling accommodations are unsafe or unsanitary, the council shall take into consideration the following: The physical condition and age of the buildings; the degree of overcrowding; the percentage of land coverage; the light and air available to the inhabitants of such dwelling accommodations; the size and arrangement of the rooms; the sanitary facilities; and the extent to which conditions exist in such buildings which endanger life or property by fire.

(4) If it determines that either of the conditions enumerated in subsection (2) of this section exist, the council shall adopt a resolution so finding and shall cause notice of such determination to be given to the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance who shall thereupon appoint, as provided in section 29-4-205, no more than nine commissioners to act as an authority; except that, in any city and county having a population of more than three hundred thousand, the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance shall appoint nine commissioners to act as an authority whose appointments shall be conditioned upon confirmation by the council. The number of commissioners shall be specified by the council in the resolution. A certificate signed by such commissioners shall then be filed with the division of local government in the department of local affairs and there remain of record, setting forth that a notice has been given and public hearing has been held, that the council made a determination after such hearing and that the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance has appointed them as commissioners. Upon the filing of such certificates with said division, the commissioners and their successors shall constitute a housing authority, which shall be a body corporate and politic.

(5) The boundaries of such authority shall include the same geographical area as is then or thereafter included within the boundaries of the city which caused such authority to be created.

(7) In any suit, action, or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of any bond, contract, mortgage, trust indenture, or other agreement of the authority, the authority shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this part 2 upon proof of the filing of the aforesaid certificate. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the division of local government, shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action, or proceeding and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and contents thereof.

(8) If the council of any city denies any petition filed for the creation of a housing authority, in accordance with the provisions of subsection (6) of this section, and the residents of such city determine that there is in fact a shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary dwelling accommodations in the city, a petition may be filed with the council requesting that the question of the approval or disapproval of creating a housing authority be submitted to a vote of the registered electors of such city. If the petition, which may consist of one or more separate copies, contains the signatures and residence addresses of registered electors of such city equal in number to not less than five percent of the votes cast for governor or for president and vice-president of the United States at the last preceding general election held within such city, the council shall cause a special election to be held on the question of the creation of a housing authority. All registered electors within the city shall be eligible to vote at said election, which shall be conducted insofar as possible in accordance with the provisions of sections 29-4-604 to 29-4-607; except that the question to be voted on shall be the creation of a housing authority.

ANNOTATION

For the application of this section to the Denver housing authority, see People ex rel.

Stokes v. Newton, 106 Colo. 61, 101 P.2d 21 (1940).

29-4-205. Appointment of commissioners. (1) The authority shall consist of commissioners selected by the council in the manner provided in either subsection (2) or (3) of this section.

(2) The council may provide that all members of the governing body of the city shall ex officio be appointed the commissioners of the authority. The terms of office of such commissioners shall be coterminous with their terms of office on the governing body. For the purposes of this subsection (2), the term "governing body" means the mayor and council, board of trustees, board of commissioners, legislative body, or other body charged with governing the city. The mayor or, if the city has no mayor, the president of the council or such other presiding officer of the council shall ex officio be chairman of the commissioners. The commissioners shall select from among their members a vice-chairman.

(3) (a) The council may provide that an authority shall consist of no more than nine commissioners appointed by the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance; except that the council of a city and county having a population of more than three hundred thousand may provide that such authority shall consist of nine commissioners appointed by the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance. The council may also provide that the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance shall designate the first chairman. Not more than one of such commissioners may be a city official. In the event that a city official is appointed as a commissioner of an authority, acceptance or retention of such appointment shall not be deemed a forfeiture of his or her office, or incompatible therewith, or affect his or her tenure or compensation in any way. The term of office of a commissioner of an authority who is a city official shall not be affected or curtailed by the expiration of the term of his or her city office.

(b) The commissioners who are appointed under the provisions of this subsection (3) shall be designated by the mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance to serve for terms that are staggered from the date of their appointment such that, to the extent possible, the terms of an equal number of commissioners end each year. Thereafter, the term of office shall be five years. A commissioner shall hold office until his or her successor has been appointed and has qualified. Vacancies other than by reason of expiration of terms shall be filled for the unexpired term. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum. The mayor or such other appointing authority as is otherwise provided by charter or ordinance shall file with the city clerk a certificate of the appointment or reappointment of any commissioner, and such certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the due and proper appointment of such commissioner. The authority shall select from its members a vice-chairman and a chairman when the office of the first chairman becomes vacant.

(c) Until such time as the council takes action pursuant to subsection (6) of this section, all appointments of the commissioners appointed pursuant to this subsection (3) shall be conditioned upon confirmation by the council as required by section 29-4-204 (4). This paragraph (c) shall apply to original and successor appointments and to appointments to fill vacancies.

(3.5) Notwithstanding any other provision to the contrary, commencing on and after August 2, 2000, as new appointments are made to authorities pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, such appointments shall be made so that not less than one commissioner of each authority shall be an individual who is directly assisted by the authority and who may, if provided in a plan of the authority, be elected by individuals directly assisted by the authority. This subsection (3.5) shall not apply to any authority with fewer than three hundred public housing units if the authority provides reasonable notice to the resident advisory board of the opportunity for not less than one individual to serve as a commissioner of the authority as provided in this subsection (3.5) and, within a reasonable time after receipt by such board of the notice, the authority is not notified of the intention of any such individual to serve as a commissioner.

(4) A commissioner shall receive no compensation for his services but shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of his official duties.

(5) An authority may employ a secretary who shall be executive director, technical experts, and such other officers, agents, and employees, permanent and temporary, as it may require, and shall determine their qualifications, duties, and compensation. An authority may call upon the corporation counsel or chief law officer of the city for such legal services as it may require, or it may employ its own counsel and legal staff. An authority may delegate to one or more of its agents or employees such powers or duties as it deems proper.

(6) (a) Any council may, by resolution, change the method of appointment of commissioners after a proper notice and hearing and set a date for the changed method to become effective.

(b) Subsequent to the appointment of nine commissioners by the mayor and their confirmation by the council pursuant to section 29-4-204 (4), any council of a city and county having a population of more than three hundred thousand may, by resolution, change the number of commissioners after a proper notice and hearing and set a date for the changed number to become effective.

(7) The terms of office of present commissioners of authorities created under this section shall expire July 1, 1973. Prior to such date, the council shall appoint new commissioners, as provided in either subsection (2) or (3) of this section, such appointments to be effective July 1, 1973.

If any commissioner or employee of an authority owns or controls an interest, direct or indirect, in any property included or planned to be included in any project, he shall immediately disclose the same in writing to the authority, and such disclosure shall be entered upon the minutes of the authority. 29-4-208. Removal of commissioners. (1) The mayor may remove a commissioner for inefficiency or neglect of duty or misconduct in office, but only after the commissioner has been given a copy of the charges, which may be made by the mayor against him and has had an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel.

(2) Any obligee of the authority may file with the mayor written charges that the authority is violating willfully any law of the state or any term, provision, or covenant in any contract to which the authority is a party. The mayor shall give each of the commissioners a copy of such charges and an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel and, within fifteen days after receipt of such charges, shall remove any commissioners of the authority who have been found to have acquiesced in any such willful violation.

(3) A commissioner shall be deemed to have acquiesced in a willful violation by the authority of a law of this state or of any term, provision, or covenant contained in a contract to which the authority is a party if he has not filed a written statement with the authority of his objections to such violation prior to the filing or making of such charges.

(4) In the event of the removal of any commissioner, the mayor shall file in the office of the city clerk a record of the proceedings together with the charges made against the commissioners and findings thereon.

Authority restricted to property within city. The manifest intention of the general assembly, under the circumstances described above, was to restrict the authority to condemn property to that which was located within the limits of the city. Robison v. Hous. Auth., 165 Colo. 469, 439 P.2d 732 (1968).

29-4-214. Types of bonds. (1) The authority has the power and is authorized from time to time in its discretion to issue for any of its corporate purposes:

(a) Bonds on which the principal and interest are payable:

(I) Exclusively from the income and revenues of the project financed with the proceeds of such bonds, or with such proceeds together with the proceeds of a grant from the federal government to aid in financing the construction thereof; or

(II) Exclusively from the income and revenues of certain designated projects, whether or not they were financed in whole or in part with the proceeds of such bonds. The full faith and credit of the authority shall not be pledged to the payment of such bonds, but such bonds shall be payable only, and the bonds shall so state on their face, from the revenues of the designated project and the funds received from the sale or disposal thereof, and, if the authority so determines, by a trust indenture pledging such revenues, or, in certain instances as provided in this part 2 by a mortgage of the property comprising such designated project and the revenues therefrom.

(b) Bonds for payment of the principal and interest to which the full faith and credit of the authority is pledged and for which the revenues of the authority or any part thereof may be pledged by a resolution or trust indenture of the authority; in certain instances as provided in this part 2, such bonds may be additionally secured by a mortgage on the property and revenues of the authority or any part thereof.

(2) Neither the commissioners of the authority nor any person executing the bonds shall be liable personally on the bonds or be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of the issuance thereof. The bonds and other obligations of the authority shall not be a debt of the state or the city and neither the state nor the city shall be liable thereon, nor in any event shall they be payable out of any funds other than those of the authority.

29-4-215. Form of bonds. (1) The bonds of the authority shall be authorized by its resolution and issued in one or more series, and they shall bear such dates; mature at such times, not exceeding sixty years from their respective dates; bear interest at such rate, payable semiannually; be in such denominations, which may be made interchangeable; be in such form, either coupon or registered; carry such registration privileges; be executed in such manner; be payable in such medium of payment, at such places; and be subject to such terms of redemption, with or without premium, as such resolution or its trust indenture or mortgage may provide. The bonds may be sold at public or private sale, upon such terms and conditions as the authority shall determine. The bonds may be sold at such price as the authority shall determine.

(2) Pending the authorization, preparation, execution, or delivery of definite bonds, the authority may issue interim certificates or other temporary obligations to the purchaser of such bonds. Such interim certificates or other temporary obligations shall be in such form, contain such terms, conditions, and provisions, bear such dates, and evidence such agreements relating to their discharge or payment or the delivery of definite bonds as the authority may by resolution, trust indenture, or mortgage determine.

(3) In case any of the officers whose signatures appear on any bonds or coupons cease to be such officers before the delivery of such bonds, such signatures nevertheless shall be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if they had remained in office until such delivery.

(4) The authority has power, out of any funds available therefor, to purchase any bonds issued by it at a price not more than the principal amount thereof and the accrued interest. All bonds so purchased shall be cancelled. This subsection (4) shall not apply to the redemption of bonds.

(5) Any provision of any law to the contrary notwithstanding, any bonds, interim certificates, or other obligations issued pursuant to this article shall be fully negotiable within the meaning of and for all the purposes of article 8 of title 4, C.R.S., pertaining to investment securities.

29-4-302. Legislative declaration. It is determined and declared that there exist within the state of Colorado substandard and unsanitary areas, occasioned by inadequate planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air, and open space, defective design and arrangement of buildings, lack of proper sanitary facilities, and the existence of buildings, which, by reason of age, obsolescence, or physical deterioration, have become economic and social liabilities; that such conditions are conducive to ill health, transmission of disease, infant mortality, juvenile delinquency, and crime; and that such conditions impair the economic value of wide areas, infecting them with economic blight which results in inability to pay reasonable taxes. It is hereby declared that the remedying of such conditions is in the public interest, and this part 3 is enacted to provide means whereby said areas may be redeveloped by private enterprise with such assistance from public funds as may be furnished in accordance with the provisions of this part 3.

(1) In addition to the powers contained in section 29-4-306, the city council of a municipality may, by ordinance, give the authority of an area any or all of the additional powers set out in this section; and the enumeration of the following powers shall not be taken as a denial of the right of the city council to give the authority such other powers as the city council may determine to be expedient in order

COUNTY HOUSING AUTHORITY

29-4-501. Legislative declaration. (1) It is hereby declared:

(a) That there exists a housing shortage for agricultural workers, their families, and other families of low income in the state of Colorado with the result that many agricultural and other low income workers and their families are unable to find decent, safe, and sanitary housing;

(b) That such condition constitutes a menace to the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of this state; and

(c) That it is in the public interest to authorize the organization of county housing authorities to provide housing facilities for agricultural and other low income workers and their families.

(2) The necessity in the public interest for the provisions enacted in this part 5 is declared a matter of legislative determination.

29-4-502. Definitions. As used in this part 5, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Authority" or "housing authority" means any of the county housing authorities created by this part 5.

(2) "Board" means the board of county commissioners of any county.

(3) "County" means any county within the state of Colorado.

(4) "Federal government" means the United States, the federal emergency administrator of public works, or any other agency or instrumentality, corporate or otherwise, of the United States.

(5) "Project" means all real and personal property, buildings and improvements, stores, offices, lands for farming and gardening, commercial facilities, and community facilities acquired or constructed or to be acquired or constructed pursuant to a single plan or undertaking, to demolish, clear, remove, alter, or repair unsanitary or unsafe housing or to provide dwelling accommodations on financial terms within the means of persons of low income. The term "project" also applies to the planning of the buildings and improvements, the acquisition of property, the demolition of existing structures, the construction, reconstruction, alteration, and repair of the improvements, and all other work in connection therewith. The term "project" also applies to the provision of dwelling accommodations to persons, without regard to income, as long as the project substantially benefits persons of low income as determined by an authority.

(6) "State" means the state of Colorado.

Source: L. 51: p. 444, § 2. CSA: C. 82, § 80. CRS 53: § 69-6-2. L. 61: p. 422, § 2. C.R.S. 1963: § 69-6-2. L. 2002: (4) and (5) amended, p. 1937, § 2, effective June 7.

Editor's note: Section 4 of chapter 346, Session Laws of Colorado 2002, provides that the act amending subsections (4) and (5) applies only with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000.

29-4-503. Creation of housing authority. (1) Any twenty-five residents of the county may file a petition with the clerk of the board of county commissioners setting forth that there is a need for an authority to function in the county. Upon the filing of such petition, the clerk of the board shall give notice of the time, place, and purpose of a public hearing at which the board will determine the need for such an authority in the county. Such notice shall be given at the county's expense by publishing a notice at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held in a newspaper having a general circulation in the county or, if there is no newspaper, by posting such notice in at least three public places within the county at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held.

(2) Upon the date fixed for said hearing, held upon notice as provided in this section, a full opportunity to be heard shall be granted to all residents and taxpayers of the county and to all other interested persons. After such a hearing, the board shall determine whether there is a shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary dwelling accommodations in the county available to persons engaged in agricultural work, their families, and other low income families. If the board determines that such condition of shortage exists, the board shall adopt a resolution so finding and shall cause notice of such determination to be given to the chairman of the board, who shall thereupon appoint commissioners, as provided in either subsection (2) or (3) of section 29-4-504, to act as an authority. A certificate signed by such commissioners so appointed by the chairman of the board shall then be filed with the division of local government in the department of local affairs, and there remain of record, setting forth that a notice has been given and a public hearing has been held as aforesaid; that the board made a determination of such shortage after such hearing; and that the chairman of the board has appointed them as commissioners to act as an authority. Upon the filing of such certificate with said division, the commissioners and their successors shall constitute a housing authority, which shall be a body corporate and politic.

(3) If the board, after a hearing, determines that there is not a shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary dwelling accommodations in the county available to persons engaged in agricultural work, to their families, and to other families of low income, it shall adopt a resolution denying the petition. After three months have expired from the denial of the petition, subsequent petitions may be filed and new hearings and determinations made thereon.

(4) In any suit, action, or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of any contract, mortgage, trust indenture, or other agreement of the authority or involving any action taken by the authority, the authority shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this part 5 upon proof of the filing of the aforesaid certificate. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the director of the division of local government, shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action, or proceeding and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and the contents thereof.

(5) If the board of county commissioners denies any petition filed for the creation of a housing authority in accordance with the provisions of subsection (3) of this section and the residents of such county determine that there is in fact a shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary dwelling accommodations in the county, a petition may be filed with the board requesting that the question of the approval or disapproval of creating a housing authority be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of such county. If the petition, which may consist of one or more separate copies, contains the signatures and residence addresses of qualified electors of such county equal in number to not less than five percent of the votes cast for governor or for president and vice president of the United States at the last preceding general election held within such county, the board shall cause the question of the creation of a housing authority to be submitted at the next general election. All registered electors within the county shall be eligible to vote on the question, which shall be conducted, insofar as possible, in accordance with the provisions of sections 29-4-604 to 29-4-607; except that the question to be voted on shall be the creation of a housing authority, and the provisions of the "Uniform Election Code of 1992" shall apply.

ANNOTATION

Fact-finding under this section is legislative proceeding. The fact-finding function of the board of county commissioners' proceeding under the county housing authority act is the exercise of a legislative directive and not a quasi-judicial proceeding. Smith v. Waymire, 29 Colo. App. 544, 487 P.2d 599 (1971).

And not reviewable under rule 106, C.R.C.P. The fact-finding called for in this section is legislative and therefore not reviewable under rule 106, C.R.C.P., and since the board finds the facts but passes no judgment thereon, it is given no judicial power. Smith v. Waymire, 29 Colo. App. 544, 487 P.2d 599 (1971).

For, when the people are given the right to accept or reject a police regulation, it is a legislative rather than a quasi-judicial or administrative power that it involved. Smith v. Waymire, 29 Colo. App. 544, 487 P.2d 599 (1971).

29-4-504. Appointment of commissioners. (1) The authority shall consist of commissioners appointed by the board in the manner provided in either subsection (2) or (3) of this section.

(2) The board may provide that the members of the board shall ex officio be appointed the commissioners of the authority. The terms of office of such commissioners shall be coterminous with their terms of office on the board. The chairman of the board shall ex officio be chairman of the commissioners, and the commissioners shall select from their members a vice-chairman.

(3) (a) The board may provide that an authority shall consist of no more than eleven commissioners appointed by the chairman of the board, who shall designate the first chairman. Not more than one of such commissioners may be a county official. In the event that a county official is appointed as a commissioner of an authority, acceptance or retention of such appointment shall not be deemed a forfeiture of his or her office, or incompatible therewith, or affect his or her tenure or compensation in any way. The term of office of a commissioner of an authority who is a county official shall not be affected or curtailed by the expiration of the term of his or her county office.

(b) The commissioners who are appointed under the provisions of this subsection (3) shall be designated by the chairman of the board to serve for terms that are staggered from the date of their appointment such that, to the extent possible, the terms of an equal number of commissioners end each year. Thereafter, the term of office shall be five years. A commissioner shall hold office until his or her successor has been appointed and has qualified. Vacancies other than by reason of expiration of terms shall be filled for the unexpired term. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum. The chairman of the board shall file with the county clerk and recorder a certificate of the appointment or reappointment of any commissioner, and such certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the due and proper appointment of such commissioner. The authority shall select from its members a vice-chairman and a chairman when the office of the first chairman becomes vacant.

(3.5) Notwithstanding any other provision to the contrary, commencing on and after August 2, 2000, as new appointments are made to authorities pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, such appointments shall be made so that not less than one commissioner of each authority shall be an individual who is directly assisted by the authority and who may, if provided in a plan of the authority, be elected by individuals directly assisted by the authority. This subsection (3.5) shall not apply to any authority with fewer than three hundred public housing units if the authority provides reasonable notice to the resident advisory board of the opportunity for not less than one individual to serve as a commissioner of the authority as provided in this subsection (3.5) and, within a reasonable time after receipt by such board of the notice, the authority is not notified of the intention of any such individual to serve as a commissioner.

(4) A commissioner shall receive no compensation for his services, but shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of his official duties.

(5) An authority may employ a secretary who shall be executive director, technical experts, and such other officers, agents, and employees, permanent and temporary, as it may require, and shall determine their qualifications, duties, and compensation. An authority may call upon the corporation counsel or county attorney for such legal services as it may require, or it may employ its own counsel and legal staff. An authority may delegate to one or more of its agents or employees such powers or duties as it may deem proper.

(6) The board may, by resolution, change the method of appointment of commissioners after a proper notice and hearing, and set a date for the changed method to become effective.

(7) No commissioner or employee of an authority shall acquire any interest, direct or indirect, in any project or in any property included or planned to be in any project, nor shall he have any interest, direct or indirect, in any contract or proposed contract for materials or services to be furnished or used in connection with any project. If any commissioner or employee of an authority owns or controls an interest, direct or indirect, in any property included or planned to be included in any project, he shall immediately disclose the same in writing to the authority, and such disclosure shall be entered upon the minutes of the authority. Failure to so disclose such interest shall constitute misconduct in office. Upon disclosure such commissioner or employee shall not be allowed to participate in any action by the authority for acquisition of such property or making such contract.

(8) For inefficiency or neglect of duty or misconduct in office, a commissioner of an authority may be removed by the board, but only after a hearing and after he has been given a copy of the charges at least ten days prior to such hearing and an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel. In the event of the removal of any commissioner, a record of the proceedings together with the charges and findings thereon shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the board.

(9) The terms of office of present commissioners of authorities created under this section shall expire July 1, 1973. Prior to such date, the board shall appoint new commissioners, as provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, such appointments to be effective July 1, 1973.

29-4-505. Powers of authority. (1) A housing authority shall constitute a public body, corporate and politic, exercise public and essential governmental functions, and have all the powers necessary and convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this part 5 (but not the power to levy and collect taxes or special assessments), including the following powers:

- (a) To sue and be sued;
- (b) To have a seal and to alter the same at pleasure;
- (c) To have perpetual succession;
- (d) To make and execute contracts and other instruments necessary or convenient to the exercise of the powers of the authority;

- (g) To do all acts and things necessary or convenient to carry out the powers given in this part 5 or the purposes hereof.

29-4-506. Policy of authority. (1) It is declared to be the policy of this state that each authority shall manage and operate its projects in an efficient manner so as to enable it to fix the rentals or payments for dwelling accommodations at low rates consistent with providing adequate dwelling accommodations for persons of low income.

(2) To this end the authority shall fix the rentals or payments for dwellings in its projects at no higher rates than it finds to be necessary in order to produce revenues which, together with all other available moneys, revenues, income, and receipts of the authority from whatever sources derived including federal financial assistance necessary to maintain the low rent character of the projects, will be sufficient to cover:

- (a) Reasonable and proper costs of management, operation, maintenance, and improvement of the projects;
 - (b) Payments in lieu of taxes as it determines are consistent with the maintenance of the low rent character of projects;
 - (c) The establishment of reasonable and proper reserves; and
 - (d) The payment of currently maturing installments of principal and interest on any indebtedness incurred in connection with the project by the authority.
- (3) Rentals or payments for dwellings shall be established and the projects administered, insofar as possible, so as to assure that any federal financial assistance required shall

HOUSING AND BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT AND FINANCING

29-4-701. Short title. This part 7 shall be known and may be cited as the "Colorado Housing and Finance Authority Act".

Source: L. 75: Entire section added, p. 970, § 1, effective April 19. L. 87: Entire section amended, p. 1190, § 1, effective May 20.

Editor's note: This section was enacted as § 29-4-700.1 in House Bill 75-1026 but was renumbered on revision in the 1977 replacement volume for ease of location.

29-4-702. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds and declares that there is a shortage in Colorado of decent, safe, and sanitary housing which is within the financial capabilities of low- and moderate-income families. In order to alleviate the high cost of construction loans and home mortgage interest costs for such families, the general assembly believes that it is essential that additional public moneys be made available, through the issuance of revenue bonds, to assist both private enterprise and governmental entities in meeting critical housing needs. The general assembly also finds and declares that the compelling need within the state for such assistance can best be met by the establishment of a quasi-governmental and corporate entity vested with the powers and duties specified in this part 7.

(2) The general assembly further finds and declares that many housing facilities occupied by low- and moderate-income families use excessive and unnecessary amounts of energy for heating and other home uses due to inadequate insulation or to the absence of other design features or materials which reduce total home energy requirements; that high costs impair the ability of such families to afford decent, safe, and sanitary housing facilities; that many such facilities do not conform to building, housing maintenance, fire, health, or other state, county, or municipal codes or standards applicable to housing; that many such facilities are located in, and by their condition contribute to, deteriorating neighborhoods; that many such facilities are inadequate for the number of persons occupying them; that many such facilities cannot be repaired or improved within the financial capabilities of the low- or moderate-income owners or occupants; and that existing private and public means of enterprise and investment cannot provide financing or assistance on terms and conditions within the means of many such low- or moderate-income families. These conditions are adverse to the safety, health, and welfare of the citizens of this state and are contrary to the public policies of promoting the conservation of scarce energy resources, of minimizing the impact of higher costs on the ability of low- and moderate-income families to afford decent, safe, and sanitary housing facilities, and of preventing and eliminating blight in urban and rural areas. The general assembly therefore further finds and declares that it is a valid public purpose to preserve and promote the safety, health, and welfare of the citizens of this state by the exercise of the powers specified in this part 7.

(3) The general assembly further finds and declares that there exists in this state a need to promote sound economic development, to maintain employment, and to encourage job opportunities in areas of unemployment and underemployment by assisting in the provision of facilities for business enterprises, including profit and nonprofit enterprises and particularly enterprises of small and moderate size, by assisting in the provision of capital to such business enterprises, and by otherwise supporting such business enterprises. The general assembly therefore finds and declares that it is a valid public purpose to preserve and promote the safety, health, and welfare of this state and its inhabitants by the exercise of the powers specified in this part 7 to finance the acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, improvement, and equipping of facilities for business enterprises, including profit and nonprofit enterprises and particularly enterprises of small and moderate size, by private persons and political subdivisions of this state, to finance loans to and to make equity investments in such business enterprises for capital purposes, and to otherwise support such business enterprises.

(4) The general assembly further finds and declares that the purpose of this part 7 is to create the Colorado strategic seed fund to meet the special needs of entrepreneurs and small business operators in Colorado who would not otherwise be able to obtain funding for the development of ideas into viable and marketable products and services which would enhance the economic growth and development of Colorado, that this fund will be used to establish operating seed funds for investment in small businesses, and that this investment will, in turn, lead to further growth, diversification, and improvement of the Colorado economy.

(5) The general assembly further finds and declares:

(a) That there exists a need to leverage private sector investment in new and innovative products, in entrepreneurial activity, and in economic development finance and that, therefore, state assistance for development finance should reflect a leveraging investment strategy; and

(b) That the lending and investment of moneys to develop and improve the economy of the state requires specialized and unique knowledge, skill, and experience.

(6) The general assembly further finds and declares that the investment strategy of the managers of the operating seed funds should be:

(a) To invest in companies in the earliest stages of their development;

(b) To invest in companies which have exceptional merit and which will be located within the state of Colorado;

(c) To invest in companies in which the founding entrepreneurs have made significant individual investments;

(d) To invest in companies whose success will result in the creation of jobs in Colorado;

(e) To invest in companies which will attract other sources of venture capital for long-term development;

- (f) To invest in attractive growth companies which are coupled with the state's business incubators;
- (g) To assist companies with direct and ongoing business consultation to establish a viable management structure and strategic plan;
- (h) To provide an opportunity for subsequent financing for follow-up operations of successful companies;
- (i) To limit the amount invested by a manager in investments outside of Colorado to not more than fifty percent of the capital of an operating seed fund.

29-4-710.7. Powers of the board - issuance of bonds to maintain balances in the unemployment compensation fund. (1) Upon receiving the certifications specified in subsection (2) of this section, the authority, in addition to the other powers granted by this part 7, has the following powers:

(a) To issue from time to time its bonds and notes as provided in this part 7 to provide sufficient funds to maintain adequate balances in the unemployment compensation fund; to repay amounts advanced to the state pursuant to 42 U.S.C. sec. 1321; to pay the principal of, and interest and premium, if any, on, the bonds and notes, the costs of bond issuance and administration, and any other related fees and costs of the authority or the division of unemployment insurance; to establish reserves for and make deposits into the unemployment compensation fund and otherwise apply the proceeds of the bonds and notes for any of the purposes set forth in this paragraph (a);

(b) To levy certain bond assessments as follows:

(I) (A) All bonds and notes issued pursuant to this section are limited obligations of the authority, payable solely from revenues generated through the levy by the authority of a bond assessment against each employer, as defined in section 8-70-113, C.R.S., subject to experience rating under articles 70 to 82 of title 8, C.R.S., in an aggregate amount sufficient to satisfy subparagraph (II) of this paragraph (b) or from revenues generated through the levy by the division of unemployment insurance of a bond assessment under section 8-71-103 (2) (d), C.R.S., from payments from the division of unemployment insurance to the authority or moneys applied by the division under section 8-77-101 (1), C.R.S., from proceeds derived from the sale of bonds and notes issued under this section and from the earnings on those proceeds, and all money and securities in all special accounts created by and under the control of the authority under this section. The division of unemployment insurance shall collect and administer the bond assessment in substantially the same manner as other employer premiums and surcharges required under articles 70 to 82 of title 8, C.R.S. Subject to articles 70 to 82 of title 8, C.R.S., the assessment does not apply to the covered employers of state and local government, to those nonprofit organizations that are reimbursable employers, or to political subdivisions electing the special rate.

(B) The division of unemployment insurance may deposit all or any portion of moneys collected from assessments for principal-related bond repayment costs into the unemployment compensation fund. The portion of these revenues deposited into the unemployment compensation fund constitutes part of each employer's unemployment insurance contributions, and the division of unemployment insurance shall pay amounts from these revenues to the authority for the repayment of the principal of bonds issued under this section or section 8-71-103 (2) (d), C.R.S.

(II) The levy must be at a rate or rates that, when applied against the taxable wages of those employers subject to the bond assessment, will produce an amount sufficient to pay all costs associated with or otherwise relating to bonds and notes issued pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, including the principal of, and interest and premium, if any, on, the bonds and notes, the costs of bond issuance and administration, other related fees and costs of the authority or the division of unemployment insurance, and reserves therefor.

(III) Employers shall submit bond assessments described in this paragraph (b) associated with nonprincipal-related bond repayment costs in the same manner as the employer's normal premiums and surcharges paid under articles 70 to 82 of title 8, C.R.S., and the assessments are a lien upon the real and personal property of an employer in the manner and to the extent set forth in section 8-79-103, C.R.S. The division of unemployment insurance shall deposit these assessments into the unemployment bond repayment account created in section 8-77-103.5, C.R.S., and shall, after offsetting the division's costs for collecting and administering the bond assessments, use these funds only for payment from time to time to one or more special accounts created by and under the control of the issuer of the bonds. The issuer of the bonds shall use all moneys accruing in a special account only to pay nonprincipal-related bond repayment costs described in subparagraph (II) of this paragraph (b), and the issuer of the bonds shall pay any moneys remaining in such an account and not be required to pay nonprincipal-related bond repayment costs to the division of unemployment insurance for deposit in the unemployment compensation fund.

(IV) Employers shall submit bond assessments described in this paragraph (b) associated with principal-related bond repayment costs in the same manner as the employer's normal premiums and surcharges paid under articles 70 to 82 of title 8, C.R.S., and the assessments are a lien upon the real and personal property of an employer in the manner and to the extent set forth in section 8-79-103, C.R.S. The division of unemployment insurance may deposit all or any portion of the assessments into the unemployment compensation fund. The portion of the assessments deposited into the unemployment compensation fund constitute part of each employer's unemployment insurance contributions. Bond assessments described in this paragraph (b) associated with principal-related bond repayment costs are available for payment from time to time to one or more special accounts created by and under the control of the issuer of the bonds. All moneys accruing in a special account for principal-related bond repayment costs can be used by the issuer of the bonds only to pay the principal costs of the bonds.

(2) The authority shall not issue its bonds and notes pursuant to subsection (1) of this section until the monthly balance in the unemployment compensation fund is equal to or less than nine-tenths of one percent of the total wages reported by ratable employers for the calendar year, or the most recent available four consecutive quarters prior to the last computation date and the governor, the state treasurer, and the executive director of the department of labor and employment have each certified in writing to the authority:

(a) That other funding alternatives to the issuance of bonds and notes by the authority pursuant to subsection (1) of this section have been considered and that the issuance of such bonds and notes is the most cost-effective means for the division of unemployment insurance to maintain adequate balances in the unemployment compensation fund or to repay moneys advanced to the state pursuant to 42 U.S.C. sec. 1321;

(b) The amount of money required to maintain adequate balances in the unemployment compensation fund or to repay moneys advanced to the state pursuant to 42 U.S.C. sec. 1321, or both;

(c) The amount of bonds and notes required for the purposes described in subsection (1) of this section; and

(d) The bond assessment rate or rates, or a formula or other procedure for determining such rate or rates, that will produce an amount sufficient, together with any other moneys available or expected to be available, to pay all costs associated with or otherwise relating to bonds and notes issued pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, including the principal of, and interest and premium, if any, on, the bonds and notes, the costs of bond issuance and administration, and any other related fees and costs of the authority or the division of unemployment insurance, and reserves therefor.

29-4-711. Power of board - housing facility plans - mortgage purchase - loans to lenders. Upon a finding by the board that investment in, or purchase or participation in the purchase of, mortgage loans or interests therein or that making loans to lenders is necessary to provide housing facilities within the means of low- or moderate-income families, it may cause the executive director to formulate and from time to time modify a plan for the development of housing facilities by the authority investing in, purchasing, or participating in the purchase of mortgage loans or interests therein from lenders or making loans to lenders. If the board ascertains that the necessary means of financing such a plan are available to the authority, the board may signify its approval of such a plan.

29-4-712. Powers of the board - executive director - mortgage purchase - loans to lenders - assistance in providing housing facilities. (1) Upon the approval by the board of a plan pursuant to section 29-4-711 and upon or prior to the authorization of bonds or other financial arrangement to implement the plan, the board shall authorize the executive director to:

(a) Invest in, purchase, participate in the purchase, make commitments for the purchase or participation in the purchase, and take assignments from lenders of mortgage loans;

(b) Make loans and commitments therefor to lenders.

(2) No mortgage loan or interest therein purchased from a lender shall be eligible for purchase or commitment to purchase by the authority under this section unless, at or before the time of transfer thereof to the authority, such lender certifies that in its judgment the mortgage loan would in all respects be a prudent investment at the purchase price paid.

(3) The authority shall require, as a condition of a loan to a lender, that the lender invest the proceeds of such loan in mortgage loans to families or sponsors upon such terms and conditions as the authority may require.

(3.5) The authority shall require, as a condition of purchase or commitment to purchase mortgage loans or interests therein, the following:

(a) That such mortgage loans shall have been made upon such terms and conditions as the authority may require; or

(b) That the proceeds of such purchase, or their equivalent, shall be invested in mortgage loans upon such terms and conditions as the authority may require.

(4) (a) Mortgage loans made by lenders to families with the proceeds of a loan as provided for in subsection (3) of this section, pursuant to a commitment to purchase as provided for in paragraph (a) of subsection (3.5) of this section, or with the proceeds of the purchase of a mortgage loan as provided for in paragraph (b) of subsection (3.5) of this section, shall be to families who qualify as low-income or low- or moderate-income families.

(b) Mortgage loans made by lenders to sponsors with the proceeds of a loan under subsection (3) of this section shall be made on such terms and conditions as the board may determine periodically.

(5) In conjunction with the purchase of such mortgage loans or interests therein from lenders, the authority may require the lender to furnish collateral security in such amounts as the authority shall determine to be necessary to assure the payment of such mortgage loans and the interest thereon as the same become due. Such collateral security shall consist of any obligations or mortgages satisfactory to the authority.

(6) (a) Each loan to a lender shall be a general obligation of the lender and shall be additionally secured as to payment of both principal and interest by a pledge of and lien upon collateral security in such amounts and of such types as the board, by regulation, determines to be necessary to assure the payment of such loans and the interest thereon as the same become due and payable.

(b) The authority may require in the case of any or all lenders that any required collateral be lodged with a bank or trust company, located either within or outside the state, designated by the authority as custodian therefor. In the absence of such requirement, each lender shall enter into an agreement with the authority referring to this subsection (6); containing such provisions as the authority deems necessary to identify, maintain, and service such collateral; and providing that the lender shall hold such collateral as trustee for the benefit of the authority and shall be held accountable as the trustee of an express trust for the application and disposition of such collateral, including the income and proceeds therefrom, solely for the uses and purposes as provided in the agreement. A copy of each such agreement and any revisions or supplements thereto, which revisions or supplements may, among other things, add to, delete from, or substitute items of collateral pledged by such agreement, shall be filed with the secretary of state to perfect the security interest of the authority in the collateral. No filing, recording, possession, or other action under article 9 of title 4, C.R.S., or any other law of this state shall be required to perfect the security interest of the authority in such collateral. The security interest of the authority in such collateral shall be deemed perfected, and the trust for the benefit of the authority so created shall be binding on and after the time of such filing with the secretary of state against all parties having prior unperfected or subsequent security interests or claims of any kind in tort, in contract, or otherwise against such lender. The authority may also establish such additional requirements as it deems necessary with respect to the pledging, assigning, setting aside, or holding of such collateral and the making of substitutions therefor or additions thereto and the disposition of income and receipts therefrom.

(7) Subject to any agreement with holders of bonds, the authority may collect, enforce the collection of, and foreclose on any collateral required by subsections (5) and (6) of this section and acquire or take possession of such collateral and sell the same at public or private sale, with or without public bidding, and otherwise deal with such collateral as may be necessary to protect the interest of the authority therein.

(8) In addition to the other powers granted by this part 7, the authority shall have the power, with respect to mortgage purchases and loans to lenders as provided under this section and section 29-4-711, to collect and pay reasonable fees and charges, to exercise the powers enumerated in section 29-4-710 (1) (c) to (1) (m), and to establish the terms and conditions of such mortgage purchases and loans to lenders by rules and regulations, including, without limitation, rules and regulations as to:

(3) Moneys held in the economic development fund may be transferred to any of the other funds created by the authority pursuant to this part 7.

(4) (a) There is hereby created within the economic development fund the Colorado strategic seed fund, which fund shall be administered by the authority in consultation with the Colorado strategic seed fund council created in section 29-4-735. The Colorado strategic seed fund is established for the purpose of providing seed capital to small businesses. For the purposes of this subsection (4), "seed capital" means moneys which are provided for: The preparation of a business plan, the performance of an initial market analysis, the assembling of a management team, the initial legal and accounting work, the development of a working prototype of a product or process, the development of follow-up financing, and such similar purposes as may be determined by the board.

(IV) Private sector financial support equal to the amount of any loan will be obtained by an operating seed fund. The authority may make a preliminary commitment of funds to an operating seed fund before the private sector financial support is obtained, but the authority shall not close the loan until at least one-third of the private sector financial support has been contributed, with the remainder to be paid not later than two years after the date of closing.

(d) The authority shall establish criteria for making loans to operating seed funds, and such criteria shall include qualifications for the managers of such funds. 29-5-111. Liability of peace officers. (1) Notwithstanding the doctrines of sovereign immunity and respondeat superior, a city, town, county, or city and county or other political subdivision of the state or a state institution of higher education employing peace officers in accordance with article 7.5 of title 24, C.R.S., shall indemnify its paid peace officers and reserve officers, as defined in section 16-2.5-110, C.R.S., while the peace officers and reserve officers are on duty for any liability incurred by them and for any judgment, except a judgment for exemplary damages, entered against them for torts committed within the scope of their employment if the person claiming damages serves the political subdivision or state institution of higher education with a copy of the summons within ten days from the date when a copy of the summons is served on the peace officer or reserve officer. In no event shall any political subdivision or state institution of higher education be required so to indemnify its peace officers in excess of one hundred thousand dollars for one person in any single occurrence or three hundred thousand dollars for two or more persons for any single occurrence; except that in such instance no indemnity shall be allowed for any person in excess of one hundred thousand dollars. It is the duty of the city, town, county, city and county, or other political subdivision and of the state institution of higher education to provide the defense handled by the legal staff of the public entity or by other counsel, in the discretion of the public entity, for the peace officer in the claim or civil action. However, in the event that the court determines that a reserve officer, as defined in section 16-2.5-110, C.R.S., incurred the liability while acting outside the scope of his or her assigned duties or that the reserve officer acted in a willful and wanton manner in incurring the liability, the court shall order the reserve officer to reimburse the political subdivision or the state institution of higher education for reasonable costs and reasonable attorney fees expended for the defense of the reserve officer. With the approval of the governing body of the city, town, county, city and county, or other political subdivision or of the state institution of higher education, the claim or civil action may be settled or compromised. A city, town, county, city and county, or other political subdivision or a state institution of higher education may carry liability insurance to insure itself and its peace officers. If the political subdivision or state institution of higher education purchases insurance that provides substantial coverage for the peace officers with a policy limitation of at least one hundred thousand dollars for one person in any single occurrence and three hundred thousand dollars for two or more persons for any single occurrence, except that in such instance no indemnity shall be allowed for any person in excess of one hundred thousand dollars, then the political subdivision or state institution of higher education shall be liable under this section to indemnify the peace officers only to the extent of the limits and for such torts as are covered by the policy and only to the extent of the coverage of the policy. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to condone the conduct of any peace officer who uses excessive force or who violates the statutory or constitutional rights of any person.

(2) This section shall apply only with respect to causes of action accruing on or after July 1, 1972.

ANNOTATION

Annotator's note. For further annotations dealing with public entity liability, immunity, and duty of care, see §§ 24-10-106 and 24-10-106.5.

This section provides citizens a remedy for torts committed by police officers. Wise v. Bravo, 666 F.2d 1328 (10th Cir. 1981).

This section provides indemnification for liability incurred by peace officers and for judgments filed against them for torts committed within the scope of their employment. An action filed by the plaintiff seeking declaratory judgment and injunctive relief may not be so characterized and does not entitle a peace officer to indemnification. City and County of Denver v. Blatnik, 32 P.3d 593 (Colo. App. 2001).

The clause "Notwithstanding the doctrines of sovereign immunity . . ." clearly operates as a waiver of immunity. Brown v. Gray, 227 F.3d 1278 (10th Cir. 2000).

Requirements of the immunity act, § 24-10-101 et seq., are extraneous to town's liability under this section. Antonopoulos v. Town of Telluride, 187 Colo. 392, 532 P.2d 346 (1975).

Liability different from that under immunity act. Secondary liability of a governmental entity as an indemnitor under this section is different and distinct from the direct liability imposed by the immunity act, § 24-10-101 et seq. Antonopoulos v. Town of Telluride, 187 Colo. 392, 532 P.2d 346 (1975).

This section and § 24-10-109 are not to be read together. Antonopoulos v. Town of Telluride, 187 Colo. 392, 532 P.2d 346 (1975).

This section and § 24-10-110 conflict regarding the reimbursement of defense costs for level I peace officers. The Governmental Immunity Act pertains to governmental employees generally, while this section defines the rights of police officers specifically. It is well settled that, in the event of apparent statutory conflict, specific language overrides general language. Therefore, in light of the conflict between the two statutes, this section takes precedence. Brown v. Gray, 227 F.3d 1278 (10th Cir. 2000).

Time limitations. The only time limitation, other than the statute of limitations, imposed upon one seeking to hold a governmental entity secondarily liable is the requirement contained within this section. Antonopoulos v. Town of Telluride, 187 Colo. 392, 532 P.2d 346 (1975).

Immunity for tortious act of municipal officer deemed matter of concurrent local and state concern. Governmental immunity for tortious acts of municipal police officers and, specifically, limitations on compensatory damages for personal injuries in actions against municipal governments, based on such tortious conduct, are matters of concurrent local and statewide concern. Frick v. Abell, 198 Colo. 508, 602 P.2d 852 (1979).

And municipality may increase compensation to tort victims. A municipality may provide greater monetary compensation to victims of torts committed by the municipality's own police officers than is provided under state statutes. Frick v. Abell, 198 Colo. 508, 602 P.2d 852 (1979).

Whether a municipality provides its police officers with defense costs against tort actions is a matter of both state and local concern. Therefore, to the extent, if any, that the municipal charter conflicts with state law, this section supercedes the charter. Brown v. Gray, 227 F.3d 1278 (10th Cir. 2000).

ANNOTATION

Lack of updated language in the state personnel guidelines related to any undeclared war or other armed hostilities against an armed foreign enemy cannot be relied on by a local government to defeat constitutional intent. Arthur v. City & County of Denver, 198 P.3d 1285 (Colo. App. 2008).

(a) For over fifty years, firefighters across Colorado have engaged in charitable fundraising events to:

(I) Support medical research of debilitating diseases such as muscular dystrophy;

(II) Provide comprehensive health care and support services, advocacy, and education on behalf of children and adults with neuromuscular diseases; and

(III) Conduct summer camps for children with muscular dystrophy;

(c) Other nonprofit and charitable organizations would benefit from the ability to solicit and accept donations in a similar manner.

(2) Therefore, it is the intent of the general assembly in enacting this article to clarify that local governments may, in their discretion, allow law enforcement personnel and firefighters, other local public safety personnel, and nonprofit or charitable organizations to conduct fundraising activities.

29-7.5-102. Legislative declaration. The general assembly declares that there is a need for parks, trail systems, and open space in urban areas of this state, that existing rights-of-way for high voltage electric transmission lines in such areas occupy significant land which could also be utilized for parks, trail systems, and open space, and that the safety of these lines could be enhanced by adopting appropriate safety measures as a part of utilizing this land for parks, trail systems, and open space. The general assembly further declares that the purpose of this article is to encourage the dedication and the utilization of such land for public parks, trail systems, and open space and the implementation of additional safety measures for these electric transmission lines.

29-7.5-103. Definitions. As used in this article, unless the context otherwise requires:

- (1) “High voltage line” means any overhead line for the transmission of electric current with a nominal voltage in excess of sixty-nine kilovolts and all supporting structures and accessories necessary for such line.
- (2) “Park and open space” means any land accepted as a public park, a public trail, or a public open space by the applicable park board.
- (3) “Park board” means the governing body of any local governmental entity within the state which is authorized by state law to accept land for public park, trail, or open space purposes.
- (4) “Transmission right-of-way” means any right-of-way, easement, or other land utilized for a high voltage line.
- (5) “Urban area” means any land located within any incorporated city or municipality. The term also means any land located in the unincorporated areas of any county which is zoned as residential land and for which a final plat for subdivided land has been approved by the board of county commissioners pursuant to section 30-28-110 (3) and (4), C.R.S., and which is also included in a local governmental entity which has a statutory authorization to provide for public parks, trails, or open spaces.

Source: L. 84: Entire article added, p. 808, § 1, effective April 30.

29-7.5-104. Use as park, trail, or open space. In any urban area, the owners of any transmission right-of-way and the fee owner of any land subject to any transmission right-of-way may offer to dedicate or grant use of the transmission right-of-way to the park board for a public park, a public trail, or a public open space. This article shall not apply to any dedication or grant of use of a transmission right-of-way unless both the owner of the transmission right-of-way and the fee owner of the land involved consent to the dedication or grant of use. The park board may accept or reject this offered dedication or use of the transmission right-of-way based on the reasonable needs of the public, applicable rules and regulations governing the park board, and other criteria normally applied by the park board in accepting or rejecting dedications of land. In accepting or rejecting such offer, the park board shall consider, among other factors, methods for enhancing the safety of the transmission right-of-way involved through design of the park, trail, or open space improvements. The park board shall also consider and protect the interests and property rights of adjacent landowners, particularly those adjacent to the termination points of trails, who are not participating in the dedication or grant of use of the transmission right-of-way. If needed, the park board shall provide an access or egress from the point of termination to a public street or highway. For purposes of this article, the right of eminent domain shall not be exercised to obtain ingress or egress. Nothing in this article shall prevent negotiations for a dedication or grant of use of a transmission right-of-way in incorporated areas from occurring during the subdivision approval process; except that such dedication or grant of use shall not be finalized until the final subdivision plat is approved.

29-7.5-105. Limitations on liability. If a transmission right-of-way has been accepted by the park board as park, trail, or open space, then neither the owners or operators of the high voltage line, transmission right-of-way, or land subject to the transmission right-of-way, nor the governmental or quasi-governmental entity exercising jurisdiction over the park board, nor any of their employees, officers, agents, or board or council members shall have any liability for any injury to person or property or for the death of any person caused by an act or omission of such person or party on the dedicated lands.

29-7.5-106. When liability is not limited. If the provisions of article 41 of title 33, C.R.S., also apply to persons for whom liability is limited pursuant to section 29-7.5-105, the liability and limitations on liability in this article shall supersede article 41 of title 33, C.R.S.

ANNOTATION

City ordinance requiring relocation underground of overhead electricity and communications facilities was not preempted by this act, which is not the exclusive means for relocating facilities underground. U S West Commc'ns v. City of Longmont, 924 P.2d 1071 (Colo. App. 1995), aff'd on other grounds, 948 P.2d 509 (Colo. 1997).

29-8-102. Legislative declaration. The general assembly finds that landowners, cities, towns, counties, public utilities, and cable operators in many areas of the state desire to convert existing overhead electric and communication facilities to underground locations. The general assembly further finds that the conversion of overhead electric and communication facilities to underground locations is a matter of statewide concern and interest. The general assembly declares that a public purpose will be served by providing a procedure to accomplish such conversion and that it is in the public interest to provide for such conversion by proceedings taken under this article, whether such areas are within the limits of a city or town or within a county. The general assembly further declares that all political subdivisions shall pursue such conversion only in accordance with this article; except that the use of the procedure set forth in this article is permissive and not mandatory for incidental and episodic conversions associated with public improvements such as street widening or sewer construction. Notwithstanding the provisions of this article, a political subdivision shall be able to perform such underground conversion without following the procedures outlined in this article if the political subdivision pays for all of the costs and expenses of such conversion from the political subdivision's own funds on the condition that the political subdivision does not seek to recover the costs or expenses of such conversion from the public utility or cable operator.

29-8-104. Powers conferred. (1) The governing body of every county is authorized to create local improvement districts under this article within the unincorporated portion of such county, and the governing body of every city and town is authorized to create local improvement districts under this article within its territorial limits to provide for the conversion of existing overhead electric or communication facilities to underground locations and the construction, reconstruction, or relocation of any other electric or communication facilities which may be incidental thereto, under the provisions of this article.

(2) The governing body of every municipal utility may, by resolution or ordinance, impose a surcharge on those consumers within such municipal utility's service area who derive a direct benefit from the conversion of overhead electric and communication facilities to underground locations.

29-8-105. Basis of assessments. When any improvement authorized to be made by any governing body by the terms of this article is ordered, the governing body shall provide for the apportionment of the cost and expenses thereof as in its judgment may be fair and equitable in consideration of the benefits accruing to the abutting, adjoining, contiguous, and adjacent lots and lands, and to the lots and lands otherwise benefited and included within the improvement district formed. Each lot and parcel of the land shall be separately assessed for the cost and expenses thereof in proportion to the number of square feet of such lands and lots abutting, adjoining, contiguous, and adjacent thereto or included in the improvement district, or assessed upon a frontage, zone, or other equitable basis, in accordance with the benefits, as the same may be determined by the governing body. The entire cost of the improvement may be assessed against the benefited property as provided in this article or if money for paying part of such cost is available from any other source, the money so available may be so applied and the remaining cost so assessed against the benefited property. The cost and expenses to be assessed as provided in this article shall include the cost of the improvement, engineering and clerical service, advertising, cost of inspection, cost of collecting assessments, and interest upon bonds if issued, and for legal services for preparing proceedings and advising in regard thereto. Fee lands and property of public entities, such as the federal government, state of Colorado, or any county, city, or town, shall not be considered as lands or property benefited by any improvement district, and unless such public entity within the boundaries of an improvement district consents in writing, filed before the governing body adopts the resolution provided for in section 29-8-109, the lands and property of such public entity shall not be subject to assessment for the payment of any of the cost or expense of such improvement.

29-8-106. Resolution for cost and feasibility study. (1) Any governing body may on its own initiative, or upon a petition signed by at least a majority of the property owners owning at least a majority of the assessable land of any proposed district requesting the creation of an improvement district as provided in this article, pass a resolution at any regular or special meeting declaring that it finds that the improvement district is in the public interest. It must be determined that the formation of the local improvement district for the purposes set out in this article will promote the public convenience, necessity, and welfare.

(2) The resolution must state that the costs and expenses will be levied and assessed upon the property benefited and further request that each public utility serving such area by overhead electric or communication facilities shall make a study of the cost of conversion of its facilities in such area to underground service.

(3) The report of said study shall be provided to the governing body and made available in its office to all owners of land within the proposed improvement district. The resolution of the governing body shall require that the public utility be provided with the name and address of the owner of each parcel or lot within the proposed improvement district, if known, and if not known the description of the property and such other matters as may be required by the public utility in order to perform the work involved in the cost study.

(4) The resolution shall further state the governing body's preliminary determination as to the method of assessing each lot or parcel within the proposed improvement district area and shall provide the square feet or frontage feet of each lot or parcel, and zone or other information necessary for assessment in accordance with the governing body's preliminary determination. All public utilities serving such improvement district areas by overhead electric or communication facilities shall, within one hundred twenty days after receipt of the resolution, unless such time is extended, make a study of the costs of conversion of their facilities in such district to underground service, and the public utilities shall together provide to the governing body, and make available at their respective offices, a joint report as to the results of the study.

29-8-107. Bond of petitioners. At the time that action is commenced under section 29-8-106, or at any time prior to the time of the hearing provided for in section 29-8-112, and if requested by the governing body or public utility, a bond shall be filed, with security approved by the governing body or cash deposit made sufficient to pay all expenses of the governing body connected with the proceedings and of the public utilities for actual time and expenses incurred in regard to the cost and feasibility study in case the organization of the district is not effected. If at any time during the organization proceedings the governing body is satisfied that the bond first executed or the amount of cash deposited is insufficient in amount, it, on its own initiative or at the request of a public utility, may require the execution of an additional bond or the deposit of additional cash within a time to be fixed, not less than ten days distant, and upon failure of the petitioners to file or deposit the same, the petition shall be dismissed.

29-8-108. Costs and feasibility report. (1) The public utility report shall set forth an estimate of the total underground conversion costs and shall also indicate the costs of underground conversion of facilities of the public utility located within the boundaries of the various parcels or lots then receiving service. The report shall also contain the public utility's recommendations concerning the feasibility of the project for the district proposed insofar as the physical characteristics of the district are concerned. The report shall make recommendations by the public utility concerning inclusion or exclusion of areas within the district or immediately adjacent to the district.

(2) The governing body shall give careful consideration to the public utility's recommendations concerning feasibility, recognizing its expertise in this area, and it may amend the boundaries of the proposed improvement district provided that the costs and feasibility report of the public utility contains a cost figure on the district as amended, or it may request a new costs and feasibility report from the public utility concerned on the basis of the amended district.

(3) The cost estimate contained in the report shall not be considered binding on the public utility if construction is not commenced within six months of the submission of the estimate, for reasons not within the control of the public utility. Should such a delay result in a significant increase of the conversion cost, new hearings shall be held on the creation of the district. If only a minor increase results, only the hearing on the assessments need be held again.

29-8-109. Resolution declaring intention to create district. On the filing with the clerk of any governing body of the cost and feasibility report by the public utility, as provided in section 29-8-108 and after considering the same, the governing body may, at any regular or special meeting, pass a resolution declaring its intention to create a local improvement district. The resolution shall state: That the costs and expenses of the district created are, except as otherwise provided for, to be levied and assessed upon the abutting, adjoining, and adjacent lots and lands along or upon which improvements are to be made, and upon lots and lands benefited by such improvements and included in the improvement district created; that it is the intention of the governing body to make such improvement which will promote public convenience, necessity, and welfare; and the area and boundaries of the proposed improvement district, the character of the proposed improvement, the estimated total cost of the same, and the intention of the governing body to hold a public hearing on the proposed improvement.

29-8-110. Notice of public hearing on proposed improvement - contents. (1) Following the passage of the resolution in section 29-8-109, the governing body shall cause a notice of a public hearing on the proposed improvement to be given in the manner provided in section 29-8-111. Such notice shall:

(a) Describe the boundaries or area of the district with sufficient particularity to permit each owner of real property therein to ascertain that his property lies in the district;

(b) Describe in a general way the proposed improvement, specifying the streets or property along which it will be made and the nature of the benefits to the property within the district;

(c) State the estimated cost, as determined from the costs and feasibility report, and including the cost of the improvement and the cost of engineering and clerical service, advertising, inspection, collection of assessments, interests upon bonds, if issued, and for legal services for preparing proceedings and advising in regard thereto;

(d) State that it is proposed to assess the real property in the district to pay all or a designated portion of the cost of the improvement according to the benefits to be derived by each tract, block, lot, and parcel of land within the district, and the proposed means of apportioning such cost;

(e) State the time and place at which the governing body will conduct a public hearing upon the proposed improvement and on the question of benefits to be derived by the real property in the district;

(f) State that all interested persons will be heard and that any property owner will be heard on the question of whether his property will be benefited by the proposed improvement.

29-8-111. Notice of public hearing on proposed improvement - manner of giving. Such notice shall be published in full one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the district or, if there is no such newspaper, by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, city, or town in which said district is located. A copy of such notice shall be mailed to the last known address of each owner of land within the proposed district whose property will be assessed for the cost of the improvement. The address to be used for said purpose shall be that last appearing on the real property records in the office of the county treasurer of the county wherein said property is located. In addition, a copy of such notice shall be addressed to "owner" and shall be so mailed, addressed to the street number of each piece of improved property to be affected by the assessment. Mailed notices and the published notice shall state where a copy of the resolution creating the district will be available for inspection by any interested parties.

29-8-112. Public hearing - changes in proposed improvements and area to be included in district. (1) On the date and at the time and place specified in the aforesaid notice, the governing body shall, in open and public session, hear all objections to the creation of the proposed district, the making of the proposed improvements, and the benefits accruing to any tract, block, lot, or parcel of land therein. Representatives of the public utility concerned shall be present at all such hearings. Such hearing may be adjourned from time to time to a fixed future time and place. If at any time during the hearings it appears to the governing body that changes in the proposed improvements or the proposed district should be made, which, after consultation with the public utility concerned, appear to affect either the cost or feasibility of the improvements, the hearing shall be adjourned to a fixed future time and place and a new cost and feasibility report prepared on the basis of the contemplated changes.

(2) If action on the creation of the improvement district was initiated by petition as set forth in section 29-8-106, and if it appears that said petition is not signed by at least a majority of the property owners owning at least a majority of the assessable land of the proposed district, or if it is shown that the proposed improvement will not confer a general benefit on the district, or that the cost of the improvement would be excessive as compared with the value of the property in the district, the governing body shall thereupon dismiss the petition and adjudge the cost against those executing the bond filed to pay such costs. No appeal shall lie from the order dismissing said proceedings. Nothing in this section may prevent the filing of subsequent petitions for a similar district. The right to renew such a proceeding is expressly granted and authorized.

(3) After the hearing has been concluded and after all persons desiring to be heard have been heard, the governing body shall consider the arguments put forth and may make such changes in the area to be included in the district as it may consider desirable or necessary. However, no such changes shall be made unless a costs and feasibility report has been prepared on the basis of such changes.

(4) If at any time during the public hearing the governing body is presented with a petition signed by at least a majority of the property owners owning at least a majority of the assessable land of the proposed district protesting the proposed improvement, and such a petition is still outstanding at the close of the public hearing, the district and project shall be abandoned.

(5) If there is no such petition outstanding, the governing body, after consideration of matters brought forth at the public hearing, shall either abandon the district and project or adopt a resolution establishing the district and authorizing the project, either as described in the notice or with changes made as authorized in this section. Such resolution shall be published in the manner provided in section 29-8-111 but need not be mailed. If a resolution is adopted establishing the district, such resolution shall finally and conclusively establish the regular organization of the district against all persons, unless an action attacking the validity of the organization is commenced in a court of competent jurisdiction within thirty days after the adopting of such resolution. Such action shall be subject to the provisions of section 29-8-113. Thereafter, any such action shall be perpetually barred and the organization of said district shall not be directly or collaterally questioned in any suit, action, or proceeding.

29-8-113. Waiver of objections. Every person who has real property within the boundaries of the district and who fails to appear before the governing body at the hearing and make any objection he may have to the creation of the district, the making of the improvements, and the inclusion of his real property in the district shall be deemed to have waived every such objection. Such waiver shall not, however, preclude his right to object to the amount of the assessment at the hearing for which provision is made in section 29-8-117.

29-8-114. Proposed assessment list. After a decision is made by a governing body to proceed with the district and project, it shall cause to be prepared an assessment list detailing the total amount to be assessed, the specific properties assessed, and the amount of assessment on each piece of property.

29-8-115. Proposed assessment resolution. After the preparation of the proposed assessment list, the governing body shall cause to be prepared for adoption at the hearing provided for in section 29-8-117, a resolution declaring the entire cost of improvement, including the cost of construction as determined from the costs and feasibility report, other incidental costs, legal and fiscal fees and costs, the cost of the publication of notices, and all other costs properly incident to the construction of the improvement and the financing and collecting thereof. Such resolution shall specify what share, if any, of the total cost is payable from sources other than the imposition of assessments, and shall incorporate the proposed assessment list provided for in section 29-8-114.

29-8-116. Notice of public hearing on proposed assessments. (1) After the preparation of the aforesaid resolution, notice of a public hearing on the proposed assessments shall be given. Such notice shall be published one time in a newspaper in which the first notice of hearing was published at least twenty days before the date fixed for the hearing, and shall be mailed not less than fifteen days prior to the date fixed for such hearing to each owner of real property whose property will be assessed for part of the cost of the improvement at the last known address of such owner, using for such purpose the names and addresses appearing on the last completed real property assessment rolls of the county wherein said affected property is located. In addition, a copy of such notice shall be addressed to "owner" and shall be so mailed, addressed to the street number of each piece of improved property to be affected by such assessment.

(2) Each notice shall state that at the specified time and place the governing body will hold a public hearing upon the proposed assessments and shall state that any owner of any property to be assessed pursuant to the resolution will be heard on the question of whether his property will be benefited by the proposed improvement to the amount of the proposed assessment against his property and whether the amount assessed against his property constitutes more than his proper proportional share of the total cost of the improvement.

(3) The notice shall further state where a copy of the resolution proposed to be adopted levying the assessments against all real property in the district will be on file for public inspection, and that subject to such changes and corrections therein as may be made by the governing body, it is proposed to adopt the resolution at the conclusion of the hearing.

(4) The public notice shall describe the boundaries or area of the district with sufficient particularity to permit each owner of real property therein to ascertain that his property lies in the district. The mailed notice may refer to the district by name and date of creation and shall state the amount of the assessment proposed to be levied against the real property of the person to whom the notice is mailed. In the absence of fraud, the failure to mail any notice does not invalidate any assessment or any proceeding under this article.

29-8-117. Public hearing on proposed assessment resolution. (1) On the date and at the time and place specified in the aforesaid notice, the governing body shall, in open and public session, hear all arguments relating to the benefits accruing to any tract, block, lot, or parcel of land therein and the amounts proposed to be assessed against any such tract, block, lot, or parcel. The hearing may be adjourned from time to time to a fixed future time and place. After the hearing has been concluded and all persons desiring to be heard have been heard, the governing body shall consider the arguments presented and shall make such corrections in the assessment list as may be considered just and equitable. Such corrections may eliminate, may increase, or may decrease the amount of the assessment proposed to be levied against any piece of property. However, no increase of any proposed assessment shall be valid unless the owner of the property is given notice and an opportunity to be heard.

(2) After such corrections have been made, the governing body shall make a specific finding that no proposed assessment on the corrected assessment list exceeds the benefit to be derived from the improvement by the piece of property to be so assessed and that no piece of property so listed will bear more than its proper proportionate share of the cost of such improvement.

29-8-118. Adoption of the assessment resolution. After the public hearing has been concluded and all corrections made to the assessment list, the governing body shall proceed to adopt the assessment resolution. The adoption of such resolution shall be prima facie evidence of the fact that the property assessed is benefited in the amount of the assessments and that such assessments have been lawfully levied.

29-8-119. Assessment roll. The clerk of the governing body shall prepare a local assessment roll in book form showing in suitable columns each piece of land assessed, the total amount of assessment, the amount of each installment of principal and interest if, in pursuance of this article, the same is payable in installments, and the date when each installment will become due, with suitable columns for use, in case of payment of the whole amount or of any installment or penalty, and he shall deliver the same, duly certified, under seal as appropriate, to the proper officer for collection.

29-8-121. Installment payments. Failure to pay the whole assessment within said period of thirty days shall be conclusively considered to be an election on the part of all persons interested, whether under disability or otherwise, to pay in such installments. In case of such election, the assessment shall be payable in equal annual or semiannual installments of principal, the first of which installments shall be payable as prescribed by the governing body, and the last installment within not more than twenty years, with interest in all cases on the unpaid principal, payable annually or semiannually at a rate not exceeding the maximum net effective interest rate authorized by the governing body. The number of installments, the period of payments, the date of the initial payment, and the maximum net effective interest rate shall be determined by the governing body and set forth in the resolution required by section 29-8-115.

29-8-122. Failure to pay installments. Failure to pay any installment, whether of principal or interest, when due shall cause the whole of the unpaid principal to become due and collectable immediately, and the whole amount of the unpaid principal and accrued interest shall thereafter draw interest at the rate of one percent per month or fraction of a month until the day of sale; but at any time prior to the day of sale, the owner may pay the amount of all unpaid installments, with interest at one percent per month or fraction of a month, and all penalties accrued, and shall thereupon be restored to the right thereafter to pay in installments in the same manner as if the default had not been suffered.

29-8-123. Discount - assessment roll returned. Payment may be made to the city or town treasurer at any time within thirty days after the final publication of the assessing resolution and an allowance of five percent shall be made on all payments made during such period, but not thereafter. In the case of cities and towns, at the expiration of said thirty-day period, the city or town treasurer shall return the local assessment roll to the clerk, therein showing all payments made thereon, with the date of each payment. Said roll shall be certified by the city or town clerk under the seal of the city or town, and be hand delivered to the county treasurer of the same county, with his warrant for the collection of the same. In case of default in the payment of any installment of principal or interest when due, the county treasurer shall advertise and sell any property concerning which such default is suffered for the payment of the whole of the unpaid assessment thereon. Said advertisements and sales shall be made at the same times, in the same manner, under all the same conditions and penalties, and with the same effect as provided by general law for sales of real estate in default of payment of general taxes.

29-8-127. Assessment lien. All assessments made under this article, together with all interest thereon and penalties for default in payment thereof, and all costs in collecting the same, shall constitute, from the date of the final publication of the assessing resolution, a perpetual lien in the several amounts assessed against each lot or tract of land, and shall have priority over all other liens excepting general tax liens. No sale of property for the nonpayment of taxes or other special assessments shall extinguish the lien of other than the taxes or special assessments for the nonpayment of which such sale is had.

29-8-128. Advance payment of assessment installments. The governing body may, in the resolution levying the assessments, provide that all unpaid installments of assessments levied against any piece of property may (but only in their entirety) be paid prior to the dates on which they become due, if the property owner paying such installments pays all interest which would accrue thereon to the next succeeding date on which interest is payable on the bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of the assessments. In addition, the property owner must pay such additional amount of interest as in the opinion of the governing body is necessary to assure the availability of money fully sufficient to pay interest on the bonds as interest becomes due, and any redemption premiums which may become payable on the bonds in order to retire, in advance of maturity, bonds in a sufficient amount to utilize the assessments thus paid in advance. If no bonds have been issued, then all unpaid installments of assessments levied against any piece of property may be paid in their entirety prior to the date upon which they become due by paying the principal amount due and the interest accrued thereon to the date of payment.

29-8-129. Issuance of bonds. (1) After the expiration of thirty days from the effective date of the resolution levying the assessments, the governing body may borrow money and issue negotiable interest-bearing bonds in a principal amount not exceeding the unpaid balance of the assessments levied. The bonds shall be authorized by resolution of the governing body. The resolution shall prescribe the form of said bonds, the manner of their execution, which may be effected by the use of the facsimile signatures of the officers of the governing body in accordance with the laws of the state in effect at the time of their execution, shall provide for the terms thereof, including the maximum net effective interest rate for the issue of bonds, and may direct that the bonds shall be sold at public or private sale at or below par. The bonds shall not be sold at a price such that the net effective interest rate of the issue of bonds exceeds the maximum net effective interest rate authorized.

(2) The governing body shall prescribe other details in connection with the issue of bonds. The bonds so authorized shall mature serially over a period of not exceeding twenty years, but in no event shall such bonds extend over a longer period of time than the period of time over which such installments of special assessments are due and payable and ninety days thereafter.

(3) The bonds shall be of such form and denomination and shall be payable in principal and interest at such times and place, and shall be sold, authorized, and issued in such manner as the governing body may determine. The bonds shall be dated no earlier than the date on which the special assessment shall begin to bear interest, and shall be secured by and payable from the irrevocable pledge and dedication of the funds derived from the levy and collection of the special assessments in anticipation of the collection of which they are issued. Said resolution and bonds may also include such other terms or recitals which, in the judgment of the governing body, are necessary or proper to render the same marketable.

(4) Any premium received on the sale of the bonds may be applied as other bond proceeds or if not so applied, the same shall be placed in the fund for the payment of principal of and interest on the bonds. The bonds shall be callable for redemption from the proceeds of the sale of any property sold for the nonpayment of special assessments, but not otherwise unless the bonds on the face thereof provide for redemption prior to maturity. The governing body may provide that the bonds shall be redeemable on any interest payment date prior to maturity pursuant to such notice and at such premiums as it deems advisable. Interest may be evidenced by interest coupons attached to such bonds and signed with a facsimile signature, as above provided, of one of the individuals who signed the bonds.

(5) In connection with the issuance of bonds payable solely from special assessments, the governing body may provide for the submission of the question of issuing such bonds to the registered electors eligible to vote on the question. For local improvement districts created by the governing body of any county pursuant to this article, the governing body may provide that all registered electors of the county shall be eligible to vote on the question or that only registered electors who are owners of property within or residents of the district shall be eligible to vote. For local improvement districts created by the governing body of any city or town pursuant to this article, the governing body may provide that all registered electors of the city or town shall be eligible to vote on the question or that only registered electors who are owners of property within or residents of the district shall be eligible to vote.

(6) In connection with the issuance of bonds payable from special assessments which are additionally secured by a pledge of any other funds of the county, city, or town, the governing body may provide for the submission of the question of issuing the bonds to all registered electors of the county, city, or town.

29-8-130. Civil action - grounds. (1) No civil action shall be brought or maintained to enjoin the collection of assessments or otherwise test the validity of assessments levied under this article except upon the following grounds:

(a) That notice of a hearing upon the amount of the assessment was not given as required in this article. Any person presenting objections to the governing body at or before the hearing on assessments shall be deemed to have waived this ground.

(b) That the hearing upon the amount of the assessment as provided in this article was not held;

(c) That the improvement ordered was not one authorized by this article;

(d) That the assessment levied exceeds the benefits received by the property assessed.

(2) Every person whose property is subject to such special assessment and who fails to appear during the public hearings on said assessment to raise his objection to such assessment shall be deemed to have waived all objection to such assessment, except objections on grounds specified in subsections (1) (a) and (1) (b) of this section. Any action brought under this article shall be commenced within thirty days after the passage of the assessing resolution or else be thereafter perpetually barred. Any such action shall be given preference in the courts of the state. If such action is unsuccessful, the courts may order the plaintiff to pay the costs thereof, and, in its discretion, may require a bond in a sufficient amount to cover such costs at the commencement of such action. The burden of proof to show that such special assessment or part thereof is invalid, inequitable, or unjust shall rest upon the party who brings such suit.

29-8-131. Conversion costs. (1) In determining the conversion costs included in the costs and feasibility report required by section 29-8-108, the public utility shall be entitled to amounts sufficient to repay them, with a reasonable allowance for overhead expense, for the following, as computed and reflected by the uniform system of accounts approved by the public utilities commission or federal communications commission, or in the event the public utility is not subject to regulation by either of the above governmental agencies, by the public utility's system of accounts then in use and in accordance with standard accounting procedures of said public utility:

(a) The original costs less depreciation taken of the existing overhead electric and communication facilities to be removed;

(b) The estimated costs of removing such overhead electric and communication facilities, less the salvage value of the facilities removed;

(c) If the estimated cost of constructing underground facilities exceeds the original cost of existing overhead electric and communication facilities, then the difference between the two;

(d) The cost of obtaining new easements when technical considerations make it reasonably necessary to utilize easements for the underground facilities different from those used for aboveground facilities, or where the preexisting easements are insufficient for the underground facilities.

(2) However, in the event that conversion costs are included in tariffs, rules, or regulations filed and in effect with the public utilities commission, such conversion costs shall be the cost included in the costs and feasibility report.

29-8-132. Maintenance, construction, and title to converted facilities. The public utility has the duty to maintain, repair, and replace all underground facilities installed under this article. There shall be no competitive bidding as to the construction of the converted facilities since existing facilities are owned, maintained, and operated by the public utility and the continuity of service of the utility is essential, both of which make construction work by third persons impracticable. Therefore, the public utility concerned shall be responsible for the accomplishment of all construction work and may contract out such of the construction work as it deems desirable. Title to the converted facilities shall be at all times solely and exclusively in the public utility involved, as the public is only purchasing the intangible benefits which come from converted facilities, that is, the removal of the overhead facilities and replacement by underground facilities.

29-8-133. Conversion costs and service connection. (1) The public utility performing the conversion shall, at the expense of the property owner, convert to underground all electric and communication service facilities located upon any lot or parcel of land within the improvement district and not within the easement for distribution. This shall include the digging and the back filling of a trench upon such lot or parcel, unless the owner executes a written objection thereto and files the same with the clerk of the governing body not later than the date set for hearing objections to the improvement district as provided by law. Failure to file such written objection shall be taken as a consent and grant of easement to the public utility and shall be construed as express authority to the public utility and their respective officers, agents, and employees to enter upon such lot or parcel for such purpose, and, through failure to object, any right of protest or objection with respect to the doing of such work shall be waived. If an owner does file such written objection, he shall then be responsible for providing a trench which is in accordance with applicable rules, regulations, or tariffs from the owner's service entrance to a point designated by the public utility and for back filling a trench following installation of the underground service by the public utility involved.

(2) In any event, the cost of any work done by the public utility shall be included in the assessment to be levied upon such lot or parcel. Should a written objection be filed as provided in subsection (1) of this section, the owner involved shall be obligated for and the public utility involved shall be entitled to payment for the actual cost for such work accomplished upon the owner's property by the public utility; such amount shall be less than the cost if the public utility had performed the trenching and back filling.

(3) The owner shall, at his expense, make all necessary changes in the service entrance equipment to accept underground service.

29-8-134. Notice of possible disconnection. There shall be included in the notice of the public hearing concerning the improvements required by section 29-8-110 notice that all owners of land within the local improvement district may file written requests for inclusion of the cost of conversion of utility facilities upon their property within the contemplation of section 29-8-133. Such notice shall further advise that any owner who does not execute the objections provided for in section 29-8-133, or otherwise provide for underground service connections to his property, in a manner satisfactory to the public utility involved, shall be subject to disconnection from the electric or communication facilities providing service to all buildings, structures, and improvements located upon the lot or parcel.

29-8-135. Notice of disconnection. If the owner or person in possession of any lot or parcel of land prevents entrance upon the lot or parcel for conversion purposes, or fails to perform under section 29-8-133 and has not otherwise provided for underground service connections to the property in a manner satisfactory to the public utility involved, within sixty days from the time the converted facilities are ready for connection to the property, the electric or communication service shall be disconnected and removed and all overhead electric or communication facilities providing service to any building, structure, and improvement located upon such lot or parcel shall be disconnected. Written notice of disconnection shall be given at least twenty days prior to disconnection by leaving a copy of such notice at the principal building, structure, or improvement located upon such lot or parcel.

29-8-136. Payment of public utility. Upon completion of the conversion contemplated by this article, the public utility shall present the governing body with its verified bill for conversion costs, as computed under section 29-8-131, but based upon the actual cost of constructing the underground facility rather than the estimated cost of the facility. In no event shall the bill for conversion cost presented by the public utility exceed the amount of estimated conversion costs by the public utility. In the event the conversion costs are less than the estimated conversion costs, each owner within the improvement district shall receive the benefit, prorated in such form and at such time as the governing body determines. The bill of the public utility shall be paid within thirty days by the governing body from the improvement district funds or such other source as is properly designated by the governing body. In determining the actual cost of constructing the underground facility, the public utility shall use its standard accounting procedures, such as the uniform system of accounts as defined by the federal communications commission and as is in use at the time of the conversion by the public utility involved, as described in section 29-8-131.

Nothing contained in this article shall be interpreted in such a way as to be in conflict with franchises granted to any public utility, and in the event of any conflict, such franchises shall control over the requirements of this article.

EMERGENCY TELEPHONE SERVICE

29-11-100.5. Legislative declaration - provision of emergency service to wireless and multi-line telephone service users. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that dialing 9-1-1 is the most effective and familiar way the public has of seeking emergency assistance. The amendments to this part 1 made in Senate Bill 97-132, enacted at the first regular session of the sixty-first general assembly, are intended to provide a funding mechanism for 9-1-1 and enhanced 9-1-1 service for wireless service users. Enhanced 9-1-1 permits rapid response in situations where callers are unable to relay their phone number or location. Public safety answering points will need to make extensive changes in, and additions to, existing equipment to provide enhanced 9-1-1 service to wireless service users. To do so, public safety answering points must have the resources to purchase and update equipment, software, and training. A mechanism for recovery of costs reasonably incurred by wireless carriers, service suppliers, and basic emergency service providers in the acquisition and transmission of 9-1-1 information to public safety answering points is necessary to ensure that wireless service users receive the same level of 9-1-1 service as wireline service users.

(2) The general assembly further finds and declares that public safety agencies increasingly rely on enhanced 9-1-1 to provide dependable and precise information about the 9-1-1 caller's location and an accurate telephone number to reach the caller. Many multi-line telephone systems do not provide precise information about the 9-1-1 caller's location or telephone number. Inadequate location information can be life threatening if the caller is unable to verbalize the correct location. Not knowing an accurate location for a caller can result in a delay in service. In addition, many end-use customers of multi-line telephone systems do not know how to dial a 9-1-1 call from such telephones. Disclosure about 9-1-1 dialing and about the location identification capability of multi-line telephone systems are necessary first steps to ensure that multi-line telephone system service users can obtain emergency assistance by dialing 9-1-1.

(3) Nothing in this part 1 should be construed to alter the method of regulation or deregulation of providers of telecommunications service as set forth in article 15 of title 40, C.R.S.

Source: L. 97: Entire section added, p. 571, § 1, effective April 30. L. 2001: Entire section amended, p. 64, § 1, effective August 8. L. 2004: (1) and (3) amended, p. 13, § 2, effective February 20.

29-11-102. Imposition of charge - liability of user for charge - collection - uncollected amounts - rules. (1) (a) In addition to any other powers for the protection of the public health, a governing body may incur any equipment, installation, and other directly related costs for the continued operation of an emergency telephone service as further described in section 29-11-104, and may pay such costs by imposing an emergency telephone charge for such service in those portions of the governing body’s jurisdiction for which emergency telephone service will be provided. The governing body may do such other acts as may be expedient for the protection and preservation of the public health and as may be necessary for the acquisition of equipment, for the provision of initial services, and for the operation of the emergency telephone service.

(b) If the emergency telephone service is to be provided for territory which is included in whole or in part in the jurisdiction of the governing bodies of two or more public agencies which are the primary providers of emergency fire fighting, law enforcement, ambulance, emergency medical, or other emergency services, the agreement for such service with a BESF or any equipment supplier shall be entered into by each such governing body unless any such body expressly excludes itself therefrom. Any such agreement shall provide that each governing body that is a customer of such service shall make payment therefor from charges imposed under paragraph (a) of this subsection (1), unless all such customers make payments therefor from general revenues. Nothing in this paragraph (b) shall be construed to prevent two or more such governing bodies from entering into a contract under part 2 of article 1 of this title and to establish a separate legal entity thereunder to enter into such an agreement as the customer of the BESF or any equipment supplier.

(2) (a) The governing body is hereby authorized, by ordinance in the case of cities and by resolution in the case of counties or special districts, to impose such charge in an amount not to exceed seventy cents per month per exchange access facility, per wireless communications access, and per interconnected voice-over-internet-protocol service in those portions of the governing body’s jurisdiction for which emergency telephone service will be provided.

(b) In the event the governing body determines that a charge in excess of seventy cents per month is necessary in order to provide continued and adequate emergency telephone service, the governing body shall obtain from the public utilities commission approval of such higher charge before the imposition thereof.

(c) Regardless of the level at which the charge is set, the amount of the charge imposed per exchange access facility, per wireless communications access, and per interconnected voice-over-internet-protocol service shall be equal.

(d) The proceeds of the charge shall be utilized to pay for emergency telephone service, as set forth in section 29-11-104 (2), and may be imposed at any time after the governing body requests such service from the provider or, in the case of wireless carriers, at any time after the governing body requests wireless ANI or wireless ALI from the wireless carrier.

(e) This subsection (2) shall not apply to prepaid wireless telecommunications services.

(3) Such charge shall be imposed only upon service users whose address is in those portions of the governing body's jurisdiction for which emergency telephone service shall be provided; however, such charge shall not be imposed upon any state or local governmental entity.

(4) Every billed service user shall be liable for any charge imposed under this article until it has been paid to the service supplier.

(5) The duty to collect or pay any charge imposed under the authority of this article shall commence at such time as may be specified by the governing body. Charges imposed under the authority of this article and required to be collected by the service supplier shall be added to and may be stated separately in the billings, if any, to the service user.

(6) The service supplier shall have no obligation to take any legal action to enforce the collection of any charge imposed under the authority of this article. Such action may be brought by or in behalf of the public agency imposing the charge or the separate legal entity formed pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section. The service supplier shall annually provide the governing body a list of the amounts uncollected along with the names and addresses of those service users that carry a balance that can be determined by the service supplier to be the nonpayment of any charge imposed under the authority of this article. The service supplier shall not be held liable for such uncollected amounts that have been billed to the service user.

(7) Any charge imposed under the authority of this article shall be collected insofar as practicable at the same time as, and along with, the charges for the rate in accordance with the regular billing practice of the service supplier. The rates determined by or stated on the billing of the service supplier are presumed to be correct if such charges were made in accordance with the service supplier's business practices. The presumption may be rebutted by evidence which establishes that an incorrect rate was charged.

(a) "Consumer" means a person who purchases prepaid wireless telecommunications service in a retail transaction.

(b) "Department" means the department of revenue.

(c) "Prepaid wireless E911 charge" means the charge that is required to be collected by a seller from a consumer under subsection (2) of this section.

(d) "Provider" means a person that provides prepaid wireless telecommunications service.

(e) "Retail transaction" means the purchase of prepaid wireless telecommunications service from a seller for any purpose other than resale.

(f) "Seller" means a person who sells prepaid wireless telecommunications service to another person.

(2) (a) A prepaid wireless E911 charge of one and four-tenths percent of the price of the retail transaction is hereby imposed on each retail transaction.

(b) (I) The seller shall collect the prepaid wireless E911 charge from the consumer on each retail transaction occurring in this state. The amount of the prepaid wireless E911 charge shall be either disclosed to the consumer or separately stated on an invoice, receipt, or other similar document the seller provides to the consumer. A seller shall elect to either disclose or separately state the charge and shall not change the election without the written consent of the department.

(II) For purposes of this paragraph (b), a retail transaction occurs in Colorado if:

(A) The consumer effects the retail transaction in person at a business location in Colorado;

(B) If sub-subparagraph (A) of this subparagraph (II) does not apply, the product is delivered to the consumer at a Colorado address provided to the seller;

(C) If sub-subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this subparagraph (II) do not apply, the seller's records, maintained in the ordinary course of business, indicate that the consumer's address is in Colorado and the records are not made or kept in bad faith;

(D) If sub-subparagraphs (A) to (C) of this subparagraph (II) do not apply, the consumer gives a Colorado address during the consummation of the sale, including the consumer's payment instrument if no other address is available, and the address is not given in bad faith; or

(E) If sub-subparagraphs (A) to (D) of this subparagraph (II) do not apply, the mobile telephone number is associated with a Colorado location.

(c) The prepaid wireless E911 charge is the liability of the consumer and not of the seller or of any provider; except that the seller shall be liable to remit all prepaid wireless E911 charges that the seller collects from consumers as provided in subsection (3) of this section. The seller shall be deemed to have collected the charge notwithstanding that the amount of the charge has neither been separately disclosed nor stated on an invoice, receipt, or other similar document the seller provides to the consumer.

(d) The amount of the prepaid wireless E911 charge that is collected by a seller from a consumer shall not be included in the base for measuring any tax, fee, surcharge, or other charge that is imposed by this state, any political subdivision of this state, or any intergovernmental agency.

(3) (a) The seller shall remit any collected prepaid wireless E911 charges to the department at the times and in the manner provided in part 1 of article 26 of title 39, C.R.S. (d) The department shall establish procedures by which a seller may document that a transaction is not a retail transaction, which procedures shall substantially coincide with the procedures for documenting that a sale was wholesale for purposes of the sales tax under part 1 of article 26 of title 39, C.R.S.

(e) (I) Remittances of prepaid wireless E911 charges received by the department are collections for the local governing body, not general revenues of the state, and shall be held in trust in the prepaid wireless trust cash fund, which is hereby created. Except as provided in subparagraph (II) of this paragraph (e), the department shall transmit the moneys in the fund to each governing body within sixty days after the department receives the money in accordance with section 29-2-106 for use by such governing body for the purposes permitted under section 29-11-104.

(II) The department may expend an amount, not to exceed three percent of the collected charges in the prepaid wireless trust cash fund, necessary to reimburse the department for its direct costs of administering the collection and remittance of prepaid wireless E911 charges; except that the department may expend up to an additional four hundred fifty thousand dollars from January 1, 2011, through January 1, 2012, to cover the initial cost of establishing the collection and remittance process.

(III) The public utilities commission shall establish a formula for distribution of revenues from the prepaid wireless E911 charge based upon the governing authority's portion of the total 911 wireless call volume. The public utilities commission, or its designee, shall collect and transmit the percentage of wireless calls processed by each public safety answering point to the department by November 15 of each year. The public utilities commission may promulgate rules to implement this subparagraph (III).

(4) The prepaid wireless E911 charge imposed by this section shall be the only direct E911 funding obligation imposed with respect to prepaid wireless telecommunications service in this state. Immediately upon determining such rate, the governing body shall publish in its minutes the new rate, and if the rate has been changed from the prior rate, it shall notify by registered mail every service supplier at least sixty days before such new rate will become effective.

(b) The governing body may, at its own expense, require an annual audit of the service supplier's books and records concerning the collection and remittance of the charge authorized by this article. Public inspection of the audit and of documents reviewed in the audit shall be subject to section 24-72-204, C.R.S.

HUMAN SERVICES REFERRAL SERVICE

29-11-201. Legislative declaration. The general assembly hereby finds and declares that obtaining access to appropriate community-based organizations and governmental agencies providing for human services is a critical first step for many individuals and families of Colorado to receiving the help and assistance they need. In 2000, in recognition of the need to promote effective access to human services, the federal communications commission reserved the three-digit telephone number of 2-1-1 for access to community health and human services information. The public utilities commission approved the use of a 2-1-1 number for Colorado in October of 2002, and while four pilot sites are operating in specified counties, there is a need for service in all counties of this state. The 2-1-1 human services referral service is dedicated to providing individuals and families with referral information to obtain nonemergency services such as food assistance, shelter, job assistance, and low-cost health care, for those in need. Due to the importance of the human services referral system and the need to assure that this system is enabled in all areas of the state of Colorado, the general assembly hereby finds and declares that the human services referral service providers should receive protection of immunity that is similar to the protection afforded to the 9-1-1 emergency service.

(2) No Colorado 2-1-1 collaborative, human services referral service provider or employee, agent, or financial supporter thereof shall be liable to any person or entity for infringement or invasion of the right of privacy of any person caused or claimed to have been caused, directly or indirectly, by any act or omission in connection with the provision of human service referral information to any person or entity unless the infringement or invasion of the right of privacy arose out of the gross negligence or other wrongful and intentional act of the Colorado 2-1-1 collaborative, human services referral service provider, employee, agent, or financial supporter thereof.

- 29-11.7-101. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds that:
- (a) Section 3 of article II of the state constitution, the article referred to as the state bill of rights, declares that all persons have certain inalienable rights, which include the right to defend their lives and liberties;
- (b) Section 13 of article II of the state constitution protects the fundamental right of a person to keep and bear arms and implements section 3 of article II of the state constitution;
- (c) The general assembly recognizes a duty to protect and defend the fundamental civil rights set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection (1);
- (d) There exists a widespread inconsistency among jurisdictions within the state with regard to firearms regulations;
- (e) This inconsistency among local government laws regulating lawful firearm possession and ownership has extraterritorial impact on state citizens and the general public by subjecting them to criminal and civil penalties in some jurisdictions for conduct wholly lawful in other jurisdictions;
- (f) Inconsistency among local governments of laws regulating the possession and ownership of firearms results in persons being treated differently under the law solely on the basis of where they reside, and a person’s residence in a particular county or city or city and county is not a rational classification when it is the basis for denial of equal treatment under the law;

(g) This inconsistency places citizens in the position of not knowing when they may be violating the local laws and therefore being unable to avoid violating the law and becoming subject to criminal and other penalties.

(2) Based on the findings specified in subsection (1) of this section, the general assembly concludes that:

(a) The regulation of firearms is a matter of statewide concern;

(b) It is necessary to provide statewide laws concerning the possession and ownership of a firearm to ensure that law-abiding persons are not unfairly placed in the position of unknowingly committing crimes involving firearms.

ANNOTATION

Ambiguity in insurance contract with regard to the retroactive date of the contract must be resolved by giving effect to the intention of the parties, and, therefore, the date which the parties to the contract intended, based on undisputed testimony, is the date that coverage began. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Colo., 888 P.2d 352 (Colo. App. 1994).

Court rejected county's contention that the policy was unconscionable as a matter of law because it had a short policy period and provided no coverage prior to its retroactive date since the county intended to obtain limited coverage, with no insurance during the gap period and was precisely in accord with the county's reasonable expectations. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Colo., 888 P.2d 352 (Colo. App. 1994).

29-13-103. Grounds and procedure for suspension or revocation of certificate.

(1) The certificate of authority issued to a unit of local government under this article may be revoked or suspended by the commissioner of insurance for any of the following reasons:

- (a) Insolvency or impairment;
- (b) Refusal or failure to submit an annual report as required by section 29-13-102 (4);
- (c) Failure to comply with the provisions of its own ordinances, resolutions, contracts, or other conditions relating to the self-insurance pool;
- (d) Failure to submit to examination or any legal obligation relative thereto;
- (e) Refusal to pay the cost of examination as required by section 29-13-102 (3);
- (f) Use of methods which, although not otherwise specifically proscribed by law, nevertheless render the operation of the self-insurance pool hazardous, or its condition unsound, to the public;
- (g) Failure to otherwise comply with the law of this state, if such failure renders the operation of the self-insurance pool hazardous to the public.

(2) If the commissioner of insurance finds upon examination, hearing, or other evidence that any unit of local government has committed any of the acts specified in subsection (1) of this section or any act otherwise prohibited in this article, the commissioner may suspend or revoke such certificate of authority if he deems it in the best interest of the public. Notice of any revocation shall be published in one or more daily newspapers in Denver which have a general state circulation. Before suspending or revoking any certificate of authority of a unit of local government, the commissioner shall grant the unit of local government fifteen days in which to show cause why such action should not be taken.

(2) (a) Tax anticipation notes shall be both issued and made payable within the fiscal year for which such taxes are levied.

(b) The provisions of this subsection (2) limiting the term of tax anticipation notes shall not apply to tax anticipation notes issued by school districts on and after January 1, 1992.

(3) Tax anticipation notes may be paid from the proceeds of ad valorem taxes on real and personal property, investment proceeds on the ad valorem taxes, or the proceeds from the tax anticipation notes.

(2) In addition to powers otherwise granted to the state treasurer by law, the state treasurer shall have the following powers in connection with the issuance of tax and revenue anticipation notes pursuant to the provisions of this section:

(a) To use the seal of the state treasurer;

(b) To adopt resolutions or enter into indentures of trust or other instruments to provide for the issuance of the tax and revenue anticipation notes;

(c) To engage the services of consultants, financial advisors, underwriters, attorneys, trustees, paying agents, registrars, remarketing agents, indexing agents, depositaries, and other agents whose services may be required in connection with the issuance of the tax and revenue anticipation notes;

(d) To enter into contracts, agreements, and other instruments in connection with the issuance of the tax and revenue anticipation notes, including but not limited to contracts with persons specified in paragraph (c) of this subsection (2), contracts providing for the purchase or repurchase of the tax and revenue anticipation notes, agreements with school districts regarding the payment of loans and other matters relating to the issuance of the tax and revenue anticipation notes, and indentures of trust or other instruments providing for the issuance of the tax and revenue anticipation notes;

(e) To provide credit enhancement for the tax and revenue anticipation notes by:

(I) Entering into such agreements as may be necessary to obtain a credit facility with respect to any issue of notes;

(II) Pledging toward the payment of the premium, if any, and interest on the tax and revenue anticipation notes moneys from the state general fund in an amount not exceeding the amount of the premium, if any, and interest on such notes. The provisions of section 24-75-907 (2) and (3), C.R.S., that relate to the creation of a restricted account and to liens shall apply to the pledge of such moneys; except that the restricted account shall not exceed the amount of the premium, if any, and interest on the tax and revenue anticipation notes; and

(III) Pledging toward the payment of the principal on the tax and revenue anticipation notes moneys in the school district tax and revenue anticipation notes repayment account created pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of this section.

(f) To assist a school district in determining whether it will have a cash flow deficit that will require a loan pursuant to section 22-54-110, C.R.S., and to determine the total amount of tax and revenue anticipation notes that should be issued on behalf of the district; and

(g) To do all other things necessary and convenient in connection with the issuance of tax and revenue anticipation notes pursuant to the provisions of this section and with the establishment of school district responsibilities relating to the tax and revenue anticipation notes and compliance with federal tax laws and regulations.

(3) (a) The proceeds of the tax and revenue anticipation notes may be used for the following purposes:

(I) To make interest-free loans to school districts pursuant to section 22-54-110, C.R.S., to alleviate cash flow deficits;

(II) To pay the costs of issuing the tax and revenue anticipation notes, including the cost of obtaining a credit facility;

(III) To pay the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the tax and revenue anticipation notes; and

(IV) To pay any other expense or charge incurred in connection with actions of the state treasurer authorized by the provisions of this section or section 22-54-110, C.R.S.

(b) Pending use of the proceeds of the tax and revenue anticipation notes in accordance with paragraph (a) of this subsection (3), such proceeds may be invested by the state treasurer in any investments that are legal investments for the state or may be deposited in any eligible public depository. The income from any such investment or deposit may be used for the following purposes:

(I) To pay the costs of issuing the tax and revenue anticipation notes, including the cost of obtaining a credit facility; and

(II) To pay the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the tax and revenue anticipation notes.

(4) (a) (I) Tax and revenue anticipation notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be payable from:

(A) One or more payments by the school district receiving a loan from the proceeds from such notes, which payment or payments by the school district shall be, in the aggregate, sufficient to pay the principal on the tax and revenue anticipation notes issued to fund such loan;

(B) Any moneys from the state general fund that are pledged pursuant to subparagraph (II) of paragraph (e) of subsection (2) of this section;

(C) Income earned from any investment or deposit pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of this section and paragraph (b) of this subsection (4); and

(D) If a district fails to fully repay a loan made pursuant to section 22-54-110, C.R.S., from the proceeds of the tax and revenue anticipation notes, any funds that are on hand or in the custody or possession of the state treasurer and that are eligible for investment.

(II) The financial obligation of the state treasurer to pay the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the tax and revenue anticipation notes shall be deemed discharged on any date on which moneys or investments in an amount sufficient for the payment of the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the notes on the date of their final maturity is on deposit in one or more segregated and restricted accounts that are pledged irrevocably for such purpose. Such segregated and restricted accounts shall be the school district tax and revenue anticipation notes repayment account or a special account created by the controller pursuant to subparagraph (II) of paragraph (e) of subsection (2) of this section or otherwise created at the request of the state treasurer. Following such deposit, the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the notes shall be payable solely from the segregated and restricted accounts without further financial obligation whatsoever of the state treasurer or the state. Any moneys in the segregated and restricted accounts, pending use for their intended purpose, may be invested or reinvested only in securities meeting the investment requirements established in part 6 of article 75 of title 24, C.R.S., as such investment requirements may otherwise be limited pursuant to the terms of the resolution, indenture of trust, or other instrument providing for the issuance of the notes.

(b) There is hereby created in the general fund an account that shall be known as the school district tax and revenue anticipation notes repayment account. All payments received from school districts pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (4) shall be deposited by the state treasurer in the school district tax and revenue anticipation notes repayment account and may be invested by the state treasurer in any investments that are legal investments for the state or may be deposited in any eligible public depository. All moneys in the account that are not in excess of the amount required to pay the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the tax and revenue anticipation notes are pledged irrevocably and shall be used for the purpose of paying the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the tax and revenue anticipation notes for no other purpose.

(5) (a) Tax and revenue anticipation notes issued by the state treasurer pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be issued pursuant to a resolution or other authorizing instrument of the state treasurer. Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, such notes may be issued in such aggregate principal amount, may be issued in one or more series, may bear such dates, may be in such denomination, may mature in such amount, may bear interest at such rate, may be in such form, may be payable at such place, and may be subject to such terms of redemption with or without a premium as the state treasurer by resolution or other authorizing instrument may provide. The rate of interest borne by the tax and revenue anticipation notes may be fixed, adjustable, or variable or any combination thereof. If any rate is adjustable or variable, the standard, index, method, or formula pursuant to which such rate is to be from time to time determined shall be set forth in the resolution or other authorizing instrument of the state treasurer. Such resolution or other authorizing instrument may also include a delegation of authority to an agent acting for and on behalf of the state treasurer to determine a rate within parameters, including a maximum interest rate, prescribed by the state treasurer. Tax and revenue anticipation notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section may be sold at public or private sale and may be sold at, above, or below the principal amounts thereof.

(b) The tax and revenue anticipation notes shall mature on any date or dates occurring on or before August 31 of the fiscal year immediately following the fiscal year in which the notes are issued. In the event that the tax and revenue anticipation notes have a date of maturity that is after the end of the fiscal year in which the notes are issued, on or before the final day of the fiscal year in which the notes are issued there shall be deposited in one or more special segregated and restricted accounts and pledged irrevocably to the payment of the notes an amount sufficient to pay the principal, premium, if any, and interest related to the notes on their stated maturity date.

(6) (a) Tax and revenue anticipation notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be signed by the state treasurer and countersigned by the deputy state treasurer, and the seal of the state treasurer shall be affixed thereto.

(b) Pursuant to article 55 of title 11, C.R.S., any signature required by paragraph (a) of this subsection (6) may be a facsimile signature imprinted, engraved, stamped, or otherwise placed on the tax and revenue anticipation notes. If all signatures of public officials on the tax and revenue anticipation notes are facsimile signatures, provisions shall be made for a manual authenticating signature on the tax and revenue anticipation notes by or on behalf of a designated authenticating agent. If an official ceases to hold office before delivery of the tax and revenue anticipation notes signed by such official, the signature or facsimile signature of the official is nevertheless valid and sufficient for all purposes. A facsimile of the seal of the state treasurer may be imprinted, engraved, stamped, or otherwise placed on the notes.

(7) Tax and revenue anticipation notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be payable solely from the revenues pledged thereto, and the owners or holders of the notes may not look to any other source for repayment of the principal of or interest on the notes. Such tax and revenue anticipation notes shall not constitute a debt or an indebtedness of the state or any school district within the meaning of any applicable provision of the state constitution or state statutes.

(8) Any tax and revenue anticipation notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section shall constitute a contract between the state treasurer and the owner or holder thereof, and neither the state nor any of its political subdivisions shall take any action impairing such contract.

(9) The tax and revenue anticipation notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be exempt from all state, county, municipal, school, and other taxes imposed by any taxing authority of the state of Colorado.

29-20-102. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that in order to provide for planned and orderly development within Colorado and a balancing of basic human needs of a changing population with legitimate environmental concerns, the policy of this state is to clarify and provide broad authority to local governments to plan for and regulate the use of land within their respective jurisdictions.

Nothing in this article shall serve to diminish the planning functions of the state or the duties of the division of planning.

(2) The general assembly further finds and declares that local governments will be better able to properly plan for growth and serve new residents if they are authorized to impose impact fees as a condition of approval of development permits. However, impact fees and other development charges can affect growth and development patterns outside a local government's jurisdiction, and uniform impact fee authority among local governments will encourage proper growth management.

29-20-103. Definitions. As used in this article, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Development permit" means any preliminary or final approval of an application for rezoning, planned unit development, conditional or special use permit, subdivision, development or site plan, or similar application for new construction; except that, for purposes of part 3 of this article, "development permit" is limited to an application regarding a specific project that includes new water use in an amount more than that used by fifty single-family equivalents, or fewer as determined by the local government.

(1.5) "Local government" means a county, home rule or statutory city, town, territorial charter city, or city and county.

(2) "Power authority" means an authority created pursuant to section 29-1-204.

29-20-104. Powers of local governments. (1) Except as expressly provided in section 29-20-104.5, the power and authority granted by this section shall not limit any power or authority presently exercised or previously granted. Each local government within its respective jurisdiction has the authority to plan for and regulate the use of land by:

(a) Regulating development and activities in hazardous areas;

(b) Protecting lands from activities which would cause immediate or foreseeable material danger to significant wildlife habitat and would endanger a wildlife species;

(c) Preserving areas of historical and archaeological importance;

(d) Regulating, with respect to the establishment of, roads on public lands administered by the federal government; this authority includes authority to prohibit, set conditions for, or require a permit for the establishment of any road authorized under the general right-of-way granted to the public by 43 U.S.C. 932 (R.S. 2477) but does not include authority to prohibit, set conditions for, or require a permit for the establishment of any road authorized for mining claim purposes by 30 U.S.C. 21 et seq., or under any specific permit or lease granted by the federal government;

(e) Regulating the location of activities and developments which may result in significant changes in population density;

(f) Providing for phased development of services and facilities;

(g) Regulating the use of land on the basis of the impact thereof on the community or surrounding areas; and

(h) Otherwise planning for and regulating the use of land so as to provide planned and orderly use of land and protection of the environment in a manner consistent with constitutional rights.

This section does not confer upon counties the authority to impose conditions for granting permits for exploratory oil well operation when such authority was granted exclusively to state oil and gas conservation commission under Oil and Gas Conservation Act. Oborne v. County Comm'rs of Douglas Cty., 764 P.2d 397 (Colo. App. 1988), cert. denied, 778 P.2d 1370 (Colo. 1989).

Local Government Land Use Control Enabling Act (enabling act) and the County Planning Code and Building Codes (article 28 of title 30) authorize county regulation of land use in the unincorporated areas of the county. Wilkinson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 872 P.2d 1269 (Colo. App. 1993).

This section provides independent authority for local governments to regulate land use to protect wildlife habitat and wildlife species. Droste v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 85 P.3d 585 (Colo. App. 2003).

No authority to adopt "subdivision" definition contrary to § 30-28-101. Sections 29-20-101 to 29-20-107 do not confer the authority upon a county to adopt a definition of "subdivision" in its regulations which is contrary to the express statutory definition found in § 30-28-101 (10). Pennobscot, Inc. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 642 P.2d 915 (Colo. 1982).

Or to adopt regulations covering land specifically excluded. Sections 29-20-101 to 29-20-107 do not confer the authority to adopt subdivision regulations covering parcels of land which are specifically excluded from the provisions of § 30-28-101 (10). Pennobscot, Inc. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 642 P.2d 915 (Colo. 1982).

County regulations concerning wetlands protection and nuisance abatement were related to valid county concerns under this act for local governments to regulate land use and protect environment. Colo. Springs v. Eagle County Bd. of County Comm'rs, 895 P.2d 1105 (Colo. App. 1994).

General assembly's grant of land use authority to local governments under the enabling act necessarily implies the authority of a local government to impose, through a public hearing process, a moratorium of limited duration, 10 months in this case, or to halt further development pending adoption of a master plan. The length and conditions of a moratorium are subject to the protection of property owners against uncompensated takings as provided by part 2 of article 20 of this title. Droste v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Pitkin, 159 P.3d 601 (Colo. 2007).

The enabling act grants broad powers to local governments regulating use of lands within their respective jurisdictions for protecting wildlife, controlling population density and growth, and protecting the surrounding environment, among other things. In light of this broad grant of powers, reading the enabling act to deny local governments authority to conduct studies for overall development of lands within their jurisdiction and to impose reasonable moratoriums on development to conduct those studies would be anomalous and would contravene the apparent purpose and intent of the general assembly. Droste v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Pitkin, 141 P.3d 852 (Colo. App. 2005), aff'd, 159 P.3d 601 (Colo. 2007).

County had authority under the enabling act to impose temporary moratorium on developmental approvals concerning certain land within county. The enabling act is designed to give local governments additional or supplemental powers for the purposes set forth in the act, including development in hazardous areas, protecting wildlife habitats, protecting areas of historical or archeological significance, controlling population density, and providing for the phasing in of infrastructure. These special considerations, in many instances, supplement those normally involved in creating a zoning master plan or administering a zoning regimen. Accordingly, the enabling act and the county planning statute, article 28 of title 30, have different, though complementary, purposes, and the limitation on temporary zoning in § 30-28-121 does not prohibit or limit a moratorium on development for the purpose of conducting studies under the enabling act. Droste v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Pitkin, 141 P.3d 852 (Colo. App. 2005), aff'd, 159 P.3d 601 (Colo. 2007).

Subsections (1)(e), (1)(g), and (1)(h) do not provide requisite authority to county to regulate roads on landowner's property. Here, record does not provide a factual predicate to support county's argument. With respect to subsection (1)(e), there is nothing in the record to indicate what, if any, population changes may arise as a result of landowners' activities nor is there anything in the record to support a conclusion that any changes in population would be "significant". With respect to subsection (1)(g), there is nothing in the record elucidating any impact, significant or not, on the community or surrounding areas. Finally, with respect to subsection (1)(h), the county has not specifically adopted ordinances that deal with the particular roads at issue, as the roads are situated on parcels that are not subject to subdivision regulation. Zweygardt v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Elbert County, 190 P.3d 848 (Colo. App. 2008).

Applied in Theobald v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 644 P.2d 942 (Colo. 1982); Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Bowen/Edwards Assoc., 830 P.2d 1045 (Colo. 1992).

29-20-104.5. Impact fees. (1) Pursuant to the authority granted in section 29-20-104 (1) (g) and as a condition of issuance of a development permit, a local government may impose an impact fee or other similar development charge to fund expenditures by such local government on capital facilities needed to serve new development. No impact fee or other similar development charge shall be imposed except pursuant to a schedule that is:

- (a) Legislatively adopted;
- (b) Generally applicable to a broad class of property; and
- (c) Intended to defray the projected impacts on capital facilities caused by proposed development.

(2) A local government shall quantify the reasonable impacts of proposed development on existing capital facilities and establish the impact fee or development charge at a level no greater than necessary to defray such impacts directly related to proposed development. No impact fee or other similar development charge shall be imposed to remedy any deficiency in capital facilities that exists without regard to the proposed development.

(3) Any schedule of impact fees or other similar development charges adopted by a local government pursuant to this section shall include provisions to ensure that no individual landowner is required to provide any site specific dedication or improvement to meet the same need for capital facilities for which the impact fee or other similar development charge is imposed.

(4) As used in this section, the term "capital facility" means any improvement or facility that:

- (a) Is directly related to any service that a local government is authorized to provide;
- (b) Has an estimated useful life of five years or longer; and
- (c) Is required by the charter or general policy of a local government pursuant to a resolution or ordinance.

(5) Any impact fee or other similar development charge shall be collected and accounted for in accordance with part 8 of article 1 of this title. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, a local government may waive an impact fee or other similar development charge on the development of low- or moderate- income housing or affordable employee housing as defined by the local government.

(6) No impact fee or other similar development charge shall be imposed on any development permit for which the applicant submitted a complete application before the adoption of a schedule of impact fees or other similar development charges by the local government pursuant to this section. No impact fee or other similar development charge imposed on any development activity shall be collected before the issuance of the development permit for such development activity. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit a local government from deferring collection of an impact fee or other similar development charge until the issuance of a building permit or certificate of occupancy.

(7) Any person or entity that owns or has an interest in land that is or becomes subject to a schedule of fees or charges enacted pursuant to this section shall, by filing an application for a development permit, have standing to file an action for declaratory judgment to determine whether such schedule complies with the provisions of this section. An applicant for a development permit who believes that a local government has improperly applied a schedule of fees or charges adopted pursuant to this section to the development application may pay the fee or charge imposed and proceed with development without prejudice to the applicant's right to challenge the fee or charge imposed under rule 106 of the Colorado rules of civil procedure. If the court determines that a local government has either imposed a fee or charge on a development that is not subject to the legislatively enacted schedule or improperly calculated the fee or charge due, it may enter judgment in favor of the applicant for the amount of any fee or charge wrongly collected with interest thereon from the date collected.

(8) (a) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that the matters addressed in this section are matters of statewide concern.

(b) This section shall not prohibit any local government from imposing impact fees or other similar development charges pursuant to a schedule that was legislatively adopted before October 1, 2001, so long as the local government complies with subsections (3), (5), (6), and (7) of this section. Any amendment of such schedule adopted after October 1, 2001, shall comply with all of the requirements of this section.

(9) If any provision of this section is held invalid, such invalidity shall invalidate this section in its entirety, and to this end the provisions of this section are declared to be nonseverable.

29-20-105. Intergovernmental cooperation. (1) Local governments are authorized and encouraged to cooperate or contract with other units of government pursuant to part 2 of article 1 of this title for the purposes of planning or regulating the development of land including, but not limited to, the joint exercise of planning, zoning, subdivision, building, and related regulations.

(2) (a) Without limiting the ability of local governments to cooperate or contract with each other pursuant to the provisions of this part 1 or any other provision of law, local governments may provide through intergovernmental agreements for the joint adoption by the governing bodies, after notice and hearing, of mutually binding and enforceable comprehensive development plans for areas within their jurisdictions. This section shall not affect the validity of any intergovernmental agreement entered into prior to April 23, 1989.

(b) A comprehensive development plan may contain master plans, zoning plans, subdivision regulations, and building code, permit, and other land use standards, which, if set out in specific detail, may be in lieu of such regulations or ordinances of the local governments.

(c) Notwithstanding any other statutory provisions of article 28 of title 30, C.R.S., review of comprehensive development plans by the planning commissions of the local governments shall be discretionary, unless otherwise required by local ordinance. This subsection (2) shall not apply to the requirements of sections 30-28-110 and 30-28-127, C.R.S.

(d) An intergovernmental agreement providing for a comprehensive development plan may contain a provision that the plan may be amended only by the mutual agreement of the governing bodies of the local governments who are parties to the plan.

(e) In the event that a plan is silent as to a specific land use matter, existing local land use regulations shall control.

(f) (I) An intergovernmental agreement may contain provisions concerning annexation, including, but not limited to provisions:

(A) That a comprehensive development plan shall continue to control particular land areas even though the land areas are annexed or jurisdiction over the land areas is otherwise transferred pursuant to law between the local governmental entities who are parties to the agreement;

(B) For revenue sharing between local governments; and

(C) Concerning land areas that may be annexed by municipalities and the conditions related to such annexations as established in the comprehensive development plan.

(II) Nothing in this paragraph (f) shall be construed to render invalid any intergovernmental agreement or comprehensive development plan entered into prior to November 6, 2001.

(g) Each governing body that is a party to an intergovernmental agreement adopting a comprehensive development plan shall have standing in district court to enforce the terms of the agreement and the plan, including specific performance and injunctive relief. The district court shall schedule all actions to enforce an intergovernmental agreement and comprehensive development plan for expedited hearing.

(h) Local governments may, pursuant to an intergovernmental agreement, provide for revenue-sharing.

(i) Local governments shall not be required to enter into intergovernmental agreements or comprehensive development plans pursuant to this section.

29-20-105.5. Intergovernmental cooperation - intergovernmental agreements to address wildland fire mitigation - land owned by municipality for utility purposes - legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that:

(a) As wildland fires are impervious to the territorial boundaries of political subdivisions, adequate protection against the harm and hazards caused by such fires necessitates the full cooperation of all governmental entities within whose contiguous territorial boundaries forest lands or wildland areas are located;

(b) Because of the likely threat that wildland fires may cross territorial boundaries, particularly if cooperative fire mitigation policies are not established and maintained, protecting the public from the dangers of such fires, especially fires occurring in wildland-urban interface areas, is a matter of statewide concern;

(c) The provisions of this section are necessary to protect the public from the dangers of forest land and wildland fires; and

(d) The provisions of this section are enacted for the purpose of authorizing and requiring intergovernmental cooperation between a county and any local governments that own land areas located within the county to mitigate the harm caused by forest land or wildland fires affecting such contiguous land areas in the interest of protecting the public health and safety.

(2) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) “Fire department” shall have the same meaning as set forth in section 24-33.5-1202 (3.5), C.R.S., and includes a fire department that uses paid firefighters, volunteer firefighters, or both. The term includes, without limitation, a not-for-profit nongovernmental entity that is organized to provide firefighting services.

(b) “Forest land” shall have the same meaning as set forth in section 39-1-102 (4.3), C.R.S.

(b.5) “Local government” means a home rule or statutory city, town, territorial charter city, or a city and county. “Local government” does not include a county or a home rule county.

(c) “Wildland area” means an area in which development is essentially nonexistent, except for roads, railroads, power lines, and similar infrastructure, and in which structures, if present, are widely scattered.

(d) "Wildland fire" means an unplanned or unwanted fire in a wildland area, including an unauthorized human-caused fire, an out-of-control prescribed fire, and any other fire in a wildland area where the objective is to extinguish the fire.

(e) "Utility purposes" means the use or management of property by a local government that is reasonably related to the provision of electric, natural gas, water, wastewater, and telecommunication services.

(3) (a) (I) On or before July 1, 2012, each local government that owns any land area for any reason other than for utility purposes that is located either entirely or partially outside its own territorial boundaries and inside the territorial boundaries of a county and that contains at least fifty percent forest land or land that constitutes a wildland area shall enter into an intergovernmental agreement with the county for the purpose of mitigating forest land or wildland fires affecting the contiguous land areas of the local government and county.

(II) On or before July 1, 2012, each local government that owns any land area for utility purposes that is located either entirely or partially outside its own territorial boundaries and inside the territorial boundaries of a county and that contains at least fifty percent forest land or land that constitutes a wildland area shall either:

(A) Enter into an intergovernmental agreement with the county for the purpose of mitigating forest land or wildland fires affecting the contiguous land areas of the local government and county; or

(B) Enter into an agreement with the Colorado state forest service created in section 36-7-201 (1), C.R.S., for the purpose of mitigating forest land or wildland fires affecting the contiguous land areas of the local government and county, and provide notification of the agreement to any county in which the local government owns any land area.

(III) In association with the governmental parties entering into any intergovernmental agreement or agreement with the Colorado state forest service, the parties to the agreement shall consult with any utility providers that have facilities in the areas subject to the agreement to the extent the provisions of the agreement will affect the providers.

(b) Any agreement required by subparagraph (I) or (II) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (3) shall address, without limitation, the following matters:

(I) The identification of all parties to the agreement and their respective roles and responsibilities with respect to the mitigation of forest land and wildland fires;

(II) The procedures for cooperation and coordination among the parties to the agreement;

(III) Management objectives for forest land and wildland fire prevention, preparedness, mitigation, suppression, reclamation, or rehabilitation and the designation of the local government with fiscal and operational authority for each objective;

(IV) A description of available emergency or mutual aid resources in the event of forest land or wildland fires;

(V) The specification of reimbursement and billing procedures; and

(VI) Action that may be undertaken by one party to the agreement if another party to the agreement fails to satisfy its duties or responsibilities under the agreement.

(c) The agreement required pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (3) shall be executed by all parties to the agreement.

(4) Nothing in this section shall require any local government to enter into a new agreement if the local government is a party to an agreement in existence as of August 5, 2009, including, without limitation, a mutual aid agreement, that satisfies the requirements of this section unless the terms of any such agreement, including a mutual aid agreement, fail to address the responsibility among local governments for mitigating wildland fires in wildland-urban interface areas.

(5) (a) In accordance with the requirements of section 33-10-108 (3) (a), C.R.S., and pursuant to a contract, intergovernmental agreement, or memorandum of understanding, the division of parks and wildlife created in section 33-9-104, C.R.S., may allow fire mitigation personnel and accompanying equipment and material under the control or supervision of a fire department to enter state parks, state recreation areas, and natural areas for the purpose of mitigating forest land or wildland fires in or around such parks, recreation areas, and natural areas. Permissible activities to be undertaken by a fire department under this paragraph (a) include, without limitation, prescribed burning as a component of wildfire mitigation or forest or wildland management and exercises to promote the training of firefighting personnel.

(b) Nothing in paragraph (a) of this subsection (5) shall be construed as affecting the authority of any state agency other than the division of parks and wildlife to enter into a contract, intergovernmental agreement, or memorandum of understanding for the purpose of allowing fire mitigation personnel and accompanying equipment and material under the control or supervision of a fire department to enter land areas under the jurisdiction of the state agency to undertake the permissible activities specified in paragraph (a) of this subsection (5).

(c) For purposes of this subsection (5), “state agency” shall have the same meaning as set forth in section 24-18-102 (9), C.R.S.

29-20-105.6. Notification to military installations by local governments of land use changes - legislative declaration - definitions. (1) The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that it is desirable for local governments in the state to cooperate with military installations located within the state in order to encourage compatible land use, help prevent incompatible urban encroachment upon military installations, and facilitate the continued presence of major military installations within the state.

(2) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) “Local government” means a county, home rule or statutory city, town, territorial charter city, or a city and county.

(b) “Military installation” means:

(I) A base, camp, post, station, airfield, yard, center, or any other land area under the jurisdiction of the United States department of defense, including any leased facility, the total acreage of which installation is in excess of five hundred acres; or

(II) The Greeley Air National Guard station.

(3) Each local government whose territorial boundaries are within two miles of all or any portion of a military installation shall timely provide to the installation commanding officer and the flying mission commanding officer, or their designees, information relating to proposed zoning changes, and amendments to the local government’s comprehensive plan, or land development regulations that, if approved, would affect the use of any area within two miles of the military installation. Nothing in this subsection (3) is intended to require submission of any information in connection with a site-specific development application under consideration by the local government.

(4) Upon submission of the information required to be provided pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, the military installation shall have fourteen business days within which to review the information and submit comments to the local government on the impact the proposed changes may have on the mission of the military installation. Such comments may include:

(a) If the military installation has an airfield, whether the proposed changes will be compatible with the safety and noise standards contained in the air installation compatible use zone recommended by United States department of defense instruction 4165.57 for that airfield;

(b) Whether the proposed changes are compatible with the installation environmental noise management program of the military installation;

(c) Whether the proposed changes are compatible with any joint land use study for the area within which the changes are to take place, if such study has been completed; or

(d) Whether the military installation’s mission will be adversely affected by the proposed changes.

(5) The local government shall review any comments received from the commanding officer or the flying mission commanding officer, or their designees, pursuant to subsection

(4) of this section when considering approval of a comprehensive plan, amendments to the plan, or its land development regulations. The local government shall forward a copy of any such comments received to the office of smart growth created in section 24-32-3203 (1) (a), C.R.S.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, nothing in this section is intended or shall be construed to require a local government to prepare a new master plan in effect as of August 11, 2010, in order to satisfy any of the requirements of this section.

ANNOTATION

Under this section, a county cannot disregard a limitation of its authority found in another statute. The zoned land exemption contained in § 24-65.1-107 (1)(c)(II) is not, however, a "requirement" that is meant to "control" under this section. Droste v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 85 P.3d 585 (Colo. App. 2003).

Dual authority exists under statutes granting land-use approval authority to counties and the authority for issuance of hazardous waste or radioactive material disposal permits and licenses to department of public health and environment. Adams Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Colo. Dept. of Pub. Health & Env't, 218 P.3d 336 (Colo. 2009).

29-20-108. Local government regulation - location, construction, or improvement of major electrical or natural gas facilities - legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds, determines, and declares that the location, construction, and improvement of major electrical and natural gas facilities are matters of statewide concern. The general assembly further finds, determines, and declares that:

(a) A reliable supply of electric power and natural gas statewide is of vital importance to the health, safety, and welfare of the people of Colorado;

(b) Electric power is transmitted by means of an interconnected grid system serving every area of the state, and natural gas is carried through a series of interconnected pipelines statewide;

(c) Impacts on the electric grid system or natural gas pipelines in one area of the state may have impacts on other areas of the state; and

(d) It is critical that public utilities and power authorities that supply electric or natural gas service maintain the ability to meet the demands for such service as growth continues to occur statewide.

(2) Local government land use regulations shall require final local government action on any application of a public utility or a power authority providing electric or natural gas service that relates to the location, construction, or improvement of major electrical or natural gas facilities within one hundred twenty days after the utility's or authority's submission of a preliminary application, if a preliminary application is required by the local government's land use regulations, or within ninety days after submission of a final application. If the local government does not take final action within such time, the application shall be deemed approved. Within twenty-eight days of the submission by a utility or authority of an application pursuant to this subsection (2), the local government shall notify the utility or authority of any additional information that must be supplied by the utility or authority to complete the application. The notice shall specify the particular provisions of the local government's land use regulations that necessitate submission of the required information. The one hundred twenty- or ninety-day period, as applicable, during which the local government is to take action on an application shall commence on the date that the utility or authority provides the requested information to the local government in response to the notice required by this subsection (2). If the local government does not notify the utility or authority within twenty-eight days that additional information is required to complete the application, the one hundred twenty- or ninety-day period, as applicable, shall commence on the date of the submission by the utility or authority of its application, and any request by a local government for additional information after the completion of the twenty-eight-day period shall not extend the applicable deadline for final local government action in accordance with the requirements of this subsection (2). Nothing in this subsection (2) shall be construed to supersede any timeline set by agreement between a local government and a utility or authority applying for local government approval of location, construction, or improvement of major electrical or natural gas facilities as defined in subsection (3) of this section.

(3) As used in this section, "major electrical or natural gas facilities" includes one or more of the following:

- (a) Electrical generating facilities;
- (b) Substations used for switching, regulating, transforming, or otherwise modifying the characteristics of electricity;
- (c) Transmission lines operated at a nominal voltage of sixty-nine thousand volts or above;
- (d) Structures and equipment associated with such electrical generating facilities, substations, or transmission lines; or
- (e) Structures and equipment utilized for the local distribution of natural gas service including, but not limited to, compressors, gas mains, and gas laterals.

(4) (a) A public utility or power authority shall notify the affected local government of its plans to site a major electrical or natural gas facility within the jurisdiction of the local government prior to submitting the preliminary or final permit application, but in no event later than filing a request for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to article 5 of title 40, C.R.S., or the filing of any annual filing with the public utilities commission that proposes or recognizes the need for construction of a new facility or the extension of an existing facility. If a public utility or power authority is not required to obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to article 5 of title 40, C.R.S., or file annually with the public utilities commission to notify the public utilities commission of proposed construction of a new facility or the extension of an existing facility, then the public utility or power authority shall notify any affected local governments of its intention to site a major electrical or natural gas facility within the jurisdiction of the local government when such utility or authority determines that it intends to proceed to permit and construct the facility. Following such notification, the public utility or power authority shall consult with the affected local governments in order to identify the specific routes or geographic locations under consideration for the site of the major electrical or natural gas facility and attempt to resolve land use issues that may arise from the contemplated permit application.

(b) In addition to its preferred alternative within its permit application, the public utility or power authority shall consider and present reasonable siting and design alternatives to the local government or explain why no reasonable alternatives are available.

(5) (a) If a local government denies a permit or application of a public utility or power authority that relates to the location, construction, or improvement of major electrical or natural gas facilities, or if the local government imposes requirements or conditions upon such permit or application that will unreasonably impair the ability of the public utility or power authority to provide safe, reliable, and economical service to the public, the public utility or power authority may appeal the local government action to the public utilities commission for a determination under section 40-4-102, C.R.S., so long as one or more of the following conditions exist:

(I) The public utility or power authority has applied for or has obtained a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the public utilities commission pursuant to section 40-5-101, C.R.S., to construct the major electrical or natural gas facility that is the subject of the local government action;

(II) A certificate of public convenience and necessity is not required for the public utility or power authority to construct the major electrical or natural gas facility that is the subject of the local government action; or

(III) The public utilities commission has previously entered an order pursuant to section 40-4-102, C.R.S., that conflicts with the local government action.

(b) Any appeal brought by a public utility or power authority to the public utilities commission under this section shall be conducted in accordance with the procedural requirements of section 40-6-109.5, C.R.S. In addition to the formal evidentiary hearing on the appeal, conducted in accordance with the procedural requirements of section 40-6-109, C.R.S., the public utilities commission shall take statements from the public concerning the appealed local government action at an open hearing held at a location specified by the local government.

(c) An appeal brought pursuant to this subsection (5) shall include a statement of the reasons why the local government action would unreasonably impair the ability of a public utility or power authority to provide safe, reliable, and economical service to the public.

(d) The public utilities commission shall balance the local government interest with the statewide interest in the location, construction, or improvement of major electrical or natural gas facilities. In striking such balance, the public utilities commission shall render a decision that is consistent with article 65.1 of title 24, C.R.S., including section 24-65.1-105, C.R.S., and the commission shall consider the following factors:

(I) The demonstrated need for the major electrical or natural gas facility;

(II) The extent to which the proposed facility is inconsistent with existing applicable local or regional land use ordinances, resolutions, or master or comprehensive plans;

(III) Whether the proposed facility would exacerbate a natural hazard;

(IV) Applicable utility engineering standards, including supply adequacy, system reliability, and public safety standards;

(V) The relative merit of any reasonably available and economically feasible alternatives proposed by the public utility, the power authority, or the local government;

(VI) The impact that the local government action would have on the customers of the public utility or power authority who reside within and without the boundaries of the jurisdiction of the local government;

(VII) The basis for the local government's decision to deny the application or impose additional conditions to the application;

(VIII) The impact the proposed facility would have on residents within the local government's jurisdiction including, in the case of a right of way in which facilities have been placed underground, whether those residents have already paid to place such facilities underground, and if so, shall give strong consideration to that fact; and

(IX) The safety of residents within and without the boundaries of the jurisdiction of the local government.

(e) The public utilities commission shall deny any appeal brought under this section unless the public utility or power authority has complied with the notification and consultation requirements of subsection (4) of this section.

(f) The public utilities commission may consult with the department of local affairs on land use issues in connection with any appeal. All information provided by the department of local affairs to the public utilities commission shall be part of the official record of the appeal and shall be subject to cross-examination or comments by the parties to the appeal.

(g) Unless otherwise specified in this subsection (5), the appeal shall be conducted in accordance with article 6 of title 40, C.R.S., including the provisions of section 40-6-116, C.R.S., concerning any stay or suspension of the final determination made by the public utilities commission.

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit or diminish the right of a public utility, power authority, or local government to appeal a local government, public utility, or power authority action, decision, or determination to a court of law pursuant to any other provision of law, or any appeal brought in connection with any decision by the public utilities commission under this subsection (5). Appeals brought under this paragraph (h) shall be given priority over other pending matters.

(i) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of a municipal government to require or grant a public utility franchise.

REGULATORY IMPAIRMENT OF PROPERTY RIGHTS

29-20-201. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that:

(a) The right to own and use private property is a fundamental right, essential to the continued vitality of a democratic society;

(b) Governmental regulation of conduct, while equally essential to public order and the preservation of universally held values, must be carried out in a manner that appropriately balances the needs of the public with the rights and legitimate expectations of the individual; and

(c) This part 2 appropriately and necessarily underscores and reinvigorates the federal constitutional prohibition against taking private property for public use without just compensation and the state constitutional prohibitions against taking or damaging private property for public or private use.

(2) The general assembly further finds and declares that an individual private property owner should not be required, under the guise of police power regulation of the use and development of property, to bear burdens for the public good that should more properly be borne by the public at large.

(3) The general assembly intends, through the adoption of section 29-20-203, to codify certain constitutionally-based standards that have been established and applied by the courts. The fair, consistent, and expeditious adjudication of disputes over land use in state courts in accordance with constitutional standards is a matter of statewide concern.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, “Animus Over Animas?—Changes in Regulatory Takings Law in Colorado”, see 31 Colo. Law. 69 (April 2002).

Practical effects of this part 2 was to codify the test for regulatory takings announced by the United States supreme court in Nollan v. Cal. Coastal Comm’n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987), and Dolan v. City of Tigard, 512 U.S. 374 (1994). These opinions established the presumption that a local government that conditions approval of a proposed development on an ex-action of property effects a compensable taking. This presumption can be overcome only if the local government proves that (1) there is an “essential nexus” between the dedication or payment and a legitimate government interest; and (2) the dedication or payment is “roughly proportional” both in nature and extent to the impact of the proposed use or development of such property. Consequently, under this part 2, a local government that requires a landowner to “dedicate real property to the public or pay money or provide services to a public entity in an amount that is determined on an individualized and discretionary basis” must first satisfy each prong of the Nollan/Dolan test. Wolf

29-20-202. Definitions. As used in this part 2, unless the context otherwise requires:

- (1) “Land-use approval” means any final action of a local government that has the effect of authorizing the use or development of a particular parcel of real property.
- (2) “Local government” has the same meaning as set forth in section 29-20-103 (1.5).

Source: L. 99: Entire part added, p. 587, § 1, effective July 1. L. 2001, 2nd Ex. Sess.: (2) amended, p. 30, § 5, effective November 6.

29-20-203. Conditions on land-use approvals. (1) In imposing conditions upon the granting of land-use approvals, no local government shall require an owner of private property to dedicate real property to the public, or pay money or provide services to a public entity in an amount that is determined on an individual and discretionary basis, unless there is an essential nexus between the dedication or payment and a legitimate local government interest, and the dedication or payment is roughly proportional both in nature and extent to the impact of the proposed use or development of such property. This section shall not apply to any legislatively formulated assessment, fee, or charge that is imposed on a broad class of property owners by a local government.

(2) No local government shall impose any discretionary condition upon a land-use approval unless the condition is based upon duly adopted standards that are sufficiently specific to ensure that the condition is imposed in a rational and consistent manner.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, “Recent Developments in Regulatory Takings”, see 28 Colo. Law. 83 (November 1999).

Practical effects of this part 2 was to codify the test for regulatory takings announced by the United States supreme court in Nollan v. Cal. Coastal Comm’n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987), and Dolan v. City of Tigard, 512 U.S. 374 (1994). These opinions established the presumption that a local government that conditions approval of a proposed development on an exaction of property effects a compensable taking. This presumption can be overcome only if the local government proves that (1) there is an “essential nexus” between the dedication or payment and a legitimate government interest; and (2) the dedication or payment is “roughly proportional” both in nature and extent to the impact of the proposed use or development of such property. Consequently, under this section, a local government that requires a landowner to “dedicate real property to the public or pay money or provide services to a public entity in an amount that is determined on an individualized and discretionary basis” must first satisfy each prong of the Nollan/Dolan test. Wolf Ranch, LLC v. City of Colo. Springs, 220 P.3d 559 (Colo. 2009).

City’s decision to condition landowner’s land-use permit on the payment of drainage fees falls outside of ambit of this part 2. Drainage fee assessed upon landowner by city falls under the exception of subsection (1) for legislatively formulated fees that are imposed upon a broad class of property owners. Wolf Ranch, LLC v. City of Colo. Springs, 220 P.3d 559 (Colo. 2009).

29-20-204. Remedy for enforcement against a private property owner.

(1) (a) Within thirty days after the date of a decision or action of a local government imposing a condition in granting a land-use approval, the owner of such property may notify the local government in writing of an alleged violation of section 29-20-203.

(b) Upon the filing of such written notice, the local government shall inform each member of the governing body in writing that the notice has been filed. The local government shall respond to such notice within thirty days after the date of such notice by informing the property owner whether such application or enforcement will proceed as proposed, will be modified, or will be discontinued. The filing of such notice shall be a condition precedent to the owner's right to proceed under subsection (2) of this section.

(2) (a) Within sixty days after the date the local government is required to respond under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section, the property owner may file a petition in the district court for the judicial district in which the subject property is located seeking relief from the enforcement or application of the local law, regulation, policy, or requirement on the basis of an alleged violation of section 29-20-203. Failure to file such a petition within said sixty-day period shall bar relief under this section.

(b) (I) Within thirty days after service on the local government of a petition pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (2), the local government shall assemble and file with the clerk of the district court all documents in its possession concerning the enforcement or application of the local law, regulation, policy, or requirement, including the record of any hearing or proceeding concerning such enforcement or application. If there are no contested factual issues and if the court determines that the facts as reflected by the documents and record filed are sufficient to determine the case, the court shall proceed to determine the case in the most expeditious manner and shall issue appropriate procedural orders to facilitate such determination.

(II) If there are contested issues of fact, or if the court determines that additional evidence is necessary to determine the case, the court may order the parties to provide such additional facts and information as the court may deem appropriate. The court shall order a hearing as soon as its docket permits to resolve such issues of fact or hear such additional evidence.

(c) When it has been established that a required dedication of real property or payment of money as described in section 29-20-203 (1) has been or will be imposed, the burden shall be upon the local government to establish, based upon substantial evidence appearing in the record, that such dedication or payment is roughly proportional to the impact of the proposed use of the subject property.

(d) In determining whether the property owner should be granted relief from the local government's enforcement or application of the local law, regulation, policy, or requirement, the court shall include the following considerations:

(I) Whether such enforcement or application has been accomplished pursuant to a duly adopted law, regulation, policy, or requirement;

(II) Whether such enforcement or application advances a legitimate local government interest;

(III) Whether any required dedication of real property or payment of money as described in section 29-20-203 (1) required by such enforcement or application is roughly proportional to the impact of the proposed use of the subject property;

(IV) Whether there are adequate legislative standards and criteria to ensure that the local law, regulation, policy, or requirement is rationally and consistently applied.

(e) (I) If the court determines that local government enforcement or application of the local law, regulation, policy, or requirement to a specific parcel does not comply with section 29-20-203, the court shall grant appropriate relief to the property owner under the facts presented. Such relief may include, but shall not be limited to, ordering the local government to modify any required dedication of real property or payment of money as described in section 29-20-203 (1) to make it roughly proportional to the impact of the proposed use of the subject property in a manner consistent with the court's order.

(II) If the court determines that such enforcement or application is not based on a duly adopted law, regulation, policy, or requirement or that there are not adequate standards and criteria to ensure that such enforcement or application is rational and consistent, the court shall invalidate the enforcement or application of the law, regulation, policy, or requirement as applied to the subject property.

(f) In any proceeding under this subsection (2), the court may in its discretion award the prevailing party its costs and reasonable attorney fees.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect:

(a) The ability to bring an action under any state statute relating to eminent domain or the exercise of eminent domain powers by the state or any local governmental entity in furtherance of section 15 of article II of the state constitution, nor shall these provisions limit any claim for compensation or other relief under any other provision of law prohibiting the taking or damaging of private property for public or private use.

(b) The right of an owner of private property to file an action for judicial review under rule 106 (a) (4) of the Colorado rules of civil procedure; except that, if a claim under this section is not included in such rule 106 (a) (4) action, it may be brought, if at all, only by amendment to the complaint in the rule 106 (a) (4) action. If the local government has answered the rule 106 (a) (4) complaint, the court may not deny amendment of the complaint to add a claim under this section unless the time requirements of paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of this section have not been met.

(4) An owner may proceed with development without prejudice to that owner's right to pursue the remedy provided by this section.

ADEQUATE WATER SUPPLY

29-20-301. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly:

(a) Finds that, due to the broad regional impact that securing an adequate supply of water to serve proposed land development can have both within and between river basins, it is imperative that local governments be provided with reliable information concerning the adequacy of proposed developments' water supply to inform local governments in the exercise of their discretion in the issuance of development permits; and

(b) To that end, declares that while land use and development approval decisions are matters of local concern, the enactment of this part 3, to help ensure the adequacy of water for new developments, is a matter of statewide concern and necessary for the preservation of public health, safety, and welfare and the environment of Colorado.

29-20-302. Definitions. As used in this part 3, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Adequate" means a water supply that will be sufficient for build-out of the proposed development in terms of quality, quantity, dependability, and availability to provide a supply of water for the type of development proposed, and may include reasonable conservation measures and water demand management measures to account for hydrologic variability.

(2) "Water supply entity" means a municipality, county, special district, water conservancy district, water conservation district, water authority, or other public or private water supply company that supplies, distributes, or otherwise provides water at retail.

Source: L. 2008: Entire part added, p. 1560, § 2, effective May 29.

29-20-303. Adequate water supply for development. (1) A local government shall not approve an application for a development permit unless it determines in its sole discretion, after considering the application and all of the information provided, that the applicant has satisfactorily demonstrated that the proposed water supply will be adequate. A local government shall make such determination only once during the development permit approval process unless the water demands or supply of the specific project for which the development permit is sought are materially changed. A local government shall have the discretion to determine the stage in the development permit approval process at which such determination is made.

(2) Nothing in this part 3 shall be construed to require that the applicant own or have acquired the proposed water supply or constructed the related infrastructure at the time of the application.

Source: L. 2008: Entire part added, p. 1560, § 2, effective May 29.

29-20-304. Water supply requirements. (1) Except as specified in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, an applicant for a development permit shall submit estimated water supply requirements for the proposed development in a report prepared by a registered professional engineer or water supply expert acceptable to the local government. The report shall include:

(a) An estimate of the water supply requirements for the proposed development through build-out conditions;

(b) A description of the physical source of water supply that will be used to serve the proposed development;

(c) An estimate of the amount of water yield projected from the proposed water supply under various hydrologic conditions;

(d) Water conservation measures, if any, that may be implemented within the development;

(e) Water demand management measures, if any, that may be implemented within the development to account for hydrologic variability; and

(f) Such other information as may be required by the local government.

(2) If the development is to be served by a water supply entity, the local government may allow the applicant to submit, in lieu of the report required by subsection (1) of this section, a letter prepared by a registered professional engineer or by a water supply expert from the water supply entity stating whether the water supply entity is willing to commit and its ability to provide an adequate water supply for the proposed development. The water supply entity's engineer or expert shall prepare the letter if so requested by the applicant. At a minimum, the letter shall include:

(a) An estimate of the water supply requirements for the proposed development through build-out conditions;

(b) A description of the physical source of water supply that will be used to serve the proposed development;

(c) An estimate of the amount of water yield projected from the proposed water supply under various hydrologic conditions;

(d) Water conservation measures, if any, that may be implemented within the proposed development;

(e) Water demand management measures, if any, that may be implemented to address hydrologic variations; and

(f) Such other information as may be required by the local government.

(3) In the alternative, an applicant shall not be required to provide a letter or report identified pursuant to subsections (1) and (2) of this section if the water for the proposed development is to be provided by a water supply entity that has a water supply plan that:

(a) Has been reviewed and updated, if appropriate, within the previous ten years by the governing board of the water supply entity;

(b) Has a minimum twenty-year planning horizon;

(c) Lists the water conservation measures, if any, that may be implemented within the service area;

(d) Lists the water demand management measures, if any, that may be implemented within the development;

- (e) Includes a general description of the water supply entity's water obligations;
- (f) Includes a general description of the water supply entity's water supplies; and
- (g) Is on file with the local government.

29-20-305. Determination of adequate water supply. (1) The local government's sole determination as to whether an applicant has a water supply that is adequate to meet the water supply requirements of a proposed development shall be based on consideration of the following information:

- (a) The documentation required by section 29-20-304;
- (b) If requested by the local government, a letter from the state engineer commenting on the documentation required pursuant to section 29-20-304;
- (c) Whether the applicant has paid to a water supply entity a fee or charge for the purpose of acquiring water for or expanding or constructing the infrastructure to serve the proposed development; and
- (d) Any other information deemed relevant by the local government to determine, in its sole discretion, whether the water supply for the proposed development is adequate, including, without limitation, any information required to be submitted by the applicant pursuant to applicable local government land use regulations or state statutes.

(1.5) School districts which are special districts, as defined in paragraph (g) of subsection (1) of this section, are deemed to have been authorized to create conservation trust funds pursuant to this section, and any moneys, collected and separately accounted for and devoted exclusively to the operation of a system of public recreation and playgrounds prior to January 1, 1987, are deemed to be conservation trust funds. Nothing in this section shall be construed to entitle school districts which are special districts to the receipt of state conservation trust funds prior to April 22, 1987.

(2) (a) (I) There is hereby created in the division the conservation trust fund.

(II) Each county share shall be apportioned according to that percentage which the population of each county is to the total population of all counties, and, within each county, each municipality's share shall be apportioned according to the percentage which the population within each municipality is to the total population of the county in which such municipality is located. Each special district's share shall be determined as follows:

(C) To each eligible special district, its proportionate share of the county and municipal share; and

(D) To each eligible county, municipality, and special district, its proportionate share of any ineligible county share, less the shares of any eligible municipalities and special districts within the ineligible county.

(II) All moneys received from the state by any eligible entity pursuant to this section shall be accounted for separately from any other source of moneys available to the entity for the acquisition of new conservation sites or recreational facilities as defined in this article. No moneys received from the state by any eligible entity pursuant to this section shall be used to acquire real property through condemnation by eminent domain.

(c) In the event that an eligible municipality's share is less than twenty dollars, such amount shall be distributed to the eligible county for the benefit of such municipalities as determined by the board of county commissioners.

(3) The division may utilize the fund to recover its direct and indirect costs in the administration of moneys pursuant to this section.

(4) All moneys received from the state by each eligible entity pursuant to this section shall be deposited in its conservation trust fund and shall be expended only for the acquisition, development, and maintenance of new conservation sites or for capital improvements or maintenance for recreational purposes on any public site. An eligible entity shall not deposit any other moneys in its conservation trust fund. All interest earned on the investment of moneys in a local conservation trust fund shall be credited to the fund and shall be expended only for purposes authorized by this article.

(5) In the utilization of moneys received pursuant to this section, each eligible entity may cooperate or contract with any other government or political subdivision, including a conservation district established in accordance with the provisions of article 70 of title 35, C.R.S., or a local noxious weed control program, pursuant to part 2 of article 1 of this title. Subject to the separate accounting requirement of subparagraph (II) of paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of this section, such cooperation may include the sharing of moneys held by any such entities in their respective conservation trust funds for joint expenditures for the acquisition, development, and maintenance of new conservation sites, as defined in paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of this section, in accordance with the provisions of article XXVII of the state constitution.

(6) On forms supplied by the division, each eligible entity shall annually submit to the division a statement showing the total amount of state moneys in its local conservation trust fund, the amount of any state moneys encumbered or expended from such fund since the previous year's report, and the purpose of the encumbrance or expenditure.

(c) Guidance regarding allowable expenditures of conservation trust fund revenues to facilitate eligible entities' compliance with this article.

(4) The division shall afford to any eligible entity written notice and an opportunity for a hearing before taking any enforcement action pursuant to this article.

29-22-101. Definitions. As used in this article, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Hazardous substance" means any substance, material, waste, or mixture designated as a hazardous material, waste, or substance according to 49 Code of Federal Regulations Part 172, as amended, or by section 18-13-112 (2) (b), C.R.S., or as designated pursuant to the federal "Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980" (Pub.L. 96-510) as in effect July 1, 1983.

(2) (a) "Hazardous substance incident" means any emergency circumstance involving the sudden discharge of a hazardous substance which threatens immediate and irreparable harm to the environment or the health and safety of any individual other than individuals exposed to the risks associated with hazardous substances in the normal course of their employment. "Hazardous substance incident" includes those incidents of spilling, dumping, or abandonment of a hazardous substance, whether or not such spilling, dumping, or abandonment is found to threaten immediate and irreparable harm, but such term does not include any discharge of a hazardous substance authorized pursuant to any federal, state, or local law or regulation. "Hazardous substance incident" includes those incidents which occur during transportation of a hazardous substance, in which a spill does not occur during the incident but is threatened prior to or during the cleanup period.

(b) As used in this section, "abandonment" means the act of leaving a thing with the intent not to retain possession of or assert ownership or control over it. The intent need not coincide with the act of leaving.

(3) "Person" means any individual, public or private corporation, partnership, association, firm, trust, or estate, the state or any department, institution, or agency thereof, any municipal corporation, county, city and county, or other political subdivision of the state, or any other legal entity whatsoever which is recognized by law as the subject of rights and duties.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, "Local Governments and the Environment: Part I, CERCLA", see 17 Colo. Law. 1997 (1988). For article,

"Local Governments and the Environment: Part II, RCRA", see 17 Colo. Law. 2159 (1988).

29-22-102. Hazardous substance incidents - response authorities - designation.

(1) It is the purpose of this section to provide for the designation of emergency response authorities for hazardous substance incidents. Every emergency response authority designated in or pursuant to this section shall be responsible for providing and maintaining the capability for emergency response to a hazardous substance incident occurring within its jurisdiction. An emergency response authority may provide and maintain the capability for such response directly or through mutual aid or other agreements. Subject to the provisions of local or regional response agreements for hazardous substance incidents, the first emergency response authority, or its public agency designee through mutual aid or otherwise, to arrive at the scene of the incident, regardless of whether the incident occurs within its jurisdiction, shall be responsible for the emergency response as incident commander until such time as the emergency response authority that has jurisdiction over the incident site has arrived, after which unified command shall be followed until the emergency response has concluded. As used in this section, "emergency response to a hazardous substance incident" means taking the initial emergency action necessary to minimize the effects of a hazardous substance incident.

(2) If a hazardous substance incident occurs on private property and is otherwise reportable to any federal, state, or local agency, the owner of the property or person or entity operating on the property shall promptly report the incident to and coordinate a response with the appropriate emergency response authority designated in or pursuant to this section. If the owner or operator does not undertake or coordinate an emergency response or if, in the judgment of the designated emergency response authority, there exists an imminent danger to the public health and safety beyond such property, the designated emergency response authority may undertake the emergency response to such hazardous substance incident, as provided in this section. Nothing in this subsection (2) shall be construed to prohibit the owner of private property or a person or entity operating on such property from undertaking the emergency response to a hazardous substance incident occurring on the property.

(3) (a) The governing body of every town, city, and city and county shall designate by ordinance or resolution an emergency response authority or authorities for hazardous substance incidents occurring within the corporate limits of such town, city, and city and county. Unless otherwise designated by ordinance or resolution, the fire authority having responsibility for the corporate limits of such town, city, or city and county shall be the designated emergency response authority.

(b) The board of county commissioners of every county in the state shall designate by ordinance or resolution the emergency response authority or authorities for hazardous substance incidents occurring within the unincorporated area of the county. Unless otherwise designated by ordinance or resolution, the county sheriff having responsibility for the unincorporated area of the county shall be the designated emergency response authority.

29-22-103. Emergency response authority may request assistance. (1) Any emergency response authority that, in its judgment, does not have the equipment, personnel, or expertise necessary to handle a particular hazardous substance incident may make a request to any public agency or private entity possessing such necessary equipment, personnel, or expertise to provide assistance to such emergency response authority.

(2) (a) Any emergency response authority designated in or pursuant to section 29-22-102 may request the department of public health and environment and the county or district public health agency to provide assistance. In addition, any other state or local agency with useful expertise shall have the authority, upon request, to provide assistance to and cooperate with the emergency response authority designated in or pursuant to section 29-22-102.

(b) The department of public safety is hereby authorized to organize, through mutual aid or other agreements, a state emergency response team and regional emergency response teams. The state team may consist of any federal, state, local, or private entities that have the appropriately trained personnel and the necessary equipment to respond on a statewide basis to a hazardous substance incident. The regional teams may consist of any federal, state, local, or private entities that have the appropriately trained personnel and the necessary equipment to respond on a regional basis to a hazardous substance incident and to assist the state team in responding on a statewide basis to a hazardous substance incident. 29-22-104. Right to claim reimbursement. (1) A public entity, political subdivision of the state, or unit of local government is hereby given the right to claim reimbursement from the person or persons who have care, custody, and control of the hazardous substance involved at the time of the incident for the reasonable, necessary, and documented costs resulting from action taken to remove, contain, or otherwise mitigate the effects of such incident. If any such person is the owner of property upon which the hazardous substance incident occurs, collection of such costs may be made pursuant to section 30-10-513.5 (1), C.R.S.

(2) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to change or impair any right of recovery or subrogation arising under any other provision of law.

(3) (a) The governing body of the emergency response authority designated in section 29-22-102 (3), or when the emergency response authority is the Colorado state patrol, the attorney general, shall be responsible for collecting any claims for reimbursement made pursuant to this section when more than one public entity, political subdivision of the state, or unit of local government has assisted in said removal, containment, or mitigation. Such responsibility shall include, when necessary, the filing of a civil action against the person responsible for the abandonment or spill. Any such agency which rendered assistance may also join any civil action as a party plaintiff or may assign any rights to the appropriate emergency response authority.

(b) Any collections or recovery made by the emergency response authority shall be distributed on a pro rata basis among the agencies which rendered assistance.

(c) The emergency response authority is entitled to recover its reasonable costs in collecting any reimbursement, including any attorney fees. If such costs are not included in a judgment rendered in a civil action, they shall be deducted from any recovery prior to the distribution provided for in paragraph (b) of this subsection (3).

Such rules shall provide for consideration of all appropriate cost factors including but not limited to acquisition and operation expenses for equipment, salaries and benefits, the cost of expendable supplies, the cost differences between rural and urban areas, and the cost differences between responding entities that utilize paid staff and entities that use volunteers.

(b) The executive director of the department of public safety shall create a list of qualified and knowledgeable persons who are willing to perform the role of voluntary ombudsman, mediator, or arbitrator to resolve disputes regarding claims for reimbursement made pursuant to this section and shall adopt rules in accordance with article 4 of title 24, C.R.S., to establish the process by which the parties involved in such a dispute may access and arrange for the assistance of persons on the list. Persons on the list shall not receive compensation for their services from the state and shall not be state employees. Persons on the list shall not be subject to civil liability for any actions taken in good faith pursuant to this paragraph (b) or any rule adopted by the executive director of the department of public safety in accordance with this section.

(3) After receipt of a petition under this section, any local government by ordinance or resolution, or any combination by contract, may create a district that is authorized to exercise the functions conferred by the provisions of this article. Upon creation, the district shall constitute a separate political subdivision and body corporate of the state and shall have all the duties, privileges, immunities, rights, liabilities, and disabilities of a public body politic and corporate.

(4) Any contract, ordinance, or resolution establishing a district shall specify:

(6) No ordinance, resolution, or contract establishing a district pursuant to this section shall take effect unless first submitted to a vote of the registered electors residing within the boundaries of the proposed district. The question of establishing the district shall be submitted to such registered electors at a general election or a special election called for such purpose. Such question may also be proposed to such registered electors at the same time and in the same or a separate question as an election required under section 29-25-112. If, at any time during the organization proceedings, the governing body or governing bodies determine that the bond first executed or the amount of the cash deposited is insufficient in amount, it may require the execution of an additional bond or the deposit of additional cash within a time to be fixed, not less than ten days thereafter, and, upon failure of the petitioners to file or deposit the bond or cash, the petition shall be dismissed.

If it appears that said petition is not signed in conformity with this article, the petition shall be dismissed and the cost adjudged against those executing the bond or depositing the cash filed to pay such costs. Nothing in this section shall prevent the filing of a subsequent petition for a similar district.

(2) The findings of the governing body or governing bodies upon the question of the genuineness of the signatures and all matters of fact incident to such determination shall be final and conclusive.

(3) Prior to the organization of the district, the governing body or governing bodies may exclude property from the service area or boundaries of the district if deemed to be in the best interests of the district.

(4) If it appears that an organization petition has been duly signed and presented in conformity with this article, that the allegations of the organization petition are true, and that the types of services to be provided by the proposed district are those services that best satisfy the purposes set forth in this article, the governing body or bodies, upon the completion of the hearings, shall by ordinance, resolution, or contract adjudicate all questions of jurisdiction and may, exercising discretion, declare the district organized, describe the boundaries and service area of the district, and give it the corporate name specified in the petition by which, in all subsequent proceedings, it shall thereafter be known.

29-25-108. Board of directors - duties. (1) (a) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection (1), if the governing body of a single local government creates the district, such governing body shall constitute ex officio the board of directors of the district. In such event, the presiding officer of the governing body shall be ex officio the presiding officer of the board, the clerk of the governing body shall be ex officio the secretary of the board, and the treasurer of the local government shall be ex officio the treasurer of the board. A quorum of the governing body shall constitute a quorum of the board.

A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum of the board. The board shall elect one of its members as presiding officer, one of its members as secretary, and one of its members as treasurer. The office of both secretary and treasurer may be filled by one person.

(c) If more than one-half of the property located within the district is also located within an urban renewal area, a downtown development authority, or a general improvement district, the governing body may, at any time, provide by ordinance that the governing body of the urban renewal authority, downtown development authority, or general improvement district shall constitute ex officio the board of directors of the district. In such event, the officers of such entity shall be ex officio the officers of the board. A quorum of the board of directors of such entity shall constitute a quorum of the board.

(d) If the petition initiating the organization of the district or any subsequent petition signed by persons who own real or personal property in the service area of the proposed district having a valuation for assessment of not less than fifty percent, and who own at least fifty percent of the acreage in the proposed district so specifies, the members of the board of the district shall be elected by the electors of the district. If such a petition is approved, the terms of members of the board shall be specified by resolution or ordinance of the governing body. The initial election for members of the board shall be held within sixty days after approval of the resolution or ordinance organizing the district or the filing of any subsequent petition. All subsequent elections for members of the board shall be on the date specified in the resolution or ordinance. The number of directors, the quorum requirements, and the oaths of office shall be the same as those provided for directors of special districts pursuant to article 1 of title 32, C.R.S. The cost of any election held pursuant to this paragraph (d) shall be borne by the district.

In the event of the removal of any member of the board or of the board pursuant to this paragraph (e), the governing body shall file in the office of the clerk of the local government a record of the proceedings, together with the charges made against the member or the board and the findings thereon.

(f) Ten percent of the electors of a district may petition the governing body for the removal of a member of the board of the district or of the entire board thereof for inefficiency or neglect of duty or misconduct in office, and the governing body may remove the member or the board, but only after the member or the board has been given a copy of the charges made against such member or such board and has had an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel before the governing body. In the event of the removal of the member or of the board pursuant to this paragraph (f), the governing body shall file in the office of the clerk of local government a record of the proceedings, together with the charges made against the member or the board and the findings thereon.

The treasurer shall keep permanent records containing accurate accounts of all money received by and disbursed for and on behalf of the district and shall make such annual or other reports to the local government as it may require. All budgets and financial records of the district, whether governed by a separate board or by the governing body of the local government, shall be kept in compliance with parts 1 and 5 of article 1 of this title.

(3) Each member of the board of a district or the governing body or other entity acting ex officio as the board of a district is required to disclose any potential conflicting interest in any transaction of the district pursuant to section 18-8-308, C.R.S. A board member with a potential conflicting interest in a district transaction may not participate in the considerations of and vote on the transaction, may not attempt to influence any of the contracting parties, and may not act directly or indirectly for the board in the inspection, operation, administration, or performance of any contract related to the transaction. Ownership, in and of itself, by a board member of property within the district shall not be considered a potential conflicting interest.

(4) When the governing body of a local government establishes a board of directors pursuant to paragraph (b), (c), or (d) of subsection (1) of this section, it may set such conditions, limitations, procedures, duties, and powers under which the board shall conduct its business. Such conditions and limitations may be in the form of a binding contract on both the governing body and the board and may include provisions requiring the dissolution of the board after a specified length of time, at which time the governing body of the municipality shall assume all powers and duties of the district, including the payment of any outstanding indebtedness.

The district shall file an operating plan and its proposed budget for the next fiscal year with the clerk of the local government or each member of the combination no later than September 30 of each year. All of the business records of the district shall be considered public records, as defined in section 24-72-202 (6), C.R.S., and shall promptly be made available upon request. For the purposes of this section, the business records of the district shall not include the business records of the owners of property in the district. The local government or the members of the combination may require the district to supplement the district's operating plan or budget where necessary. The local government or each member of the combination shall approve or disapprove the operating plan within thirty days after receipt of such operating plan and all requested documentation relating thereto, but not later than December 5 of the year in which such documents are filed. Thereafter, the services and financial arrangements of the district shall conform so far as practicable to the operating plan. The operating plan may, from time to time, be amended by the district with the approval of the local government or each member of the combination in substantially the same manner as the process for formulating the operating plan for each year. Any material departure from the operating plan, as originally approved or amended from time to time, may be enjoined by an order of the local government filed with the board.

29-25-112. Power to levy marketing and promotion tax. (1) (a) In addition to any other means of providing revenue for a district, the board has the power within the district to levy a marketing and promotion tax on the purchase price paid or charged to persons for rooms or accommodations as included in the definition of "sale" in section 39-26-102 (11), C.R.S. Such tax shall be specified in the petition organizing the district under section 29-25-105. No such tax shall take effect unless approved by a majority of the eligible electors voting thereon at a general election or a special election called for such purpose.

Elections held pursuant to this section shall be conducted in substantially the same manner as municipal or county elections and in accordance with the provisions of section 20 of article X of the state constitution. The municipal or county clerk and recorder of each local government in which the election is conducted shall assist the district in conducting the election. The district shall pay the costs incurred by each local government in conducting such an election. No moneys of the district may be used to urge or oppose passage of an election required under this section.

(b) (I) The marketing and promotion tax shall be collected, administered, and enforced, to the extent feasible, pursuant to section 29-2-106.

(II) The department of revenue shall perform, on an annual basis, an analysis to determine the net incremental cost of such collection, administration, and enforcement. The department of revenue shall retain only the amount determined to be necessary by the cost analysis, and in no event shall that amount exceed three and one-third percent of the amount collected. Such amount retained shall be transmitted to the state treasurer who shall credit the same to the general fund and such amount shall be subject to appropriation by the general assembly for the net incremental cost of such collection, administration, and enforcement.

(c) A marketing and promotion tax levied in accordance with this section is in addition to any other sales or use tax imposed pursuant to law.

(2) Any person or entity providing rooms or accommodations as included in the definition of "sale" referred to in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall be liable and responsible for the payment of an amount equivalent to a percentage rate set by the board of all such sales made and shall quarterly, unless otherwise provided by law, make a return to the executive director of the department of revenue for the preceding tax-reporting period and remit an amount equivalent to such percentage rate on such sales to said executive director.

29-25-113. Inclusion or exclusion - petition - notice - hearing. (1) The boundaries of any district organized under the provisions of this article may be changed in the manner prescribed in this section, but the change of boundaries of the district shall not impair or affect its organization or its rights in or to property or any of its rights or privileges whatsoever, nor shall it affect or impair or discharge any contract, obligation, lien, or charge for or upon which the district might be liable or chargeable had any such change of boundaries not been made. The owners of property proposed to be included or excluded may file with the board a petition, in writing, requesting that such property be included in or excluded from the district. The petition shall describe the property owned by the petitioners and shall be verified. The petition shall be accompanied by a deposit of moneys sufficient to pay all costs of the inclusion or exclusion proceedings. The clerk of the board shall cause notice of the filing of such petition to be given and published, which notice shall state the filing of such petition, the names of the petitioners, descriptions of the property sought to be included or excluded, and the request of said petitioners.

(2) The notice of the filing of a petition shall inform all persons having objections to appear at the time and place stated in said notice and show cause why the petition should not be granted. The board, at the time and place mentioned or at any time to which the hearing may be adjourned, shall proceed to hear the petition and all objections thereto that may be presented by any person showing cause why said petition should not be granted. The failure of any interested person to show cause shall be deemed as an assent on that person's part to the inclusion or exclusion of such property as requested in the petition. If the change of boundaries of the district does not adversely affect the district and if the petition is granted, the granting of which shall not be unreasonably withheld, the governing body shall adopt a resolution to that effect and file a certified copy of the same with the county clerk and recorder of each county in which the property is located. After a certified copy of the ordinance is filed, the property shall be included or excluded from the district.

(2) Such petition shall:

(a) Set forth the facts whereon the validity of such power, taxes, charges, act, proceeding, or contract is founded; and

(b) Be verified by the presiding officer of the district.

(3) Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, and jurisdiction of all parties interested may be had by publication and posting, as provided in this article.

(4) Notice of the filing of the petition shall be given by the clerk of the court, under the seal thereof, stating in brief outline the contents of the petition and showing where a full copy of any proceeding or contract mentioned in such outline may be examined.

29-26-101.	Legislative declaration.		unit advisory boards.
29-26-102.	Definitions.	29-26-104.	No effect upon local housing
29-26-103.	Affordable housing dwelling		agency.

29-26-101. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:

(a) It is in the public interest to maintain a diverse housing stock in order to preserve some diversity of housing opportunities for the state's residents and people of low- and moderate-income.

(b) A housing shortage for persons of low- and moderate-income is detrimental to the public health, safety, and welfare. In particular, the inability of such persons to reside near where they work negatively affects the balance between jobs and housing in many regions of the state and has serious detrimental transportation and environmental consequences.

(c) As an initial step in fostering the establishment of affordable housing dwelling unit programs that will satisfy the housing needs of all the residents of a particular jurisdiction, it is appropriate for the general assembly to authorize local governments to establish affordable housing dwelling unit advisory boards.

(d) In selecting members of the advisory boards, the governing bodies of local government shall give preference to residents of the jurisdiction who have demonstrated experience in housing matters, preferably within the territorial boundaries of the jurisdiction, as a result of their current or former experience, without limitation, as a:

- (I) Registered or certified civil engineer or architect;
- (II) Planner;
- (III) Real estate broker licensed in accordance with part 1 of article 61 of title 12, C.R.S.;
- (IV) Representative of a lending institution that finances residential development within the territorial boundaries of the local government;
- (V) Representative of the local housing authority;
- (VI) Residential builder with extensive experience in producing single-family or multiple-family dwelling units;
- (VII) Representative of either the public works or planning department of the local government; or
- (VIII) Representative of a nonprofit housing organization that provides services within the territorial boundaries of the local government.

(e) In addition, one or more members of the board, in the discretion of the local government, shall be a resident of the jurisdiction without demonstrated experience in housing matters.

(2) In creating this article, the general assembly intends that affordable housing dwelling unit advisory boards shall address the housing needs of low- and moderate-income persons, promote a full range of housing choices, and develop effective policies to encourage the construction and continued existence of affordable housing.

29-28-102.	Definitions.		medicaid provider fee authorization.

29-28-101. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds and declares that:

(a) Medicaid reimbursement rates cover only approximately sixty-five percent of the actual costs incurred by service providers rendering services to medicaid recipients;

(b) Low medicaid reimbursement rates and increased caseloads have caused the costs to shift within the health care delivery system, resulting in higher medical costs for the general population;

(c) The medicaid caseload continues to expand and, therefore, the need for providers to serve these medicaid recipients continues to increase;

(d) Rising health care costs are a primary concern for Colorado citizens and businesses;

(e) It is therefore in the best interest of the state of Colorado to authorize local governments to impose a fee on certain medical providers to assist in financing medicaid costs and the disproportionate share hospital payments for providing medical services to low-income populations.

29-28-103. Powers of governing body - medicaid provider fee authorization.

(1) (a) The governing body of a local government may impose a provider fee on health services provided by qualified providers for the purpose of obtaining federal financial participation under the state's medical assistance program, articles 4 to 6 of title 25.5, C.R.S., and the Colorado indigent care program, article 3 of title 25.5, C.R.S. The provider fee shall be used only to sustain or increase reimbursements for providing medical care under the state's medical assistance program and to low-income populations.

(b) (I) The amount of the provider fee may be based upon the aggregate gross or net revenue, as prescribed by the state department, or any other method allowable under federal law, of all qualified providers subject to the provider fee, and the amount of the provider fee shall not exceed the maximum amount allowed under federal law. The local government may exempt revenue categories from the gross or net revenue calculation and the collection of the provider fee from qualified providers, as authorized by state and federal medicaid rules and regulations.

(II) Subject to state and federal medicaid rules and regulations, in any given year, a local government may elect to not assess the provider fee imposed on qualified providers pursuant to this subsection (1) and not make the reimbursements to qualified providers within its territorial boundaries for that year.

(c) Prior to the imposition and collection of the provider fee, the governing body of the local government shall:

(I) Approve the provider fee by ordinance or resolution; and

(II) Notify the department that the local government has authorized the imposition of a provider fee pursuant to this subsection (1).

(2) (a) The local government shall either:

(I) Collect the provider fee imposed on qualified providers pursuant to subsection (1) of this section; or

(II) Direct the qualified providers within its jurisdiction to pay the provider fee imposed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section directly to the department.

(b) If the local government elects to collect the provider fee imposed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the local government shall either:

(I) Transfer the amount that the local government collects from the provider fee to the department, in which case the department shall distribute the provider fee and all federal financial participation received to the qualified providers within the territorial boundaries of the local government pursuant to section 25.5-4-417, C.R.S.; or

(II) Distribute all moneys from the provider fee collected pursuant to this section and certify to the department the amount that the local government reimburses the qualified providers for providing medical care under the state's medical assistance program and to low-income populations, which shall include the distribution of moneys collected from the provider fee collected pursuant to this section. The local government may distribute any additional moneys eligible for federal financial participation to qualified providers within the territorial boundaries of the local government pursuant to section 25.5-4-417, C.R.S.

(c) If the local government elects to direct the qualified providers to pay the provider fee imposed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section directly to the department, the department shall distribute the provider fee and all federal financial participation received to the qualified providers within the territorial boundaries of the local government pursuant to section 25.5-4-417, C.R.S.

(d) All moneys received by the department pursuant to this subsection (2) shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the local government provider fee cash fund, which fund is hereby created and referred to in this paragraph (d) as the "fund". The general assembly may make appropriations from the fund to the department for the department's administrative costs incurred in implementing this section. The department shall distribute the remaining moneys in the fund pursuant to this subsection (2). Any moneys in the fund not expended for the purpose of this section shall be invested by the state treasurer as provided by law. All interest and income derived from the investment and deposit of moneys in the fund shall be credited to the fund. Any unexpended and unencumbered moneys remaining in the fund at the end of a fiscal year shall remain in the fund and shall not be credited or transferred to the general fund or another fund.

(3) Except for administrative costs of the department, provider fees imposed and distributed pursuant to this section from certified home health care agencies and licensed hospitals within the territorial boundaries of a local government shall be kept separate to ensure that the provider fees collected from certified home health care agencies within the territorial boundaries of the local government are distributed only to certified home health care agencies and the provider fees collected from licensed hospitals within the territorial boundaries of the local government are distributed only to licensed hospitals.

(4) A local government that elects to impose and collect a provider fee from qualified providers pursuant to this section shall follow all applicable state and federal medicaid rules and regulations regarding provider fees.

ANNOTATION

Section 15 of art. XIV, Colo. Const., empowers the general assembly to classify counties according to population for the purpose of fixing fees. Frost v. Pfeiffer, 26 Colo. 338, 58 P. 147 (1899).

Assumed to be classified by population. The assignment of a new county by the act creating it to a certain class for the purpose of fixing the fees of its officers is not special legislation in the meaning of the constitution, and it will be assumed that the general assembly classified the county according to its population. Frost v. Pfeiffer, 26 Colo. 338, 58 P. 147 (1899).

By the Session Laws of 1891 all the counties of the state were divided into five classes, according to population as ascertained by the federal census of the year 1890, and the fees prescribed under each class are different from the fees under any of the others, and a material reduction in the amount of charges was made from that which theretofore prevailed. Airy v. People, 21 Colo. 144, 40 P. 362 (1895).

30-1-102. Fees of county treasurer. (1) The county treasurer shall charge and receive the following fees:

(a) Upon all moneys received by him for town and city taxes, whether such towns or cities are incorporated under the general laws or by special charter, and anything in said charter to the contrary notwithstanding, and upon all school taxes in counties of the first class, one percent; in counties of the second class, one percent; in counties of every other class, one percent on school taxes and two percent on town and city taxes; except that a collection fee not exceeding one-quarter of one percent shall be charged as provided in section 22-54-119, C.R.S., and no collection fee shall be charged on other school taxes exempt by law from said collection fees;

(b) Upon all moneys received by him for taxes of every other kind in counties of the first class, one percent; second class, one and one-half percent; third class, two percent; fourth class, three percent; fifth class, five percent;

(c) For receiving all moneys other than taxes, one percent, except moneys received from all federal funds derived from any and all sources. No collection fees shall be charged upon any moneys collected and distributed under the provisions of sections 22-54-106 and 22-54-115, C.R.S., or upon other school moneys exempt by law from said collection fees;

(d) For each copy of a receipt issued for current year taxes, two dollars; and for each copy of a receipt issued covering taxes for a prior year, five dollars;

(e) For advertising delinquent personal property taxes, ten dollars or the cost of advertising, whichever is greater;

(f) For certifying the amount of taxes due on any parcel of real estate, and for certifying outstanding sales for unpaid taxes with the amount required for redemption, ten dollars for each certificate;

(g) In connection with a sale for delinquent taxes, for advertising each property description that is separately identified by its own parcel number for general property tax purposes, the estimated cost of advertising but not less than ten dollars;

(h) Repealed.

(i) For each certificate of purchase delivered, four dollars;

(j) For endorsing the amount of subsequent taxes paid on tax certificates and the date of payment in the book of tax sales, five dollars for each certificate;

(k) For processing an application for treasurer's deed, thirty-five dollars if the application is not advertised and seventy-five dollars if the application is advertised;

(l) For the assignment of a certificate of purchase, made to the county, city, town, or city and county at any tax sale, to a person desiring to purchase land covered by such certificate, four dollars;

(m) For each notice of purchase required by section 39-11-128 (1), C.R.S., to be served before a treasurer's deed may be issued, the cost of publication in a newspaper where such publication is required;

(n) For each certificate of redemption delivered, seven dollars;

(o) For services in collecting drainage district assessments, such amount as the board of directors of the district may allow, but not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars per annum;

(p) For services in collecting irrigation district assessments, such amount as the board of directors of the district may allow, but not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars per annum;

(q) For services rendered in handling the payment of principal and interest on bonds of a school district, such amount as the county treasurer and the board of education shall agree upon, which shall be determined in accordance with the prevailing rate charged for similar services rendered by commercial banks in the state of Colorado;

- (r) For preparation of a distraint warrant, fifteen dollars;
- (s) For research, fifteen dollars per hour or portion thereof, one hour minimum;
- (t) For the notice, computation, and recording provided in section 32-1-1604, C.R.S., thirty dollars.

(2) None of the provisions of this section shall be applicable to any moneys received or collected by any county treasurer for any hospital established under the provisions of part 3 of article 3 of title 25, C.R.S., or for any health service district embracing only an entire county established under the provisions of article 1 of title 32, C.R.S.

(3) In addition to any other fees to which the county treasurer is entitled and notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the county treasurer may charge an administrative fee of five dollars when the payment of any real property tax statement, exclusive of any license fees collected pursuant to sections 35-40-205 and 35-57.5-116, C.R.S., is less than ten dollars. The fee shall be credited to the county general fund, pursuant to section 30-25-105, to cover the cost of processing such tax statement.

ANNOTATION

Only statutory fees collected. Since the compensation of any public official for services rendered in his official capacity is regulated by statute, he is entitled only to demand and receive fees for those services concerning which compensation by law attaches, because it is an inflexible rule that an official can demand only such fees or compensation as the law has definitely fixed and authorized for the performance of his official duties. Adams-Arapahoe County Sch. Dist. No. 28J v. Wolf, 30 Colo. App. 117, 489 P.2d 348 (1971).

Fees enter fund from which treasurer is compensated. The fees and commissions are to be collected by the treasurer, not as his compensation for the particular work for which the fee may be prescribed, but for the purpose of creating a fund out of which his salary or compensation is to be paid. The annual salary is what the treasurer gets for all the work that he does, it is compensation for his services. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Otero Irrigation Dist., 56 Colo. 515, 139 P. 546 (1914).

The word "collect" is used to define the power of the county treasurers to gather in or receive money for taxes theretofore assessed, and since the fees provided for in this section are charged upon "all moneys received" by the treasurer, they fall within the above definition and are fees charged for the collection of taxes and are therefore collection fees. Adams-Arapahoe County Sch. Dist. No. 28J v. Wolf, 30 Colo. App. 117, 489 P.2d 348 (1971).

Taxing agencies, other than the state, pay the treasurer for collecting and remitting taxes by them levied. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

Commission on collection of irrigation district taxes. The moneys collected by the county treasurer for irrigation district taxes, whether the district was in one or more counties, came clearly within the description of money upon which the county treasurer by virtue of this section was required to charge and receive a commission. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Otero Irrigation Dist., 56 Colo. 515, 139 P. 546 (1914).

Moneys on account of redemptions from tax sales exempt. The commission of one percent allowed by this section does not apply to moneys paid on account of redemptions from tax sales, but is intended to apply to moneys received by the treasurer on account of licenses, and from other sources of revenue. Mitchell v. Wheeler, 20 Colo. App. 159, 77 P. 361 (1904).

As is entry of assignment of certificate of purchase. This section did not authorize the treasurer to charge any fee whatever for entering on his books an assignment of a certificate of purchase, or for making any charge against a party who was entitled to redemption money on account of such assignment. Mitchell v. Wheeler, 20 Colo. App. 159, 77 P. 361 (1904).

And public school foundation taxes. A county treasurer does not have the right and duty to charge and receive a fee of one percent on taxes paid into his office pursuant to levies made by school districts under the terms of the "Public School Foundation Act of 1969". Adams-Arapahoe County Sch. Dist. No. 28J v. Wolf, 30 Colo. App. 117, 489 P.2d 348 (1971).

The public school foundation act creates an exception to, or amends, the general fees law by exempting the taxes collected under the foundation act from the provisions of this section. Adams-Arapahoe County Sch. Dist. No. 28J v. Wolf, 30 Colo. App. 117, 489 P.2d 348 (1971).

30-1-103. Fees of county clerk and recorders. (1) Fees collected by county clerk and recorders shall be as follows: For filing or recording each document for which a fee is not specifically provided, except tax schedules and claims against the county, for which no fee shall be allowed, in cities and counties and in counties of every class, the clerk shall receive ten dollars for the first page and five dollars for each additional page.

(2) In cities and counties and in every county, the following fees shall apply:

(a) For taking and certifying each affidavit, two dollars;

(b) For each certificate and seal, one dollar;

(c) For filing each bond and license, five dollars;

(d) For certificate of magistracy under seal, two dollars;

(e) For taking acknowledgments, two dollars;

(f) For recording town plats, subdivision plats, and all other plats, and for recording all documents in excess of eight and one-half inches in width or fourteen inches in length, ten dollars per sheet;

(g) For entering subsequent taxes paid in tax sale record, five dollars for each certificate;

(h) For entering certificate of redemption in tax sale record, five dollars for each certificate;

(i) Repealed.

(j) For copies of records, a fee in an amount determined pursuant to section 24-72-205 (5), C.R.S.;

(k) and (l) Repealed.

(m) For recording all certificates, affidavits, deeds, or other documents containing the name of one or more mining claims and for indexing the same under the name of each such mining claim, five dollars per page, plus twenty-five cents for each mining claim named therein.

(3) County governments shall be exempt from all fees authorized to be collected under the provisions of this section whenever the county or any agency thereof is the grantor or grantee of the document being recorded or whenever a delegate child support enforcement unit files or records documents for the purpose of collecting child support, child support arrears, maintenance, maintenance when combined with child support, retroactive support, or child support debt.

(4) (Deleted by amendment, L. 2010, (HB 10-1007), ch. 71, p. 243, § 1, effective April 5, 2010.)

(5) The fee described in subsection (1) of this section shall not be collected on any filing received by the county clerk and recorder as an authorized agent of the executive director of the department of revenue pursuant to section 38-29-128 or 42-6-121, C.R.S., in which case the fee collected shall be five dollars per page.

ANNOTATION

The county clerk's compensation for official acts is regulated by this section, and he is only entitled to charge for those services to which compensation by law attaches, for the rule is inflexible, that an official can only demand such fees or compensation as the law has fixed and authorized for the performance of his official duties. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 26 Colo. 145, 57 P. 693 (1899).

Duties separately defined. By this section the charges for recording instruments, making abstracts of title, making copies of records, making tax lists, serving as clerk of the board of county commissioners, and for the performance of other services required of the clerk, are separately defined. Henderson v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 4 Colo. App. 301, 35 P. 880 (1894).

Per diem is unconscionable salary. The sum allowed by law per diem to the county clerk for his services as clerk of the board of commissioners is a fee within the meaning of the salary act, and it is payable to him absolutely, and the board is without authority to annex to its payment any condition whatever. Henderson v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 4 Colo. App. 301, 35 P. 880 (1894).

For required clerical duties. A county clerk, in his capacity as clerk of the board of county commissioners, is required to perform all services clerical in their nature, in connection with matters within the scope of the authority of the board, which are necessary to enable it to perform its duties with respect to such matters, and he is not entitled to fees for such services outside of his compensation as clerk of the board. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 26 Colo. 145, 57 P. 693 (1899).

No compensation for services as to matters outside board's authority. A county clerk as clerk of the board of county commissioners is not entitled to compensation for services in relation to matters over which the board attempted to exercise a control, but which were not within the legitimate scope of its authority. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 26 Colo. 145, 57 P. 693 (1899).

No fee is provided for the clerk for signing or attesting county warrants. Such work falls within that class of services for which, under the act of 1885, reasonable compensation was allowed by the board of commissioners. Leonard v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 8 Colo. App. 338, 46 P. 216 (1896).

30-1-104. Fees of sheriff. (1) Fees collected by sheriffs shall be as follows:

(a) For serving and returning summons or other writ of process in a criminal action not specified in this section, with or without complaint attached, on each party served, in counties of every class, actual expenses, but not more than fifteen dollars;

(a.5) For serving and returning a summons or other writ of process in other than a criminal action not specified in this section, with or without complaint attached, on each party served, in counties of every class, actual expenses, but not more than thirty-five dollars;

(e) For serving each juror in counties of every class, ten dollars;

(f) For serving and returning writ of attachment or replevin on each party, in counties of every class, mileage, as described in paragraph (h.5) of this subsection (1), and actual expenses;

(g) For serving garnishee summons on each party, in counties of every class, actual expenses, but not more than twenty dollars;

(h) Mileage for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in serving each writ, subpoena, or other process in a criminal action, not less than twelve cents nor more than the maximum mileage allowance provided for state officers and employees under section 24-9-104, C.R.S., as determined by resolution of the board of county commissioners of each county or as provided by the charter of a home rule county; except that actual and not constructive mileage shall be allowed in all cases; and, where more than one warrant is served by any officer on one trip, the actual mileage only shall be allowed such officer, and the actual mileage shall be apportioned among the several warrants served on the trip;

(h.5) For mileage:

(I) Not to exceed the mileage rate authorized for county officials and employees pursuant to section 30-11-107 (1) (t), for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in serving each writ, subpoena, or other process in an action other than a criminal action; or

(II) A sheriff may establish a zone- or zip code-based mileage fee structure. The zone- or zip code-based mileage fee structure shall establish a single mileage fee for the service of any writ, subpoena, or other process in an action, other than a criminal action, in each separate zone or zip code, as applicable, in the county. The applicable single mileage fee for a zone or zip code shall be charged for all papers served in the zone or zip code regardless of the number of attempts or actual mileage traveled by a sheriff within the zone or zip code during a sheriff's operational period. The single mileage fees for each zone or zip code shall be set by resolution of the board of county commissioners for the county and posted pursuant to section 30-1-108.

(i) In making demand for payment on executions when payment is not made, in counties of every class, one dollar;

(j) For levying execution or writ of attachment, besides actual custodial and transportation costs necessarily incurred in counties of every class, mileage, as described in paragraph (h.5) of this subsection (1), and actual expenses;

(k) For levying writ of replevin, besides actual custodial and transportation costs necessarily incurred in counties of every class, mileage, as described in paragraph (h.5) of this subsection (1), and actual expenses;

(l) No custodian shall be appointed by the sheriff to take custody of goods by him or her attached, nor shall any deputy be placed in charge thereof, unless the plaintiff or his or her attorney shall request the appointment of such custodian in writing; such custodian or deputy shall receive twelve dollars per diem of twelve hours, or fraction thereof, which shall be taxed as costs in the case;

(m) For making and filing for record a certificate of levy on attachment or other cases, in counties of every class, actual expenses, but not more than thirty dollars;

(n) For committing and discharging convicted prisoners to and from the county jail, in counties of every class, a reasonable fee, not to exceed thirty dollars, which fee shall be collected directly from prisoners at the time of commitment, but shall be refunded to any prisoner who is not convicted;

(o) For serving writ with aid of posse comitatus with actual expenses necessarily incurred in executing said writ, in counties of every class, actual expenses, but not more than sixty dollars; for serving same without aid in counties of every class, actual expenses, but not more than four dollars;

(p) For attending before any judge, court not being in session, with prisoners with writ of habeas corpus for each day of twelve hours, or fraction thereof, in counties of every class, twelve dollars;

Law reviews. For article, "Obtaining Costs for Clients — Part 1", see 14 Colo. Law. 1974 (1985).

The provisions of this section are mandatory. Farmers Union Milling & Elevator Co. v. Smith, 79 Colo. 277, 245 P. 346 (1926).

The compensation given a sheriff by this section for serving a special venire for jurors in a court of record is for the service, whether performed by him or by deputy. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

The mileage fee prescribed for the sheriff in this section for serving any process is intended solely as a part of the compensation for such services, all of which is to be applied to the payment of his salary. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

And the evident intent of the general assembly was to create by the fee act a mileage fee, all of which belongs to the officer as part of his compensation for services actually rendered, and no part of which should be applied to the officer's necessary traveling expenses. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

Because by the salary act another mileage fee was provided for, separate and distinct from that in the fee act, out of which the officer was to be repaid his actual traveling expenses, and no more. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

And under this section an officer who serves a number of writs in the same case upon a single journey is entitled to receive but one mileage fee. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Love, 15 Colo. 430, 25 P. 557 (1890).

Under this section the sheriff conveying several prisoners to the penitentiary or other place of detention is entitled to but one mileage for the service of the mittimus, no matter what may be the number of his prisoners. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Campbell, 52 Colo. 440, 123 P. 317 (1912).

This section inhibits the appointment of a custodian without request in writing of the plaintiff or his attorney in an attachment suit, and there is no reason apparent why the rule under the statute of frauds, that a subsequent written admission of a previous parol agreement generally takes the case out of the statute, should not be applied to this section regarding appointment of custodians. Farmers Union Milling & Elevator Co. v. Smith, 79 Colo. 277, 245 P. 346 (1926).

But it was held under the facts disclosed that there was a sufficient written recognition of a previous oral request for a custodian at a compensation of one dollar a day. Farmers Union Milling & Elevator Co. v. Smith, 79 Colo. 277, 245 P. 346 (1926).

The mileage fee set in subsection (1)(w) does not place a cap on transportation fees that may be charged to a defendant. People v. Fogarty, 126 P.3d 238 (Colo. App. 2005).

30-1-105.5. Two or more papers served on same person or different persons at same time and place in same action. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, when any sheriff serves two or more papers on the same person, or serves papers on different persons at the same time and place in the same action, the sheriff shall charge the highest individual fee allowable pursuant to section 30-1-104 for the first process and an additional ten dollars for each subsequent process served.

(2) If a county has adopted a zone- or zip code-based mileage fee structure, as that term is described in section 30-1-104 (1) (h.5) (II), when any sheriff serves two or more papers on the same person, or serves papers on different persons at the same time and place in the same action, the sheriff shall charge the single zone- or zip code-based mileage fee for the first process and an additional ten dollars for each subsequent process served.

30-1-106. Service must be made upon offer or tender of fees. (1) No sheriff shall refuse to serve any writ, summons, or notice requested by any person entitled to such service, when offered or tendered the fees allowed by law for such service; nor shall he or she charge, demand, or receive any greater sum or compensation or allowance.

(2) A sheriff shall have the authority to establish billing accounts for licensed attorneys and licensed collection agencies that have a principal office located in the state.

Such procedures may include the ability to suspend the billing privileges of any entity for nonpayment of a fee upon demand or other good cause shown.

30-1-107. Penalty for violation - duties. Any sheriff who violates section 30-1-106 is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars for each offense and is liable to any person aggrieved to pay all loss, damage, and expenses, including attorney fees in prosecuting or suing such officer, which such aggrieved person may sustain by reason of such violation. All officers of this state who are required to collect fees for their services are required to make fair tables of their respective fees, and keep the same posted in their respective offices in some conspicuous place for the inspection of all persons who have business in such office; and, if any such officer neglects to keep a table of fees posted in his office, such officer, for each day of such neglect, shall forfeit and pay the sum of five dollars, to be recovered by action at law before the county court for the use of the county in which the offense has been committed.

30-1-110. Penalty for failure to serve. When any clerk, sheriff, or other officer is required by any person, in good faith, to do any official act, or perform any official duty for which he is entitled to demand and receive a fee established by law, and if required to do so, he shall state to such person the amount which he is allowed by law to collect, and if, upon a tender to him of such amount, such officer willfully neglects or refuses to perform such act or duty, he is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than two hundred dollars.

ANNOTATION

This section is penal and must be strictly construed. Mitchell v. Wheeler, 20 Colo. App. 159, 77 P. 361 (1904).

And it denounces a penalty of 50 dollars against any officer who shall take greater fees for any services to be done by him than those provided by the statute, and a like penalty against any officer who shall charge, demand, or take any of the fees provided by the statute where the services shall not be actually done or performed. Mitchell v. Wheeler, 20 Colo. App. 159, 77 P. 361 (1904).

A treasurer is not liable under this section for taking fees or commissions to which he is not entitled; such acts are not covered by the terms of this section. Mitchell v. Wheeler, 20 Colo. App. 159, 77 P. 361 (1904).

And a complaint was held not sufficient to constitute a cause of action under the provisions of this section, for the reason that there was no allegation that the treasurer had charged a greater fee than was provided for, or that he had charged, demanded, or taken a fee for a service which was not rendered. Mitchell v. Wheeler, 20 Colo. App. 159, 77 P. 361 (1904).

Section not assumed basis of action. In a suit to recover from a police magistrate excess fees collected, the reviewing court will not assume that the action is based on this section where the record does not so indicate. Cummings v. Aiken, 82 Colo. 391, 260 P. 524 (1927).

30-1-112. Fees paid monthly. (1) It is the duty of county sheriffs, county clerks and recorders, and all county officials to collect all fees of their respective offices and to pay the same to the county treasurer of their respective counties monthly; also to file monthly with the county treasurer an itemized statement of all fees so collected.

(2) Commencing January 1, 1970, it is the duty of the clerks of district, juvenile, probate, and county courts to transmit monthly all fees to the state treasurer, who shall deposit the same in the state general fund.

Applied in Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Bullcock, 122 Colo. 218, 220 P.2d 877 (1950).

30-1-113. Officers to keep account of fees. Each such officer, in a book provided for the purpose, shall keep a full, true, accurate, and minute account of all fees of his office, designating in corresponding columns the amount of all fees, and all payments received on account thereof, and shall also keep an account of all expenditures made by him on account of clerk hire and other necessary expenses. Such accounts shall always be open to the inspection and examination of the board of county commissioners, and the accounts of the clerks of the district court shall always be open to the inspection and examination of the state treasurer.

ANNOTATION

Officers required to keep accounts. All of the various officers who collect fees which they are bound to pay into the county treasury, and which make up the fee funds out of which their salaries are to be paid, must keep an account of all fees earned, payments received, and expenditures made on account of clerk hire. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Clapp, 9 Colo. App. 161, 48 P. 157 (1897).

This record is at all times subject to inspection by the board of county commissioners. Frost v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

A complaint under this section should allege that the officer failed or neglected to keep this book of account, or that the county commissioners were prevented from examining the same. Frost v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

This section did not authorize a justice to appoint a clerk and compel the county to pay the salary which he should agree to pay him. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Clapp, 9 Colo. App. 161, 48 P. 157 (1897).

30-1-114. Monthly report of officers. If required by the board of county commissioners, the county treasurer, sheriff, and county clerk and recorder, on the first Monday of each month during the officer's term of office, shall make to the chairman of the board of county commissioners a report in writing under oath of all the fees of the officer's office, of every name and description, and of all necessary expenses of clerk hire and other expenses for the month ending at the time of said report. If required, such report shall state fully the manner in which such fees accrued.

ANNOTATION

The phraseology of this section did not necessarily imply that a justice had authority to appoint a clerk, or if that authority could be therefrom deduced, the court was unable to conclude the clerk's compensation was payable out of any other fund than that which was made up of the fees and emoluments of the office, and since several of the officers named were accorded the right to appoint assistants, deputies and clerks, rebutted the contention that it was the evident intention of the general assembly to confer on the justice the power to appoint a clerk. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Clapp, 9 Colo. App. 161, 48 P. 157 (1897).

Applied in Henderson v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 4 Colo. App. 302, 35 P. 880 (1894); Hamma v. People, 42 Colo. 401, 94 P. 326 (1908).

30-1-115. Commissioners to audit accounts. It is the duty of the board of county commissioners to audit such accounts as soon as may be, and correct and adjust the same in accordance with the facts.

ANNOTATION

Express duty. This section expressly charges the county commissioners with the duty of auditing the accounts of county officers, and correcting and adjusting the same. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

The board had no control of the public examiner, no authority to direct an audit by him of the books of a county officer, and was not charged with notice of his report when made. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

The purpose and vital importance of an efficient audit were manifest from the statutory requirement that all prescribed fees had to be collected in advance by county officers, and when collected had to be paid to the county treasurer, and that any balance left to the credit of the several funds in any year after the salaries and compensation provided for had been paid therefrom, would be placed to the credit of the general county fund. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

The board is not limited by this section to any specific means or agencies for making the required audit. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

The board had the implied power to employ an accountant. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

The expense of an examination of the books of the county officers, required by this section, not contemplated at the date of the annual appropriation, may properly be discharged from the contingent fund. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

30-1-116. Officers shall collect fees in advance. (1) Except as provided in section 30-1-106, every officer shall collect every fee, as prescribed, for services performed by him or her in advance, if the same can be ascertained, and when any officer negligently or willfully fails to collect any such fee, the same shall be charged against his or her salary.

(2) In proceedings where a public administrator, special administrator, receiver, or other person is appointed by the court to take possession of assets of an estate in which there are no funds immediately available to pay fees, the fees need not be paid in advance, but shall be paid as soon as funds become available.

(3) No officer shall collect fees in advance in any collection action initiated pursuant to section 18-1.3-506, C.R.S.

Bd. of Comm'rs v. Law, 3 Colo. App. 328, 33 P. 143 (1893); Colo. Fuel & Iron Co. v. Lenhart, 6 Colo. App. 511, 41 P. 834 (1895); Hazelton v. Porter, 17 Colo. App. 1, 67 P. 170 (1902); Price v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 22 Colo. App. 315, 124 P. 353 (1912).

By this section the duty of collecting fees in advance is imposed upon the officer where the same can be ascertained. Frost v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

This section makes the officers responsible for the collection of their fees. Bransom v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 5 Colo. App. 231, 37 P. 957 (1894).

Penalty stimulates collection. The fact is recognized that sometimes such prior ascertainment may be impossible, and therefore the fees may not be so collected, and in order to stimulate or coerce the collection of the fees earned and belonging to the county, to wit, the excess above the sums necessary to make up the officer's salary, the penalty of charging the uncollected portion thereof against his salary is provided. Frost v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

Negligent or wilful failure results in forfeiture. This section makes it the duty of the clerk to collect every fee for services performed by him, and provides a forfeiture if he shall wilfully or negligently fail to do so. Henderson v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 4 Colo. App. 301, 35 P. 880 (1894).

This penalty is not to be enforced unless the failure to make such collection is due to the negligence or wilfulness of the delinquent official. Frost v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

As to uncollected fees, a county judge was only liable for the negligent or wilful failure to collect. Price v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 22 Colo. App. 315, 124 P. 353 (1912).

In a literal sense, the uncollected fees cannot be charged against the officer's salary, since the county is only entitled to fees collected above the amount necessary to make up the salary. Price v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 22 Colo. App. 315, 124 P. 353 (1912).

But salary is maximum limit of penalty. The amount of the salary received by the officer must be taken as the maximum limit of the penalty for the negligent or wilful failure to collect. Price v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 22 Colo. App. 315, 124 P. 353 (1912).

Negligent or wilful failure must be alleged. Under this section a complaint against a county judge for surplus fees uncollected had to allege that his failure to collect the same was negligent or wilful. Frost v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

Burden of proof. In a suit against a county judge to recover the surplus uncollected fees of his office, the burden of proof was on the county commissioners to show that the fees were negligently or wilfully left uncollected. Frost v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

Slight evidence was sufficient to shift the burden of proof on the officer to establish the exercise of reasonable diligence in endeavoring to collect such unpaid fees. Frost v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 43 Colo. 43, 95 P. 289 (1908).

Lack of record only affects proof. The alleged neglect to make a record of such fees, as in this case, could only affect the matter of proof. Price v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 22 Colo. App. 315, 124 P. 353 (1912).

30-1-117. Refusal to pay fees to treasurer - penalty. Any officer failing or refusing to pay over to the county treasurer or to the state treasurer the fees of his office, as provided in section 30-1-112, is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may be removed from office by the court before which the conviction is had.

ANNOTATION

This section attaches severe penalties to the failure of the officers to pay over the fees. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

It provides a penalty of imprisonment in the county jail, or fine, or both such fine and imprisonment, for failure of the district clerk to pay over to the county treasurer the fees of his office. Adams v. People, 25 Colo. 532, 55 P. 806 (1898).

30-1-119. Separate fee funds kept. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section, all fees collected by county officers except those collected pursuant to section 30-1-102 (3) shall be paid over to the county treasurer and shall be kept by him in separate funds to be known as:

- (a) The “sheriff’s fee fund”;
- (b) The “county clerk’s fee fund”;
- (c) The “county treasurer’s commission and fee fund”.

(2) The revenues generated annually from the fee for committing and discharging prisoners authorized pursuant to section 30-1-104 (1) (n) shall be distributed as follows:

(a) (I) The county shall expend an amount equal to twenty percent of the revenues generated annually from the fee to administer a community-based treatment program for the treatment of offenders with mental illness or addiction committed or discharged by the county if the county has established, or the board of county commissioners chooses to establish, such a community-based treatment program.

(II) For purposes of this paragraph (a), “community-based treatment program” means a community-based program that provides management and treatment services to persons with mental illness or addiction in the criminal or juvenile justice system, designed, at a minimum, to reduce recidivism and hospitalization of these persons.

(b) The county shall expend an amount equal to twenty percent of the revenues generated annually from the fee for training of the sheriff and deputy sheriffs and other local law enforcement officers, which training may include a crisis intervention training component to meet the needs of offenders with mental illness; and

(c) The county shall expend the balance of the revenues generated annually from the fee for law-enforcement-related expenditures to defray the costs of processing prisoners into and out of custody.

ANNOTATION

Legislative intent. By enacting this section the general assembly evinced a legislative intent to require all fees, emoluments, perquisites and commissions collected by a county clerk and recorder to be accounted for and placed in the proper fund in the office of the county treasurer, to be withdrawn therefrom only on warrants properly issued in payment of the salaries of such deputies and assistants as are necessary in the performance of their statutory duties. Flanders v. Kochenberger, 118 Colo. 104, 193 P.2d 281 (1948).

ANNOTATION

This section calls for payment of salaries in fixed dollar amounts and cost of living increases should not be implied. Hayden v. State, 43 Colo. App. 148, 599 P.2d 979 (1979).

Compensation for county sheriffs is expressly provided for in this section. Van Cleave v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 33 Colo. App. 227, 518 P.2d 1371 (1973).

But this section does not authorize a county to compensate the sheriff through provision of living quarters or a housing allowance. Van Cleave v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 33 Colo. App. 227, 518 P.2d 1371 (1973).

Thus elimination of housing allowance not violation of constitution. Because housing allowance paid to sheriff-jailer was unauthorized and illegal, its elimination did not violate constitutional prohibitions against salary or compensation reduction during the term of office of a public official. Van Cleave v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 33 Colo. App. 227, 518 P.2d 1371 (1973).

30-2-103. County commissioners - expenses. County commissioners shall be allowed their actual and necessary maintenance expenses, together with such mileage as shall be determined by resolution of the board of county commissioners of the county or as provided by the charter of a home rule county, within the limits provided under section 30-11-107 (1) (t), for each mile actually traveled whether within or without the state when engaged in business on behalf of the county; but no mileage expense shall be allowed while said commissioners are traveling in an automobile furnished by the county.

30-2-104. Compensation of deputies and assistants. (1) (a) The county clerk and recorders, county treasurers, county assessors, county coroners, and surveyors of the respective counties may appoint such deputies, assistants, and employees as shall be necessary at the compensation, payable at least once each month, as fixed by the officers with the approval of the boards of county commissioners of their respective counties. Except for those employees provided for pursuant to article 1 of title 26, C.R.S., boards of county commissioners may adopt a classification and compensation plan for all county employees paid in whole or in part by the county. The classification and compensation plan shall include workweek formulas of not less than forty hours designed to satisfy the varying requirements of each county service and county department as provided in paragraph (b) of this subsection (1). Upon acceptance by an elected official, the plan shall become binding upon the employees of that office. Changes in benefits, pay grades, and job classifications of employees shall thereafter be made in accordance with the plan.

(b) (I) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, workweek formulas shall take into account the various services provided by the county, the operation of the various county departments, and the demands which such services and operations have in requiring employees to be on the job in a manner which is not in conformity with the basic forty-hour workweek which generally characterizes office work.

(II) Such workweek formulas may provide for work time in excess of forty hours during consecutive seven-day calendar periods. In such cases, computation of forty-hour pay periods may be based on an averaging formula covering more than such seven-day calendar period.

(III) Authorized overtime work shall relate to such averaged workweeks where determined in the classification and compensation plan applicable to a described department or service.

(IV) All employees who work overtime pursuant to any classification and compensation plan shall receive overtime compensation, either in cash or in compensatory time.

(2) In the event litigation is instituted relating to compensation or classification, the burden of proof shall be upon the plaintiff or the elected official instituting such action. Costs of any litigation instituted by an elected official shall be paid out of the county general fund.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, "The Fair Labor Standards Act: Criminal and Civil Liability", see 14 Colo. Law. 1802 (1985).

Authority vested in board under phrase "with the approval of the board" does not give board unbridled power to change salaries fixed by treasurer. Kanaly v. Wadlow, 31 Colo. App. 193, 502 P.2d 83 (1972), modified, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

General assembly intended to divest board of exclusive power to fix salaries and to vest some meaningful power and authority in treasurer. Kanaly v. Wadlow, 31 Colo. App. 193, 502 P.2d 83 (1972), modified, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

But when the county treasurer and the board of county commissioners are unable to agree on prospective salaries for the treasurer's employees, the burden in a lawsuit brought to resolve the differences lies with the treasurer or the employee bringing the suit to show that the proposal of the treasurer is reasonable under the circumstances. Wadlow v. Kanaly, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

The board is vested with the ultimate responsibility for the conduct of the fiscal affairs of the county. Wadlow v. Kanaly, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

And the commissioners are charged with the construction of an annual budget from submissions from the various departments of their anticipated financial needs for the ensuing year. Wadlow v. Kanaly, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

No authority in county department heads to set salaries. To hold that the heads of the various county departments had the authority to set salaries of their employees, not prescribed by statute, unless clearly exorbitant, would be to seriously compound the problems faced by the commissioners in adopting a balanced budget. Wadlow v. Kanaly, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

Board reviews salaries. It seems most consistent with the requirements of county government fiscal planning to allow the board to review salaries proposed by the heads of the various departments serving executive and administrative functions in the county. Wadlow v. Kanaly, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

Such an interpretation enables the commissioners to assure a reasonable budgetary process and develop a parity in salary levels throughout these various departments. Wadlow v. Kanaly, 182 Colo. 115, 511 P.2d 484 (1973).

The power to appoint such assistants and employees as are necessary is vested in the county superintendent of schools, who may fix their compensation with the approval of the board of county commissioners. Schroeder v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 152 Colo. 313, 381 P.2d 820 (1963).

No subsequent authority of board to cut off. Where the county superintendent determined that a clerical assistant was necessary and fixed compensation of such assistant with approval of board of county commissioners, the board was thereafter without unilateral power to diminish or cut off compensation of such assistant. Schroeder v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 152 Colo. 313, 381 P.2d 820 (1963).

As board cannot substitute its judgment. By eliminating the salary of a clerical assistant the board of county commissioners eliminated the position, and, in effect, substituted its determination of the necessity for an assistant when that prerogative is vested by law in the duly elected county official. Schroeder v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 152 Colo. 313, 381 P.2d 820 (1963).

Nor can court. A trial court in entering a finding determining that the assistant of the county superintendent of schools is not necessary invades the province of the executive branch of the government and is powerless to take such action. Schroeder v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 152 Colo. 313, 381 P.2d 820 (1963).

Award of attorney fees to county sheriff was error because "elected county official" in subsection (2) is limited to those officials specifically enumerated in subsection (1). Johnson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 676 P.2d 1263 (Colo. App. 1984).

Section not applicable. The facts of this case do not bring it within the provisions for the payment of costs under this section. Sullivan v.

Bd. of County Comm'rs, 692 P.2d 1106 (Colo. 1984).

Applied in Beacom v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 657 P.2d 440 (Colo. 1983); Johnson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 676 P.2d 1263 (Colo. App. 1984).

(1) Undersheriffs and deputy sheriffs shall be appointed by the sheriffs of their respective counties, and their salaries shall be paid at least once each month. In all counties the salaries of the undersheriff and deputy sheriff shall be fixed by the sheriff, with the approval of the board of county commissioners.

(2) The undersheriff and each deputy sheriff shall make to the sheriff a report in writing, under oath, of all fees collected of any description whatsoever and of all expenditures and necessary expenses relating to the discharge of the duties of his office.

ANNOTATION

Approval of board of county commissioners is discretionary power, not a ministerial duty to rubberstamp a county officer's decision. Tihonovich v. Williams, 196 Colo. 144, 582 P.2d 1051 (1978).

Circumstances to be considered by board in determining reasonableness of salaries include the amount of revenue available, the needs of other county departments and the ability of the county's taxpayers to fund additional requests, as well as the requesting department's need for the expenditures. Tihonovich v. Williams, 196 Colo. 144, 582 P.2d 1051 (1978).

30-2-107. Traveling expenses of sheriff. Sheriffs also shall be allowed actual traveling expenses payable out of the general county fund, upon certified itemized accounts being presented for the same, in the service of all warrants, capiases, mittimus, commitments, body attachments, and court orders requiring the same and in the performance of the official duties in the investigation and pursuit of law violators throughout the state of Colorado in such amount as shall be determined by resolution of the board of county commissioners of each county or as provided by the charter of a home rule county, within the limits provided under section 30-11-107 (1) (t); but the actual expenses incurred in the service of executions, writs of attachment, replevins, restitutions, and other process shall be paid by the parties requiring such service. All such accounts shall be subject to the approval of the board of county commissioners.

ANNOTATION

Expenses and mileage fees differentiated. The actual traveling expenses of the sheriff provided for in this section are to be paid out of and not exceeding a mileage fee at the statutory rate per mile actually and necessarily traveled in the performance of his duty, which fee is separate and distinct from and in addition to that prescribed in the fee act. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

The allowance for traveling expenses is not a payment for services, but it is a reimbursement of money expended, and is in addition to, and independent of, salary, and if the traveling expenses should exceed the amount of mileage, at the rate limited, against which they are chargeable, the full expenses could not be paid, and a proportionate loss would be suffered; but when mileage in either a civil or criminal case has been collected and deposited, it is the duty of the board of commissioners to allow the traveling expenses incurred in the case, payable out of the mileage, if it amounts to so much, or if not, to the extent of the mileage deposited. Bransom v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 5 Colo. App. 231, 37 P. 957 (1894).

Necessary traveling expenses paid by the sheriff in serving a venire for jurors in a court of record should be allowed by the county. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

If a sheriff travels upon a railroad on a free pass, he cannot be allowed the ordinary railroad fare as expenses necessarily incurred, but, notwithstanding he may have such a pass, he may pay the customary fare and include its amount in his expense account. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

The use of a sleeping car by a sheriff upon his return journey from transporting a prisoner was not only customary, but was proper and convenient, and reasonable, within the meaning of this section, as a legitimate part of the necessary expenses incurred by the sheriff. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

But, the liability of the county in such cases depended in part upon the facts and circumstances of each case, and the decision of this particular question was limited to the facts of the case. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

The mileage fees, if earned by the officer, had to be collected by him of litigants if in civil cases, and the various statutory conditions that made the county liable for costs in criminal cases had to have happened before the sheriff got credit from the county therefor; so that, in compensating the sheriff, he was not only limited to his salary and actual traveling expenses, but to get these he had to first have collected from the parties to suits the various items of fees which went to make up, and out of which only, his compensation was paid. Sargent v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 21 Colo. 158, 40 P. 366 (1895).

30-2-108. Coroner - compensation - mileage.

(1) (a) Repealed.

(b) In counties of every class, the coroner shall be reimbursed for such mileage as shall be determined by resolution of the board of county commissioners of the county or as provided by the charter of a home rule county, within the limits provided under section 30-11-107 (1) (t), for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the place of investigation or the place of inquest, which reimbursement shall be paid out of the county treasury.

(c) In counties of every class, the board of county commissioners shall provide for reimbursement to coroners for expenses related to travel by the coroner for the purpose of testifying as a witness or acting in any other official capacity with respect to any legal proceeding involving a death investigated by that coroner. Such reimbursement may include a mileage allowance for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in an amount determined by the board within the limits provided under section 30-11-107 (1) (t) and actual and necessary lodging, subsistence, and incidental expenses as determined by the board. Such reimbursement shall be paid out of the county treasury.

(d) In counties of every class, the board of county commissioners may provide for additional compensation to be paid to any coroner who performs a post-mortem examination of the body of a deceased person pursuant to section 30-10-606 (2), which compensation shall be paid out of the county treasury.

(2) In addition to the fees provided in subsection (1) of this section, the coroner shall receive the same fees for summoning jurors and witnesses, and swearing jurors and witnesses, as are now allowed by law for like service. For all services performed in place of the sheriff, the coroner shall receive the same fees as are allowed to the sheriff for like service.

(1) The general assembly recognizes that in the establishment of the state of Colorado the counties of the territory of Colorado were adopted as the counties of the new state and that there have been additional counties established by law and in accordance with then current methods of surveying and describing county boundaries. The general assembly finds and declares that it is desirable to revise the descriptions of county boundaries to update and establish by law more precise definitions of the boundaries of the several counties of this state as they are known to exist with the use of modern methods and equipment. It is not the intent of the general assembly to effect the transfer of land from one county to another or to adversely affect the title of any property merely because of the redefinition of county boundaries.

(2) The following shall be the boundaries of the respective counties of this state.

ANNOTATION

Construction in pari materia inapplicable. The sections defining the county boundaries are not to be construed like different acts passed on the same subject to which the rule of construction in pari materia would be applicable. Link v. Jones, 15 Colo. App. 281, 62 P. 339 (1900).

A county line is not determined by the actions of omission or commission of public officers, but by legislative enactment. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 58 Colo. 67, 143 P. 841 (1914).

Adjustment of property rights. In the absence of a constitutional limitation, it is competent for the general assembly, at the time it carves out a new county from the territory of an old one, or by subsequent legislation, to adjust the property rights and equities existing between the two. *City Council v. ANNOTATION

The boundary between two counties, established by legislative act, could not be changed by an artificial changing of the course of the Arkansas river. Thomson v. Clarks, Inc., 162 Colo. 506, 427 P.2d 314 (1967).

When the Arkansas river channel was altered in 1935-36 it was not a slow and gradual change but a sudden change caused by mechanical or artificial means so as to constitute an avulsion rather than an accretion, and when such a sudden change occurs, there is no alteration in the boundary line; it remains at the location of the river immediately prior to the change. Thomson v. Clarks, Inc., 162 Colo. 506, 427 P.2d 314 (1967).

ANNOTATION

Statutory provision (L. 1893, p. 131) attempting to add to city of Denver noncontiguous strip of land in Jefferson county held invalid. City of Denver v. Coulehan, 20 Colo. 471, 39 P. 425 (1894) (decided prior to earliest source, L. 01, p. 162, § 2).

The clause excepting, or withdrawing, from the territory included within the limits of the city of Denver all incorporated cities or towns within "said last mentioned boundaries", does not change or affect such exterior boundaries. They remain just as defined by metes and bounds in the first part of this section, because the office of the exception is to preserve intact these included municipal organizations, and to exclude the territory covered thereby from that which, were it not for the proviso, would be a part of the territory of the city of Denver. Town of Montclair v. Thomas, 31 Colo. 327, 73 P. 48 (1903).

The incorporated town of Montclair, situated within the exterior boundaries of the city of Denver and on the eastern border of said city, and county of Denver. Town of Montclair v. Thomas, 31 Colo. 327, 73 P. 48 (1903).

"Beginning at the intersection of the boundary line between Park and Jefferson Counties with the center line of the South Platte River, about two miles above Lake George, thence down the said Platte River along its center line to intersection of said center line with the Second Correction Line South, thence westerly along said Correction Line to its intersection with the boundary line between Park and Jefferson Counties, thence along said boundary line to point of beginning."

ANNOTATION

This section and § 30-5-153 are to be construed like patents or grants or segregations of a different date where the older in time necessarily concludes, and this principle requires first the determination of Jefferson county's boundaries and the inclusion therein of all territory which its lines would embrace, and the exclusion therefrom of all territory which would otherwise be embraced within the lines of Park county. Link v. Jones, 15 Colo. App. 281, 62 P. 339 (1900).

Wherever a line is run southerly or south, or due south, the result is precisely the same and the line thus stated in a description is to be taken as run due south unless there is some other thing in the description which compels or permits another course in order to work out the description which the grantor has put in a deed or whereby a general assembly has fixed the boundaries of a county. Link v. Jones, 15 Colo. App. 281, 62 P. 339 (1900).

Therefore, the description in the location of Jefferson county "thence south to the Platte river" starts and runs a line from the junction of North and South Clear creeks due south to the Platte river. Link v. Jones, 15 Colo. App. 281, 62 P. 339 (1900).

When the general assembly stated the western boundary of Jefferson county and ran the line south from the junction of North and South Clear creeks it ran a line due south making allowance for the magnetic variation, and it must strike the Platte river at the point where that line thus projected would strike the stream. Link v. Jones, 15 Colo. App. 281, 62 P. 339 (1900).

30-5-134. Kiowa. Beginning at the point of intersection of the east boundary line of Colorado with the south line of township twenty south; thence west on said township line to its intersection with the west line of range fifty-four west; thence north on said range line to the northwest corner of township twenty south, range fifty-four west; thence west on the south line of township nineteen south, range fifty-four west, to the southwest corner of said township and range; thence north on the west line of range fifty-four west to its intersection with the south line of township seventeen south; thence east on said township line to its intersection with the west line of range fifty-one west; thence north on said range line to its intersection with the south line of township sixteen south; thence east on said township line to the east boundary line of Colorado; and thence south on the Colorado boundary line to the place of beginning. Said public land survey lines are based upon the sixth principal meridian.

ANNOTATION

In this section the term “snowy range” is applied to the mosquito spur, but it is designated as “the snowy range east of the Arkansas river”. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Bd. of County Comm’rs, 9 Colo. 268, 11 P. 193 (1886).

The mosquito spur of the snowy range, the park range, is a distinct and continuous range or chain of mountains next and immediately east of the Arkansas river, extending from the snowy range at and between the sources of the Arkansas and Platte rivers southward beyond said third correction line; and the summit of this range is the natural boundary between Chaffee and Park counties. Hollenbeck v. Sykes, 17 Colo. 317, 29 P. 380 (1892).

The continental divide constitutes, in part, the western boundary of the county of Park, at the north, where it is described as “the snowy range, dividing the waters of the Platte from the waters of the Blue”. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Bd. of County Comm’rs, 9 Colo. 268, 11 P. 193 (1886).

It was held that in this section the words “up the river”, at the conclusion of the description of Park county’s eastern boundary, must be rejected and the call read “thence to the place of beginning”, instead of “thence up the river to the place of beginning”. Link v. Jones, 15 Colo. App. 281, 62 P. 339 (1900).

ANNOTATION

Constitutionality. The act of 1899 from which this section derives under the title “to establish the county of Teller and the temporary county seat thereof”, is not in contravention of § 21 of art. V, Colo. Const., providing that no bill shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in the title, because the one subject of the act was “to establish the county of Teller”, and each of the provisions following as specified in the title relates to the necessary incidents in establishing a new county; and the fact that certain of the incidents to the establishing of a new county are specified in the title does not limit the act to the particular matters detailed and exclude other matters necessary to the general purpose of the act. Frost v. Pfeiffer, 26 Colo. 338, 58 P. 147 (1899).

Section 3 of art. XIV, Colo. Const., which provides that "no part of the territory of any county shall be stricken off, and added to an adjoining county without first submitting the question to the qualified voters of the county from which the territory is proposed to be stricken off, nor unless a majority of all the qualified voters of said county, voting on the question, shall vote "therefor", does not restrict the power of the general assembly to create new counties from territory embraced in one or more existing counties. Frost v. Pfeiffer, 26 Colo. 338, 58 P. 147 (1899).

Authority of county treasurer as to tax deeds. Where lands situated in Arapahoe county were sold to that county for taxes and afterwards became a part of the county of Adams, after the erection of Washington county and the inclusion therein of the lands, the treasurer of that county was the proper officer to execute tax deeds upon the sales made in Arapahoe, and was authorized to execute a tax deed, in correction of one previously executed by the treasurer of Arapahoe county. Empire Ranch & Cattle Co. v. Howell, 60 Colo. 192, 152 P. 1177 (1915).

30-6-101. Survey of boundaries - arbitration. Wherever the boundary lines of any county are so indefinite as to make it impossible to determine where such lines are, and when a portion of territory by reason of such indefinite description is claimed by two counties, the board of county commissioners of each county so claiming said territory is authorized to have a survey made to define the boundaries. If it occurs that either county is dissatisfied with the boundary line as thus determined, it may be entitled to require of the other an arbitration for the settlement of the matter, from which arbitration there shall be no appeal, and the decision shall be final.

30-6-102. Board of arbitration. When such arbitration is required, the board of county commissioners of each county shall choose one person from their county, and such persons shall select a third person who shall not be a resident of either county, and such three persons so chosen shall constitute a board of arbitration for the purposes mentioned in section 30-6-101.

All counties, before entering into such arbitration by their boards of county commissioners, shall sign such agreements as required by law concerning arbitrations, and the board of arbitrators, before acting in such capacity, shall take such oath as prescribed by law. 30-6-105. Annexation - petition - notice to voters. When a majority of the taxpaying electors residing in that portion of the territory of any county proposed to be stricken off and annexed to an adjoining county shall petition the board of county commissioners of the county in which such territory is situate to have such portion stricken off and annexed to the adjoining county, giving the area and general boundaries of such territory by natural objects and monuments as near as may be, and shall deposit with such board of county commissioners an amount of money sufficient to pay the expenses of the surveying and platting of such territory, it is the duty of the said commissioners to have such territory surveyed and platted in a suitable manner and to cause to be submitted to the registered electors of such county at the general election next after the filing of such petition and plat with them the question of whether such portion of the territory of their county shall be so stricken off. The board of county commissioners shall also require the county clerk and recorder, in giving the notice required by law of the general election then next ensuing, to insert therein a notice to said registered electors that the question of striking off such territory from their county, particularly describing such territory by metes and bounds as shown by said survey, will be submitted to them for their approval or rejection and that they should designate on their ballots their approval thereof, which shall be expressed by the words "for the new county line", or their dissent thereto, expressed by the words "against the new county line". The board of county commissioners of the county to which such territory has been annexed may, in their discretion, pay the necessary expenses of such survey and plat by warrant on the treasury as in other cases.

ANNOTATION

Timeliness of filing of petition under this section is governed by § 1-1-109 and language of notification requirement in such section is mandatory and thus county board of commissioners has no discretion to shorten notice period. Sellers v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 682 P.2d 509 (Colo. App. 1984).

30-6-106. Annexation - adjoining county. Upon the receipt of the said petition and deposit by the board of county commissioners, they shall immediately give notice of the fact to the board of county commissioners of the adjoining county to which the petitioners desire said territory should be annexed, and the board of county commissioners of the adjoining county shall, upon receipt of the same, require the county clerk of that county, in giving notice of the next general election, to notify the electors of that county of the proposed annexation, particularly setting forth by metes and bounds in said notice the description of the said territory, that the question of such annexation will be submitted to them at said election, and that said electors shall designate on their ballots their dissent from or agreement thereto, which dissent or agreement shall be expressed as is provided in section 30-6-105.

30-6-107. Annexation - election result - proclamation. When the votes cast at the annexation election have been duly canvassed, the county clerk of each of said counties shall transmit the result of said election, as to this question, along with the other returns, to the secretary of state, and if such canvass shows that a majority of the votes cast at said election in each of the said counties was in favor of the question submitted in the respective counties mentioned in section 30-6-106, the secretary of state shall immediately make proclamation thereof, setting forth a description of said territory, as it is described in said notice, plat, and survey, and that by virtue of such majority vote in said counties such territory has been stricken off from the one county, naming it, and annexed to the other county, naming it.

30-6-109. Liabilities of annexed territory. The territory so stricken off from any county and annexed to the adjoining county shall be held to pay its ratable proportion of all then existing liabilities of the county from which it has been taken. Such ratable proportion of liabilities, as soon as the proclamation has been made, shall be fixed by the board of county commissioners of the county from which it is taken, and certified to the board of county commissioners of the county of which it becomes a part; and said board of county commissioners of the last mentioned county shall cause a special tax to be levied upon the property subject to taxation in such annexed territory for one, two, or three years, until such ratable proportion has been fully collected and paid, and the money, when collected, shall be refunded to the county from which the territory has been taken.

30-6-109.5. Annexation - county airports - agreements between governing bodies - approval. (1) Any provision of this article to the contrary notwithstanding, the territory of one county may be stricken off and annexed to an adjoining county, whether such territory is contiguous to such adjoining county or not, for the purpose of building and operating a major air carrier airport if the annexing county has a population of more than four hundred thousand and the boards of county commissioners of the two counties enter into an agreement for such annexation and the annexation agreement is subsequently ratified pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(2) Any such annexation agreement shall include, at a minimum:

(a) A description of the boundaries of the territory to be stricken off and annexed;

(b) A provision for the reversion of such territory to the county from which it is to be stricken off if the purposes of the annexation are not achieved;

(c) A provision that any consideration paid by the annexing county go to or for the benefit of the county and any school district from which the annexed territory is to be stricken off; and

(d) A provision designating either the next general election or a special election on a date certain as the ratification election for the proposed annexation agreement.

(3) In order to enter into such an agreement for the striking off and annexation of territory, each board of county commissioners shall be required to approve the agreement by a majority vote at a regular board meeting after not less than seven days' notice to the public and the opportunity for oral and written public comment on the agreement. Such notice shall be published in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties involved.

(4) After approval of the annexation agreement pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, the board of county commissioners of the county from which the territory is proposed to be stricken off shall submit such proposed annexation agreement to the registered electors of such county, pursuant to section 3 of article XIV of the state constitution, at the next general election or at a special election. Such election shall be governed by the provisions of the "Uniform Election Code of 1992", articles 1 to 13 of title 1, C.R.S., and shall be paid for by the county in which it is held.

(5) Failure of the registered electors to ratify the annexation agreement by majority vote shall defeat the proposed annexation, and the territory shall not be stricken off. The agreement shall be null and void.

30-6-109.7. Minor boundary adjustments. (1) (a) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:

(I) The existence of certain irregular and irrational boundaries between portions of the city and county of Denver and the neighboring counties of Adams, Arapahoe, and Jefferson has resulted in confusion and inefficiency in the delivery of public services, including police, fire, and emergency medical services, to properties on or near such boundaries; and

(II) Such irregular boundaries jeopardize the ability of landowners to utilize and develop their property and impose increased costs and service delays when those landowners seek development approval.

(b) The general assembly further finds and declares that it is the purpose of this section to:

(I) Create a statutory mechanism, permitted by section 3 of article XIV of the Colorado constitution, that provides landowners with a limited means by which such irregular and irrational boundaries may be corrected for territory located in the city and county of Denver and in the counties of Adams, Arapahoe, and Jefferson;

(II) Limit the minor boundary adjustments under this section to no more than fifty acres per adjustment and to no more than two hundred fifty acres for each such county; and

(III) Permit a minor county boundary adjustment only if such adjustment is requested by one hundred percent of the landowners of property within the territory that is subject to such adjustment and only after the consent of all affected counties, municipalities, and school districts has been obtained.

(2) Any provision of this article to the contrary notwithstanding, a portion of the territory of one county may be stricken off and added to an adjoining county without an election pursuant to the procedure contained in this section.

(3) (a) A petition initiating a minor boundary adjustment that is signed by one hundred percent of the landowners of the territory of a county proposed to be stricken off may be submitted to the board of county commissioners in which such territory is situate. The petition shall include a map, survey, and legal description giving the area and general boundaries of such territory.

(b) Upon receipt of the petition, the board of county commissioners in which such territory is situate shall conduct a hearing on the petition after not less than thirty days' notice to the public and allow the opportunity for oral and written comment on the petition. Such notice shall be published in at least one newspaper of general circulation in such territory. All owners of real property in the territory and any special district organized pursuant to title 32, C.R.S., that serves the territory are to be notified of such hearing by first class mail not less than ten days and not more than thirty days before the hearing.

(c) Following such hearing, the board of county commissioners in which such territory is situate shall act by resolution to approve or deny the minor boundary adjustment initiated by the petition. In the event the minor boundary adjustment is denied, no further action shall be taken.

(d) As used in this subsection (3), "landowner" means the owner in fee of any undivided interest in a given parcel of land that is within the boundaries of the territory of the county proposed to be stricken off. If the mineral estate has been severed, the landowner is the owner in fee of an undivided interest in the surface estate and not the owner in fee of an undivided interest in the mineral estate.

(4) No resolution approving a boundary adjustment shall be adopted or effective pursuant to this section unless:

(a) The territory to be stricken off and added to an adjoining county is contiguous to such adjoining county;

(b) The total area of the territory to be stricken off and added to an adjoining county does not exceed fifty acres;

(c) Both the county from which such territory is to be stricken off and the adjoining county to which such territory is to be added are represented on the boundary control commission established by section 1 of article XX of the Colorado constitution and the governing bodies of such counties have consented by resolution to the adjustment;

(d) As to any county boundary adjustment under this section which will result in the detachment of area from any school district and the attachment of the same to another school district, the board of directors of the school district to which such area will be attached and the board of directors of the school district from which such area will be detached have consented by resolution to such adjustment;

(e) The governing body of any municipality having incorporated territory contiguous to or contained within any portion of the territory to be stricken off has consented, by ordinance or resolution, to such adjustment.

(5) If a minor boundary adjustment is approved pursuant to this section, the board of county commissioners of the county from which such territory is to be stricken off shall negotiate an intergovernmental agreement with the adjoining county to which such territory is to be added. The intergovernmental agreement shall set forth the terms adjusting the boundary of each county and shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(a) A description of the purpose of the minor boundary adjustment and of the petition initiating such adjustment;

(b) A provision specifying that obligations that are in any way secured by property taxes or other revenue streams from the territory to be stricken off shall be paid as provided in section 30-6-109.

(6) Upon approval by both counties of an intergovernmental agreement described in subsection (5) of this section, the board of county commissioners of each county that is a party to the agreement shall adopt a resolution approving the minor boundary adjustment. A copy of each resolution shall be recorded in the deed records of each county pursuant to section 30-6-108. Effective upon such recordation, the new county boundary so established shall be the lawfully constituted line between each county, and the territory stricken off from one county and added to the adjoining county shall be subject to the jurisdiction of such adjoining county and a part and parcel of the area of such adjoining county; except that the effective date of such new boundary for the purpose of general taxation shall be on and after the next January 1.

(7) Not more than two hundred fifty acres may be stricken from or added to any county pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(8) Except as provided by subsection (8.5) of this section, no territory of a county that contains an occupied residential unit may be stricken off and added to an adjoining county pursuant to this section. As used in this subsection (8), "occupied residential unit" means a building, or that portion of a building, designed for use predominantly as a place of residency by a person, a family, or families.

(8.5) Subsections (3) and (8) of this section shall not apply to a minor boundary adjustment if the county to which territory will be added is bound by the intergovernmental agreement negotiated pursuant to subsection (5) of this section to use the territory solely for park and open space purposes.

(9) In addition to any other requirements contained in this section, prior to the initiation of any minor boundary adjustment in which territory is proposed to be stricken off of the counties of Adams, Arapahoe, or Jefferson and added to the city and county of Denver, a decision approving the proposed minor boundary adjustment shall be made by a majority vote of the six-member boundary control commission, established by section 1 of article XX of the state constitution.

Source: L. 98: Entire section added, p. 800, § 1, effective August 5. L. 2003: (8) and (10) amended and (8.5) added, p. 1323, § 1, effective August 6.

Editor's note: Subsection (10) of this section contained a provision that repealed the entire section effective August 5, 2003. Subsection (10) was deleted by amendment in House Bill 03-1239 to give continuing effect to the section. The bill also amended subsection (8) and added a new subsection (8.5). This bill did not contain a safety clause. A bill without a safety clause usually takes effect on the day following the expiration of the ninety-day period after adjournment of the general assembly. Therefore, House Bill 03-1239 would normally take effect on August 6, 2003, one day after the repeal of the section was to take effect. An argument could be made that the deletion of the repealer and the other amendments to the section were of no effect because the repeal had already taken effect on the previous day. However, such an interpretation would defeat the general assembly's purpose in enacting the bill. For that reason, if a court is asked to address this circumstance, it could reach the conclusion that the amendment deleting the repeal should be given effect as of the date the governor signed the bill on April 22, 2003, rather than the technical effective date (see People v. Tacorante, 624 P.2d 1324 (Colo. 1981), where a similar conclusion was reached). In view of these factors, the repeal of this section is not reflected in the version printed above; rather, the section appears as amended by House Bill 03-1239.

30-6-110. Boundaries - survey - action to settle. When the boundary lines of any county in this state are so indefinite that a portion of territory, by reason of such indefinite description, is claimed by two counties, and such fact appears by petition of the board of county commissioners of either county to the state engineer, it is the duty of such state engineer, in connection with the county surveyor of each of such counties, to run out and establish such lines as nearly as may be in accordance with such defective description, fix and define such boundary line, by plain and substantial mounds, marks, and unmistakable natural monuments, and to furnish the board of county commissioners of each of said counties with a description of such line as soon thereafter as may be practical. When such line is established it shall be the boundary line between said counties, unless one of said counties, within six months from the day of filing the description of said line by the state engineer with the board of county commissioners of such county, commences an action in a court of competent jurisdiction in this state to determine and settle such disputed line, and prosecute the same with due diligence until its final determination, or has settled such disputed line, within said six months, by arbitration, as is provided by this article and rule 109, C.R.C.P. If the county surveyor of either of such counties shall not appear or assist the state engineer in making such survey after due notice so to do, it shall in no manner affect or invalidate such survey, or the boundary lines as they may be fixed by such state engineer.

Editor's note: Rule 109, C.R.C.P., referenced in this section, was repealed March 17, 1994.

ANNOTATION

An actual survey and marking of the line upon the ground is intended by this section, and an attempt by the state engineer and county surveyors to fix a disputed county boundary line without going upon the ground and making an actual survey, was unauthorized and their proceedings were without any force or effect whatever. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 25 Colo. 95, 53 P. 383 (1898), reversing 9 Colo. App. 368, 48 P. 675 (1897).

This section is mandatory upon the state engineer when he has received the petition. Commissioners of Routt County v. Commissioners of Grand County, 4 Colo. App. 306, 35 P. 1061 (1894).

Equitable not special action to correct errors of engineer. It was held where the state engineer having, under this section, established the boundary between contiguous counties, a proceeding instituted by one of them, under the statute, to correct alleged errors of the state engineer, is an equitable action, and not a special proceeding. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 58 Colo. 67, 143 P. 841 (1914).

Proper venue in county where property located. An action to judicially define and settle a boundary line, as fixed by the general assembly, involves an interest in real property, is for the determination of a form of an interest or right in real property, and affects property, and should be tried in the county where the property is situated. People v. District Court, 66 Colo. 40, 179 P. 875 (1919).

Survey without effect if action brought within six months. If within six months of the filing of the report of the state engineer upon his survey of a county boundary, an action is brought, pursuant to this section, to determine such boundary, such survey is without effect for any purpose. People v. District Court, 66 Colo. 40, 179 P. 875 (1919).

And district court of county from which, by survey, territory is taken, has jurisdiction of an action to establish the boundary under this section. People v. District Court, 66 Colo. 40, 179 P. 875 (1919).

Jurisdiction must be affirmatively pled. The complaint in an action under this section to determine and settle a disputed boundary line between counties, after one has been run out and established by the state engineer, must contain affirmative and positive allegations showing the proceedings to have been such as to confer jurisdiction. Commissioners of Routt County v. Commissioners of Grand County, 4 Colo. App. 306, 35 P. 1061 (1894).

As must statute of limitations. In order to confer jurisdiction in an action under the section to determine and settle a disputed boundary line between counties, after one has been run out and established by the state engineer, the complaint must affirmatively show that it was commenced within six months after the filing of the description of the boundary line by the state engineer. Commissioners of Routt County v. Commissioners of Grand County, 4 Colo. App. 306, 35 P. 1061 (1894).

Action under this section and estoppel separate causes. A complaint setting forth (1) the establishment of a county line by the state engineer, and that the plaintiff county is dissatisfied therewith, (2) the long recognition by both counties and the inhabitants and officials thereof, of the particular line for which the plaintiff contends, contains two separate causes of action, one the action authorized by this section and the other an attempt to set up an estoppel. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 58 Colo. 67, 143 P. 841 (1914).

Court renders judgment on evidence. In an action between counties under this section to establish a boundary line, the court has jurisdiction to render judgment upon the evidence, and is not limited to a determination of the accuracy of the line run by the state engineer. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 2 Colo. App. 412, 31 P. 183 (1892).

This section broadly confers upon a court of competent jurisdiction the power to determine and settle the disputed line, and it must be held that the jurisdiction conferred is ample enough to enable the court, on the testimony before it, to determine what the line is, and where it should be run. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 2 Colo. App. 412, 31 P. 183 (1892).

30-6-111. State engineer - reimbursement for expenses. The office of the state engineer shall be reimbursed for the expenses of any survey conducted in connection with a boundary dispute pursuant to section 30-6-110, and such expenses shall be borne equally by the counties involved in the boundary dispute.

30-6-113. Compliance with boundary control commission requirements. In addition to any other requirements, a decision approving the proposed annexation by a majority vote of the six-member boundary control commission established by section 1 of article XX of the state constitution shall be made prior to the initiation of any annexation procedures pursuant to this article to annex land from the counties of Adams, Arapahoe, or Jefferson to the city and county of Denver.

When an election is ordered by the board of county commissioners of any county on the question of removal or location of the county seat, it is the duty of such board of county commissioners to appoint special judges and registers of such elections, and to provide a special ballot box in each voting precinct in which shall be deposited all the ballots cast at such election in such precinct on the question of location or removal of the county seat.

ANNOTATION

The constitutional prohibition against local or special laws in certain enumerated cases, locating or changing county seats being one of those cases, was held to be wholly prospective and intended to affect only future legislation. People v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 6 Colo. 202 (1882).

Construction with general election laws. Although registration of electors to vote on the question of removal of a county seat is governed by this and the following sections, they are not exclusive but must be construed with the provisions concerning general elections. People ex rel. Roberg v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 86 Colo. 249, 281 P. 117 (1929).

The section governing registration of electors does not repeal this article concerning elections for the removal of county seats. People ex rel. Roberg v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 86 Colo. 249, 281 P. 117 (1929).

In the absence of fraud and where there is a substantial compliance with the statute, informalities and innocent departures on the part of the election board in the matter of an election to remove a county seat, will not render the election void, where it appears that there was a conscientious determination on the part of the election officials to ascertain the will of the electorate on the question submitted, which was carried into effect. People ex rel. Roberg v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 86 Colo. 249, 281 P. 117 (1929).

The act of February 11, 1881, was intended to establish a uniform procedure regulating all elections concerning county seats, and it applies to the conduct of an election for the permanent location of a county seat. Town of Sugar City v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 57 Colo. 432, 140 P. 809 (1914).

Since the act of 1881 was inconsistent with and repugnant to former legislation upon this subject, although it contained no repealing clause, it was well settled that, notwithstanding such omission, so much of former legislation as was in conflict with the latter provisions was impliedly repealed. Town of Sugar City v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 57 Colo. 432, 140 P. 809 (1914).

30-8-102. Special registration. It is the duty of the judges and registers so appointed to make a special registration of the voters of each precinct who have resided in the county at least six months, and in such precinct at least ninety days, prior to the day designated for holding such election, which day shall be the day designated by law for holding a general election, and no other.

ANNOTATION

It was purely a question for the general assembly as to whether the same rule should be adopted as to residence in the case of an election to locate a county seat, as § 2 of art. XIV, Colo. Const., had already adopted in the case of an election upon the question of removal of a county seat, and the length of residence required in the latter case was definitely fixed by the constitution, and the general assembly was left free to determine the qualifications of voters at an election upon the question of the location of a county seat, unquestionably, since there is no specific constitutional inhibition, and the statute is general, applying alike to all similarly situated, the general assembly had the power and authority to enact it. Town of Sugar City v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 57 Colo. 432, 140 P. 809 (1914).

30-8-103. Polling places - special ballot. The election shall be held at the same places at which the general election is ordered to be held, but the vote for or against removal or location of the county seat shall be by a special ballot, separate and distinct from the general ticket voted at said election, which ballot shall be deposited in the special ballot box provided for in section 30-8-101, and no vote shall be counted for or against said removal or location which is not deposited in such special ballot box.

30-8-104. Removal - when. No county seat shall be removed until the expiration of thirty days after the canvass of the votes by the county canvassers upon the question of location or removal, nor until the board of county commissioners of such county has made and entered of record on its journal an order directing such removal. The board shall make such order within thirty days after the county canvass is completed, unless enjoined or restrained from so doing by an order of the district court of said county or by the supreme court.

30-8-105. Elections - laws applicable. All laws now in force relating to elections shall apply to elections held upon the question of removal or location of county seats, except that the question of location of such county seats shall be contested in the district court of said county in the first instance, but may be removed to the district court of any other county under the provisions of the Colorado rules of civil procedure relating to change of the place of trial, and shall be also subject to appeal as provided by law and the Colorado appellate rules. Not less than two-thirds of all the legal votes cast shall be necessary to effect the removal of the county seat of any county in this state.

ANNOTATION

Section held valid. Alexander v. People ex rel. Schofield, 7 Colo. 155, 2 P. 894 (1883).

Removal of county seats is subject over which general assembly has plenary jurisdiction and control, and in the absence of constitutional restrictions, a removal could be authorized upon any vote, great or small, which the body deemed advisable. Alexander v. People ex rel. Schofield, 7 Colo. 155, 2 P. 894 (1883).

Where two-thirds of electors of county voting on proposition did not vote to remove the county seat of said county, the county seat was not removed. Alexander v. People ex rel. Schofield, 7 Colo. 155, 2 P. 894 (1883).

Where, in an election for the permanent location of a county seat, voters designate on their ballots different places which are substantially in the same locality, the ballots should be counted for the general spot covered by the descriptions. Coleman v. People, 7 Colo. App. 243, 42 P. 1041 (1895).

30-8-106. Election contests - laws applicable. All laws governing contests of elections shall be applicable to contests of county seat elections; except that the board of county commissioners of the county shall in all cases be the contestee, and that the contest shall be conducted in the district court of the proper county. Such district court may appoint a magistrate to take testimony in relation to the grounds of contest alleged by the contestor, which magistrate may sit to take evidence in any precinct of his county.

ANNOTATION

The territorial statute made no provision for a contest of an election upon the removal of a county seat. People v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 6 Colo. 202 (1882).

A statement of contest of an election for the removal of a county seat which fails to enumerate a single qualified voter who was denied the right to vote or the name of any person who voted without possessing the necessary qualifications, held bad under the facts and circumstances disclosed. People ex rel. Roberg v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 86 Colo. 249, 281 P. 117 (1929).

30-8-107. County seats - removal - petition - election. (1) When the taxpaying electors of any county in this state are desirous of changing the county seat of the county in which they reside from the place where such county seat has been permanently located, they may at any time present to the board of county commissioners of such county a petition signed by a majority of such taxpaying electors whose names shall appear on the last tax roll. No names shall be withdrawn from said petition after the same has been presented to the board of county commissioners, except in cases of actual fraud in the procuring of signatures to the same.

(2) Thereupon it is the duty of the board to require the county clerk and recorder, in giving notice for the next general election, to notify the registered voters of said county to designate upon their ballots at such election the place of their choice; and, if upon canvassing the votes polled or given it appears that any one place has two-thirds of all legal votes polled or given, such place shall be the county seat, and notice of any change thereby made shall be given as provided by law. Where there are no county buildings and the petition so states, it shall not be necessary for such majority to be more than a mere majority of all the legal votes cast to effect such removal.

(3) The term "taxpaying electors" as used in this section means only those persons who are qualified voters under the registration and election laws of this state, and who in the calendar year last preceding the year in which such petition is presented as aforesaid have paid a tax, or are liable for the payment of such tax, on real or personal property assessed to them and owned by them in the county in which such petition is presented.

ANNOTATION

Under the constitution the general assembly has no power to remove a county seat. Coleman v. People, 7 Colo. App. 243, 42 P. 1041 (1895).

Regulated by general law. The constitution deprives the general assembly of power to remove a county seat, but permits the question of such removal to be regulated by general law, with the limitations, that there can be no removal unless a majority of the electors vote for it, and that no proposition on the subject shall be submitted more often than once in four years. Coleman v. People, 7 Colo. App. 243, 42 P. 1041 (1895).

Voting majorities required for placement or removal. The plain meaning of this section is that where the county seat has not been permanently located a majority of all the legal votes upon the proposition must be in favor of some one place, and if it has been permanently established, it requires a two-thirds vote in favor of some one place before a removal can be effected. Bd. of Comm'rs v. People ex rel. Love, 26 Colo. 297, 57 P. 1080 (1899).

Where the relator, in mandamus proceedings to compel the removal of a county seat, has long been a resident of the county, without taking steps to test the legality of its location, he should not be permitted to initiate such proceedings. Coleman v. People, 7 Colo. App. 243, 42 P. 1041 (1895).

30-8-108. Commissioners' surveys - county buildings. The board of county commissioners has the power to make all needful arrangements for having such county seat surveyed into lots, squares, streets, and alleys, selling and disposing of the same, and erecting a jailhouse, courthouse, or other county buildings as to the board seems best.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

30-10-101. Offices - inspection of records - failure to comply - penalty. (1) (a) Every sheriff, county clerk and recorder, and county treasurer shall keep his or her respective office at the county seat of the county and in the office provided by the county, if any such has been provided, or, if there is none provided, then at such place as the board of county commissioners shall direct. Subject to the provisions of part 2 of article 72 of title 24, C.R.S., and any judicially recognized right of privacy, all books and papers required to be in such offices shall be open to the examination of any person, but no person, except parties in interest, or their attorneys, shall have the right to examine pleadings or other papers filed in any cause pending in such court.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection (1), the sheriff, county clerk and recorder, county treasurer, and clerk of the district and county courts may maintain his or her office at a location other than the county seat when authorized to do so pursuant to part 1 of article 5 of title 13, C.R.S.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the sheriff, county clerk and recorder, and county treasurer may keep one or more offices outside of the county seat or such other place authorized pursuant to part 1 of article 5 of title 13, C.R.S. Any such office shall be in addition to his or her respective office kept pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (1) and shall be within the same county. Any such additional office may be kept only if the board of county commissioners of such county makes office space or funding available to provide for the office.

(d) As used in this section, "office" shall mean a place where some or all of the duties of a sheriff, county clerk and recorder, county treasurer, or clerk of the district and county courts are conducted.

(2) Subject to the provisions of subsection (2.5) of this section, any person or corporation and their employees engaged in making abstracts or abstract books or in the business of title insurance, as defined in section 10-11-102 (3), C.R.S., shall have the right, during usual business hours and subject to such rules and regulations as the officer having the custody of such records may prescribe, to inspect and make memoranda, copies, or photographs of the contents of all such books and papers for the purpose of their business; but any such officer may make reasonable and general regulations concerning the inspection of such books and papers by the public or by such abstractors or title insurance personnel. If, for the purpose of making such copies, it becomes necessary to remove such records from the room where they are usually kept to some other room in the courthouse where such copying apparatus may be installed for such purpose, the county clerk and recorder, in his or her discretion, may charge to the person or corporation making such copies a fee of ten dollars per hour for the service of the deputy who has charge of such records while they are being so copied; but such fees shall not be charged to one person or corporation unless the same fee is likewise charged to every person or corporation copying such records.

(2.5) (a) In lieu of affording the right of inspection and copying set forth in subsection (2) of this section, any clerk and recorder may make available to abstractors, title insurance personnel, and others, by annual subscription and on such medium as the clerk and recorder shall determine in accordance with the provisions of section 30-10-407, a daily copy in bulk of all documents recorded and filed in such office or less than all if the clerk and recorder determines it to be feasible to sort the bulk as requested. Such bulk copy shall be available to the subscriber no later than the third business day following the date of recording or filing. The fee to be charged by the clerk and recorder for bulk copies supplied in accordance with this subsection (2.5) shall be sufficient to cover the direct and indirect costs of production incurred by the clerk and recorder.

(b) Upon tender of the appropriate fee as provided in section 30-1-103 (2) (j), the clerk and recorder shall furnish single copies of documents upon demand.

(c) The clerk and recorder shall not be required to conduct a search of the real estate records in order to locate any document for copying or for any other purpose.

(3) If any person or officer refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section, he shall forfeit for each day he so refuses or neglects the sum of five dollars, to be collected by civil action, in the name of the people of the state of Colorado, and pay it into the school fund; but this shall not interfere with or take away any right of action for damages by any person injured by such neglect or refusal.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For note, "One Year Review of Wills, Estates and Trusts", see 41 Den. L. Ctr. J. 118 (1964).

The amendment to art. VI, Colo. Const., transfers most of the former jurisdiction of the then county courts to the district courts, including, among others, the type of matters (juvenile, mental health, domestic relations, probate) intended to be kept private by this section. Times-Call Publishing Co. v. Wingfield, 159 Colo. 172, 410 P.2d 511 (1966).

Other than "interested" persons allowed access to court records. This section does not mean that judges and clerks of courts of record are prohibited from allowing persons other than parties in interest or their attorneys to examine the pleadings or other papers on file in such courts; however, it does mean that although there is no absolute right to examine such pleadings or other papers, persons could be allowed to do so at discretion of court. Times-Call Publishing Co. v. Wingfield, 159 Colo. 172, 410 P.2d 511 (1966).

Press not barred from court records. This section, originating in 1885, was certainly not intended to bar the press from access to pleadings and court records in civil actions involving matters of public interest such as school bond election contests. Times-Call Publishing Co. v. Wingfield, 159 Colo. 172, 410 P.2d 511 (1966).

This section was not designed to allow individuals who wish to abstract the entire records for future profit in their private business, the privilege of using continuously the public property, and of monopolizing from day to day, for months and years, a portion of the time and attention of the county clerk against his will and without recompense. Bean v. People ex rel. Uppercu, 7 Colo. 200, 2 P. 909 (1883).

Mandamus proper remedy. Where a county clerk and recorder refuses to allow abstractors the use of the county records for the purpose of making abstracts, mandamus is a proper remedy for them to resort to. Stocknan v. Brooks, 17 Colo. 248, 29 P. 746 (1892).

Sufficient allegation for mandamus. An allegation by plaintiffs, in their petition for mandamus, that the county clerk and recorder refused to allow them to examine the records, or make memoranda therefrom, though often requested to do so, is sufficient, since by the terms of this section any person has the right to inspect the records; and it is not necessary to allege that plaintiffs did not have all the information that could be acquired by the enforcement of the writ. Stocknan v. Brooks, 17 Colo. 248, 29 P. 746 (1892).

No mandamus to allow abstracting entire land records. A county clerk is not compellable, by mandamus, to allow abstract makers to use his office and the county records for the purpose of abstracting the entire records of the land titles of the county for sale. Bean v. People ex rel. Upperco, 7 Colo. 200, 2 P. 909 (1883).

Applied in In re W.D.A. v. City & County of Denver, 632 P.2d 582 (Colo. 1981).

30-10-102. All money delivered to treasurer - penalty for failure. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, every county clerk and recorder, district attorney, sheriff, or other state or county officer appointed by law, required or permitted to receive and pay over to the county treasurer any taxes, fines, fees, or other moneys whatsoever, within thirty days after the receipt of such moneys, shall pay the same over to the county treasurer, and together therewith such officer so paying over the same shall deliver to the county treasurer a statement of the amount of such moneys so collected by him and paid over, which statement shall be signed by the person paying the same, sworn to before the county treasurer, and then filed and preserved in the office of such treasurer. Every person falsely swearing in any such statement is guilty of perjury in the second degree. The county treasurer shall not demand or receive any fee for administering the oath required by this section.

(2) Fines and fees levied and collected in state courts for which no specific disposition is provided shall be paid to the department of the treasury for deposit in the general fund.

ANNOTATION

Fees, emoluments, and taxes which were collected by a county clerk as an agent of the motor vehicle department were included in the purview of this section. Flanders v. Kochenberger, 118 Colo. 104, 193 P.2d 181 (1948).

30-10-103. Copies prima facie evidence. Copies of all documents, writs, proceedings, instruments, papers, and writings duly filed or deposited in the office of any county judge, county clerk and recorder, or county treasurer, and transcripts from books of record or proceedings kept by any of said officers, with the seal of his office affixed, shall be prima facie evidence in all cases.

ANNOTATION

Purpose. The plain purpose and effect of this section was to make copies of the writings there specified prima facie evidence of the contents of the original writings, to do nothing more and nothing less. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Keene Five-Cents Sav. Bank, 108 F. 505 (8th Cir. 1901).

The object of this section certainly was not to make mere copies competent, relevant, or material evidence of facts of which the original writings were not evidence. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Keene Five-Cents Sav. Bank, 108 F. 505 (8th Cir. 1901).

Objection not tenable. If the county court permits one of the books of its office to be taken into another court as evidence, the objection that the original, and not a certified copy, is produced is not tenable. McAllister v. People ex rel. Brisbane, 28 Colo. 156, 63 P. 308 (1900).

30-10-104. Resignations of officers, to whom made. All county officers who hold their office by election shall make their resignation to the officer authorized by law to fill such vacancies in such office, respectively.

30-10-105. When office becomes vacant. (1) Every county office shall become vacant, on the happening of any one of the following events, before the expiration of the term of office:

- (a) The death of the incumbent;
- (b) The resignation of the incumbent;
- (c) The removal of the incumbent;
- (d) The incumbent's ceasing to be an inhabitant of the county for which he was elected or appointed;
- (e) The incumbent's refusal or neglect to take his oath of office, to give or renew his official bond, or to deposit such oath and bond within the time prescribed by law;
- (f) The decision of a competent tribunal declaring void his election or appointment;
- (g) The incumbent is declared incapacitated in the manner provided in subsection (4) of this section.
- (h) Repealed.

(2) In the event a county officer is found guilty of any felony or infamous crime by a court or jury, the board of county commissioners shall immediately suspend such county officer from office without pay until his conviction is final and he has exhausted, or by failure to assert them has waived, all rights to new trial and all rights of appeal. At the time such officer's conviction is final and he has exhausted, or by failure to assert them has waived, all rights to appeal and new trial, the said board shall remove such officer from office and his successor shall be appointed as provided by statute, unless during such period of suspension a successor has been duly elected and qualified and said successor, whether so appointed or elected, shall be the duly constituted officer.

(3) Should the officer suspended from office by the board of county commissioners as provided in this section be found not guilty in a state or federal court either on appeal, original trial, or new trial, the board shall forthwith reinstate such officer and give him his back pay, unless during such period of suspension a successor to such suspended officer has been duly elected and qualified. In the event a successor to such suspended officer has been so elected and qualified, such suspended officer shall receive his back pay only up to the expiration date of his regular term of office and he shall not be reinstated or paid further unless he is such person duly elected and qualified.

(4) (a) Any county officer shall be declared incapacitated when there is a judicial determination that he is unable to routinely and fully carry out the responsibilities of his office by virtue of mental or physical illness or disability and he has been so unable for a continuous period of not less than six months immediately preceding the finding of incapacity. The quantum of proof required, the procedures to be followed, and the rights reserved to the subject of any determination of incapacity under this subsection (4) shall be those specified for the appointment of guardians in part 3 of article 14 of title 15, C.R.S., to the extent applicable.

(b) A proceeding to determine incapacity under this subsection (4) shall be commenced in the district court by a majority of the board of county commissioners. With respect to a county commissioner, proceedings shall be commenced when said commissioner fails to attend any regular meeting of the board of county commissioners for a period of six months. With respect to any county officer other than a county commissioner, proceedings shall be commenced when such officer fails to report to his office or other regular place of business for a period of six months.

(c) In any county having a population of less than one hundred thousand, the county shall be represented in the district court by the district attorney or by a qualified attorney acting for the district attorney who is appointed by the district court for that purpose. In any county having a population of one hundred thousand or more, the county shall be represented by the county attorney or a qualified attorney acting for the county attorney who is appointed by the district court for that purpose.

ANNOTATION

No interpretation of vacancy needed. So simple, direct, and integrated is the language of this section that there is no room for interpretation as to when a vacancy occurs. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

Vacancy applies not to the incumbent, but to the term, or to the office, or both, depending generally upon the context. People ex rel. Bentley v. Le Fevre, 21 Colo. 218, 40 P. 882 (1895).

The court said that the word "vacancy" as used in modern times relates not only to the office which is to be filled, but to the term for which the appointment is to be made. Monash v. Rhoades, 11 Colo. App. 404, 53 P. 236 (1898), aff'd, 27 Colo. 235, 60 P. 569 (1900); People ex rel. Calloway v. De Guelle, 47 Colo. 13, 105 P. 1110 (1909).

Conviction works disqualification and vacancy. Conviction under the statute of an infamous crime or of an offense involving the violation of the oath of office operates as a disqualification so as to create a vacancy forthwith in the office. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

Instant vacancy upon conviction. The happening of the event fixes the time and fulfillment of the vacancy, and the mingling of situations which ordinarily would give rise to vacancies ipso facto with others that do not necessarily create vacancies ipso facto, without difference of treatment in the statute, is significant, thus, among the listed events creating a vacancy in office are three which by their very nature result in termination of office holding, and the statutory declaration that the office becomes vacant upon the happening thereof seems almost surplusage; also reference is made to the provisions relating to the death of an incumbent, or his resignation, or his removal; the occurrence of any of these events establishes instant a vacancy; and to hold that the death of an incumbent, or his resignation, or his removal effects an immediate vacancy in the office but that the same is not true as to an officer convicted of either of the described offenses would result in a strained, unnatural and illogical construction, in view of the language employed in the statute which makes no such distinction. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

But the mere doing of a prohibited act by an official, without his conviction therefor, does not create a vacancy. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

And in this state all infamous crimes are felonies, but not all felonies are infamous crimes. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

If a county official was convicted of income tax evasion, and if such amounts to conviction of an infamous crime or an offense involving a violation of his official oath, within the purview of this section, the office of sheriff of Jefferson county became vacant by operation of the law on the date of such conviction. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

Effect of out-of-state convictions. The fact that the general assembly has provided in certain statutes that convictions in other jurisdictions shall operate disadvantageously in the state to the convicted person, and did not so provide in this section, requires us to hold that, as to the latter, the general assembly purposely omitted words which would have given effect to foreign convictions, because to ascertain the intent of the general assembly enacting a particular statute, resort may be had to a comparison in language of the statute under study with analogous but unrelated legislation. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

A conviction in the federal court for this state is not conclusive on a question of disqualification to hold an office of honor, trust, or profit under the laws of Colorado. People v. Enlow, 135 Colo. 249, 310 P.2d 539 (1957).

When resignation without effect. The right of any public official to resign cannot be doubted; but when the resignation is predicated upon the premise, stated, or which his conduct may imply, that it is to avoid performing a specific duty in the interest of a party in whose behalf such official is legally bound to act, his resignation, however formally tendered and accepted, will be regarded as without effect. People ex rel. Rosenberg v. Keating, 112 Colo. 26, 144 P.2d 992 (1944).

Where the county clerk-elect died before qualification, a vacancy in the office occurred on the expiration of the term of the then incumbent, to be filled by appointment of the county commissioners. Gibbs v. People ex rel. Watts, 66 Colo. 414, 182 P. 894 (1919).

Where the sheriff incumbent was reelected but failed to qualify for the second term, and died before his first term expired, one appointed by the board of county commissioners to the vacancy, held only to the second Tuesday of the succeeding January, the day appointed by law for the commencement of the second term of his predecessor, even though by express terms, his appointment was "until the next general election"; that upon the second Tuesday of the succeeding January there was a vacancy, and one then appointed by the county commissioners to fill it was entitled to the office until the next general election. People ex rel. Calloway v. De Guelle, 47 Colo. 13, 105 P. 1110 (1909).

30-10-106. Substitute officers have same powers and compensation. When any coroner is required to act as sheriff, or any other officer in this state is required to perform any duties belonging to any other office, for the time being, he shall have the same powers in respect to that duty as are given by law to the officer whose duties he performs, and shall be entitled to receive the same compensation for his services.

Any such officer shall also take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed by law, before some officer authorized to administer oaths, and deposit the same with the official bond to be filed and preserved therewith.

(2) In lieu of the bond required by subsection (1) of this section, a county may purchase crime insurance coverage on behalf of the county officer and county employees to protect the people of the county from any malfeasance on the part of the officer while in office or employees.

30-10-301. Oath of commissioners. Each person elected as commissioner, on receiving a certificate of his election, shall take an oath to support the constitution of the United States and of the state of Colorado, and to perform the duties of his office to the best of his ability, which oath, being endorsed upon said certificate, under the hand and seal of the person administering it, shall be sufficient for said person to act as such commissioner.

to the best of his ability. People v. Schneider, 133 Colo. 173, 292 P.2d 982 (1956).

30-10-302. County seal - open meetings - rules. The seal of the county shall be the seal of the board of county commissioners. The board of county commissioners shall meet in open session and all persons conducting themselves in an orderly manner may attend its meetings. The board may establish rules and regulations to govern the transactions of its business.

ANNOTATION

The language of this section does not require physically open doors, but only free public access. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

And when no intent to exclude the public existed and when no one actually was excluded, no violation of this statute had occurred where the county commissioners sat with the doors closed. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

30-10-303. Meetings of board. (1) Each board of county commissioners shall meet at the county seat of its county at least one business day of each month and at such other times and locations within the county as in the opinion of the board the public interest may require. Such meetings shall be held on a regular and published schedule, as determined by resolution of the board.

(2) The board may hold such special or emergency meetings and adopt such publication procedure therefor as the public interest may, in the opinion of the board, require.

ANNOTATION

The powers of the board of county commissioners are statutory. People ex rel. Jones v. Carver, 5 Colo. App. 156, 38 P. 332 (1894).

No authority is conferred upon it except at meetings held at the times prescribed by statute, or at such other times as in the opinion of the board the public interests may require. People ex rel. Jones v. Carver, 5 Colo. App. 156, 38 P. 332 (1894).

No one member has authority to call such a meeting, and their judgment can be expressed only after they come together. People ex rel. Jones v. Carver, 5 Colo. App. 156, 38 P. 332 (1894).

And to make the meeting one at which such expression can be given, all the members must be present. People ex rel. Jones v. Carver, 5 Colo. App. 156, 38 P. 332 (1894).

Under former section boards of county commissioners were bound to hold their first regular meeting for the year on the first Monday in January. Liggett v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 6 Colo. App. 269, 40 P. 475 (1895).

This section is silent as to the manner of calling special meetings, and there are strong reasons for requiring an order entered of record at a regular meeting, by which the public at large, as well as the members of the board, may have notice of the time and the nature of the business to be transacted; if, however, it should be conceded that the board may meet upon the call of the chairman or otherwise, a sound rule of public policy requires that all members of the board shall have notice of the meeting. Packard v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 2 Colo. 338 (1874).

And it was not a violation of this statute when county commissioners met and transacted business without notice of a meeting held on a day other than those provided for by the statute, where it was well known throughout the county that the commissioners regularly held their meetings on the first Monday of every month. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

30-10-304. Meetings of board in counties over one hundred thousand. Each board of county commissioners of counties containing more than one hundred thousand inhabitants shall hold at least two meetings in each week of each year; but in the months of July and August of each year the board will not be required to hold more than two meetings in each of those months.

30-10-305. Penalty for absence from meetings in counties over one hundred thousand. If any member of the board of county commissioners of counties containing more than one hundred thousand inhabitants is absent from any regular meeting thereof without being excused by a majority of the board, he shall forfeit to the county ten dollars for any such absence, which sum so forfeited shall be deducted from the absentee's salary next to be paid.

30-10-306. Commissioners' districts - vacancies. (1) Each county shall be divided into three compact districts by the board of county commissioners. Each district shall be as nearly equal in population as possible based on the most recent federal census of the United States minus the number of persons serving a sentence of detention or confinement in any correctional facility in the county as indicated in the statistical report of the department of corrections for the most recent fiscal year. Each district shall be numbered consecutively and shall not be subject to alteration more often than once every two years. One commissioner shall be elected from each of such districts by the voters of the whole county. If any commissioner, during his or her term of office, moves from the district in which he or she resided when elected, his or her office shall thereupon become vacant. All proceedings by the board of county commissioners in formation of such districts not inconsistent with this section are confirmed and validated.

(2) Each county having a population of seventy thousand or more which has chosen to increase the members of the board of county commissioners from three to five shall be divided into three or five districts by the board of county commissioners according to the method of election described in section 30-10-306.5 (5) or (6) or section 30-10-306.7. The districts shall be as nearly equal in population as possible based on the most recent federal census of the United States minus the number of persons serving a sentence of detention or confinement in any correctional facility in the county as indicated in the statistical report of the department of corrections for the most recent fiscal year. Each district shall be numbered consecutively, and shall not be subject to alteration more often than once every two years; except that, notwithstanding subsection (3) of this section, the board may alter the districts to conform to precinct boundaries that are changed in accordance with section 1-5-103 (1),

C.R.S., based on the division of the state into congressional districts or an approved plan for reapportionment of the members of the general assembly when necessary to ensure that no precinct is located in more than one district. Commissioners shall be elected at large or from districts according to the method of election described in section 30-10-306.5 (5) or (6) or section 30-10-306.7. If any commissioner required to be resident in a district moves during his term of office from the district in which he resided when elected, his office shall thereupon become vacant. All proceedings by the board of county commissioners in formation of such districts not inconsistent with this section are confirmed and validated.

(3) When a board of county commissioners determines to change the boundaries of commissioner districts or when new districts are created, such changes or additions shall be made only in odd-numbered years and, if made, shall be completed by July 1 of such year, except in cases of changes resulting from changes in county boundaries.

(4) Notwithstanding subsections (1) to (3) of this section, after each federal census of the United States, each district shall be established, revised, or altered to assure that such districts shall be as nearly equal in population as possible based on such census minus the number of persons serving a sentence of detention or confinement in any correctional facility in the county as indicated in the statistical report of the department of corrections for the most recent fiscal year. The establishment, revision, or alteration of districts required by this subsection (4) shall be completed by September 30 of the odd-numbered year following such census.

(5) No less than thirty days before adopting any resolution to change the boundaries of commissioner districts or create new commissioner districts, the board of county commissioners shall hold a public hearing on the proposed district boundaries.

ANNOTATION

Intent of “by the county commissioners”. When the general assembly in 1963 amended this statute by adding the words “by the county commissioners”, the supreme court believed to be obvious that it was the general assembly’s intent to make it clear and unmistakable that the county commissioners henceforth had the duty and responsibility to maintain their commission districts as compact districts with populations as nearly equal as possible. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

This section does, in fact, impose a positive duty upon the commissioners to redistrict. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

When the general assembly used the word “shall”, it intended to impose upon the county commissioners a mandatory duty and not suggest merely a permissive or discretionary act. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

This section is tantamount to a command upon the county commissioners to properly apportion their commissioner districts, and either neglecting or refusing to obey this command amounts to a disregard of statutory duty in not taking affirmative action. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

The functions of a board of county commissioners under this section are administrative, and it cannot evade its responsibility to take the necessary affirmative action where such is required to correct malapportionment of commissioner districts. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

Failure or refusal to act proper basis for judicial intercession. Either the failure within a reasonable time or the refusal to act upon the petition of citizens when redistricting is required in order to comply with the law, is a proper basis for judicial intercession. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

And mandamus has been upheld as a remedy to require county commissioners to comply with this section. Bd. of County Comm’rs v. Edwards, 171 Colo. 499, 468 P.2d 857 (1970).

There is no reason to distinguish between “compact” in the constitutional provision relating to legislative districts and the same term in the statute concerning commissioner districts. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

And compactness concerns a geographic area whose boundaries are as nearly equidistant as possible from the geographic center. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

Compactness requirement satisfied. Where county was redistricted into three districts, one of which had an area of five square miles and the other two of which had areas of over 1200 square miles, but where the new districts were much more equal in population than the old, the requirement of compactness was satisfied. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

Commissioners may express views privately. Where, at an earlier private meeting, two of the county commissioners agreed to support a redistricting plan when it was proposed by residents of a city in one of the proposed districts, this conduct of the two commissioners did not invalidate the later action of the board in adopting the plan, because it is desirable for commissioners to seek the sentiments of various citizens and it is not improper for them to state their views on matters which will later come before them for action. Allen v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 178 Colo. 354, 497 P.2d 1026 (1972).

No party affiliation required. The state constitution provides that any qualified voter is eligible to hold the office of county commissioner, and this section additionally requires one commissioner shall be elected from each district by the voters of the entire county, but it is not necessary that one have any party affiliation in order to hold the office of county commissioner. Andersen v. Smyth, 146 Colo. 165, 360 P.2d 970 (1961); Mohler v. Johnson, 196 Colo. 330, 584 P.2d 1218 (1978).

But residency is. A person is not eligible for designation as a candidate for nomination to the office of county commissioner unless at the time of the designation he is a resident of the district he seeks to represent. Spain v. Fischahs, 143 Colo. 464, 354 P.2d 502 (1960).

Under this section, the designee of a political party for nomination to the office of county commissioner must be a resident of the district which he seeks to represent at the time of the county assembly of the political party at which candidates are designated. Spain v. Fischahs, 143 Colo. 464, 354 P.2d 502 (1960); Mohler v. Johnson, 196 Colo. 330, 584 P.2d 1218 (1978).

The "removal" contemplated by former section was not a mere temporary change of place of abode from one district to another, whether it be for pleasure, temporary convenience or for business reasons, and to work a vacancy in the office the removal which the general assembly had in mind must be with a fixed intention by the commissioner who goes from one district to another to give up his legal residence or home in the former, and at the same time to acquire a domicile or legal home in the latter. People v. Espinoza, 81 Colo. 198, 254 P. 778 (1927).

30-10-306.5. Procedure to increase number of county commissioners. (1) In any county having a population of seventy thousand or more, the membership of the board of county commissioners may be increased from three to five members pursuant to this section.

(2) Subject to referral as provided in this subsection (2), a board of county commissioners may pass a resolution increasing its membership to five members and designating not fewer than two of the methods of election set forth in subsection (5) or (6) of this section. The resolution shall be referred to the registered electors of the county at a general election. If a majority of votes cast are in favor of the referred resolution, the board of county commissioners shall take such action as is necessary to assure that the increased number of county commissioners are elected at the next general election according to the procedure for election contained in the referred resolution which received the largest number of votes cast.

(3) (a) In the alternative, a petition signed by at least eight percent of the total number of qualified electors of a county voting for all candidates for the office of secretary of state at the last preceding general election shall be sufficient to place on the ballot at a general election the question of whether to increase the membership to five members with a designation of not fewer than two of the methods of election set forth in subsection (5) or (6) of this section.

(b) If a majority of the votes cast on a question placed on the ballot pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (3) are in favor of increasing the membership, the board of county commissioners shall pass a resolution increasing the membership to five members and providing for the election of the increased number of county commissioners at the next general election according to the procedure for election specified in such question which received the largest number of votes cast.

(4) (Deleted by amendment, L. 94, p. 1269, § 1, effective May 22, 1994.)

(5) (a) If three county commissioners are to be resident in districts and two elected by the voters of the whole county, they shall be elected as set forth in this subsection (5). Members resident in districts elected pursuant to this subsection (5) may be elected by the voters of the whole county or may be elected only by voters resident in the district from which the member runs for election.

(b) If the first general election after the voters' approval of such increase is held in 1976 or any fourth year thereafter, two members resident in districts and one at-large member shall be elected to four-year terms at said election, and one at-large member shall be elected to fill the vacancy until the next general election, and two members, one resident in a district and one at large, shall be elected to four-year terms at said next general election. Thereafter, three members, two resident in districts and one at large, shall be elected at the general elections which occur each four years after the first general election following such resolution, and two members, one resident in a district and one at large, shall be elected at the general election which occurs two years after the first general election following such resolution and every fourth year thereafter.

(c) If the first general election after the voters' approval of such increase is held in 1978 or any fourth year thereafter, two members, one resident in a district and one at large, shall be elected to four-year terms at said election, and one at-large member shall be elected to fill the vacancy until the next general election, and three members, two resident in districts and one at large, shall be elected to four-year terms at said next general election. Thereafter, two members, one resident in a district and one at large, shall be elected at the general elections which occur each four years after the first general election following such resolution, and three members, two resident in districts and one at large, shall be elected at the general election which occurs two years after the first general election following such resolution and every fourth year thereafter.

(d) Prior to March 1 of the election year, the board of county commissioners shall designate the at-large position from which a commissioner is to be elected to a two-year term to fill a vacancy described in paragraph (b) or (c) of this subsection (5).

(6) (a) If five county commissioners resident in districts are to be elected, they shall be elected as set forth in this subsection (6). Members elected pursuant to this subsection (6) may be elected by the voters of the whole county or may be elected only by voters resident in the district from which the member runs for election.

(b) If the first general election after the voters' approval of such increase is held in 1982 or any fourth year thereafter, two members resident in districts shall be elected to four-year terms at said election, and one member resident in a district shall be elected to fill the vacancy until the next general election, and three members resident in districts shall be elected to four-year terms at said next general election. Thereafter, two members resident in districts shall be elected at the general elections which occur each four years after the first general election following such resolution, and three members resident in districts shall be elected at the general election which occurs two years after the first general election following such resolution and every fourth year thereafter.

(c) If the first general election after the voters' approval of such increase is held in 1984 or any fourth year thereafter, three members resident in districts shall be elected to four-year terms at said election, and one member resident in a district shall be elected to fill the vacancy until the next general election, and two members resident in districts shall be elected to four-year terms at said next general election. Thereafter, three members resident in districts shall be elected at the general elections which occur each four years after the first general election following such resolution, and two members resident in districts shall be elected at the general election which occurs two years after the first general election following such resolution and every fourth year thereafter.

(d) The board of county commissioners shall designate the district from which a commissioner is to be elected to a two-year term to fill a vacancy described in paragraph (b) or (c) of this subsection (6).

30-10-306.7. Procedure for electing county commissioners. (1) In any county having a population of seventy thousand or more which has increased the membership of the board of county commissioners to five pursuant to sections 1-4-205 (3) (a), C.R.S., and 30-10-306.5, the registered electors may, either by referendum or by initiative, change the method of electing said members or reduce the membership of the board of county commissioners to three, pursuant to the procedures in this section.

(2) (a) In any such county, the method of electing members of the board of county commissioners may be changed to any one of the following methods:

(I) Five commissioners resident in five districts, elected by the voters of the whole county or elected only by voters resident in the district from which the member runs for election. In such case, the procedures for election shall be in accordance with section 30-10-306.5 (6). The county clerk and recorder shall make any other necessary provision to effectuate the change in method of election.

(II) Three commissioners resident in three districts, elected by the voters of the whole county or elected only by voters resident in the district from which the member runs for election. In such case, the procedures for election shall be in accordance with subsection (5) of this section.

(III) Five commissioners elected as follows: Three commissioners resident in three districts and elected by voters resident in those districts and two commissioners elected at large; or three commissioners resident in districts and elected by voters of the whole county and two commissioners elected at large. In such case, the procedures for election shall be in accordance with paragraph (a) of subsection (5) of this section.

(b) The registered electors of such a county may, either by referendum or by initiative, decrease the members of the board of county commissioners from five to three. In such case, the term of office of all members serving on the board shall expire at the time the next duly elected board takes the oath of office following the first general election after the voters' approval of such decrease, and three new members shall be elected in accordance with sections 1-4-205 (2), C.R.S., and 30-10-306. Two seats, as determined by lot, shall be elected for four-year terms and the remaining seat shall be elected for a two-year term of office in accordance with sections 1-4-205 (2), C.R.S., and 30-10-306. The county clerk and recorder shall make any necessary changes to effectuate the decrease in membership.

(3) Subject to referral as provided in this subsection (3), a board of county commissioners may pass a resolution changing the method of electing the members of the board or decreasing the membership of the board, as provided in subsection (2) of this section. Prior to the ninetieth day before the next general election, the board of county commissioners shall request that the county clerk and recorder place the resolution on the ballot for referral to the registered electors of the county at the next general election.

(4) In the alternative, a petition signed by at least eight percent of the total number of qualified electors of a county voting for all candidates for the office of secretary of state at the last preceding general election shall be sufficient to place on the ballot at a general election the question of whether to change the method of electing members of the board or to decrease the membership of the board. In the case of a petition to change the method of electing members of the board, such petition shall specify the method of election according to subsection (2) of this section. Such a petition, shall be delivered to the county clerk and recorder prior to the ninetieth day before the next general election with a request that the question be placed on the ballot for referral to the registered electors of the county at the next general election.

(5) (a) If a majority of the votes cast on the question are in favor of changing the method of electing the five commissioners or providing for three commissioners, as provided in subparagraph (II) or subparagraph (III) of paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of this section, the board of county commissioners shall change the boundaries of the commissioner districts so as to create three districts as nearly equal in population as possible based on the most recent federal census of the United States minus the number of persons serving a sentence of detention or confinement in any correctional facility in the county as indicated in the statistical report of the department of corrections for the most recent fiscal year. The districts shall be numbered consecutively and shall not be subject to alteration more often than once every two years; except that, notwithstanding section 30-10-306 (3), the board may alter the districts to conform to precinct boundaries that are changed in accordance with section 1-5-103 (1), C.R.S., based on the division of the state into congressional districts or an approved plan for reapportionment of the members of the general assembly when necessary to ensure that no precinct is located in more than one district. All other provisions of sections 1-4-205 (3) (a), C.R.S., and 30-10-306 (2) and (3) relating to the method of electing members, as provided in this paragraph (a), shall be applicable; except that, when districts are created, such changes shall be completed by July 1 of the odd-numbered year immediately preceding the general election.

(b) (I) Upon adoption of the boundaries of the three commissioner districts pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, it shall be decided by lot which of the five presently elected commissioners shall serve each of the three commissioner districts and which two commissioners shall serve the county at large.

(II) If more than one presently elected commissioner resides within the boundaries of the same newly created commissioner district, those commissioners shall first determine by lot which of them will serve that district and which of them will represent the county at large. The remaining commissioners shall then determine by lot which of them will serve the two remaining districts and which of them will serve as the second commissioner at large.

(III) The county clerk and recorder shall establish the time, place, and manner in which such lots shall be conducted and shall declare the official results of such lots immediately thereafter.

(c) In the event that the registered electors of a county vote to change the method of election pursuant to this subsection (5), the terms of office of the five presently elected commissioners shall not be affected.

(d) Thereafter, the method of election in such counties shall be as provided in sections 1-4-205 (3) (a), C.R.S., and 30-10-306.5 (5).

Power to issue warrant in board alone. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, each county commissioner of the several counties of this state is required to execute a bond, payable to the people of the state of Colorado, conditioned that the commissioner will faithfully and honestly discharge the duties of the office of county commissioner so long as the commissioner continues in office, and that the commissioner will not, either directly or indirectly, misappropriate, or permit to be misappropriated, any of the funds or property of said county while in office; that the commissioner will not, while in office, be interested or concerned in any manner, directly or indirectly, in any sale, purchase, bargain, or contract whereby any sum of money or thing in action becomes due to such commissioner from such county, or from any person from such county; and that the commissioner will at all times transact the business of such county economically, and to the best of the commissioner's ability, for the best interest of such county.

ANNOTATION

The object of this section is to require county commissioners to give bonds for the faithful discharge of their duties, and a provision for the recovery of such damages as the county shall sustain by reason of a breach of the conditions of the bond, and designating who might bring suit for such recovery, is certainly germane to the subject matter of such a title. Patterson v. Watson, 35 Colo. 502, 83 P. 958 (1906).

Subsequent bond not authorized. When a person duly elected to the office of county commissioner has executed his bond as required by law, when said bond has been approved by the judge of the proper district, and when the person so elected and qualified has actually entered upon the duties of his office, the district court or judge, thereafter, has no jurisdiction to order said commissioner to give a new bond with further sureties to be approved by said court or judge, and, in default of compliance with such order, to declare such commissioner's office vacant. People ex rel. Jones v. District Court, 18 Colo. 293, 32 P. 819 (1893).

The approval by the judge of the district court of a bond of a county commissioner-elect, is not to be arbitrarily overturned or disregarded by the board. People ex rel. Pauls v. District Court, 46 Colo. 1, 101 P. 777 (1909).

No forfeiture of bond for compliance with unconstitutional statute. Compliance with the terms of a statute which may be unconstitutional will not, absent other evidence, be grounds for forfeiture of bond required by this section. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Fifty-First Gen. Ass'y, 198 Colo. 302, 599 P.2d 887 (1979).

30-10-314. Where bond filed. If a county commissioner executes a bond pursuant to section 30-10-311 (1), the bond, after approval by the judge of the district court, shall be filed by the county clerk and recorder of such county and shall be recorded in the records of the county.

ANNOTATION

Duties imposed by general assembly. While the office of county clerk is created by the constitution, none of his duties are therein defined, but all the duties pertaining to the office, both in his capacity as clerk and as recorder of deeds, are to be prescribed and enjoined by the general assembly, and the duties he is to perform as recorder of deeds have been specifically defined and imposed by this and the following sections, and it was clearly within the province of the general assembly to impose upon the clerk in his capacity of recorder of deeds the duties enjoined upon him by this and the following sections. People ex rel. Smith v. Crissman, 41 Colo. 450, 92 P. 949 (1907).

The duty of the county clerk and recorder extends only to instruments "authorized by law to be recorded in his office". Laughlin v. Hawley, 9 Colo. 170, 11 P. 45 (1886).

Making the county recorder registrar of titles does not constitute him a new county officer, but simply changes his duties in this, that instead of recording the evidence of titles, as heretofore provided, he registers the ultimate fact, or conclusion, that a certain party named has title to a particular tract of land as adjudged by the court. People ex rel. Smith v. Crissman, 41 Colo. 450, 92 P. 949 (1907).

Public record defined. It is said that a public record is one required by law to be kept, or necessary to be kept, in the discharge of a duty imposed by law, or directed by law to serve as a memorial and evidence of something written, said, or done. Treat v. McDonough, 148 Colo. 603, 367 P.2d 587 (1961).

Tract indices kept by the county clerk and recorder for the purpose of preparing abstracts of title, even though not within the terms of the statute, constitute an appropriate mode of discharging the clerk's duties, hence, it was not only his right but his duty to keep them and having done so they became public property subject to public use as provided by statute. Treat v. McDonough, 148 Colo. 603, 367 P.2d 587 (1961).

What is a public record is a question of law. Treat v. McDonough, 148 Colo. 603, 367 P.2d 587 (1961).

General public right to inspect or copy public records. At common law, due to land ownership by a very limited number of people, there was no general public right to inspect or copy public records; however, this concept later gave way, particularly in the United States, to a recognition of such a right due to our belief in widespread ownership of real property. Treat v. McDonough, 148 Colo. 603, 367 P.2d 587 (1961).

But a wide discretion was necessarily vested in the county clerk with reference to permitting the examination of the records of his office by those other than employees thereof, because the liability of having the records mutilated, changed, or obliterated was always present when strangers were about the office; and while it was necessary, perhaps, that abstracters had to be allowed to examine and make copies from these records they were in so doing subjected to such reasonable regulations as the county clerk prescribed. Upton v. Catlin, 17 Colo. 546, 31 P. 172 (1892).

The right of an abstractor to inspect and make memoranda of the contents of the records, etc., in the county clerk's office, is subordinate to the right of the clerk and recorder so to regulate his office as to maintain the sanctity of the records, etc., pertaining thereto. Upton v. Catlin, 17 Colo. 546, 31 P. 172 (1892).

Reasonable regulation of access. A rule established by the county clerk and recorder provided that parties desiring to examine the records of the office for the purpose of making abstracts would be permitted to do so upon any day, when the office was required to be kept open under the law, between the hours of nine and twelve in the forenoon, and one and four in the afternoon; provided, that on the days when the county commissioners are in session in the office, said memoranda and copies may be made between the hours of nine and ten in the forenoon and four and five in the afternoon, and at no other times during said days, was held a reasonable regulation. Upton v. Catlin, 17 Colo. 546, 31 P. 172, (1892).

Mandamus proper. Mandamus is a proper remedy where, upon demand, a county clerk and recorder refuses to permit an abstractor to inspect and make memoranda of the contents of the records of his office. Upton v. Catlin, 17 Colo. 546, 31 P. 172 (1892).

Judgment of justice of the peace not required to be recorded. The court found no law requiring or authorizing the transcript of a judgment from a justice of the peace to be recorded or indexed, and if the clerk and recorder should keep any index or record of such judgments, it would be entirely voluntary. Laughlin v. Hawley, 9 Colo. 170, 11 P. 45 (1886).

30-10-407. Microfilm and optical imaging records - when - standards for optical imaging systems. (1) When authorized by the board of county commissioners, the county clerk and recorder in counties, or cities and counties, may record the documents lawfully filed for record in his or her office by making and preserving microfilm or optical images thereof. Such county clerk and recorder shall properly index the same in the manner required by law. When the microfilm or optical imaging method of recording has been approved by the board of county commissioners and adopted by the county clerk and recorder, at least one microfilm reader to make the microfilms legible or at least one computer terminal to access optical imaging records shall be provided, and as many more microfilm readers or computer terminals as may prove necessary to give reasonable service to the public shall also be provided.

(2) At least two microfilms or two optical imaging database records shall be made of each recorded document, which shall be kept in separate buildings as far as reasonably may be done in order that they may not be subject to the same hazards. All sets of the microfilm and all optical imaging computer data shall be constantly under the control of the county clerk and recorder. One set of microfilm or one copy of the optical imaging database shall always be kept by the county clerk and recorder, so that the same is available to the public during the hours that said county clerk and recorder's office is open for business and so that persons desiring to inspect or examine the record may do so by means of microfilm reader and facilities or by means of optical imaging computer terminals maintained in said county clerk and recorder's office. Said records shall not be removed from the county clerk and recorder's office at any time for any purpose, except the security copy, which shall be kept in a security vault approved by the board of county commissioners and the county clerk and recorder. The security copy of the microfilm or optical image media may be deposited in the county records section of the department of personnel.

(3) (Deleted by amendment, L. 2004, § 1, effective July 1, 2004.)

(4) Any document which cannot be satisfactorily recorded by microfilm or by optical imaging may be recorded by other methods of photographing or by transcribing by typewriter or by longhand.

(4.3) Regardless of the method by which a document is recorded, legible size prints shall be made on demand for the fee provided by law; except that the county clerk and recorder shall not be required to provide a print during the first three business days after a document is recorded.

(4.5) Any optical imaging system utilized by a county clerk and recorder shall, at minimum, produce permanent records which do not permit additions, deletions, or other changes to the original documents.

(5) Nothing in this section shall abridge or limit the power of any court to compel the production of any microfilm or optical imaging records in any proceeding.

Time of Reception	Names of Grantors	Names of Grantees	Type of Document
Volume and Page Where Recorded	Remarks		Description of Tract

(b) The clerk and recorder shall make correct entries in the grantor index of every document filed or recorded, as required by law, concerning or affecting real estate, under the appropriate headings, entering the names of the grantors in alphabetical order.
(2) (a) The grantee index may be divided into seven columns, with heads to the respective columns as follows:

Time of Reception	Names of Grantors	Names of Grantees	Type of Document
Volume and Page Where Recorded	Remarks		Description of Tract

(b) The clerk and recorder shall make correct entries in the grantee index of every document filed or recorded, as required by law, concerning or affecting real estate under the appropriate heading, entering the names of the grantees in alphabetical order.

(2.5) The county clerk and recorder shall properly enter a recorded document in the grantor and grantee indices as soon as practicable but not later than seven business days after the date on which the document is recorded.

(3) (a) In counties with the capability, the county clerk and recorder may substitute printouts, microfiches, aperture cards, or other legible photographic or electronic processes for the books and indices required by subsections (1) and (2) of this section. The security and public inspection provisions of section 30-10-407 shall apply to all such printouts, microfiches, aperture cards, or other photographic or electronic records. Both the grantor and grantee indices may be combined in one alphabetical listing with proper coding to indicate grantor and grantee, with both the grantor and grantee appearing in proper alphabetical order.

(b) A general index of releases may be maintained on printouts, microfiches, or aperture cards, by other legible photographic or electronic process, or in a separate book of releases containing a space to enter new index numbers of releases on a numerical listing of the original recording information of the document being released.

ANNOTATION

The purpose of this and the following section is to furnish a ready and generally convenient means of reference to the matters contained in the books of record. People ex rel. Federal Land Bank v. Ginn, 106 Colo. 417, 106 P.2d 479 (1940).

This section requires every county clerk and recorder to maintain grantor-grantee indices. Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. v. LaSalle Nat'l Bank Ass'n, 111 P.3d 521 (Colo. App. 2004).

There is no mandatory requirement in this and the following section that a description of the property conveyed be noted therein. People ex rel. Federal Land Bank v. Ginn, 106 Colo. 417, 106 P.2d 479 (1940).

Correct entries in these books do not excuse a mistake made in transcribing an instrument on the record proper. People ex rel. Federal Land Bank v. Ginn, 106 Colo. 417, 106 P.2d 479 (1940).

The failure of an interested party to search and examine the reception book and indices does not release a clerk and recorder from liability for neglect in failing to correctly transcribe an instrument on the record proper. People ex rel. Federal Land Bank v. Ginn, 106 Colo. 417, 106 P.2d 479 (1940).

Nor does the mere constructive notice which the registration statutes impute from the filing of a conveyance for record, which is for the protection of those claiming under the conveyance, exist for the protection of the recording officer for nonperformance of official duty. People ex rel. Federal Land Bank v. Ginn, 106 Colo. 417, 106 P.2d 479 (1940).

30-10-409. Reception book - form - contents - acceptance for recording. (1) The county clerk and recorder shall also keep a reception book, each page of which shall be divided into five columns, with heads to the respective columns as follows:

Time of Reception	Names of Grantors	Names of Grantees	To Whom Delivered	Fees Received
-------------------------	-------------------------	-------------------------	-------------------------	------------------

(2) When any document has been accepted by the clerk and recorder for recording and the proper fee has been paid, such document shall be deemed to be recorded for all purposes. After a document has been received, the clerk and recorder shall endorse upon such document information, which may be in electronic form, noting the day, hour, and minute of its acceptance for recording, the index or reception number, the volume, film or page where recorded, if such are used, and the fee received for recording the same and shall immediately make an entry of the same in the reception book, under the appropriate heading, with the amount paid as fee for recording the same. A document shall be deemed accepted as of the date and time of its endorsement. The clerk and recorder's endorsement may be done electronically. When such endorsement is made electronically, the endorsement shall be immediately perceptible and reproducible. Any document, except those filed and recorded pursuant to section 38-29-205, C.R.S., that is received by 1 p.m. on a business day shall be endorsed by the end of that day. Any document that is received after 1 p.m. on a business day shall be endorsed by 5 p.m. on the following business day. Those documents received pursuant to section 38-29-205, C.R.S., shall be endorsed by the clerk and recorder within three business days. After a document has been endorsed and processed for recording, the clerk and recorder, without additional fee or charge, shall deliver it by regular mail, electronic delivery, or personal delivery to the person authorized to receive the same, writing the name of the person to whom it is delivered in an appropriate column in the reception book.

(3) In counties with the capability, the county clerk and recorder may substitute printouts, microfiches, aperture cards, or other legible photographic or electronic processes for the reception book required by this section; except that proper audit controls of cash receipts shall be maintained in compliance with governmental audit procedures.

(4) No clerk and recorder shall be bound to perform any of the duties required to be performed for which a fee is required unless such fee has been paid or tendered.

(5) A clerk and recorder who decides to accept electronic filings shall establish procedures for such electronic filings that are consistent with the rules promulgated by the secretary of state pursuant to section 30-10-424 (1) (e) (II). No electronic filings shall be accepted by the clerk and recorder until the clerk and recorder has established and made publically available the procedures for electronic filings. Nothing in this article shall be interpreted to require any clerk and recorder to accept electronic filings. Nothing in this article shall abridge the power of any clerk and recorder to accept or reject electronic filings in accordance with the provisions of section 38-35-202, C.R.S.

(6) (a) The deadlines set forth in sections 30-10-407 (4.3) and 30-10-408 (2.5) and subsection (2) of this section shall be extended for a reasonable period of time if an extenuating circumstance prevents the clerk and recorder from meeting such deadlines.

(b) As used in this subsection (6), "extenuating circumstance" means a disaster, as defined in section 24-32-2103 (1.5), C.R.S., or a technical difficulty related to computer hardware or software that is outside the control of the clerk and recorder.

(c) No deadline shall be extended pursuant to this subsection (6), unless the clerk and recorder makes a written finding of extenuating circumstances that is available to the public. Such finding shall include the deadline that has been extended, the reason for the extension, and the period of the extension.

(d) In the case of an extension related to a technical difficulty related to computer hardware or software, the period of extension shall not exceed seven days.

ANNOTATION

Public record is prima facie evidence of collateral matters appropriately incorporated therein when the document has been signed under oath and properly attested to, as such precautions afford at least a presumption of trustworthiness with respect to matters contained within the document. Oak Creek Power Co. v. Colo. River Water Conservation Dist., 182 Colo. 389, 514 P.2d 323 (1973).

Under this section, articles of incorporation, when so recorded, may be used in evidence for the purpose of establishing any fact other than that of corporate existence; and, even without this provision of the law, it is held that where the record or document appointed by law is not part of the fact to be proved, but is merely a collateral or subsequent memorial of the fact, it has not this exclusive character, but any other legal proof is admitted. Thus, the date of incorporation is a secondary fact, and could be proved by collateral circumstances or parol evidence. Schiffer v. Adams, 13 Colo. 572, 22 P. 964 (1889).

The clerk is required to keep indices of a certain character. Treat v. McDonough, 148 Colo. 603, 367 P.2d 587 (1961).

Right of general public to inspect and copy. At common law, due to land ownership by a very limited number of people, there was no general public right to inspect or copy public records; however, this concept later gave way, particularly in the United States, to a recognition of such a right due to our belief in widespread ownership of real property. Treat v. McDonough, 148 Colo. 603, 367 P.2d 587 (1961).

(3) (a) The county clerk and recorder may retain the remaining fifty cents out of each dollar collected pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section. If the clerk and recorder elects not to retain any portion of the fifty cents, he or she shall transmit such unused portion to the secretary of state, who shall transmit such moneys to the state treasurer who shall credit the same to the clerk and recorder technology fund.

(b) The county clerk and recorder shall retain the proceeds of the surcharge collected pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section. Such proceeds, along with the proceeds from the portion of the surcharge collected pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section that the clerk and recorder elects to retain, shall be utilized to defray the costs of:

(2) Except as otherwise provided in section 30-10-424, the moneys in the fund shall be used by the clerk and recorder technology panel to make grants to counties that apply for such grants. It is the intent of the general assembly that the grants shall be given to counties that otherwise lack sufficient resources either to purchase the technology necessary for the clerk and recorders to accept electronic filings or to provide the necessary training related to such technology. It is the further intent of the general assembly that the grants be used for the purposes established in section 30-10-423.

(3) The moneys in the fund shall not be deposited in or transferred to the general fund of this state or any other fund. Any interest earned on the investment or deposit of moneys in the fund shall be credited to and used for the same purpose as other moneys in said fund.

(4) In addition to the appropriations authorized in section 30-10-423 (6), the moneys in the fund shall be subject to annual appropriation by the general assembly to the secretary of state for the administration of section 30-10-424.

30-10-501. Sheriff - election - bond - insurance. (1) A sheriff shall be elected in each county for the term of four years and, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, before entering upon the duties of office, shall execute to the people of the state of Colorado a bond, with at least three sufficient sureties, in the sum of not less than five thousand nor more than twenty thousand dollars, which the board of county commissioners, or, if it is not in session, the county clerk and recorder, subject to the approval of such board at its next session thereafter, shall specify and approve. When approved, the bond shall be filed in the office of the county clerk and recorder, and no person shall be received as surety who is not worth at least two thousand dollars over and above the surety's just debts.

(2) In lieu of the bond required by subsection (1) of this section, a county may purchase crime insurance coverage in an amount not less than ten thousand dollars on behalf of the sheriff to protect the people of the county from any malfeasance on the part of the sheriff while in office.

ANNOTATION

County sheriff is a "person" for the purposes of a civil rights action for damages under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Wigger v. McKee, 809 P.2d 999 (Colo. App. 1990); Cortese v. Black, 838 F. Supp. 485 (D. Colo. 1993).

30-10-501.5. Qualifications. (1) No person shall be eligible for nomination, election, or appointment to the office of sheriff unless such person:

(a) Is a citizen of the United States, is a citizen of the state of Colorado, and is a resident of the county to which the person is to be appointed or elected;

(b) Possesses a high school diploma or its equivalent or a college degree;

(c) Has had a complete set of fingerprints taken by a qualified law enforcement agency and submitted a receipt evidencing such fingerprinting at the time of filing his or her written acceptance pursuant to section 1-4-601 (3), 1-4-906, or 1-4-1002 (5), C.R.S., or a candidate filing an affidavit of intent pursuant to section 1-4-1101, C.R.S. Such law enforcement agency shall forward the fingerprints to the Colorado bureau of investigation. The bureau shall utilize such fingerprints, its files and records, and those of the federal bureau of investigation for the purpose of determining whether the person has ever been convicted of or pleaded guilty or entered a plea of nolo contendere to any felony charge under federal or state laws. The Colorado bureau of investigation shall notify the county clerk and recorder of the county wherein the person is a candidate of the results of the fingerprint analysis. In the event that a conviction or plea is disclosed, such person shall be deemed unqualified for the office of sheriff, unless pardoned. The results of such fingerprint analysis shall be confidential; except that the county clerk and recorder may divulge whether such person is qualified or unqualified for the office of sheriff.

ANNOTATION

When the general assembly enacted the original sheriff training statute in 1990, § 30-10-101.5, it lacked authority to impose any qualifications on the constitutionally created office of county sheriff. Jackson v. State, 966 P.2d 1046 (Colo. 1998).

Because the original sheriff training statute sought to impose qualifications for the job of sheriff in the form of certification requirements, it was unconstitutional. Jackson v. State, 966 P.2d 1046 (Colo. 1998).

The training and certification requirements contained in the reenacted sheriff training statute passed by the general assembly in 1996 could not be applied to county sheriffs during a term of office that began before the effective date of the new requirements. Jackson v. State, 966 P.2d 1046 (Colo. 1998).

30-10-501.6. Training. (1) Every person elected or appointed to the office of sheriff for the first time shall:

(a) Attend a minimum of eighty clock hours at a new sheriff training course developed and facilitated either by the county sheriffs of Colorado, incorporated, or any other training resource agency approved by the Colorado peace officers standards and training board, the first time such training course is given after the person's election or appointment. The Colorado peace officers standards and training board shall have discretion to allow the substitution of any combination of education, experience, and training deemed by the board to be equivalent to such new sheriff training course.

(b) Obtain basic peace officer certification within one year of taking office. An extension may be granted by the Colorado peace officers standards and training board of up to one year to obtain such certification upon just cause shown. The Colorado peace officers standards and training board shall issue written findings of fact supporting such an extension.

(2) Every sheriff must possess basic peace officer certification and shall undergo at least twenty clock hours of in-service training provided by the county sheriffs of Colorado, incorporated, every year during such sheriff's term. The Colorado peace officers standards and training board shall have discretion to waive in-service training upon presentation of evidence by the sheriff demonstrating just cause for noncompletion of such training. The Colorado peace officers standards and training board shall have discretion to allow the substitution of any combination of education, experience, and training deemed by the board to be equivalent to such in-service training of at least twenty clock hours annually.

(3) The county shall only pay all reasonable costs and expenses of new sheriff and in-service training.

30-10-501.7. Enforcement. (1) In the event a sheriff fails to comply with the requirements set forth in section 30-10-501.6, such sheriff's pay must be suspended by the board of county commissioners in accordance with subsection (2) of this section. Such sheriff's pay shall be reinstated with back pay by the board of county commissioners upon completion of said requirements in accordance with subsection (2) of this section.

(2) In any circumstances set forth in subsection (1) of this section, the Colorado peace officers standards and training board shall notify the board of county commissioners of the sheriff's failure to comply with the requirements of said subsection (1) and that state law requires the county commissioners to immediately suspend such sheriff's pay until the requirements of section 30-10-501.6 have been complied with. After the sheriff's compliance with the provisions of section 30-10-501.6, the Colorado peace officers standards and training board shall immediately notify the board of county commissioners of the sheriff's compliance and that state law requires the board of county commissioners to reinstate such sheriff's pay and provide him or her any back pay.

30-10-502. Form of bond. If a sheriff executes a bond pursuant to section 30-10-501 (1), the condition of the bond shall be in substance as follows: "Whereas, the above bounden was elected to the office of sheriff of the county of, on the day of; Now, the condition of this obligation is such that if the said shall well and faithfully perform and execute the duties of the office of sheriff of said county of while in office by virtue of said election without fraud, deceit, or oppression, shall pay over all moneys that may come into the hands of the sheriff, and shall deliver to the sheriff's successor in office all writs, papers, and other things pertaining to the office that may be so required by law, then the above obligations shall be void, otherwise to be and remain in full force and effect."

ANNOTATION

There can be no recovery upon an official bond outside its terms. Tate v. People ex rel. Dewees, 6 Colo. App. 202, 40 P. 471 (1895).

And it is the second condition of the statutory bond which applies to money collected by the sheriff, and it is the second condition of the bond in suit which undertakes to direct the disposition to be made by the sheriff of money received by him as an officer, and it requires him to turn the money over, not to the party entitled to it, but to his successors in office, so that the condition was not broken by his failure to pay it to the judgment creditor. Tate v. People ex rel. Dewees, 6 Colo. App. 202, 40 P. 471 (1895).

30-10-503. Sheriff assumes duties - when. When the term of office of any sheriff expires and the sheriff-elect qualifies according to law, the county clerk and recorder shall issue a notice setting forth that said sheriff-elect has qualified according to law, which notice shall be served by the new sheriff on the former sheriff, whereupon such former sheriff shall immediately transfer and deliver to the new sheriff all the writs, processes, books, and papers belonging to the office, except as otherwise excepted in this part 5, and also the possession of the courthouse and jail of the county, and shall take from the new sheriff a receipt specifying the papers so delivered over and the prisoners in custody, if any, which receipt shall be sufficient indemnity to the person taking the same.

30-10-504. Undersheriff - duties - vacancy. The sheriff of each county, as soon as may be after entering upon the duties of his office, shall appoint some proper person undersheriff of said county, who shall also be a general deputy, to serve during the pleasure of the sheriff. As often as a vacancy occurs in the office of such undersheriff, or he becomes incapable of executing the same, another shall in like manner be appointed in his place.

Cross references: For substitute officers having the same powers and compensation, see § 30-10-106.

ANNOTATION

Under this and the two following sections, the sheriff is primarily liable to any person who may be damaged by the improper official acts of his undersheriff, because in legal contemplation, all the acts of the undersheriff are the acts of the principal, for which he and his bondsmen are liable, while he has his remedy over against the undersheriff and his bondsmen; this being the law, the acts and doings of one as undersheriff could only be regarded by the defendant as those of the sheriff, insofar as they were the official acts of the office. Barton v. Continental Oil Co., 5 Colo. App. 341, 38 P. 432 (1894).

And where a deputy sheriff is acting in his official capacity and under color of his office, if in the performance thereof, he exceeds the limit of his authority, not only is the deputy himself liable to one injured thereby, but the sheriff and the latter's official surety are also liable. Corder v. People ex rel. Smiley, 87 Colo. 251, 287 P. 85 (1930).

But the sheriff is not responsible for the unofficial or extra-official acts of his deputy. Barton v. Continental Oil Co., 5 Colo. App. 341, 38 P. 432 (1894).

Nor are sureties of sheriff. For an unlawful act of a deputy sheriff, which is not committed by him in the discharge of his official duties, while he himself is liable to damages to one injured thereby, sureties on the official bond of a sheriff may not be held. Corder v. People ex rel. Smiley, 87 Colo. 251, 287 P. 85 (1930).

Thus, the act of an undersheriff in entering satisfaction and releasing an attachment of real estate is unofficial and void. Barton v. Continental Oil Co., 5 Colo. App. 341, 38 P. 432 (1894).

If the sheriff or undersheriff retains money received officially, the sheriff, as an officer of court, may be held liable to a proceeding for contempt, but such summary proceedings for the collection of a debt should be discouraged. Barton v. Continental Oil Co., 5 Colo. App. 341, 38 P. 432 (1894).

The service of garnishee process on a deputy does not act upon a fund in his hands collected under execution, because, in law, it is in the possession of the sheriff; neither does it relieve his principal from accounting for the money. Tate v. People ex rel. Dewees, 6 Colo. App. 202, 40 P. 471 (1895).

No estoppel as to sheriff. A sheriff is not, by the extra-official and unwarranted acts of his undersheriff in entering satisfaction and release of attachment of real estate, estopped to deny the receipt of the money. Tate v. People ex rel. Dewees, 6 Colo. App. 202, 40 P. 471 (1895).

30-10-505. Vacancy in office - powers of undersheriff. When a vacancy occurs in the office of sheriff of any county, the undersheriff of such county shall in all things execute the office of sheriff until a sheriff is appointed or elected and qualified. Any default or misfeasance in office of such undersheriff in the meantime, as well as before such vacancy, shall be deemed to be a breach of the condition of the bond given by the sheriff who appointed the undersheriff or the insurance policy purchased by the county on the sheriff's behalf.

30-10-506. Deputies. Each sheriff may appoint as many deputies as the sheriff may think proper and may revoke such appointments at will; except that a sheriff shall adopt personnel policies, including policies for the review of revocation of appointments. Before revoking an appointment of a deputy, the sheriff shall notify the deputy of the reason for the proposed revocation and shall give the deputy an opportunity to be heard by the sheriff. Persons may also be deputized by the sheriff or undersheriff in writing to do particular acts.

ANNOTATION

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Appointment of Deputies.
- III. Liability of Sheriff.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Law reviews. For article, "One Year Review of Torts", see 40 Den. L. Ctr. J. 160 (1963).

Sheriff's authority over deputies. This section and § 30-2-106 indicate that the general assembly intended to grant the sheriff exclusive power to appoint deputies and to fix their salaries, subject to the board of county commissioners' approval. Tihonovich v. Williams, 191 Colo. 144, 582 P.2d 1051 (1978).

The sheriff, not the county or the board of county commissioners, has the right of control with respect to deputies. Tunget v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 992 P.2d 650 (Colo. App. 2000); Bristol v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Clear Creek, 312 F.3d 1213 (10th Cir. 2002).

Statute supersedes manual. An employee may not insist upon adherence to county or departmental policies and procedures regarding termination when this section specifically provides that the employee serves only at the will of an elected official. Therefore, a policy manual did not preclude a sheriff from exercising his statutory prerogative to terminate an employee. Seeley v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 771 P.2d 21 (Colo. App. 1989), aff'd, 791 P.2d 696 (Colo. 1990); Jackson v. Johns, 714 F. Supp. 1126 (D. Colo. 1989).

Responsibility of sheriffs. Because this section makes sheriffs responsible for the official acts of their deputies and undersheriffs, it is consistent that it grants authority to the sheriffs to dismiss deputy sheriffs at their pleasure. Therefore, a sheriff cannot limit his power to terminate deputy sheriffs because that would forbid something the state expressly authorized. Seeley v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 791 P.2d 696 (Colo. 1990).

Applied in Bailey v. Clausen, 192 Colo. 297, 557 P.2d 1207 (1976).

II. APPOINTMENT OF DEPUTIES.

This section provides that sheriffs may appoint deputies and revoke the appointment at their pleasure. City & County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961).

But it is not an unrestricted right. The fact that this section makes the sheriff liable for the acts of his deputies does not guarantee the unrestricted right to hire or discharge his employees without regard to the merit system of the city and county of Denver. City & County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961).

Sheriff acts under color of state law when he suspends deputy in reliance upon this section. Lontine v. VanCleave, 483 F.2d 966 (10th Cir. 1973).

Methods of concern to people. Because the office of sheriff is a county office and not a state office, the method of selection and tenure of the officer designated to carry out the duties of the position became the concern of the people of Denver by authority expressly granted to them by all of the people of the state under art. XX, Colo. Const., and this is true even though those officers might be required to perform duties which were of statewide concern such as the duties imposed by constitution upon the county clerk and recorder, county sheriff, treasurer or assessor. City & County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961).

Appointment and removal upon merit and fitness in Denver. The people of Denver, acting under the powers given them by art. XX, Colo. Const., have so changed the method of appointment and removal of deputies by sheriffs so that in Denver the appointment and removal of such deputies is upon merit and fitness to perform the work. City & County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961).

The career service amendment to the charter of the city and county of Denver encompasses within its scope the positions of deputy sheriffs and jailers. City & County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961).

Sheriffs and jailers employees in Denver. Since in the city and county of Denver, the salaries of deputy sheriffs and jailers are not set by the charter they are therefore, by charter definition, employees. City & County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961).

Sheriff must comply with home rule charter of Weld County in appointing and dismissing deputies where deputy sheriffs are subject to county personnel system as set forth in county policy manual. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Andrews, 687 P.2d 457 (Colo. App. 1984).

Deputy could not be suspended for joining police union. Although a deputy sheriff may not have had a right, per se, to continued public employment under applicable Colorado law as a sheriff's deputy, and may not have been entitled to any form of notice or hearing either under the Colorado administrative procedure act, or under constitutional principles, he could not be suspended or dismissed for joining a police officers' union. Lontine v. VanCleave, 483 F.2d 966 (10th Cir. 1973).

III. LIABILITY OF SHERIFF.

Under this section a sheriff is liable only for the official acts of his deputies. McCartney v. Forster, 150 Colo. 537, 374 P.2d 704 (1962).

Also, by this section sheriffs are made liable for the torts of their deputies. City &

County of Denver v. Rinker, 148 Colo. 441, 366 P.2d 548 (1961); Seeley v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 791 P.2d 696 (Colo. 1990); Tunget v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 992 P.2d 650 (Colo. App. 1999); Peterson v. Arapahoe County Sheriff, 72 P.3d 440 (Colo. App. 2003).

Board of county commissioners cannot be held liable for actions of a sheriff's deputy under the doctrine of respondeat superior. Tunget v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 992 P.2d 650 (Colo. App. 1999).

This section does not afford a basis for holding a sheriff liable, on a respondeat superior theory, for the willful and wanton conduct of a deputy in circumstances in which sovereign immunity has not been waived. Carothers v. Archuleta County Sheriff, 159 P.3d 647 (Colo. App. 2006).

If the arrest of the prisoner was not a lawful one, if made under a void warrant, or without a warrant in a case where a warrant is required, or if not made in such circumstances as justify the arrest without warrant, the officer was not acting in his official capacity, either by virtue of, or under color of, office. Johnson v. Enlow, 132 Colo. 101, 286 P.2d 630 (1955).

Where the acts of a public officer are done without any legal process, or authority of law, they are not his official acts, but merely his private or personal acts, for which his sureties are not liable. Johnson v. Enlow, 132 Colo. 101, 286 P.2d 630 (1955).

Where an alleged wrongful taking of property by a deputy was not in performance of any official duty as deputy sheriff, the sheriff was not liable. McCartney v. Foster, 150 Colo. 537, 374 P.2d 704 (1962).

In an action for damages for death of re-actor's son while confined in jail, and caused, as alleged, by conduct of the officials in charge thereof, complaint was considered and held not vulnerable to a general demurrer, and the trial court's ruling in sustaining the demurrer and dismissing the case was reversed. People ex rel. Coover v. Gunther, 105 Colo. 37, 94 P.2d 699 (1939).

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For note, "Prisoners' Rights: Personal Security", see 42 U. Colo. L. Rev. 305 (1970).

Under this section, the general assembly has imposed the following duties upon a sheriff: The sheriff shall have charge and custody of the jails of his county, and of the prisoners in the same, and shall keep them himself, or by his deputy or jailer, for whose acts he and his sureties shall be liable. McMillan v. Hammond, 158 Colo. 40, 404 P.2d 549 (1965).

A jailer or warden may be liable for an injury proximately resulting to a prisoner from a breach of duty with respect to such prisoner. McMillan v. Hammond, 158 Colo. 40, 404 P.2d 549 (1965).

As, for example, a breach of duty to exercise due care for the safety of a prisoner generally, to keep the jail sanitary and warm, or to furnish food. McMillan v. Hammond, 158 Colo. 40, 404 P.2d 549 (1965).

A county sheriff was entitled to possession of a room in the jail for his use as living quarter, notwithstanding the county commissioners had designated it for another purpose. Richart v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 95 Colo. 153, 33 P.2d 971 (1934).

When a sheriff knows that his prisoner has been refused bail, it is a contempt of the court refusing the bail for the sheriff wilfully to permit the prisoner to be at large. Robran v. People, 173 Colo. 378, 479 P.2d 976 (1971).

Sheriff must comply with home rule charter of Weld County in appointing and dismissing deputies where deputy sheriffs are subject to county personnel system as set forth in county policy manual. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Andrews, 687 P.2d 457 (Colo. App. 1984).

30-10-512. Sheriff to act as fire warden. Subject to the provisions of the community wildfire protection plan prepared by the county in accordance with section 30-15-401.7, the sheriff of every county, in addition to other duties, shall act as fire warden of his or her respective county and is responsible for the coordination of fire suppression efforts in case of prairie, forest, or wildland fires or wildfires occurring in the unincorporated area of the county outside the boundaries of a fire protection district or that exceed the capabilities of the fire protection district to control or extinguish.

30-10-513. Duties of sheriff - coordination of fire suppression efforts for forest, prairie, or wildland fire - expenses. (1) (a) Subject to the provisions of the community wildfire protection plan prepared by the county in accordance with section 30-15-401.7, it is the duty of the sheriff to assume the responsibility for coordinating fire suppression efforts in case of any prairie, forest, or wildland fire or wildfire occurring in the unincorporated area of the county outside the boundaries of a fire protection district or that exceed the capabilities of the fire protection district to control or extinguish.

(b) In the case of a prairie, forest, or wildland fire occurring within the boundaries of one or more fire protection districts that does not exceed the capabilities of the fire protection district to control or extinguish, the sheriff may assist the chief of the fire protection district in controlling or extinguishing such fire, and, in connection with such assistance, the sheriff may solicit such additional assistance from such persons as the sheriff and the fire chief deem necessary. The sheriff may assume command of such incidents with the concurrence of the fire chief.

(c) In the case of a prairie, forest, or wildland fire that exceeds the capabilities of the fire protection district to control or extinguish and that requires mutual aid and outside resources, the sheriff shall appoint a local incident management team to provide the command and control infrastructure required to manage the fire. The sheriff shall assume financial responsibility for fire fighting efforts on behalf of the county and the authority for the ordering and monitoring of resources.

(d) When a wildfire exceeds the capability of the county to control or extinguish, the sheriff shall be responsible for seeking the assistance of the state by requesting assistance from the forest service. The sheriff and the state forester shall enter into an agreement concerning the transfer of authority and responsibility for fire suppression and the retention of responsibilities under a unified command structure.

(2) The state forester may assume any duty or responsibility given to the sheriff under this section with the concurrence of the sheriff.

(3) The board of county commissioners of any county may allow the sheriff, undersheriffs, deputies, municipal or county fire departments, fire protection districts, fire authorities, and such other persons as may be called upon to assist in controlling or extinguishing a prairie, forest, or wildland fire such compensation and reimbursement for other expenses necessarily incurred as the board deems just.

(4) The board of county commissioners of any county in the state may make such appropriation as it may deem proper for the purpose of controlling fires in its county. The board of county commissioners is authorized to levy a special tax subject to approval of the voters upon every dollar of valuation of assessment of the taxable property within the county for the purpose of creating a fund that shall be appropriated, after consultation with representatives of fire departments, fire protection districts, and fire authorities in the county, to prevent, control, or extinguish such fires anywhere in the county and to fix the rate of levy.

(2) This section was amended in Senate Bill 09-105. Those amendments were superseded by the repeal and reenactment of this section in Senate Bill 09-020. However, the intent of Senate Bill 09-105 was realized by the adoption the House Local Government committee of reference report to Senate Bill 09-020. 30-10-513.5. Authority of sheriff relating to fires within unincorporated areas of county - liability for expenses.

(1) (a) The sheriff of any county may request assistance from a fire protection district or municipality in controlling or extinguishing a fire occurring on private property if, in the judgment of such sheriff, the fire constitutes a danger to the health and safety of the public or a risk of serious damage to property. Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, any fire protection district or municipality assisting in controlling or extinguishing such fire is entitled to reimbursement from the property owner on whose property the fire occurred or from the party responsible for the occurrence of such fire for the reasonable and documented costs resulting from such assistance. The fire protection district or municipality may recover the costs incurred in a civil action against the property owner or the responsible party or may, by resolution of its board or governing body adopted at a public hearing after notice to the affected parties, certify to the county treasurer the amount of any costs incurred that remains uncollected after diligent effort for a period greater than one hundred eighty days. Such certification is subject to the appeal process and all other remedies, if any, provided in the "State Administrative Procedure Act", article 4 of title 24, C.R.S. If the fire protection district or municipality prevails, the amount certified shall be collected by the treasurer in the same manner as taxes are authorized to be collected pursuant to section 39-10-107, C.R.S. To defray the costs of collection, the treasurer shall be authorized to charge an amount equal to ten percent of the amount collected.

(b) For purposes of this subsection (1), "fire occurring on private property" means:

(I) A fire occurring on property not located within a fire protection district or municipality providing fire protection services.

(II) (Deleted by amendment, L. 93, p. 1253, § 1, effective July 1, 1993.)

(2) (a) An owner of private property who has contracted with a fire protection district for fire protection services shall advise the sheriff of such contract and any fire protection districts with which such district has mutual aid agreements. In the event that a fire occurs on such property, the sheriff shall make a reasonable attempt to secure the services from such district. If the district does not respond, he shall make a reasonable attempt to secure such services from any of the districts with which such district has mutual aid agreements. If services cannot be secured, the sheriff, in his discretion, may attempt to secure fire protection services from any other district or municipality, and, if services are provided, the owner of the property or the party responsible for the fire shall be liable for the costs incurred by such district or municipality. Such costs may be assessed and collected in the manner provided in subsection (1) of this section.

(b) No sheriff shall be held liable for failure to secure fire protection services as required by paragraph (a) of this subsection (2) unless the failure was due to willful misconduct, gross negligence, or bad faith.

(3) Any property owner who desires to conduct a controlled burn of a structure or building located on such property shall notify the county sheriff of the date when such controlled burn will be conducted. Any property owner providing such notification shall not be liable for any costs under this section resulting from the response by a fire protection district or municipality to such controlled burn due to any person informing or warning such district or municipality of the fire arising from such burn.

30-10-514. Sheriff to transport prisoners. It is the duty of any sheriff transporting prisoners to a correctional facility, as defined in section 17-1-102, C.R.S., or other place of confinement to convey to such facility or other place of confinement at one time all prisoners who may have been convicted and sentenced and who are ready for such transportation. If any sheriff fails or neglects to carry out the provisions of this section, the boards of county commissioners may disallow any such sheriff's bill for such extra trips as in their discretion are unnecessary. This section shall not apply to the transportation of the insane.

ANNOTATION

The sheriff conveying several prisoners to the penitentiary or other place of detention is entitled to but one mileage for the service of the mittimus, no matter what may be the number of his prisoners, so he is entitled to but one mittimus mileage for all prisoners, who, being convicted and sentenced, are ready to be transported at the same time, however transported, whether by separate trips, or otherwise, but he is entitled to mileage for each prisoner so transported, whether in one or several trips. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Campbell, 52 Colo. 440, 123 P. 317 (1912).

30-10-515. Sheriff to execute writs - attend court. The sheriff, in person or by his undersheriff or deputy, shall serve and execute, according to law, all processes, writs, precepts, and orders issued or made by lawful authority and to him directed, and shall serve the several courts of record held in his county.

ANNOTATION

A sheriff is an officer of the court charged with the duty of carrying out the orders and decrees of the court. Struble v. Barger, 128 Colo. 188, 261 P.2d 497 (1953).

But sheriffs are not required to be learned in the law and when the sheriff obeys the order of the judge, he is not liable for so doing. Struble v. Barger, 128 Colo. 188, 261 P.2d 497 (1953).

Because the sheriff is "an executive officer, whose sole duty is to execute, and not to decide on the truth or sufficiency of the processes committed to him for service". Struble v. Barger, 128 Colo. 188, 261 P.2d 497 (1953).

Also, the sheriff is protected because it would be inequitable and unjust to hold him responsible for acts of others over whom he has no control and for defects of which he had no notice; to hold otherwise would mean that the officer must act at his peril or delay until he has had an opportunity to search out legal niceties of procedure or substantive law. Struble v. Barger, 128 Colo. 188, 261 P.2d 497 (1953).

In the execution of process, the power possessed by the sheriff is conferred by the statutes, and no power exists in him except such as is expressly so conferred or may be fairly implied. McArthur v. Boynton, 19 Colo. App. 234, 74 P. 540 (1903).

The sheriff is the only officer to whom processes, writs, and orders of courts may be directed. Blitz v. Moran, 17 Colo. App. 253, 67 P. 1020 (1902).

In a judicial foreclosure of a mortgage the sheriff alone is authorized to execute the decree of foreclosure and sell the land, and it is error for the court to appoint a commissioner, other than the sheriff, to make such foreclosure sale, where such appointment is at the time objected to. Blitz v. Moran, 17 Colo. App. 253, 67 P. 1020 (1902).

An officer cannot execute process unless it is directed to him for service, or to the class of officers to which he belongs, and no statute authorized the execution of process issuing from justices' courts in civil actions, by sheriffs or their deputies, as such. Porter v. Stapp, 6 Colo. 32 (1881).

Where a writ of attachment directed to the sheriff of one county was attempted to be executed by the sheriff of another county levying it upon property in his county, the levy was void and could not be cured by amendment after the attempted levy by changing the direction of the writ to the county in which the levy was made. McArthur v. Boynton, 19 Colo. App. 234, 74 P. 540 (1903).

Since a distraint warrant was a nonjudicial process, precept, or order made by lawful authority, it was the duty of the sheriff to serve and execute the same according to law. Goldsmith v. McAnally, 92 Colo. 384, 20 P.2d 1009 (1933).

And the issuance of a distraint warrant did not constitute a delegation of power to collect by the treasurer to the sheriff; in rendering the services, the sheriff merely acted as a peace officer in the performance of his duty. Goldsmith v. McAnally, 92 Colo. 384, 20 P.2d 1009 (1933).

A scire facias or summons to hear errors issued by the clerk of the supreme court must be directed to the sheriff of the county where the defendant in error resides or may be found, and no other person than such sheriff or his authorized deputy has authority to serve such summons; an attempted service of such summons made by a person not authorized by law to make such service is a nullity. Wellington v. Beck, 29 Colo. 73, 66 P. 881 (1901).

30-10-516. Sheriffs to preserve peace - command aid. It is the duty of the sheriffs, undersheriffs, and deputies to keep and preserve the peace in their respective counties, and to quiet and suppress all affrays, riots, and unlawful assemblies and insurrections. For that purpose, and for the service of process in civil or criminal cases, and in apprehending or securing any person for felony or breach of the peace, they, and every coroner, may call to their aid such person of their county as they may deem necessary.

Which surety liable. Where money came into the hands of a sheriff by sale of perishable property under a writ of attachment and, pending the litigation in the attachment suit but after the sale of the property, the sheriff's term of office expired and he was reelected and gave a new official bond and when the attachment suit was ended the sheriff defaulted in the payment of the attachment fund, the sureties on his official bond at the time of the execution of the writ and sale of the property were liable for his default. *People ex rel. ANNOTATION

Under this section the proceedings are against the sheriff personally, and there is no provision making the sureties liable upon the official bond in treble damages for a crime or misdemeanor of the principal. State Bank v. Brennan, 7 Colo. App. 427, 43 P. 1050 (1896).

This section refers only to fees, and not to actual reasonable expenses incurred in caring for the property held by the sheriff under attachment, and the court has determined that the sheriff is entitled to reimbursement for reasonable charges incurred in taking possession of, removing and keeping property taken on a writ of attachment. Cramer v. Brasher, 15 Colo. 216, 25 P. 180 (1890).

The sheriff may be reimbursed for money expended in taking and preserving property seized under valid process, but such costs are allowable only to the extent of reasonable and actual as well as necessary expenditures. Cramer v. Oppenstein, 16 Colo. 495, 27 P. 713 (1891).

But for the making of an inventory of attached property which is not a matter necessarily involving the expenditure of money out of pocket and thus the sheriff is not entitled to costs therefor in addition to the statutory fees. Cramer v. Oppenstein, 16 Colo. 495, 27 P. 713 (1891).

The sheriff has an insurable interest in property seized in execution; but he cannot subject the execution debtor to the cost of insurance without his express consent. Cramer v. Oppenstein, 16 Colo. 495, 27 P. 713 (1891).

Where the sheriff retains moneys above his proper fees and costs, the party entitled to the surplus may recover the same by action, and the remedy in such cases is not limited to a proceeding to retax the sheriff's fees and costs, though that course may be pursued, and though the suit may be for treble damages under this section, still, under appropriate allegations, there may be a recovery as for money had and received. Cramer v. Oppenstein, 16 Colo. 495, 27 P. 713 (1891).

No commission. Where money, received as the proceeds of an execution sale, exceeds the amount necessary to satisfy the execution, the sheriff is not entitled to charge commissions on such excess. Cramer v. Oppenstein, 16 Colo. 495, 27 P. 713 (1891).

30-10-522. Actions against sheriff - sureties liable - when. Except in the case of a sheriff covered by insurance purchased pursuant to section 30-10-501 (2), in an action brought against a sheriff for an action done by virtue of the sheriff's office, if the sheriff gives notice thereof to the sureties on any bond of indemnity given by the sheriff, the judgment recovered therein shall be sufficient evidence of the sheriff's right to recover against such sureties, and the court, on motion, upon notice of five days, may order judgment to be entered against them for the amount so recovered, including costs.

ANNOTATION

This section of the code does not change the rule which exists in the absence of a statute except insofar as it provides for the entering of judgment upon the bond, and in the absence of a statute the rule is that to entitle the obligee to maintain an action upon a general promise of indemnity against damages of liability, it is not necessary that he should have given notice of a suit against him in which the judgment upon which the breach is predicated was rendered, if, however, no notice is given, the judgment is only prima facie evidence against the obligors and may be attacked on the ground that the obligee failed to avail himself of a good defense or that it was obtained by fraud or collusion. Whinnery v. Wiley, 38 Colo. 203, 88 P. 171 (1906).

ANNOTATION

A coroner can exercise the powers of the sheriff only in the cases specified in this and the service of process by him, except in such cases, is void. Tate v. People ex rel. Dewees, 6 Colo. App. 202, 40 P. 471 (1895).

30-10-605. When sheriff a party or disqualified. (1) Every coroner shall serve and execute process of every kind and perform all other duties of the sheriff when the sheriff is a party to the case, or where affidavit is made and filed as provided in this section, and in all such cases he shall exercise the powers and proceed in the same manner as prescribed for the sheriff in the performance of similar duties.

(2) Whenever any party, his agent, or attorney makes and files with the clerk of the proper court an affidavit stating that he believes that the sheriff of such county by reason of either partiality, prejudice, consanguinity, or interest, will not faithfully perform his duties in any suit commenced or about to be commenced in such court, the clerk shall direct the original process in such suit to the coroner, who shall execute the process in like manner as the sheriff might or should have done.

ANNOTATION

The provisions of this section are mandatory where there is a compliance with the statute by a litigating party, and a coroner may be disqualified in the same manner as a sheriff. Litch v. People ex rel. Town of Sterling, 19 Colo. App. 433, 75 P. 1083 (1904); Kelliher v. People, 71 Colo. 202, 205 P. 274 (1922); Montez v. People, 110 Colo. 208, 132 P.2d 970 (1942).

Where the sheriff is party to an action all process therein must be served by the coroner, and a special panel of jurors summoned by the sheriff in such case, must be discharged on motion. Toenniges v. Drake, 7 Colo. 471, 4 P. 790 (1884); General Film Co. v. McAfee, 58 Colo. 344, 145 P. 707 (1914); Wise v. Toner, 65 Colo. 420, 176 P. 838 (1918).

In no event may a sheriff be disqualified until a proper affidavit is filed with the court clerk, which should be done at the earliest practicable opportunity. Hoffman v. People, 72 Colo. 552, 212 P. 848 (1923).

The term "party" as used in this section means the person whose name is expressly mentioned in the record as plaintiff or defendant, or one of the plaintiffs or defendants. Wise v. Toner, 65 Colo. 420, 176 P. 838 (1918).

Regularly, when the sheriff is a party to an action, his official character should appear by allegation in the declaration or by suggestion of record; courts, however, take judicial notice of who are their own officers, and, in the absence of any proof to the contrary, the court in this instance was justified in presuming the identity of the defendant and the sheriff. Coon v. Rigden, 4 Colo. 275 (1878).

It is immaterial whether a defendant sheriff has any pecuniary interest in the case, since, in any event, he is "a party to the case" within the meaning of this section. Wise v. Toner, 65 Colo. 420, 176 P. 838 (1918).

Sheriff as trustee of land held proper party. Where a sheriff as trustee held the legal title to the land involved, it was held that such a trustee holding the legal title to the premises in controversy, although he has no beneficial interest therein, is a proper party to a final determination of the controversy, and is disqualified to serve process in the suit. Wise v. Toner, 65 Colo. 420, 176 P. 838 (1918).

The term "suit" in this section includes criminal proceedings. Kelliher v. People, 71 Colo. 202, 205 P. 274 (1922).

Because this section is not one relating exclusively to either criminal or civil procedure, but is one simply relating to duties of the sheriff and coroner, and the legislative intent was to substitute the coroner for the sheriff in any case, not merely in a civil action, where the affidavit is filed. Kelliher v. People, 71 Colo. 202, 205 P. 274 (1922).

Objection waived. Where the court issued an order for an open venire for eight more men and ordered the sheriff to procure that number and both the sheriff and the coroner were witnesses for the people, and objection was made to service by the sheriff, but since no affidavit of disqualification was filed as required by this section and no request was made for service by an elisor, objection was waived. Randal v. People, 113 Colo. 235, 156 P.2d 125 (1945).

Duty to court to declare disqualification. Whenever affidavits are filed showing disqualification of either sheriff or coroner to serve process in a case, it is the duty of the court to act, without counter-affidavits, and declare the officer disqualified. Montez v. People, 110 Colo. 208, 132 P.2d 970 (1942).

30-10-606. Coroner - inquiry - grounds - postmortem - jury - certificate of death.

(1) The coroner shall immediately notify the district attorney, proceed to view the body, and make all proper inquiry respecting the cause and manner of death of any person in his jurisdiction who has died under any of the following circumstances:

- (a) From external violence, unexplained cause, or under suspicious circumstances;
- (b) Where no physician is in attendance or where, though in attendance, the physician is unable to certify the cause of death;
- (c) From thermal, chemical, or radiation injury;
- (d) From criminal abortion, including any situation where such abortion may have been self-induced;
- (e) From a disease which may be hazardous or contagious or which may constitute a threat to the health of the general public;
- (f) While in the custody of law enforcement officials or while incarcerated in a public institution;
- (g) When the death was sudden and happened to a person who was in good health; or
- (h) From an industrial accident.

(1.1) After consultation with the district attorney, the coroner may request that jurisdiction of any such death be transferred to the coroner of the county in which the event which resulted in the death of the person occurred, with the jurisdiction effective upon the acceptance by the receiving coroner. Such transfer shall be in writing, and a copy thereof shall be maintained in the offices of the transferring and receiving coroners.

(1.2) When a person dies as a result of circumstances specified in subsection (1) of this section or is found dead and the cause of death is unknown, the person who discovers the death shall report it immediately to law enforcement officials or the coroner, and the coroner shall take legal custody of the body. The body of any such person shall not be removed from the place of death except upon the authority of the coroner in consultation with the district attorney or local law enforcement agency, nor shall any article on or immediately surrounding such body be disturbed until authorized by the coroner in consultation with the district attorney or local law enforcement agency.

(2) The coroner shall perform a forensic autopsy or have a forensic autopsy performed as required by section 30-10-606.5 or upon the request of the district attorney.

(3) When the coroner has knowledge that any person has died under any of the circumstances specified in subsection (1) of this section, he may summon forthwith six citizens of the county to appear at a place named to hold an inquest to hear testimony and to make such inquiries as he deems appropriate.

(4) (a) In all cases where the coroner has held an investigation or inquest, the certificate of death shall be issued by the coroner or the coroner's deputy.

(b) Any certificate of death issued by a coroner or a coroner's deputy shall be filed with the registrar and shall state their findings concerning the nature of the disease or the manner of death, and, if from external causes, the certificate shall state whether in their opinion death was accidental, suicidal, or felonious. In addition, the certificate shall include the information described in section 25-2-103 (3) (b), C.R.S., whenever the subject of the investigation or inquest is under one year of age.

(c) A copy of the certificate of death or affidavit of presumed death, including any related documents and statements of fact, shall be retained in the applicable county in a secure location in an appropriate county facility accessible only to the county coroner or the coroner's designee and in a manner that is consistent with the county's record retention policy and federal law.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require an investigation, autopsy, or inquest in any case where death occurred without medical attendance solely because the deceased was under treatment by prayer or spiritual means alone in accordance with the tenets and practices of a well-recognized church or religious denomination.

(6) (a) Notwithstanding sections 12-43-218 and 13-90-107 (1) (d) or (1) (g), C.R.S., the coroner holding an inquest or investigation pursuant to this section has the authority to request and receive a copy of:

(I) Any autopsy report or medical information from any pathologist, physician, dentist, hospital, or health care provider or institution if such report or information is relevant to the inquest or investigation; and

(II) Any information, record, or report related to treatment, consultation, counseling, or therapy services from any licensed psychologist, professional counselor, marriage and family therapist, social worker, or addiction counselor, certified addiction counselor, or registered psychotherapist if the report, record, or information is relevant to the inquest or investigation.

(b) The coroner shall, at the request of the district attorney or attorney general, release to the district attorney or attorney general any autopsy report or medical information described in subparagraph (I) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (6) that the coroner obtains pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (6).

(c) The coroner shall not release to any party any information, record, or report described in subparagraph (II) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (6) that the coroner obtains pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (6).

(d) Any person who complies with a request from a coroner pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (6) shall be immune from any civil or criminal liability that might otherwise be incurred or imposed with respect to the disclosure of confidential patient or client information.

Coroners' function is to investigate and determine whether a decedent has died from violent, unexplained causes, or under suspicious circumstances. People ex rel. Kinsey v. Sumner, 34 Colo. App. 61, 525 P.2d 512 (1974).

There is no private right of action under this section. Macurdy v. Faure, 176 P.3d 880 (Colo. App. 2007).

There is also no implied private right of action under this section. Macurdy v. Faure, 176 P.3d 880 (Colo. App. 2007).

Failure to perform the discretionary duty under subsection (2) does not give rise to a private right of action. Macurdy v. Faure, 176 P.3d 880 (Colo. App. 2007).

An implied private right of action is inconsistent with the purposes of the legislative scheme because threat of litigation may lead to conducting of autopsies that the coroner or district attorney would not otherwise deem advisable under subsection (2). Macurdy v. Faure, 176 P.3d 880 (Colo. App. 2007).

Coroner's desire to solicit private burial contract for his funeral home would have no material bearing on outcome of an investigation under this section. People ex rel. Kinsey v. Sumner, 34 Colo. App. 61, 525 P.2d 512 (1974).

The verdict of the jury at a coroner's inquest finding that the deceased committed suicide was not admissible in evidence to establish that fact as a defense to an action on a policy of insurance on the life of the deceased. Germania Life Ins. Co. v. Ross-Lewin, 24 Colo. 43, 51 P. 488, 65 Am. St. R. 215 (1897).

Subsection (6)(a)(I) grants coroners access to medical information that would otherwise be protected from disclosure under § 24-72-204 (3)(a)(I), a provision of the Colorado Open Records Act. Bodelson v. City of Littleton, 36 P.3d 214 (Colo. App. 2001).

30-10-606.5. When autopsy performed - jurisdiction - qualifications to perform - definition. (1) (a) The coroner shall perform a forensic autopsy or have a forensic autopsy performed in accordance with the circumstances in the most recent version of the "forensic autopsy performance standards" adopted by the national association of medical examiners, when the death is apparently nonnatural and occurs in a facility or during services regulated by the department of human services, and when the death is the result of an automobile accident and a hospital physician has not documented the extent of the injuries.

(b) If a person is involved in an incident that requires the person to be transported to a medical facility outside the county where the incident occurred and the person dies en route to or at the medical facility outside the county where the incident occurred, the coroner for the county where the incident occurred shall take possession of the body and shall comply with the provisions of this section.

(2) (a) Except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this subsection (2), all forensic autopsies required to be performed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall be performed by a board-certified forensic pathologist.

(b) A physician who has completed a forensic pathology fellowship and is practicing forensic pathology in Colorado and who is not a board-certified forensic pathologist as of May 4, 2011, may perform a forensic autopsy required pursuant to subsection (1) of this section.

(c) A forensic pathologist who has completed a forensic pathology fellowship may perform forensic autopsies for four years from the date of completion of the fellowship before becoming a board-certified forensic pathologist.

(d) A pathology resident or forensic pathology fellow may perform a forensic autopsy required pursuant to subsection (1) of this section under the direct supervision of a board-certified forensic pathologist.

(e) For purposes of this subsection (2), "direct supervision" means supervision that is within the facility where a pathology resident or forensic pathology fellow is performing an autopsy and that requires a board-certified forensic pathologist's presence and availability for prompt consultation.

30-10-607. Talesmen - oath. If any juror fails to appear, the coroner shall immediately summon the proper number from the bystanders, and proceed to impanel them, and administer the following oath in substance: "You do solemnly swear, or affirm, that you will diligently inquire, and true presentment make, when, how, and by what means the person about whom this inquest is being held came to his death, according to your knowledge and the evidence given you, so help you God.”

30-10-608. Coroner may issue subpoenas. The coroner may issue subpoenas within his county for witnesses, returnable forthwith, or at such time and place as he therein directs; and witnesses shall be allowed the fees set forth in section 13-33-102, C.R.S.; and the coroner has the same authority to enforce the attendance of witnesses and to punish them and jurors for contempt in disobeying his process as a county court has when process issues in behalf of the state.

ANNOTATION

Jurors attending inquests shall be compensated in the same manner as other jurors, that is, by a per diem while serving as such. Ireland v. Commissioners, 6 Colo. 280 (1882).

30-10-609. Physicians summoned - compensation. In any case wherein the coroner orders a post-mortem examination, he may summon one or more licensed physicians to make a scientific examination of the body of the deceased, and each such physician shall be allowed reasonable compensation for his services. The amount of such compensation shall be determined by the coroner within the limits prescribed by the board of county commissioners. Any person so summoned may rely on the coroner's act in ordering an examination, and it shall be legally presumed that he has acted with due legal authority.

ANNOTATION

Duty to obey summons. The coroner is a public officer, charged with the duty of holding inquests, and is clothed with general powers for that purpose, among which is the power to summon physicians to make scientific examination of the body, when the jury shall deem such examination requisite, and it is the duty of the person so summoned to obey the summons, and it is not required of the person so summoned to make an investigation to see if the jury deems it requisite to make such an examination. County Comm'rs v. Marshall, 11 Colo. 84, 16 P. 837 (1887).

30-10-610. Oath of witnesses. An oath shall be administered to the witness in attendance as follows: “You do solemnly swear that the testimony which you shall give to this inquest, concerning the death of the person about whom this inquest is being held, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God.”

30-10-611. Testimony written and subscribed - fees. The testimony shall be reduced to writing, under the coroner's order, and subscribed by the witnesses, and the person writing such testimony shall be paid from the county treasury the same fees prescribed for jurors attending inquests concerning deaths. Such testimony, in the discretion of the coroner, may be taken down in shorthand by a competent stenographer, who shall first be sworn by the coroner to correctly take down such testimony and correctly transcribe the same. The stenographer shall receive the usual per diem and fees paid official court reporters for like services to be paid by the board of county commissioners. Upon the request of the coroner, the stenographer shall transcribe the testimony and transmit it to the coroner, and it shall not be necessary in such case for the witnesses to subscribe the same. If the testimony is not transcribed and transmitted, the stenographer shall file his name and address and the notes of the testimony with the district court, and the district court shall keep such materials for a period of seven years from the time of the transmittal of the coroner's inquisition. The coroner shall return his inquisition and list of witnesses to the district court, and such notes if transcribed and transmitted by such stenographer shall have the same force and effect as testimony written out under the coroner's order and subscribed by the witnesses.

ANNOTATION

Nonconforming notes inadmissible. Stenographer's notes taken at coroner's inquest were not admissible to contradict the testimony of a witness given upon the trial, where it was not made to appear that the questions propounded at the preliminary hearing referred to the particular time to which the witness testified on the trial, or that the stenographer had been sworn, as required by this section. Bryam v. People, 49 Colo. 533, 113 P. 528 (1911).

30-10-612. Verdict of jury - form. The jurors, having heard the testimony and having made all needful inquiries, shall return to the coroner their inquisition in writing, under their hands in substance as follows, stating the matters in the following form, suggested as far as found:

STATE OF COLORADO,

County of

An inquisition held at, in county, on the day of A.D. 20....., before, coroner of said county, concerning the death of or person unknown, by the jurors whose names are subscribed; the said jurors upon their oaths, do say (here state when, how, by what person, means, weapon, or accident he came to his death, and whether feloniously).

30-10-613. When verdict kept secret. If the inquisition finds that a crime has been committed on the deceased and names the person who the jury believes has committed it, the inquest shall not be made public until after the arrest, directed in section 30-10-614.

Prior to the treasurer being sworn into office, the board of county commissioners shall set the amount of the surety bond by written resolution duly adopted by a majority vote of the board, which shall be entered in its minutes.

(2) In lieu of the bond required by subsection (1) of this section, a county may purchase crime insurance coverage on behalf of the treasurer to protect the people of the county from any malfeasance on the part of the treasurer while in office.

ANNOTATION

The general assembly has expanded and built up a body of statutory directives for the guidance of county treasurers, outlining in great detail steps to be taken by them calculated to obtain the amount of taxes levied. Skidmore v. O'Rourke, 152 Colo. 470, 383 P.2d 473 (1963).

County treasurers are only administrative agents of the state and their authority is limited to that expressly delegated by the general assembly. Skidmore v. O'Rourke, 152 Colo. 470, 383 P.2d 473 (1963).

County treasurers are constitutional officers, but have no constitutional duties to perform or constitutional authority to do any particular act such as commencing a suit. Skidmore v. O'Rourke, 152 Colo. 470, 383 P.2d 473 (1963).

No power to sue. Enactments of the general assembly relating to taxation negate any suggestion that county treasurers have inherent, implied, or general powers to sue taxpayers for delinquent real estate taxes. Skidmore v. O'Rourke, 152 Colo. 470, 383 P.2d 473 (1963).

The county treasurer and his bondsmen are primarily responsible. Moulton v. McLean, 5 Colo. App. 454, 39 P. 78 (1895).

Bonds. The county treasurer may take security for his own indemnity from a bank in which he deposits county money, but a bond so taken inures to his benefit, and such a bond is his property, and no cause of action to the county can arise thereon, unless by the default of the treasurer and his sureties. Moulton v. McLean, 5 Colo. App. 454, 39 P. 78 (1895).

ANNOTATION

The bond of the county treasurer is the measure of his duties as treasurer, and is the contract covering his duties and all those in his employ performing the duties of the office. Goss v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 4 Colo. 468 (1878).

Under this section neither a deputy treasurer nor clerk gives a bond to the public for the faithful performance of the duties he undertakes, and the relation of debtor and creditor between the county and the treasurer is unaffected by the circumstance that the duties of the latter are discharged by deputy or clerical agency, and there is no such privity between the county or the public, and the deputy or clerk, as to create an implied contract between them in the face of an express contract between the treasurer and the public, embracing the duties of the office by whomsoever performed. Goss v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 4 Colo. 468 (1878).

30-10-704. Deputy treasurer - duties. The county treasurer may appoint a deputy, who in the absence of the treasurer from his office, or in case of vacancy in said office, for any disability of the treasurer to perform the duties of his office, may perform all the duties of the office of treasurer, until such vacancy is filled or such disability removed.

ANNOTATION

No term of office. While this section provides that a county treasurer may appoint a deputy, there is no law fixing the term of office of such a deputy, and with his compensation and term of office the public has nothing to do. Tureck v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 108 Colo. 347, 117 P.2d 315 (1941).

There being no contractual privity between one acting as deputy county treasurer and the

The money received by the treasurer by virtue of his office belongs to the county. McClure v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 19 Colo. 122, 34 P. 763 (1893).

It constitutes a trust fund, which, if diverted or misappropriated, may be recovered in an action upon his bond, or the county may, if it elects, treat it as a trust fund and follow it wherever it can be traced. McClure v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 19 Colo. 122, 34 P. 763 (1893).

Interest due and sureties liable. Money in the hands of a county treasurer belonging to a county, and not turned over to his successor at the time the latter assumed the duties of the office, would draw interest at the legal rate from that date, and the sureties on his official bond are liable to the county for such money with interest. public, in a suit by such a deputy against the county commissioners for salary alleged to be due him, it was held, in the circumstances of the case, that the trial court properly directed a verdict in favor of defendants. Tureck v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 108 Colo. 347, 117 P.2d 315 (1941).

The authority to remove or suspend county agents, in the absence of statutes otherwise providing, rests in the appointing power, and as relating to a deputy county treasurer, there is in Colorado no “statutes otherwise providing”.

Tureck v. Bd. of County Comm’rs, 108 Colo. 347, 117 P.2d 315 (1941).

30-10-705. Vacancy in office - how filled. (1) In case the office of county treasurer becomes vacant, the board of county commissioners shall appoint a suitable person to perform the duties of the treasurer. Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, the person so appointed shall give bond with like sureties and conditions as that required in county treasurers’ bonds and in such sum as the board shall direct and shall be invested with all the duties of the treasurer, until such vacancy is filled or such disability removed.

30-10-707. Treasurer to receive and pay moneys. It is the duty of the county treasurer to receive all moneys belonging to the county, from whatsoever source they may be derived, and all other moneys which are by law directed to be paid to him. 30-10-708. Deposit of funds in banks and savings and loan associations. (1) In all counties of this state, the county treasurer shall deposit all the funds and moneys of whatever kind that come into the treasurer’s possession by virtue of the office, in the treasurer’s name as treasurer, in one or more state banks, national banks, or, in compliance with the provisions of article 47 of title 11, C.R.S., savings and loan associations that have previously been approved and designated by written resolution duly adopted by a majority vote of the board of county commissioners, which shall be entered in its minutes. The board, by written resolution similarly adopted, may authorize the county treasurer to invest all or any part of the funds and moneys in securities meeting the investment requirements established in part 6 of article 75 of title 24, C.R.S. For the purposes of investment of funds of the county as set forth in said part 6, the board, by written resolution, may appoint one or more custodians of the funds, and such persons shall give surety bonds in such amounts and form and for such purposes as the board requires.

(2) All securities so purchased shall be duly registered in the name of the county treasurer and shall be deposited and safely kept in the custody of some state bank or any national bank. No such security shall be sold or otherwise disposed of except pursuant to a resolution of said board of county commissioners similarly adopted, which resolution shall also approve and designate the bank or banks in which such proceeds shall then be deposited, or such resolution may in lieu thereof authorize the reinvestment of such proceeds in any of the securities specified in subsection (1) of this section.

(3) and (4) Repealed.

(5) No county treasurer, or member of the board of county commissioners, who acted in good faith in approving and designating such depository, is liable for loss of public funds deposited by such county treasurer or his deputies by reason of the default or insolvency of such depository; nor shall any county treasurer who invests any such funds or any member of the board of county commissioners who in good faith authorizes such investment be liable for any loss on account of such investment.

(6) Subject to the requirements of part 7 of article 75, of title 24, C.R.S., funds of the county may be pooled for investment with the funds of other local government entities.

30-10-709. Treasurer to keep accounts - settlement of accounts - resolution of findings - report to board of county commissioners - contempt. (1) The county treasurer shall keep a just and true account of the receipt and expenditure of all moneys that come into his or her hands by virtue of the office, in books to be kept by the treasurer for that purpose, which books shall be open at all times for the inspection of the board of county commissioners, or any member thereof, and to all county and state officers; and, at the meetings in July and January of the board of county commissioners, or at such other time as the board may direct, the treasurer shall settle with said board his or her account as treasurer, and, for that purpose, the treasurer shall exhibit to said board all his or her books, accounts, and all vouchers relating to the same, to be audited and allowed.

(2) In addition to the audit described in subsection (1) of this section, the treasurer may periodically cause to be performed an audit of the operations and accounts of the county treasurer's office.

(3) If a recommendation or finding is contained in the final report of any audit conducted pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of this section or section 29-1-603, C.R.S., the treasurer shall promptly address the recommendation or finding and shall report to the board of county commissioners regarding the disposition of the recommendation or finding no later than ninety days after the issuance of the final audit report. If a treasurer fails to address a recommendation or finding or fails to report to the board as required by this subsection (3), the board may apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for an order compelling the treasurer to comply with the provisions of this subsection (3). If the court issues an order compelling the treasurer to comply with the provisions of this subsection (3) and the treasurer fails to comply, the treasurer shall be subject to penalties for contempt of the court issuing the order. Nothing in this subsection (3) shall be construed to limit the ability of the board or any other person to pursue any other legal remedy available to the board or person with regard to the actions of the treasurer.

30-10-710. Apportionment and separation of funds. It is the duty of the county treasurer to apportion and keep all taxes collected by him or her in the several funds for which the taxes were levied, and it shall not be lawful to use the moneys belonging to any fund for the purpose of paying warrants drawn upon some other fund or for the purpose of paying warrants issued before April 2, 1998, which properly should have been drawn upon some other fund; but the amount of interest gained through the investment of county funds, regardless of the origin of such funds, may be credited to the general fund of the county by the county treasurer, unless such investment is made from specific funds allocated for a definite purpose and so maintained. The treasurer and the sureties on his or her official bond or the insurer on the crime insurance policy, as applicable, shall be liable at the action of any taxpayer of the county for any violation of this section.

ANNOTATION

Where a school district became liable for interest on its bonds because of failure of its officers to publish notice as required, it was held that the treasurer was not liable because he paid interest coupons in violation of this section, since the failure of the district to give proper notice was the proximate cause of the injury. People ex rel. Sch. Dist. No. 6 v. Schaeffer, 100 Colo. 70, 65 P.2d 699 (1937).

Interest earned on school district tax moneys prior to distribution to school districts which elect to have such moneys paid over to the district treasurer may be credited to the county general fund. Calhan Sch. Dist. No. 1 v. El Paso County, 686 P.2d 1321 (Colo. 1984).

30-10-711. Payment of warrants - call published. (1) County orders and warrants, properly made and issued, shall be entitled to a preference as to payment, according to the order of time in which they may be presented to the county treasurer; but where two or more orders are presented at the same time, precedence shall be given to the order or warrant of the oldest date, and when two or more orders are presented at the same time, and there are no funds to the credit of the proper fund in the treasury to pay the same, the same shall be registered in the order of their date, precedence being given to the warrant of the oldest date. When there is in the treasury, to the credit of any fund, five hundred dollars or more, against which fund there are any outstanding and unpaid lawful warrants or orders, the county treasurer shall immediately give public notice of the fact by a written notice posted for thirty days at the outer door of the office of the treasurer. The treasurer, at the same time, shall call in for payment all outstanding and unpaid lawful warrants and orders drawn on said fund which the moneys in the treasury will pay and which are entitled to payment from said funds.

(2) Such notice shall also contain the number, date, and amount of such warrants and orders as are entitled to payment and call upon the holders thereof to present the same for payment to the treasurer within thirty days from the day of the posting of said notice, and that interest on the sums due by said warrants and orders will cease to accrue thereon after the last day of said posting of said notice, and interest shall cease to accrue on said sums accordingly. Such notice shall be dated at the county seat, be signed by the treasurer, and a record of the same be kept in the office of the treasurer in a book provided for that purpose; and such books shall be open to inspection and examination at all reasonable hours. Such funds shall be held by the county treasurer for the payment of the warrants and orders called by him, until the expiration of six years from the date of registry of such warrants and orders, when the same shall be paid out upon such other warrants or orders as are entitled to payment on the day of the expiration of the six years.

(3) The treasurer shall pay by electronic transfer any written authorization issued by the board of county commissioners directing the treasurer to make payment of claims against the county electronically.

(4) Payment of county warrants and orders by electronic transfer shall be made only after the treasurer approves the release of funds for such electronic transfer.

(5) For purposes of this part 7, "order" means all orders and authorizations issued by the board of county commissioners for the payment of claims against the county. "Order" includes any warrant issued by the board of county commissioners and any written authorization issued by the board of county commissioners directing the treasurer to make payment of claims against the county by electronic transfer.

ANNOTATION

County warrants are payable in the order of their presentation to the county treasurer, and not otherwise, and the law enters into and becomes part of the contract between the county and the holders of its warrants, and each registered warrant matures as soon as sufficient money has accumulated in the treasury to the credit of the proper fund for its payment, after paying all other warrants of the same class whose registry was prior in time. Bd. of Comm'rs v. People ex rel. New Hampshire Sav. Bank, 16 Colo. App. 215, 64 P. 675 (1901).

Contractual obligation. It is settled by authority that where the law, at the time of the issuance of a warrant, provides for its payment in the order of its presentation this becomes a part of the contract and cannot be altered or changed, at least without an equally safe, certain, and speedy provision for payment. E. H. Rollins & Sons v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 199 F. 71 (8th Cir. 1912).

No legislative impairment allowed. The county is bound by contract to give orders precedence in payment over all orders subsequently issued, and the county commissioners can take no step, either with or without legislative sanction, that shall impair the obligation of these contracts. People v. Austin, 11 Colo. 134, 17 P. 485 (1887).

The holder of a warrant has the right to its payment at its maturity, and without his consent he cannot be deprived of that right by the holders of other warrants, or by the county. Bd. of Comm'rs v. People ex rel. New Hampshire Sav. Bank, 16 Colo. App. 215, 64 P. 675 (1901).

Right to sue. It was held that a county warrant payable out of any money in the treasury appropriated for county expenditures was a written acknowledgment of indebtedness by the county and if not paid, when presented, could be sued on by the legal holder, although there was no money in the treasury to pay. Schloss v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 1 Colo. App. 145, 28 P. 18 (1891).

The statute of limitations does not commence to run against warrants until there is sufficient money in the treasury to pay them and prior orders. E. H. Rollins & Sons v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 199 F. 71 (8th Cir. 1912).

30-10-713. Delivery of books to successor - penalty. Upon the resignation or removal from office of any county treasurer, all the books and papers belonging to the treasurer's office, and all moneys in the treasurer's hands by virtue of the treasurer's office, shall be delivered to the treasurer's successor in office, upon the oath of such preceding treasurer, or in case of the treasurer's death, upon oath of the treasurer's executors or administrators. If any such preceding county treasurer, or in case of the treasurer's death, the treasurer's executors or administrators neglect or refuse to deliver up such books, papers, and moneys on oath, when lawfully demanded, every such person shall forfeit a sum of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

ANNOTATION

The requirement is not that the treasurer shall turn over to the various governmental units the sum due each, but that he shall make delivery to his successor, such is the mandate of this section in relation to his duty, and his bond, also statutorily couched is of like import, and the moneys involved therefore belonged to the county in the sense that it has authority to maintain an action for their recovery. Patterson v. People ex rel. Bd. of Comm'rs, 98 Colo. 86, 53 P.2d 1187 (1935).

Since the general assembly has exclusive jurisdiction over tax matters, county treasurers may exercise only such powers as have been delegated to them. Skidmore v. O'Rourke, 152 Colo. 470, 383 P.2d 473 (1963).

The county treasurer and the assessor in whom the power of assessment and collection of taxes is confided must be qualified electors of their respective counties and take the statutory oath of office, because they are given the power to discover, and furnished with facilities to bring to light, omitted assessable property. *Chase v. 30-10-715. Treasurer to issue receipt for money collected. Upon payment of any money to him, the county treasurer shall issue his receipt therefor to the person paying it, setting forth the account upon which it is paid, and, in the case of the payment of taxes, such receipt shall state the valuation of property taxed, the rate of taxation, and the total amount of such taxes to agree with his cash book.

PART 8ASSESSOR

30-10-801. Assessor - election - bond - insurance - term - oath. (1) A county assessor shall be elected in each county at a general election and, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, shall give bond to the people of the state of Colorado with two or more sufficient sureties, in a sum of not less than six thousand dollars for the performance of the assessor's duties according to law and to the satisfaction of the board of county commissioners, and subscribe an oath or affirmation for the faithful performance of the assessor's duties as such assessor, and who shall be a qualified elector of said county and shall hold office for four years and until a successor is elected and qualified.

(2) In lieu of the bond required by subsection (1) of this section, a county may purchase crime insurance coverage in an amount not less than ten thousand dollars on behalf of the assessor to protect the people of the county from any malfeasance on the part of the assessor while in office.

ANNOTATION

The liability of sureties on official bonds is limited by their terms strictly construed. People ex rel. Layden v. Jackson, 16 Colo. App. 308, 64 P. 1051 (1901); People ex rel. Howard v. Cobb, 10 Colo. App. 478, 51 P. 523 (1897).

And the sureties on an assessor's official bond are not liable to his successor for fees collected after the expiration of his term and during the time he wrongfully withheld the office from his successor. People ex rel. Layden v. Jackson, 16 Colo. App. 308, 64 P. 1051 (1901).

30-10-802. Assessment district - deputy in each - oath - bond. (1) When the board of county commissioners of any county is of the opinion that the assessor is unable to perform the duties of office within the time prescribed by law, the board shall divide such county into assessment districts and shall require the assessor to appoint a deputy in each district, who shall be a qualified elector of the district and who shall be sworn and, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, give bond to the principal.

(2) In lieu of the bond required by subsection (1) of this section, a county may purchase crime insurance coverage on behalf of a deputy assessor to protect the people of the county from any malfeasance on the part of the deputy assessor while in office.

There is a well-recognized distinction between a deputy and an assistant; the former must be a qualified elector, take the oath of office and give bond to the assessor, whereas the latter need not be a qualified elector and is not required to take the oath of office or to give bond, because a deputy assessor performs duties requiring the exercise of discretion; not so an assistant. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Davis, 94 Colo. 330, 30 P.2d 266 (1934).

No power is conferred on the assessor to create assessment districts, nor can he appoint deputy assessors until such districts are created, and some discretion is lodged in the board of county commissioners as to when the necessity arises for such division of the county. Roberts v. People, 9 Colo. 458, 13 P. 630 (1886).

Reimbursement for clerk. Since it was not through any neglect or default of the assessor that a county was not divided into districts which would have authorized him to appoint deputies instead of clerks, it would be inequitable to require the assessor to bear the expenses thus necessarily incurred; having paid the clerks, the assessor's right to reimbursement, although not covered by the express terms of this section, may be fairly implied therefrom, also the power of the commissioners to allow the claim. Roberts v. People, 9 Colo. 458, 13 P. 630 (1886).

Commissioners' contract for assessment ultra vires. Where board of county commissioners, under its authority to manage the business of the county, entered into a contract with plaintiffs to fix valuations of land, which assessor admittedly was unable to determine, such contract is ultra vires and void, because the right to employ capable assistants comes within the purview of the duties primarily conferred on the assessor and cannot be claimed as an implied power of the board of county commissioners, because the board, as such, has no authority to impose itself upon the express powers of another county officer. Pritchard v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 119 Colo. 318, 204 P.2d 156 (1949).

30-10-803. Office and supplies - expenses. (1) The county assessor shall keep his or her office at the county courthouse or at a location in the county seat provided by the board of county commissioners, and shall be provided with a suitable room, vault, necessary office furnishings, books, maps, plats, and all forms and blanks required to be used, and other office supplies.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, the assessor may keep one or more offices outside of the county seat. Any such office shall be in addition to his or her respective office kept pursuant to subsection (1) of this section and shall be within the same county. Any such additional office may be kept only if the board of county commissioners of such county makes office space or funding available to provide for the office. As used in this section, "office" shall mean a place where some or all of the duties of the assessor are conducted. All necessary expenses shall be audited and paid as other county expenses are audited and paid.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

30-11-101. Powers of counties. (1) Each organized county within the state shall be a body corporate and politic and as such shall be empowered for the following purposes:

(a) To sue and be sued;

(b) To purchase and hold real and personal property for the use of the county, and acquire lands sold for taxes, as provided by law;

(c) To sell, convey, or exchange any real or personal property owned by the county and make such order respecting the same as may be deemed conducive to the interests of the inhabitants; and to lease any real or personal property, either as lessor or lessee, together with any facilities thereon, when deemed by the board of county commissioners to be in the best interests of the county and its inhabitants;

(d) To make all contracts and do all other acts in relation to the property and concerns necessary to the exercise of its corporate or administrative powers. Any such contract may by its terms exceed one year and shall be binding upon the parties thereto as to all of its rights, duties, and obligations.

(e) To exercise such other and further powers as may be especially conferred by law;

(f) To develop, maintain, and operate mass transportation systems, which power shall be vested either individually in the board of county commissioners or jointly with other political subdivisions or governmental entities formed pursuant to the provisions of part 2 of article 1 of title 29, C.R.S. Except as provided in paragraph (j) of this subsection (1), this provision shall not apply to any county or portion thereof encompassed by the regional transportation district as formed pursuant to the provisions of article 9 of title 32, C.R.S. Counties, by ordinance adopted, administered, and enforced in accordance with part 4 of article 15 of this title, shall have the authority: To fix, maintain, and revise passenger fees, rates, and charges, and terms and conditions for such systems; to prescribe the method of development, maintenance, and operation of such mass transportation systems; and to receive contributions, gifts, or other support from public and private entities to defray the operating costs of such systems.

(g) To provide for the payment of construction, installation, operation, and maintenance of street lighting by ordinance adopted, administered, and enforced in accordance with part 4 of article 15 of this title and to assess, either in whole or in part, the cost of constructing, installing, operating, and maintaining such street lighting against the property in the vicinity of such street lighting in proportion to the frontage of the property abutting the road, street, or alley where such street lighting is so constructed, installed, operated, and maintained;

(h) To enter into contracts with the executive director of the department of corrections pursuant to section 16-11-308.5, C.R.S., for the placement of persons under the custody of the executive director in county jails or adult detention centers;

(i) To dispose of abandoned personal property acquired by an elected county official or county employee in performing official duties. Said personal property may be disposed of only after the exercise of due diligence to determine the owner of such personal property. Such personal property may be sold, discarded, or used for county purposes as the board of county commissioners deems to be in the best interests of the county.

(j) For any county located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the regional transportation district, to provide transit services in cooperation with and pursuant to consultation with the board of directors of the district. For purposes of this paragraph (j), "county" means any county or city and county.

(k) To coordinate, pursuant to 43 U.S.C. sec. 1712, the "National Environmental Policy Act of 1969", 42 U.S.C. sec. 4321 et seq., 40 U.S.C. sec. 3312, 16 U.S.C. sec. 530, 16 U.S.C. sec. 1604, and 40 CFR parts 1500 to 1508, with the United States secretary of the interior and the United States secretary of agriculture to develop land management plans that address hazardous fuel removal and other forest management practices, water development and conservation measures, watershed protection, the protection of air quality, public utilities protection, and private property protection on federal lands within such county's jurisdiction.

(2) Counties have the authority to adopt and enforce ordinances and resolutions regarding health, safety, and welfare issues as otherwise prescribed by law. In addition to any other enforcement or collection method authorized by law, if a county passes an ordinance or resolution of which a violation would be a class 2 petty offense, the county may elect to apply the penalty assessment procedure set forth in section 16-2-201, C.R.S., and may adopt a graduated fine schedule for multiple offenses. If a specified offense would be an unclassified misdemeanor, a county may elect to downgrade the offense to a class 2 petty offense and apply the penalty assessment procedure under circumstances deemed appropriate and prescribed by the county in an ordinance or resolution.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Law reviews. For article, "The Emerging Relationship Between Environmental Regulations and Colorado Water Law", see 53 U. Colo. L. Rev. 597 (1982).

A county is not an independent governmental entity existing by reason of any inherent sovereign authority of its residents, rather, it is a political subdivision of the state, existing only for the convenient administration of the state government, created to carry out the will of the state. Stermer v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 5 Colo. App. 379, 38 P. 839 (1895); Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900); Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Love, 172 Colo. 121, 470 P.2d 861 (1970).

A county in Colorado is nothing more than an agency of the state in the general administration of the state policy, and its powers are solely governmental. Stermer v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 5 Colo. App. 379, 38 P. 839 (1895); Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900).

And it does not, like a municipal corporation, possess a complete local government of its own, executive, legislative, and judicial. Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900).

Express and implied powers. As a political subdivision, a county, and its commissioners, possess only such powers as are expressly conferred upon them by the constitution and statutes, and such incidental implied powers as are reasonably necessary to carry out such express powers. Stermer v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 5 Colo. App. 379, 38 P. 839 (1895); Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900);

Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959); Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Love, 172 Colo. 121, 470 P.2d 861 (1970); Bainbridge, Inc. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 964 P.2d 575 (Colo. App. 1998).

Statutory taxing duties on behalf of others. Counties and county officers are charged with specific statutory duties in assessing property for tax purposes, levying taxes, collecting taxes, foreclosing tax liens when the taxes are not paid, acquiring title to tax delinquent property, and disposing of property so acquired, and in these matters the counties and their officers act in behalf of the state, towns and cities, school districts, conservancy districts, and other taxing authorities. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

General assembly may delegate authority to county based upon reasonableness standard in appropriate circumstances where, as in the case of setting fees for county building permits, flexibility is required for counties to operate effectively in addressing local concerns. Bainbridge, Inc. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 964 P.2d 575 (Colo. App. 1998).

II. POWER TO SUE AND BE SUED.

A county is not sovereign in the sense in which the state is sovereign, exempt from suit except by its own consent. Bd. of Comm'rs v. City of Colo. Springs, 66 Colo. 111, 180 P. 301 (1919).

This section expressly authorizes counties to sue or be sued. City & County of Denver v. Miller, 151 Colo. 444, 379 P.2d 169 (1963).

This undoubtedly carries with it the right when sued to interpose every defense, legal and equitable, which it may have, including the statute of limitations. Schloss v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 1 Colo. App. 145, 28 P. 18 (1891).

The right "to sue" relates to the county's function as a body corporate and can only be exercised within the framework of the specific powers granted counties and boards of county commissioners, such does not grant a general power to sue in any and all situations. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Love, 172 Colo. 121, 470 P.2d 861 (1970).

But no express limitation is put upon the class of subject matter in respect to which that power can be exercised. City & County of Denver v. Miller, 151 Colo. 444, 379 P.2d 169 (1963).

And it cannot be that a county must submit to have such portion of its territory unlawfully taken from it and transferred to another county, without being able to contest the legality of the proceeding. City & County of Denver v. Miller, 151 Colo. 444, 379 P.2d 169 (1963).

The state is not liable in damages for the negligence of its servants, nor are other governmental corporate entities liable for the tortious acts of their servants performing duties in furtherance of a governmental function, as distinguished from a proprietary function. Liber v. Flor, 143 Colo. 205, 353 P.2d 590 (1960); M. & M. Oil Transp., Inc. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 143 Colo. 309, 353 P.2d 613 (1960).

Therefore, counties are not liable for the tortious acts of their servants performing duties in furtherance of a governmental function as distinguished from a proprietary function. Liber v. Flor, 143 Colo. 205, 353 P.2d 590 (1960).

Also the doctrine of respondeat superior applicable to the relation of master and servant does not apply to a public county officer so as to render him responsible for the acts or omissions of subordinates whether appointed by him or not, unless he, having the power of selection, has failed to use ordinary care therein, or unless he has been negligent in supervising the acts of such subordinates, or has directed or authorized the wrong. Liber v. Flor, 143 Colo. 205, 353 P.2d 590 (1960).

But where servants or employees of a county are the actual tort-feasors, and the evidence establishes this fact, they should be held liable in all respects as other tort-feasors. Liber v. Flor, 143 Colo. 205, 353 P.2d 590 (1960).

Since counties are quasi and not municipal corporations, they are not liable to garnishment. Stermer v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 5 Colo. App. 379, 38 P. 839 (1895).

Because counties, not their various subsidiary departments, exist as bodies corporate empowered to sue and be sued, naming a county department as a defendant is not an appropriate means of pleading a § 1983 action against a county. Stump v. Gates, 777 F. Supp. 808 (D. Colo. 1991).

III. POWER TO DEAL IN REAL PROPERTY.

A county does not have blanket authority to deal in real estate. Its authority is to purchase and hold real and personal estate for the use of the county, and lands sold for taxes, as provided by law. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

And a county has no power to acquire real or personal property as a speculation or an investment, nor does it have the power to retain property lawfully acquired for the use of the county when the use therefor no longer exists, and it may acquire and retain such property as it now reasonable needs, or in the foreseeable future may reasonably need, but no more, and such needed property is exempt from taxation, however, other not needed property should be on the tax rolls as provided by law. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

A statutory right to reserve the minerals therein means only that it may reserve and sell the minerals separately. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

Where a husband and wife executed and delivered their warranty deed to property to the county subject to encumbrances, and the consideration for the conveyance was financial assistance theretofore and in the future to be advanced by the county for their needs, it was held the county carried out its agreement and acquired a good and sufficient title under the deed. Bainbrich v. Boies, 113 Colo. 458, 158 P.2d 736 (1945).

IV. POWER TO PLACE INMATES OUT OF STATE.

Subsection (1)(h) should not be interpreted to limit placement of Colorado inmates only to county jails and this section does not affect authority of director of department of corrections to transfer inmates out of state. People v. Wood, 999 P.2d 227 (Colo. App. 2000).

ANNOTATION

Within the scope of their powers the county commissioners are supreme and they cannot be superseded, nor can their acts be judicially controlled or reviewed, except for an excess of jurisdiction or abuse of discretion. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

It cannot shift its powers to another, nor evade responsibility for its declared duties. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

The county commissioners are invested with full and sole power to manage the business affairs of the county. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 3 Colo. App. 576, 34 P. 583 (1893).

And they are necessarily vested with reasonable discretion in the administration of county affairs. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 3 Colo. App. 576, 34 P. 583 (1893).

The commissioners are the governing body and by statute they are clothed with full authority to make all contracts which are essential to the management of the county affairs. Liggett v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 6 Colo. App. 269, 40 P. 475 (1895).

A county exercises its power by and through its board of commissioners, not through individual members. Nicholl v. E-470 Pub. Highway Auth., 896 P.2d 859 (Colo. 1995).

The status of counties as corporations has been the subject of considerable discussion, and while they are defined as quasi corporations, it is always conceded that as such they have, to the extent of the powers which are conferred upon them, full authority to act and to contract as may corporations generally. Liggett v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 6 Colo. App. 269, 40 P. 475 (1895).

The board possesses such powers as are expressly conferred upon it by the constitution and statutes, and in addition thereto such implied powers as are reasonably necessary to the efficient execution of its express powers and duties. Roberts v. People, 9 Colo. 458, 13 P. 630 (1887); Chase v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 37 Colo. 268, 86 P. 1011 (1906); Robbins v. Hoover, 50 Colo. 610, 115 P. 526 (1911); Bd. of Comm'rs v. Davis, 27 Colo. App. 501, 150 P. 324 (1915).

These powers, it is evident and unquestioned, are to be used in such manner as would best subserve the interests of the citizens of the county of which the county commissioners are simply the representatives. Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900).

But they are not clothed with the authority to barter away in perpetuity the rights and interests of the public, whatever may be their power as to discretionary acts. Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900).

Power to buy and build not power to maintain. Where the commissioners had the discretionary power to select and purchase a site for a courthouse, and to erect the building thereon, here the power ended, because they had no authority from the general assembly, either express or implied, to bind the public to maintain the courthouse upon the site so selected for all time to come, and the public was not bound by any alleged acts of ratification of the void contract. Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900).

Power to contract beyond terms of office. Where the officers or trustees of a quasi corporation are empowered to act with reference to any particular matter, it is generally conceded their contract will be valid and binding, even though some part of its performance may be impossible until after the expiration of the term of the officers who may enter into the engagement. Liggett v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 6 Colo. App. 269, 40 P. 475 (1895).

A subsequent board of commissioners has no power to review the discretionary acts of a former board. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 3 Colo. App. 576, 34 P. 583 (1893).

Void contract. Any contract which will disabate a public or quasi-public corporation from performing the duty which it has undertaken, or has been imposed upon it, for public weal, is void. Colburn v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 15 Colo. App. 90, 61 P. 241 (1900).

The right to sue a county is purely statutory, and where the mode of instituting the suit is prescribed by statute, it must be strictly followed. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Churning, 4 Colo. App. 321, 35 P. 918 (1894).

30-11-103.5. County petitions and referred measures. The procedures for placing an issue or question on the ballot by a petition of the electors of a county that is pursuant to statute or the state constitution or that a board of county commissioners may refer to a vote of the electors pursuant to statute or the state constitution shall, to the extent no such procedures are prescribed by statute, charter, or the state constitution, follow as nearly as practicable the procedures for municipal initiatives and referred measures under part 1 of article 11 of title 31, C.R.S. The county clerk and recorder shall resolve any questions about the applicability of the procedures in part 1 of article 11 of title 31, C.R.S.

30-11-104. County buildings - acquisition of land or buildings by eminent domain authorized. (1) (a) Each county, at its own expense, shall provide a suitable courthouse, a sufficient jail, and other necessary county buildings and keep them in repair.

(b) For any penal institution that begins operations on or after August 30, 1999, that is operated by or under contract with a county, the county may establish standards relating to space requirements, furnishing requirements, required special use areas or special management housing, and environmental condition requirements, including but not limited to standards pertaining to light, ventilation, temperature, and noise level. If a county does not adopt standards pursuant to this paragraph (b), the penal institution operated by or under contract with the county shall be subject to the standards adopted by the department of public health and environment pursuant to section 25-1.5-101 (1) (i), C.R.S. In establishing such standards, the county is strongly encouraged to consult with national associations that specialize in policies relating to correctional institutions.

(2) Each county has the power to acquire, by eminent domain, land or buildings, or both, for the provision of court and district attorney facilities, jails, and other necessary facilities specifically related thereto. Any acquisitions by eminent domain shall be made in the manner authorized for cities and towns as set forth in article 6 of title 38, C.R.S.

ANNOTATION

A county's duties under this section may not be reduced or ended pursuant to art. X, § 20(9), of the state constitution. State v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, Mesa County, 897 P.2d 788 (Colo. 1995).

Historically, Colorado law has placed the duty of providing a suitable courthouse upon the county commissioners of each county. Lawson v. Pueblo County, 36 Colo. App. 370, 540 P.2d 1136 (1975).

Even though the general assembly indicated its intention to take over from the counties the financial burden of providing judicial facilities, the general assembly has not provided funds for the construction of court facilities in the various counties of the state, and the burden of providing courtroom space and facilities remains with the counties. Lawson v. Pueblo County, 36 Colo. App. 370, 540 P.2d 1136 (1975).

Counties are charged with the duty to provide public buildings for county offices, and to maintain those buildings. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Intermountain Rural Elec. Ass'n, 655 P.2d 831 (Colo. 1982).

But lack power to acquire office space through eminent domain. The general assembly has not impliedly delegated the power of eminent domain to counties for the purpose of acquiring office space for authorized county purposes. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Intermountain Rural Elec. Ass'n, 655 P.2d 831 (Colo. 1982).

An express grant of eminent domain power to provide facilities to house public offices does not appear in this section. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Intermountain Rural Elec. Ass'n, 655 P.2d 831 (Colo. 1982).

The board of county commissioners was a proper party and entitled to recover damages against the building contractor and his surety under third party beneficiary principles, because in Colorado one may enforce a contractual obligation made for his benefit although he was not a party to the agreement, when such an obligation is apparent from the agreement and the surrounding circumstances. The obligation for the benefit of the county is inherent in the contract documents and circumstances. Under the leasehold agreement, the public building authority's obligation to the county to construct the courthouse building was recognized, and the building plans and specifications were subject to the approval of the county. Under the construction agreement, the county has the right to approve the form of the performance bond. The contractor was not entitled to final payment until completion of the building and final acceptance of work by the authority, the county and the architects. The land belonged to the county and was leased to the authority to have the courthouse built and to lease the land and building back to the county. Thus, the agreements and the circumstances show that the benefit of faithful performance of the construction agreement and the bond were intended to flow to the county. Such contractual benefit to the property owner is enforceable by him. Cox v. Fremont County Pub. Bldg. Auth., 415 F.2d 882 (10th Cir. 1969).

30-11-104.1. Lease purchase agreements. (1) In order to provide for financing of a public park, a public trail, a public golf course, or public open space, or a courthouse, jail, or other county building or equipment used, or to be used, for governmental purposes, any county is authorized to enter into lease purchase agreements.

(2) Such agreements may include an option to purchase, transfer, and acquire title to such property and the improvements thereon, if any, within a period not exceeding the useful life of such property and any improvements, but in no case exceeding thirty years.

(3) The obligation under any such leases may only be from year to year and may not constitute a mandatory charge or requirement in any ensuing budget year.

(4) The obligation to make payments under such an agreement and the obligation to pay other charges incident to any such agreement shall not constitute or give rise to an indebtedness within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory, or home rule charter debt limitation.

ANNOTATION

This provision is the exclusive method by which jurisdiction over a county can be obtained, and an action attempted to be brought under any other designation is a nullity, and no valid judgment can enter in such a case. *Bd. of Comm'rs v. And where three persons were named as defendants, with the addition "the board of county commissioners" of a county named, and throughout the proceedings in the court below all parties treated the board of county commissioners as the defendant, it was held that the county commissioners were bound by the proceeding, and by any order or decree that might be properly made in the court of review. Del Monte Live Stock Co. v. Ryan, 24 Colo. App. 340, 133 P. 1048 (1913).

Where suit was directed at the county board of adjustment, not at the county, county board of adjustment was properly designated as the party defendant. Benes v. Jefferson County Bd. of Adjustment, 36 Colo. App. 131, 537 P.2d 753 (1975).

In a suit on the official bond of a county treasurer, the action should be brought by

Where an appeal is taken by the board of county commissioners in an action against them, the appeal bond must be executed in the name of the board, and not by the members individually. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. King, 9 Colo. 542, 13 P. 539 (1887).

30-11-105.1. Standing - contesting constitutionality of a statute. In addition to any other powers prescribed in this part 1, any county or county officer shall have standing in district court to defend any action brought against such county or officer by contesting the constitutionality of a statute underlying such action and affecting the rights, status, or other legal relations of such county or county officer or directing the performance of, defining, or prescribing the duties or responsibilities of such county officer.

- III. Examining and Settling County Accounts.
- IV. Building and Keeping in Repair County Buildings.
- V. Apportioning and Ordering the Levy of Taxes and Contracting Loans.
- VI. Laying Out, Altering, or Discontinuing County Roads.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

In discharging their duties, county commissioners are in all relevant aspects the alter egos of the county. Koch v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Costilla Cty., 774 F. Supp. 1275 (D. Colo. 1991).

Section does not violate separation of powers. Beacom v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 657 P.2d 440 (Colo. 1983).

The general assembly can and does, at times in Colorado, delegate limited police and legislative powers to local governmental units. Asphalt Paving Co. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 162 Colo. 254, 425 P.2d 289 (1967).

Because in Colorado the general assembly, as government has grown more complex, has extended its reliance on boards of county commissioners to carry out, on a local level local governmental functions where it has deemed such necessary. Asphalt Paving Co. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 162 Colo. 254, 425 P.2d 289 (1967).

Therefore, in the absence of any constitutional prohibition, there is nothing illegal about a state legislature delegating powers local in nature to local governmental units, provided that the proper constitutional tests are met as to maintaining a separation of powers and nonabrogation of proper responsibility. Asphalt Paving Co. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 162 Colo. 254, 425 P.2d 289 (1967).

Counties have been delegated the following powers, among others, each of which requires the board of county commissioners to exercise certain police powers, viz.: to license and control dogs; to adopt building regulations and restrictions; to license and regulate public dance halls; to issue liquor licenses; to adopt zoning regulations; to regulate roadside signs on county roads; and to adopt, subject to state approval, lower prima facie speed limits on highways and roads located in unincorporated areas within their boundaries. Asphalt Paving Co. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 162 Colo. 254, 425 P.2d 289 (1967).

County commissioners, in order to bind the county, must act collectively as a board. Robbins v. Hoover, 50 Colo. 610, 115 P. 526 (1911).

Care for the poor. Unless there is some statute which takes from the board the duty of providing for the poor, with the power to make valid contracts for their support, which binds the county, such power is vested in the county board. Saguache v. Tough, 45 Colo. 395, 101 P. 411 (1909).

Contract for assessments ultra vires. Where board of county commissioners, under its authority to manage the business of the county, entered into a contract with plaintiffs to fix valuations of land, which assessor admittedly was unable to determine, such contract is ultra vires and void, because the right to employ capable assistants comes within the purview of the duties primarily conferred on the assessor and cannot be claimed as an implied power of the board of county commissioners, because the board, as such, has not authority to impose itself upon the express powers of another county officer. Pritchard v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 119 Colo. 318, 204 P.2d 156 (1949).

An action on the official bond of a district court clerk for moneys belonging to a county is properly brought in the name of the people of the state of Colorado for the use of the board of county commissioners of the county, and the fact that the county treasurer is the person legally authorized to receive the money does not make it necessary that he should be named as the obligee of the bond, nor that a suit thereon should be brought for his use. Cooper v. People ex rel. Bd. of Comm'rs, 28 Colo. 87, 63 P. 314 (1900).

Effect of 1977 amendment. The 1977 amendment, adding subsection (2), gives the county commissioners the authority to make the final budget determination for agencies such as the office of the district attorney which are funded in whole or in part by county appropriations, and establishes a statutory presumption that the board validly exercised its budget-making power. Beacom v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 657 P.2d 440 (Colo. 1983).

District attorney funded by county appropriations. The office of the district attorney is an agency which is "funded in whole or in part by county appropriations", pursuant to subsection (2)(a). Beacom v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 657 P.2d 440 (Colo. 1983).

County commissioners are accorded broad discretion on budgetary matters and have the exclusive power to adopt the annual budget, which is presumptively valid. City of Aurora v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 902 P.2d 375 (Colo. App. 1994), aff'd, 919 P.2d 198 (Colo. 1996).

Judicial review of discretionary budgetary decisions limited. A court's role in reviewing discretionary budgetary decisions by a board of county commissioners is limited to the determination of whether the board abused its discretion by acting arbitrarily or unreasonably. Beacom v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 657 P.2d 440 (Colo. 1983).

Local boards of county commissioners cannot, in an employee manual, override the general assembly's determination in subsection (1)(n) that board-appointed county employees serve at the board's pleasure and are therefore terminable at will. Erickson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 801 F. Supp. 414 (D. Colo. 1992); Parker v. Park County Bd. of County Comm'rs, 78 F. Supp.2d 1169 (D. Colo. 1999).

The provisions of subsection (1)(n) will not bar a cause of action where a genuine issue of material fact remains as to the controversy. Kennedy v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 776 P.2d 1159 (Colo. App. 1989).

Placement of moneys derived from the specific ownership tax in the county road and bridge fund held not an abuse of discretion. City of Aurora v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 902 P.2d 375 (Colo. App. 1994), aff'd, 919 P.2d 198 (Colo. 1996).

Permissive grants of power that allow the county to construct, operate, improve, and extend storm water facilities and levy taxes to finance the acquisition, construction, operation, improvement, and extension thereof, do not impose a mandatory duty to remedy a particular harm and, therefore, do not establish a clear legislative intent to create a private cause of action. Larry H. Miller Corp.-Denver v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 77 P.3d 870 (Colo. App. 2003).

Trial court properly dismissed petition by county to condemn a portion of owner's property for use as a public road because county presented no valid public purpose for its condemnation of owner's property. Here, public purpose is to benefit private parties; a few, select members of the public will gain access to a private cemetery. Such a private benefit does not constitute a valid public purpose. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Kobobel, 176 P.3d 860 (Colo. App. 2007).

With respect to board's powers under subsection (1)(bb), no right by general public to visit a private cemetery or historical or cultural sites on private land. There is no law in Colorado establishing a right of the public to access private cemeteries. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Kobobel, 176 P.3d 860 (Colo. App. 2007).

II. MAKING ORDER CONCERNING COUNTY PROPERTY.

General powers yield to specific power. The general powers conferred upon the board of commissioners with reference to subsection (1)(a), when in conflict with the special, particular powers conferred upon the sheriff with reference to jails, must yield to the latter, the latter must be treated as exceptions to the former. Richart v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 95 Colo. 153, 33 P.2d 971 (1934).

III. EXAMINING AND SETTLING COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

The board is constituted by law the financial representative of the county, to whom all unliquidated claims against the county are to be presented for allowance, and no other officer or agent of the county is invested with similar powers, and the presentation of a claim to this board, the allowance of which comes within the scope of its powers, is practically a presentation thereof to the county. Roberts v. People, 9 Colo. 458, 13 P. 630 (1886).

The rule governing the allowance of claims by the board of county commissioners is that the authority must be found in the statute, either in express words or by implication, and the compensation for every legitimate charge against a county is not fixed by statute, nor even expressly provided for, it is therefore within the power of the board in such cases to allow reasonable compensation. Bd. of Comm'rs v. Leonard, 3 Colo. App. 576, 34 P. 853 (1893).

IV. BUILDING AND KEEPING IN REPAIR COUNTY BUILDINGS.

Counties are charged with the duty to provide public buildings for county offices, and to maintain those buildings. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Intermountain Rural Elec. Ass'n, 655 P.2d 831 (Colo. 1982).

Lease not unconstitutional indebtedness. The leasing of a building for county purposes for a monthly rental of $670 for a term of 25 years is not a creation of indebtedness for the aggregate amount of the rentals within the meaning of § 6 of art. XI, Colo. Const. Heberer v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 88 Colo. 159, 293 P. 349 (1930).

The fact that contract of county commissioners to lease a building for courthouse purposes extends beyond the terms of office of the commissioners making the contract does not make the contract void. Heberer v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 88 Colo. 159, 293 P. 349 (1930).

Perpetual maintenance of hospital. Nothing in this section authorizes the board of commissioners to enter into an engagement binding the county to forever maintain a hospital, for the benefit of a particular class, because each board must in each year determine for itself what appropriation shall be made for public purposes, and levy the taxes necessary to meet them; and no board is competent to determine these matters for its successors, or limit their action in the exercise of governmental functions. Robbins v. Hoover, 50 Colo. 610, 155 P. 526 (1911).

The board may not appropriate public moneys, raised by general taxation, to the maintenance of a hospital over which the county has not complete control, or from which particular classes of the public are to be excluded. Robbins v. Hoover, 50 Colo. 610, 155 P. 526 (1911).

V. APPORTIONING AND ORDERING THE LEVY OF TAXES AND CONTRACTING LOANS.

The board has the power at any time to apportion and order the levying of taxes as provided by law, for the payment of the debts of the county contracted in accordance with law prior to July, 1876, and a bonded debt was strictly within this section and commissioners not only had the power to levy the tax at the time the demand was made, but it was their duty to do so and they had no discretion in the matter. Berkey v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 48 Colo. 104, 110 P. 197 (1910).

Mandamus to enforce statutory duty. Where a statute imposes upon a city, county, levee district, or other municipality, or upon a particular officer, board, or tribunal, a clear legal duty to levy a special tax to pay judgments, bonds, warrants, or other allowed or fixed indebtedness, or interest thereon, or to provide a sinking fund for payment at a future day, mandamus will lie on the relation of a person interested to compel performance of such duty. Berkey v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 48 Colo. 104, 110 P. 197 (1910).

Contract to discover omitted property ultra vires. With respect to assessing or collecting taxes, no implied power is given the board of county commissioners, as a corporate body, to discover omitted property or to make a valid contract with other to do so, and such a contract is ultra vires. Chase v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 37 Colo. 268, 86 P. 1011 (1906).

No power to challenge state taxing authority. The supreme court found no constitutional or statutory provision which grants any express or implied powers to boards of county commissioners or to county boards of equalization to challenge in court the findings and orders of the state tax commission or state board of equalization. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. Love, 172 Colo. 121, 470 P.2d 861 (1970).

VI. LAYING OUT, ALTERING, OR DISCONTINUING COUNTY ROADS.

Reasonable discretion. This section vests the board with reasonable discretion as to the modes and methods by which it may exercise the power conferred upon it by this section, with reference to laying out, altering, or discontinuing roads. Switzer v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 70 Colo. 563, 203 P. 680 (1922).

Interference with the use of a public highway may be enjoined by the board. Leach v. Manhart, 96 Colo. 397, 43 P.2d 959 (1935).

Based on the authority in subsection (1)(h) to engage in road improvement projects, counties have the authority to require a utility to relocate its utility line. Further, the utility must pay the cost of relocating the utility line when required by the county. Meadowbrook-Fairview v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 910 P.2d 681 (Colo. 1996).

It is not bound to acquire a permanent right-of-way for a road by condemnation, conveyance or prescription, but has authority to contract for the use of a strip of land for road purposes until such time as the permission or license for such use may be revoked. Switzer v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 70 Colo. 563, 203 P. 680 (1922).

Ceding of authority over roads in a national park. The resolution of the state highway commission, sanctioned by the county board of commissioners, was sufficient to cede or transfer through legislative agency, to the federal government, such jurisdiction and control as the state possessed over the highways in a national park. Robbins v. United States, 284 F. 39 (8th Cir. 1922).

Right to intervene. In an action by a landowner to enjoin the use of a road across his property, a board of county commissioners claiming the road to be a public highway has a right to intervene to the end that the character of the road may be determined, and the dismissal of such a petition in intervention is error. Leach v. Manhart, 96 Colo. 397, 43 P.2d 959 (1935).

30-11-107.3. Incentives for installation of renewable energy fixtures - definitions.

(1) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, any county may offer an incentive, in the form of a county property tax or sales tax credit or rebate, to a residential or commercial property owner who installs a renewable energy fixture on his or her residential or commercial property.

(2) For purposes of this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "County" means any county or city and county.

(b) "Renewable energy fixture" means any fixture, product, system, device, or interacting group of devices installed behind the meter of any residential or commercial building that produces energy from renewable resources, including, but not limited to, photovoltaic systems, solar thermal systems, small wind systems, biomass systems, or geothermal systems.

30-11-107.5. Lodging tax for the advertising and marketing of local tourism.

(1) In accordance with the procedures set forth in this section, the board of county commissioners of each county, for the purpose of advertising and marketing local tourism, may levy a county lodging tax of not more than two percent on the purchase price paid or charged to persons for rooms or accommodations as included in the definition of "sale" in section 39-26-102 (11), C.R.S. No tax shall apply within any municipality levying a lodging tax.

(2) (a) The county lodging tax shall be collected, administered, and enforced, to the extent feasible, pursuant to section 29-2-106, C.R.S.

(b) The department of revenue shall perform, on an annual basis, an analysis to determine the net incremental cost of such collection, administration, and enforcement. The department of revenue shall retain only the amount determined to be necessary by the cost analysis, and in no event shall that amount exceed three and one-third percent of the amount collected. Such amount retained shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the general fund, and such amount shall be subject to appropriation by the general assembly for the net incremental cost of such collection, administration, and enforcement.

(c) Any person or entity providing rooms or accommodations as included in the definition of "sale" referred to in subsection (1) of this section shall be liable and responsible for the payment of an amount equivalent of up to two percent of all such sales made and shall quarterly, unless otherwise provided by law, make a return to the executive director of the department of revenue for the preceding tax-reporting period and remit an amount equivalent up to the said two percent on such sales to said executive director.

(3) (a) The board of county commissioners may, by resolution, approve a proposal for a county lodging tax; thereupon, such proposal for the county lodging tax shall be referred to the registered electors of the unincorporated areas and the municipalities subject to the lodging tax at a special election held for such purpose. Any such election may be combined with any other special election. On and after January 1, 1989, such tax may only be approved at a general election.

(b) (I) Such proposal shall contain a description of the proposed county lodging tax, including its purposes, and shall state the amount to be imposed and shall describe any municipality within the county which has such a tax and which shall therefore be excluded from the election proposed in paragraph (a) of this subsection (3) and any resulting lodging tax.

(II) If any additional lodging tax or statewide tax on lodging facilities is enacted or levied after January 1, 1987, which in combination with the lodging tax authorized by this section exceeds two percent, the tax under this section shall be reduced by that amount that the total tax exceeds the two percent maximum specified in subsection (1) of this section.

(c) Repealed.

(d) No public moneys from any source shall be expended directly or indirectly to urge electors to vote in favor or against the imposition of the lodging tax. Nothing in this paragraph (d) shall be construed as prohibiting an elected official from expressing his personal opinion concerning the imposition of the lodging tax.

(e) Upon the adoption of the resolution by the board of county commissioners approving such county lodging tax proposal, the county clerk and recorder shall publish the text of such county lodging tax proposal four separate times, a week apart, in a newspaper of general circulation within the county. The cost of the election shall be initially paid out of the general fund of the county. If the county lodging tax is approved, the general fund of the county shall be reimbursed out of the county lodging tax tourism fund described in paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of this section. The conduct of the election shall conform, so far as practicable, to the general election laws of the state.

(f) (I) If approved by a majority of the registered electors from the municipality or unincorporated area subject to the lodging tax voting thereon, the county lodging tax shall become effective as provided in section 29-2-106 (2), C.R.S.

(II) If a majority of the registered electors voting thereon fail to approve the county lodging tax, the question shall not be submitted again to such electors for a period of one year following the date of said election.

(4) (a) All revenue collected from such county lodging tax, except the amounts retained under subsection (2) of this section, shall be credited to a special fund designated as the county lodging tax tourism fund, hereby created. The fund shall be used only to advertise and market tourism in accordance with paragraphs (b) and (c) of this subsection (4) and to reimburse the general fund of the county for the cost of the election in accordance with paragraph (d) of subsection (3) of this section. No revenue collected from such county lodging tax shall be used for any capital expenditures, with the exception of tourist information centers.

(b) Upon approval of a lodging tax by the electors pursuant to this section, the county commissioners shall select a panel of no less than three citizens to administer the tourism fund. Members of the panel shall be appointed from the tourism industry within the municipalities or unincorporated areas from which the lodging tax is collected. Where there is an established and proven marketing entity within the county formed for the purpose of advertising and marketing tourism, the panel is encouraged to use that entity, and that entity shall provide an accounting to the panel and to the county commissioners.

(c) The panel, to the extent feasible, shall advertise and market tourism for the benefit of those unincorporated areas and municipalities from which the lodging tax originated.

(5) Nothing provided in this section shall in any way prohibit municipalities and counties from cooperating to create countywide uniform lodging taxes with voluntary abandonment of municipal lodging tax ordinances.

(6) Repealed.

(I) Is not subject to ad valorem tax pursuant to section 39-3-119, C.R.S., or specific ownership tax pursuant to section 42-3-107, C.R.S.; and

(II) The owner thereof is regularly engaged in the sale, rental, or both sale and rental of such personal property and rents such personal property to another individual or corporation, in which the owner does not have any interest whatsoever, for one or more periods of thirty days or less in any calendar year.

(b) "Personal property" does not include any residential real property as defined for property tax purposes in section 39-1-102 (14.5), C.R.S.

Such amount retained shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the general fund, and such amount shall be subject to appropriations by the general assembly for the net incremental cost of such collection, administration, and enforcement.

(3) (a) During the month of January of each year, the county treasurer of any county which levies a rental tax pursuant to this section shall calculate, for such county and each political subdivision located within the boundaries of such county, the percentage which the dollar amount of ad valorem taxes levied by each such political entity is of the aggregate dollar amount of ad valorem taxes levied in such county during the preceding calendar year. The percentages so calculated shall be used for the apportionment between the county itself and each political subdivision located within such county of the aggregate amount of rental tax revenue to be distributed by the department of revenue to the county treasurer during the current calendar year.

(b) All rental taxes collected by the county treasurer shall be apportioned, credited, and distributed to the county and to each political subdivision located within such county on the tenth day of each month for all rental taxes collected during the immediately preceding month.

All net revenues collected by a county after the payment of the costs of collection, administration, and enforcement to the department of revenue in accordance with subsection (4) of this section shall be used exclusively for public safety improvements.

(3) The board of county commissioners of a county may by resolution approve a proposal for a county public safety improvements tax; thereupon the public safety improvements tax proposal shall be submitted to the registered electors of the county at the next general election. Number of postage stamps question for board. The board of commissioners could not delegate to the county clerk the duty and power to determine how many postage stamps should be purchased for use in the various county offices, the determination of that question is for the board alone. People ex rel. Mine Owners' Ass'n v. White, 81 Colo. 315, 255 P. 453 (1927).

But a board of county commissioners having power to purchase postage stamps, has power to ratify their purchase by the county clerk, but the ratification must be with the same formality as is required in case the board itself made the purchase. *Town of Durango v. And when a county clerk, without authorization, bought postage stamps for the county, he did so at his peril; if, upon considering his claim for reimbursement, the board of commissioners had refused to ratify his act in making the purchase, and had disallowed his claim, he would have been without redress. *People ex rel. ANNOTATION

One appointed to fill the vacant and unexpired term of a public office holds precisely as his predecessor would have done had the vacancy not occurred. People ex rel. Callaway v. De Guelle, 47 Colo. 13, 105 P. 1110 (1909).

And where a sheriff incumbent was reelected, but failed to qualify for the second term and died before his first term expired, one appointed by the board of county commissioners to the vacancy, held only to the second Tuesday of the succeeding January, the day appointed by law for the commencement of the second term of his predecessor, even though by express terms, his appointment was "until the next general election"; that upon the second Tuesday of the succeeding January there was a vacancy, and one then appointed by the county commissioners to fill it was entitled to the office until the next general election. People ex rel. Callaway v. De Guelle, 47 Colo. 13, 105 P. 1110 (1909).

30-11-118. County attorney - county collector. The board of county commissioners of each county of the state, when the interests of the county require it, may employ an attorney, but the person appointed shall be a member of the bar of the supreme court of this state and at least twenty-five years of age. The board may also, when the business of the county requires it, appoint a county collector, whose duty it is to collect license moneys and other special dues of said county; such collector shall receive such compensation as may be allowed by the board of county commissioners.

ANNOTATION

The commissioners are the judges of when the interests of a county require the employment of an attorney, and until it is made to appear that their judgment in this respect has been exercised unlawfully and corruptly, it will not be interfered with by the courts. Roberts v. People, 9 Colo. 458, 13 P. 630 (1886); Hurd v. Hamill, 10 Colo. 174, 14 P. 126 (1887); Morris v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 25 Colo. App. 416, 139 P. 582 (1914).

A county attorney is employed primarily as the legal advisor of the county commissioners in whose discretion reposes the power of appointment. Medberry v. People, 107 Colo. 15, 108 P.2d 243 (1940).

In certain matters he advises other county administrative officers and appears for the county in cases involving dependent, neglected and delinquent children, in lunacy inquest and, when directed by the county commissioners, in civil litigation to which the county is a party or in which it is interested. Medberry v. People, 107 Colo. 15, 108 P.2d 243 (1940).

No recovery for unauthorized services. It has been held that a county attorney should not be allowed to recover for services rendered to county officials other than the board of county commissioners, unless such other officials are first authorized by the commissioners to employ or consult an attorney. Morris v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 25 Colo. App. 416, 139 P. 582 (1914).

However, the services of an attorney for the county being necessary, his employment by a majority of the board, without meeting, may be afterwards ratified at a meeting duly held. Morris v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 25 Colo. App. 416, 139 P. 582 (1914).

He has no part whatsoever in the initiation or conduct of ordinary criminal proceedings which, in Colorado, are prosecuted by the district attorney in the name of the people of the state and not of the county. Medberry v. People, 107 Colo. 15, 108 P.2d 243 (1940).

And the interest of the county in the expense incident to a criminal proceeding is not such that will disqualify a county attorney from defending one charged with crime and he is not chargeable with unethical conduct, and in defending the accused at least where the county has no interest beyond that ordinarily attaining, a county attorney does not represent conflicting interests nor serve two masters. Medberry v. People, 107 Colo. 15, 108 P.2d 243 (1940).

30-11-119. New bond for officers, when. When the board of county commissioners of any county in this state deems the bond given by the sheriff or other officer of the county insufficient, or when in its opinion the sureties on said bond are insolvent or permanently removed from the county, or when it for any other reason considers said bond insufficient for the public security, it is lawful for the board to require of said sheriff or other officer a new bond, with such sureties and so conditioned as required by law in the first instance.

ANNOTATION

Jurisdiction to require new bond. Without having first made a finding affecting the sufficiency of the original official bond of a county officer, the board of county commissioners has no jurisdiction to require him to file a new one. People ex rel. Carr v. Brown, 23 Colo. 425, 48 P. 661 (1897).

30-11-120. Failure to file bond - office vacant. In case any sheriff or other officer refuses or neglects, for a period longer than thirty days after receiving notice, to give a new bond as required, it is lawful for the board of county commissioners to declare the office vacant and appoint some other person to fill the vacancy, who shall hold the office until a successor is elected or appointed.

30-11-121. General accounting records. The board of county commissioners is responsible for the maintenance of the general accounting records of the county. It is the duty of the county treasurer, county clerk and recorder, county sheriff, and county assessor to furnish, as directed by the board of county commissioners, copies of any and all accounting, administrative, financial, recorded, or assessment records to a person appointed by the board of county commissioners for the purpose of utilizing computer or other record-keeping facilities. Such person shall serve at the pleasure of the board of county commissioners.

30-11-123. Legislative declaration - counties - new business facilities - expansion of existing business facilities - incentives - limitations - authority to exceed revenue-raising limitations. (1) (a) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that the health, safety, and welfare of the people of this state are dependent upon the attraction of new private enterprise as well as the retention and expansion of existing private enterprise; that incentives are often necessary in order to attract private enterprise; and that providing such incentives stimulates economic development in the state and results in the creation and maintenance of new jobs.

(b) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, any county may negotiate for an incentive payment or credit with any taxpayer who establishes a new business facility, as defined in section 39-30-105 (7) (e), C.R.S., in the county. In no instance shall any negotiation result in an annual incentive payment or credit that is greater than the amount of the taxes levied by the county upon the taxable personal property located at or within the new business facility and used in connection with the operation of the new business facility for the current property tax year. The term of any agreement made pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not exceed four years; except that the term of any agreement made or renewed on or after June 3, 2002, may extend to as many as ten years, including the term of any original agreement being renewed.

(2) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, any county may negotiate for an incentive payment or credit with any taxpayer who expands a facility, as defined in section 39-30-105 (7) (c), C.R.S., the expansion of which constitutes a new business facility, as defined in section 39-30-105 (7) (e), C.R.S., and that is located in the county. In no instance shall any negotiation result in an annual incentive payment or credit that is greater than the amount of the taxes levied by the county upon the taxable personal property directly attributable to the expansion, located at or within the expanded facility, and used in connection with the operation of the expanded facility for the current property tax year. The term of any agreement made pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not exceed four years; except that the terms of any agreement made or renewed on or after June 3, 2002, may extend to as many as ten years, including the term of any original agreement being renewed.

(3) For purposes of this section, "county" means any county or city and county.

(4) (Deleted by amendment, L. 94, p. 2833, § 3, effective January 1, 1995.)

(5) Any county which negotiates any agreement pursuant to the provisions of this section shall inform any municipality and any school district in which a new business facility would be located or an expanded business facility is located, whichever is applicable, of such negotiations.

(6) Any county may adjust the amount of its tax levy authorized pursuant to the provisions of section 29-1-301, C.R.S., or pursuant to a county home rule charter, whichever is applicable, by an additional amount which does not exceed the total amount of annual incentive payments or credits made by such county in accordance with agreements negotiated pursuant to the provisions of this section or section 39-30-107.5, C.R.S.

30-11-124. Fire planning authority. (1) The board of county commissioners of each county in the state, subject to the requirements of section 25-7-123, C.R.S., may prepare, adopt, and implement a county fire management plan that details individual county policies on fire management for prescribed burns, fuels management, or natural ignition burns on lands owned by the state or county. Such plans shall be developed in coordination with the county sheriff, the Colorado state forest service, and the appropriate state and local governmental entities. All interested parties shall have the opportunity to comment on the plan prior to its adoption and implementation.

(2) County fire management plans created pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall:

(a) Clearly define appropriate responses in order to mitigate immediate threats to public safety; and

(b) Set forth the conditions under which prescribed or natural ignition fires shall be managed.

(3) Any county that adopts and adheres to a county fire management plan shall be accorded liability protection pursuant to article 10 of title 24, C.R.S.

(4) Federal government agencies, subject to the provisions of sections 25-7-106 (7) and (8) and 25-7-114.7 (2) (a) (III), C.R.S., and private landowners may enter into memoranda of understanding with the board of county commissioners to include public or private lands that are within the boundaries of the county under the county fire management plan. Counties may purchase an indemnification insurance policy and private landowners who enter into memoranda of understanding with the board shall have the opportunity to opt into such policy.

(5) Nothing in this section shall infringe upon or otherwise affect the ability of agricultural producers to conduct burning on their property.

30-11-125. Licensing program for building contractors - contents of program - requirements - exceptions - definitions. (1) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) (I) “Building contractor” means a building contractor who for compensation directs, supervises, or undertakes any work for which a county building permit is required. A county licensing program established in accordance with the provisions of this section shall exclude from the definition of “building contractor” any person whose sole function in the work for which a county building permit is required is to perform labor under the supervision or direction of a building contractor.

(II) “Building contractor” shall not include an electrician required to be licensed by the state pursuant to article 23 of title 12, C.R.S., or a plumber required to be licensed by the state pursuant to article 58 of title 12, C.R.S.

(b) “County” means any county or city and county in the state.

(c) “Municipality” means any home rule or statutory city or town in the state.

(d) “Person” means any individual, corporation, limited liability company, partnership, association, or other legal entity.

(2) Subject to the requirements of this section, any county that has adopted a building code may establish a licensing program to require a person who engages in the business of being a building contractor within the unincorporated areas of the county to obtain a license from the county prior to engaging in the business. The county may develop the licensing program in accordance with the requirements of this section, and any such program may include one or more of the following:

(a) Procedures that a building contractor would follow in order to obtain or renew a license, including the submission of any documentation or information as may be required by the county;

(b) A requirement that the building contractor achieve a passing grade on a nationally recognized examination promulgated by the international code council that is commonly used and accepted in the industry;

(c) Specification of the duration of the license issued by the county;

(d) Subject to the requirements of subsection (3) of this section, the imposition of a reasonable fee to be charged by the county to a building contractor to cover the costs of any testing required to be performed by the county, the processing of the application, or any other costs incurred by the county in connection with the issuance or renewal of a license; or

(e) Grounds for the revocation or suspension of a license issued by the county, grounds for the revocation or suspension of a building permit issued for a project for which the building contractor is found not to be in compliance with the county's licensing requirements, or grounds for the imposition of any lesser sanction, which shall be based on objective standards and criteria developed from the county building code, and procedures to be followed by the county in carrying out the revocation, suspension, or other sanction based upon such grounds, including a process for appealing any sanction so imposed.

(3) Any county that establishes a licensing program pursuant to this section shall issue a license to a building contractor holding a valid license issued by another county or municipality in the state without requiring the building contractor to take or achieve a passing grade on any examination conducted by the county if the license issued by such other county or municipality required the building contractor to achieve a passing grade on a nationally recognized examination promulgated by the international code council commonly used and accepted in the industry. In the case of a building contractor holding a valid license issued by another county or municipality in the state, the fee charged by a secondary county for issuance or renewal of a license in accordance with the requirements of this section shall be reasonable and limited to costs incurred by the secondary county in processing the application and otherwise administering the issuance or renewal of a license required by this section.

(4) If a building contractor applying for a license complies with the requirements for obtaining a license established by the county, the county shall issue a provisional license to the building contractor no later than seven business days after the building contractor has submitted a complete application. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (5) of this section, any failure on the part of the county to issue a nonprovisional license within forty-five days after submission of a complete application to a building contractor who has otherwise satisfied all other requirements for obtaining a license shall not preclude the building contractor from engaging in the business of being a building contractor and applying for a building permit for unincorporated areas of the county.

(5) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (4) of this section, no person shall engage in the business of being a building contractor within the unincorporated areas of any county that has adopted a licensing program created pursuant to this section unless the person holds a valid license issued or recognized by the county in accordance with the requirements of this section.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section:

(a) The provisions of this section shall apply to any licensing program operated or administered by a county that is in existence as of August 3, 2007. Any licensing program operated or administered by a county as of August 3, 2007, that satisfies or is amended to satisfy the requirements of this section is hereby ratified as compliant with the requirements of this section and need not be reestablished by the county.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require any individual to hold a license to perform repair or maintenance work on his or her own property, nor shall it prevent a person from employing an individual on either a full-time or a part-time basis to perform repair or maintenance work on his or her own property who is not licensed under the provisions of this section.

ANNOTATION

In determining its policy and character of construction work to be done under this section, the city acted in its governmental capacity; the power so to act is expressly conferred upon the city council, and this authority it could not delegate. City & County of Denver v. Talarico, 99 Colo. 178, 61 P.2d 1 (1936).

But in the performance of the ministerial work it is not acting in a governmental capacity and will be held liable for damages resulting from its negligence in the construction and maintenance of the works erected in carrying out the policy adopted. City & County of Denver v. Talarico, 99 Colo. 178, 61 P.2d 1 (1936).

And in an action against a municipality for damages occasioned by the flooding of plaintiff's lands and crops, resulting from the city's negligence in making and leaving an excavation in an embankment through which the flood waters reached his land, it was held that the evidence supported a finding that the excavation was the proximate cause of the damage. City & County of Denver v. Talarico, 99 Colo. 178, 61 P.2d 1 (1936).

Ordinary care required. In an action for damages to land and crops resulting from the alleged negligence of a city, if the latter failed to use ordinary care in maintaining an embankment constructed in line with its policy for flood water control, it cannot escape liability by imputing the cause of damage to an act of God. City & County of Denver v. Talarico, 99 Colo. 178, 61 P.2d 1 (1936).

City must see that adjacent land not subject to greater hazard. Where city under legislative authority makes improvements in and along the channel of a natural stream, in the absence of contract, it owes no duty to adjacent landowners other than to see that in the plan of the improvement and its maintenance or failure to maintain, such land is not subjected to a greater burden or hazard from floods than that to which it would have been exposed had the

30-11-205. City to control channel. The width, depth, course, and dimensions of said channel shall be as established by ordinance duly enacted by the council of the city and county of Denver, and said city and county has the power to acquire by purchase or condemnation all lands necessary to improve, straighten, widen, narrow, deepen, or extend said channel, and the public works department has exclusive control of the construction of said improvement.

30-11-206. Improvement of channel beyond city limits. The city and county of Denver is empowered to extend and improve said channel beyond and outside the limits of the city and county of Denver when in the opinion of the council of said city and county the extension and improvement of said channel beyond the boundary line of said city and county shall more effectually and advantageously accomplish the purpose and object of sections 30-11-204 to 30-11-207, and cause said improvement to be more beneficial to the inhabitants of the city and county of Denver and promote and protect the general health and general welfare.

30-11-207. Obstructions or pollutions. The city council of the city and county of Denver may enact and adopt ordinances for the purpose of preventing and removing obstructions in said channel or encroachments upon the same or polluting the waters thereof; and to in every manner control, regulate, and protect said property when improved in whole or in part, and provide for a penalty for the violation of any of said ordinances.

The city and county of Denver may enter into a contract with the state telecommunications director pursuant to the provisions of section 24-37.5-503, C.R.S., for the providing of teleconferencing facilities and services between the city and county of Denver and any other county or state agency to be used for teleconferencing of hearings relating to any person in the custody of the city and county of Denver.

ANNOTATION

Placement of statute immaterial. That the revisor of statutes placed a statute relating to the authority of counties to reserve mineral rights in county lands sold under the title "County Powers and Functions" rather than under "taxation" is immaterial where the statute provides that the term county lands means any real estate acquired and owned by a county under the laws relating to taxation or otherwise. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

Section 30-11-305 expressly governs lands acquired by a county on account of nonpayment of taxes as evidenced by this section. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

30-11-302. Oil, gas, and mineral rights - reservation of - sale. (1) In any sale of county lands made by any county acting through its board of county commissioners, a valid reservation of oil and gas and other minerals in such lands may be made when in the opinion of the board of county commissioners it is deemed to be for the best interest of the county. Oil and gas and other mineral rights or any of them thus reserved by a county upon the sale of such real estate may be sold by order of the board of county commissioners at public sale to the highest and best bidder after four weeks' prior notice by publication two times in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the land is situated, said notice to describe the oil and gas or other mineral rights to be sold, the location of the land involved, and the date, time, and place of such sale; but a copy of said notice shall be mailed, postage prepaid, by the board of county commissioners to the owner of the surface at the time of such notice as shown by the records in the office of the county assessor of the county in which such lands are situated at the last known address of such owner as shown by said books of the county assessor, and that a copy of said notice shall be mailed, postage prepaid, by the board of county commissioners to the person in possession of the surface.

(2) In the sale of reserved oil and gas rights under any tract of land, the number of acres contained in any one parcel or unit of sale of such rights shall not exceed the total number of acres of such surface land sold by the county to the purchaser thereof at the time of reservation therefrom of the oil and gas rights thus offered for sale. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent a county from selling any number of such units or parcels at any public sale. The board of county commissioners has the right to reject any and all bids.

(3) Mineral rights, other than oil and gas, reserved as provided in this section may be leased for exploration, development, and production purposes upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed and contracted by the board of county commissioners in the exercise of its best judgment and as such board deems to be for the best interests of the county. Any such lease of mineral rights, other than oil and gas, shall be for a term not to exceed twenty-five years and as long thereafter as such minerals are produced. Leases of any such mineral rights made or entered into by the board in conformity with the provisions of this section prior to February 25, 1955, are hereby confirmed, validated, and declared to be legal and valid insofar as the authority of any such board is concerned.

That the revisor of statutes placed a statute relating to the authority of counties to reserve mineral rights in county lands sold under the title "County Powers and Functions" rather than under "taxation" is immaterial where the statute provides that the term county lands means any real estate acquired and owned by a county under the laws relating to taxation or otherwise. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

The fact that present statutes permit a county to reserve minerals only means that it may reserve and sell the minerals separately. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

Property sold subject to lease. All county-owned property not needed for the use of a county should be sold promptly and as soon as lack of need is apparent, and the fact that it is subject to a valid lease or leases does not preclude a sale; the property surface, minerals, or both, can be sold subject to the terms of the lease, which lease may add to or detract from the value of the property. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

To permit a county to become the owner of and hold at its pleasure unlimited nontaxable real estate, would be to deprive the state, school district, and others tax revenue and by such action cripple other governmental agencies dependent for their existence upon tax revenue. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

A deed of land by a county reserving to the county the minerals therein, through invalid when made, but validated by § 30-11-305, precludes the grantee from asserting ownership of the minerals which by the validated deed are expressly reserved to the county, and a decree quieting title to the minerals in the county is correct. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

Purchaser took subject to reserve rights. Where land acquired by a county through a tax sale is thereafter sold by the county, reserving the mineral estate, the purchaser of the surface, having prior knowledge that the minerals were to be reserved, received that which he intended to acquire and for which he paid. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

30-11-303. Oil and gas rights - leases - royalties. (1) Any county acting by its board of county commissioners may lease any real estate or any interest therein owned by the county for oil and gas exploration, development, and production purposes upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed and contracted by the board of county commissioners in the exercise of its best judgment, and as such board deems to be for the best interests of the county.

(2) Any such lease of oil and gas rights shall be for a term not to exceed five years and as long thereafter as oil or gas is produced and shall provide for a royalty of not less than twelve and one-half percent of all oil and gas produced, saved, and marketed, or the equivalent market value thereof, which royalty may be reduced proportionately under appropriate provision in such lease if the interest of the county is less than a full interest in the land or oil and gas rights in the land described in such lease.

(3) When, in the opinion of the board of county commissioners and because of the size, shape, or current use of any tract of county real estate, the public interest so requires, any lease of such tract may provide that no drilling shall be conducted on the land covered thereby, in which case such lease shall be for a term not to exceed ten years and so long thereafter as the county may share in royalties payable on account of production of oil or gas from lands adjacent to such tract of county land so leased.

30-11-304. Agreements to pool lands for production purposes. When deemed by the board of county commissioners to be in the best interest of the county, any county acting by its board of county commissioners may enter into any unit agreement providing for the pooling or consolidation of acreage covered by any oil and gas lease executed by such county with other acreage for oil and gas exploration, development, and production purposes and providing for the apportionment or allocation of royalties among the separate tracts of land included in such unit agreement on an acreage or other equitable basis, and may by such agreement, with the consent of its lessee, change any and all of the provisions of any lease issued by such county including the term of years for which such lease was originally granted in order to conform such lease to the terms and provisions of such unit agreement and to facilitate the efficient and economic production of oil and gas from the unit lands.

30-11-305. Prior agreements validated. All reservations of oil and gas and other mineral rights and sales of previously reserved oil and gas and other mineral rights in county lands made or entered into by any county prior to May 20, 1949, acting by its board of county commissioners, all leases of oil and gas or rights, and all unit agreements relating to or dealing with oil and gas and containing provisions similar to those set forth in section 30-11-304, affecting county lands, made or entered into by any county prior to May 20, 1949, acting by its board of county commissioners are hereby confirmed, validated, and declared to be legal and valid in all respects.

ANNOTATION

Reservation subsequently validated. Where a county sold land acquired by tax sale and reserved the minerals therein without authority at the time of such sale, such reservation where thereafter validated by this section. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

This validating act was intended by the general assembly to apply to sales of surface rights, and it validates such sales unless subject to some constitutional objection. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

No impairment of vested rights. Generally speaking, the general assembly may, within the constitutional limits of its power, cure formal defects in deeds and other written instruments, and give them the same validity as though they had been properly executed, since such legislation, even though it may operate to cut off a right of action that would otherwise exist, is not considered as depriving anyone of vested rights, but rather as carrying into effect the intent of the parties. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

The general assembly may validate retrospectively any proceeding which it might have authorized in advance, or may cure by subsequent statute what it might have dispensed with altogether. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

A curative or validating statute is one whose purpose is to cure past errors, omissions, and neglects, and thus to make valid what, before the enactment of the statute, was invalid. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

But a validating statute grants no indulgence for the correction of future errors and neglects. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

And § 11 of art. II, Colo. Const., does not apply, and was not intended to apply, to acts validating contracts theretofore made on behalf of the state. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

Quieting title decree correct. Where a deed of land by a county reserving to the county the minerals therein, though invalid when made, had been validated by this section, precluded the grantee from asserting ownership of the minerals which by the validated deed were expressly reserved to the county, and a decree quieting title to the minerals in the county was correct. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

This section expressly governs lands acquired by a county on account of nonpayment of taxes as evidenced by § 30-11-301. Farnik v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 139 Colo. 481, 341 P.2d 467 (1959).

30-11-306. Legislative declaration concerning landfill gas. The general assembly hereby declares that landfill gas constitutes a hazard to the health, welfare, and safety of the people of this state, whether such gas has accumulated as a result of a public or private landfill operation, and that the extraction of landfill gas will ameliorate this dangerous condition, and further declares that the development of landfill gas will provide a valuable, alternate energy resource to the citizens of this state. In order to diminish this hazard and utilize this energy resource, the powers of counties are hereby expanded to authorize landfill gas exploration, development, and production; the financing thereof; the marketing and sale of landfill gas to any public or private person or entity; and the county use thereof for any purpose.

30-11-307. County authority relating to landfill gas. (1) To accomplish the purposes specified in section 30-11-306, counties are granted the following powers:

(a) To acquire, hold, use, transfer, and convey any real property or any interest therein for purposes of landfill gas exploration, production, and development;

(b) To engage in any and all activities respecting the exploration, development, production, distribution, marketing, and sale of landfill gas to any person or public or private entity, or for county uses;

(c) (I) To acquire by gift, purchase, or condemnation necessary easements and rights-of-way, for ingress and egress and for the installation of facilities related to collection and distribution of landfill gas; except that the power of condemnation granted in this paragraph (c) shall not extend to acquisition of landfill gas in place nor shall such power be available to a county until the county has entered into a contract with the owner of such landfill gas for the development, extraction, and purchase of such landfill gas, and except that such condemnation shall not interfere with the normal use of any real property, or other property appurtenant thereto, which is devoted or dedicated to a public utility use or upon which landfill gas abatement or recovery facilities have been placed in operation and shall be limited to the maximum reasonable width or area necessary to install, operate, and maintain such rights-of-way, ingress and egress, and collection and distribution facilities.

(II) Any interest in real property acquired by condemnation pursuant to this paragraph (c) shall terminate upon the completion of use of such real property, or any interest therein, for landfill gas operations, and any such condemnation shall be in the manner provided in part 1 of article 6 of title 38, C.R.S.

(d) To enter into contracts, including intergovernmental contracts, and to perform all acts necessary to produce, distribute, and market landfill gas;

(e) To issue general obligation bonds, after approval of the qualified electors of the county, for purposes of financing the exploration, development, production, distribution, and marketing of landfill gas;

(f) To issue revenue bonds authorized by action of the board of county commissioners, without the approval of the qualified electors of the county, for purposes of financing the exploration, development, production, distribution, and marketing of landfill gas. Such revenue bonds shall be issued in the manner provided in part 4 of article 35 of title 31, C.R.S., for the issuance of revenue bonds by municipalities; except that such revenue bonds may be sold in one or more series at par, or below or above par, at public or private sale, in such manner and for such price as the county, in its discretion, shall determine. Such revenue bonds and interest coupons, if any, appurtenant thereto shall never constitute the debt or indebtedness of the county within the meaning of any provision or limitation of the state constitution or statutes, and shall not constitute nor give rise to a pecuniary liability of the county or a charge against its general credit or taxing powers, and such revenue bonds and the income therefrom are exempt from taxation, except inheritance, estate, and transfer taxes.

LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES

30-11-401. Short title. This part 4 shall be known and may be cited as the “Law Enforcement Authority Act of 1969”.

30-11-402. Legislative declaration. It is the intent of the general assembly in the enactment of this part 4 to provide an alternative and additional means to provide law enforcement for the citizens of this state, especially those residing in developed or developing unincorporated areas of counties, to combat the rising crime rate therein, and to better assist police and other law enforcement agencies in the prevention of crime and in the detection and apprehension of criminal offenders.

30-11-403. Definitions. As used in this part 4, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) “Area” or “territory” means all areas of land in a county included or proposed to be included in a law enforcement authority, which may consist of all or a portion of the unincorporated area of the county but may not include any single tract or parcel of property containing twenty acres or more without the written consent of the owner thereof, unless such tract or parcel would be entirely within the boundaries of an area.

(2) (a) (I) An “elector” of an authority means a person who, at the designated time or event, is registered to vote in general elections in this state; and

(II) Who has been a resident of the authority or the area to be included in the authority for not less than thirty days; or

(b) A person who is obligated to pay general taxes under a contract to purchase real property within the authority shall be considered an owner within the meaning of this subsection (2). The ownership of property on which a specific ownership tax is paid pursuant to law shall not qualify a person as an elector. Taxable property shall mean real or personal property subject to general ad valorem taxes.

(c) Registration pursuant to the general election laws or any other laws shall not be required.

(3) “Law enforcement authority”, referred to in this part 4 as an “authority”, means a taxing unit which may be created by a county in this state for the purpose of providing additional law enforcement by the county sheriff to the residents of the developed or developing unincorporated area of the county.

(4) “Publication”, when no manner of publication is specified, means publication once a week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area of the authority. It shall not be necessary that publication be made on the same day of the week in each of the three consecutive weeks, but not less than fourteen days, excluding the day of first publication, shall intervene between the day of the first publication and the day of the last publication, and publication shall be complete on the day of the last publication.

30-11-404. Organization of authority. (1) The board of county commissioners of any county in this state may by resolution create an authority pursuant to the provisions of this part 4, which authority shall be a political subdivision of this state.

(2) No resolution creating an authority under this part 4 shall be adopted by a board of county commissioners unless prior notice of such action, including the date, time, and place of meeting of said board, shall be made by publication, and an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel shall be afforded to persons desiring to appear.

(3) The resolution creating such an authority shall contain the following:

(a) The name of the proposed district, which shall include the name of the county and the words "law enforcement authority";

(b) A general description of the territory included in the authority, with such certainty to enable a property owner to determine whether or not his property is within the authority; and

(c) Where applicable, the specific powers and duties of the authority, as provided in this part 4, but if the authority is authorized to exercise all such powers and duties under this part 4, only a general statement to this effect need be included.

(4) The resolution creating any such authority shall not take effect until thirty days following the canvass of votes cast at the election conducted pursuant to section 30-11-405.

(5) On the effective date of such resolution, the board of county commissioners shall, ex officio, constitute the governing board of the authority and shall exercise the powers and duties prescribed in this part 4 and in the resolution.

(2) No authority shall be created unless the proposition to create such authority shall first be submitted to and approved by the electors of the authority.

(3) Notice of the election shall be by publication and shall contain the question to be submitted, the date of the election, the times that the polls shall be open, and the place of each polling place. Designation of election precincts and polling places and election contests shall be pursuant to the provisions of part 8 of article 1 of title 32, C.R.S.

(4) Said election shall otherwise be conducted, insofar as practicable, as are general elections. Election judges shall be appointed and compensated by the board of county commissioners, and their powers and duties shall be defined and exercised pursuant to the comparable provisions of law governing general elections, except that they shall be appointed without regard to political affiliation. All costs of such election shall be paid out of the county general fund.

(5) If a majority of those electors of the authority voting at said election have voted in favor of such proposition, said authority shall be approved and the resolution creating the same shall become effective as provided in section 30-11-404.

(e) To levy a tax not to exceed five mills for the 1982 property tax year or seven mills for the 1983 property tax year and each property tax year thereafter on the taxable property within the area of the authority, for the payment of the operating expenses of the authority. In any case in which an authority proposes to impose a mill levy which is the maximum mill levy allowable under this paragraph (e) or which is in excess of the certified mill levy computed pursuant to section 30-11-406.5, such authority shall follow the procedure set forth in section 30-11-406.5.

30-11-406.5. Procedure for levying property tax - public disclosure - county assessor's duties. (1) No later than August 25 of each year, each county assessor shall certify to each authority within the assessor's county the total valuation for assessment of all taxable property located within the territorial limits of the authority and the mill levy that when applied to such valuation for assessment, exclusive of the increased valuation for assessment attributable to annexation or inclusion of additional land, the improvements thereon, and personal property connected therewith within the authority for the preceding year, or attributable to new construction and personal property connected therewith within the authority for the preceding year, or attributable to increased volume of production for the preceding year by a producing mine if said mine is wholly or partially within the authority and if such increase in volume of production causes an increase in the level of services provided by the authority, or attributable to previously legally exempt federal property that becomes taxable if such property causes an increase in the level of services provided by the authority, will raise the same property tax revenue as was raised the previous year.

(2) Any authority which proposes to impose a mill levy in excess of the mill levy for the previous year shall submit such proposal at an election in accordance with section 20 of article X of the state constitution and title 1, C.R.S.

Property so detached shall not thereafter be liable for any portion of the outstanding indebtedness of the authority.

(2) Upon the annexation or incorporation of fifty percent or more of the area of the territory included in any authority, or upon petition by ten percent of the electors and the approval of a majority of the electors of the authority voting at a special election called for that purpose, pursuant to the applicable provisions of section 30-11-405, any authority formed under this part 4 shall be dissolved effective the following January 1, except that if any indebtedness of the authority is unpaid and outstanding, the authority shall continue in existence for taxation purposes only until all obligations of the authority are paid.

COUNTY HOME RULE CHARTERS

Cross references: For provisions on home rule counties, see article 35 of this title.

30-11-501. County home rule charters. Any county in this state, pursuant to the provisions of this part 5, may establish the organization and structure of county government which shall be submitted to and adopted by a majority vote of the registered electors of the county which shall be known as a county home rule charter.

Source: L. 71: p. 349, § 1. C.R.S. 1963: § 36-28-1. L. 85: Entire section amended, p. 1344, § 8, effective April 30.

30-11-502. Charter commission. (1) Following the adoption of a resolution by the board of county commissioners, or upon the submission of a petition of not less than five percent of the registered electors of the county, requesting that a charter commission be established, the board of county commissioners shall call an election to be held on or before the next general election for the purpose of determining whether or not a charter commission shall be elected. The board of county commissioners shall publish notice of the election at least sixty days prior to the election.

(2) (a) At least sixty days before the election provided for in section 30-11-503, the board of county commissioners shall divide the county into three compact districts; such districts to be as nearly equal in population as possible, for the purpose of electing charter commission members by district according to subsection (4) of this section.

(b) If the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection (2) are not met before sixty days prior to the election provided for in section 30-11-503, no member of the board of county commissioners of the county shall thereafter be entitled to or earn any compensation for his services or receive any payment for salary or expenses, nor shall any member be eligible to succeed himself in office.

(3) (a) The charter commission shall consist of the following members and be elected from the district as follows:

(I) In counties having a population of less than fifty thousand, eleven members, three of whom shall reside in and be elected from each commissioner district within the county and two to be elected at large;

(II) In counties having a population of fifty thousand or more, twenty-one members, six of whom shall reside in and be elected from each commissioner district and three to be elected at large.

Said petition and statement must be filed within thirty days after publication of the election notice. A second notice of the election shall be published by the said commissioners and include the names of candidates for the charter commission.

30-11-503. Election on formation of charter convention and designation of members. (1) At the election, voters shall cast ballots for or against forming the charter commission. If a majority of the registered electors voting thereon vote for forming the charter commission, a commission to frame a charter shall be deemed formed.

Members of the commission shall receive no compensation but shall be reimbursed for necessary expenses pursuant to law.

(2) The charter commission shall conduct a comprehensive study of the operation of county government and of the ways in which the conduct of county government might be improved or reorganized. Within two hundred forty days after its initial meeting, the charter commission shall present to the board of county commissioners a proposed charter, upon which it shall have held three public hearings at intervals of not less than fifteen nor more than thirty days, and notice of these public hearings shall be published not less than fifteen days prior to each public hearing in a newspaper of general circulation within the county. Within ten days of the last of such public hearings, the charter commission shall incorporate any amendments it deems desirable. A majority vote of the members of the charter commission in favor of a proposed charter for the county shall be required to forward said charter to the board of county commissioners for the setting of a referendum election as provided in section 30-11-505.

(3) In the event that the charter commission fails to present a charter to the board of county commissioners after the specified time, the charter commission shall recess for a period of not less than thirty days nor more than ninety days. The board of county commissioners shall then call the charter commission to begin a second attempt to present a charter which shall be presented within a period of ninety days. In the event a second attempt to present a charter to the board of county commissioners also fails, the charter commission shall be excused from its duties and dissolved by the board. All records, files, and proceedings of the charter commission shall be submitted to the board of county commissioners for storage and safekeeping as a public record. A new charter commission shall be elected on dissolution as provided in section 30-11-502.

(4) The board of county commissioners is authorized to establish a special county charter fund and establish a mill levy therefor when the charter commission has submitted a preliminary budget approved by the board of county commissioners. The expenses of the charter commission shall be verified by a majority vote of the commission and shall be submitted to the board of county commissioners for approval, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. If approved, payment shall be made from the special county charter fund. The charter commission may employ a staff, may consult and retain experts, and may purchase, lease, or otherwise provide for such supplies, materials, equipment, and facilities as it deems necessary or desirable. The board of county commissioners may accept funds, grants, gifts, and services for the charter commission from the state of Colorado, the government of the United States or any of its agencies, or other sources, public or private.

The board of county commissioners shall publish in a newspaper of general circulation within the county a complete text of the proposed charter not less than ten days prior to the special election. At the special election a referendum of the registered electors of the county shall be held to determine the question of whether the proposed charter as submitted shall be adopted. Notice of the election on the proposed charter shall be published at least thirty days prior to the election.

(2) If a majority of those voting on the question favor the adoption of the charter, the said charter shall become effective January 1 of the succeeding year or at such other time as the charter may provide. Such charter, once adopted by the electors, may be amended only by the registered electors of the county.

(3) If a majority of the voters disapprove the proposed charter, the charter commission may proceed to prepare a revised proposed charter in the same manner provided for preparation, submission, and election on the proposed charter. The election on any revised proposed charter must be held not less than ninety nor more than one hundred eighty days after the election rejecting the proposed charter. The charter commission shall not submit more than one proposed charter and one revised proposed charter. If a majority of the voters disapprove the proposed charter, or the revised proposed charter, if one is submitted, no new referendum may be held during the next twelve months following the date of the last disapproval.

(4) Upon acceptance or rejection of the proposed charter or the revised proposed charter, if one is submitted by the registered electors of the county, the charter commission shall be dissolved, and all property of the charter commission shall thereupon become the property of the county, and the board of county commissioners shall adopt a resolution to that effect.

(2) Action to repeal a charter or to form a new charter commission may be initiated by a petition signed by at least fifteen percent of the registered electors of the county.

(3) (a) Within thirty days of initiation of a proposed amendment, repeal, or charter convention measure, the board of county commissioners shall publish notice of and call an election to be held not less than thirty nor more than one hundred twenty days after said publication. The text of any proposed amendment shall be published with said notice.

(b) If the proposal is for a charter commission, the election shall be scheduled at least sixty days after publication of the notice. The procedure for the forming and functioning of a new charter commission shall comply as nearly as practicable with provisions relating to formation and functioning of an initial charter commission.

(4) If a majority of the registered electors voting thereon vote for a proposed amendment, the amendment shall be deemed approved. If a majority of the registered electors voting thereon vote for repeal of the charter, the charter shall be deemed repealed, and the county shall proceed to organize and operate pursuant to the statutes applicable to statutory counties.

ANNOTATION

The equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment to the U.S. Constitution does not command Colorado to grant the power of initiative to the electors of statutory counties simply because it has granted that power to the electors of home rule counties. Save Palisade FruitLands v. Todd, 279 F.3d 1204 (10th Cir. 2002).

30-11-509. Time limit on submission of similar proposals. No proposal for a charter commission, charter amendment, or repeal of a charter shall be initiated within twelve months after rejection of a substantially similar proposal.

Any power, function, service, or facility vested by statute in a particular county officer, agency, or board, including a board of county commissioners, may be exercised or performed within a home rule county by such county officer, agency, or board or by any other county officer, agency, or board designated in the home rule charter. 30-15-101. Pet animal control and licensing. (1) (a) The board of county commissioners of any county may adopt a resolution for the control and licensing of dogs and other pet animals as provided in this part 1. Such resolution may:

(I) Require licensing of dogs and other pet animals by owners and impose reasonable conditions and fees on the same. No registration permit or license shall be issued by any board of county commissioners unless and until the owner of a dog shall exhibit to such board or designated official a valid rabies vaccination certificate indicating the dog has been vaccinated against rabies by a licensed veterinarian. The county dog control resolution may exempt dogs below a specified age from licensing and registration or vaccination requirements, or both; except that the recommendations of the department of public health and environment shall be followed concerning the minimum age for such vaccination.

(II) Require that dogs and other pet animals be under control at all times and define "control", which may vary from time to time, place to place, and animal to animal;

(III) Define "vicious dog" and "vicious animal";

(IV) Establish a dog pound, or other animal holding facility, and engage personnel to operate it and otherwise to enforce the county dog control resolution or any other resolution concerning the control of pet animals;

(V) Provide for the impoundment of animals which are vicious, not under control, or otherwise not in conformity with the resolutions;

(VI) Establish terms and conditions for the release or other disposition of impounded animals;

(VII) Establish such other reasonable regulations and restrictions for the control of dogs and other pet animals as the board of county commissioners may deem necessary.

(b) The control provisions of such resolution, as provided in subparagraph (II) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (1), shall not apply to dogs while actually working livestock, locating or retrieving wild game in season for a licensed hunter, or assisting law enforcement officers or while actually being trained for any of these pursuits.

(2) In order to implement the provisions of this section, any county or municipality may enter into an intergovernmental agreement pursuant to the provisions of part 2 of article 1 of title 29, C.R.S., to provide for the control, licensing, impounding, or disposition of dogs or other pet animals or to provide for the accomplishment of any other aspect of a county or municipal dog control or pet animal control licensing resolution or ordinance.

(3) For purposes of this part 1, "pet animal" means and includes any animal owned or kept by a person for companionship or protection or for sale to others for such purposes. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection (3), "pet animal" does not include wildlife, livestock used for any purpose or which is estray as defined in section 35-44-101, C.R.S., or animals which are owned or bought and sold through the efforts of those that are licensed, inspected, or both, by the United States Department of Agriculture, the Colorado department of agriculture, or both; however, nothing in this subsection (3) shall be construed to exempt such animals from county control regulations.

As part of said county resolution authorizing the penalty assessment procedure, the board of county commissioners may adopt a graduated fine schedule for violations of said resolution not involving bodily injury to any person. Such graduated fine schedule may provide for increased penalty assessments for repeat offenses by the same individual.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

30-15-401. General regulations - definitions. (1) In addition to those powers granted by sections 30-11-101 and 30-11-107 and by parts 1, 2, and 3 of this article, the board of county commissioners has the power to adopt ordinances for control or licensing of those matters of purely local concern that are described in the following enumerated powers:

(a) (I) (A) To provide for and compel the removal of rubbish, including trash, junk, and garbage, from lots and tracts of land within the county, except industrial tracts of ten or more acres and agricultural land currently in agricultural use as the term agricultural land is defined in section 39-1-102 (1.6), C.R.S., and from the alleys behind and from the sidewalk areas in front of such property at such time, upon such notice, and in such manner as the board of county commissioners may prescribe by ordinance, including removal performed by the county upon notice to and failure of the property owner to remove such rubbish, and to assess the reasonable cost thereof, including five percent for inspection and other incidental costs in connection therewith, upon the lots and tracts from which such rubbish has been removed. Ordinances passed by a board of county commissioners for the removal of rubbish pursuant to this sub-subparagraph (A) shall include provisions for applying for and exercising an administrative entry and seizure warrant issued by a county or district court having jurisdiction over the property from which rubbish shall be removed. Any assessment pursuant to this sub-subparagraph (A) shall be a lien against such lot or tract of land until paid and shall have priority over all other liens except general taxes and prior special assessments. In case such assessment is not paid within a reasonable time specified by ordinance, it may be certified by the clerk to the county treasurer, who shall collect the assessment, together with a ten percent penalty for the cost of collection, in the same manner as other taxes are collected. The laws of this state for assessment and collection of general taxes, including the laws for the sale and redemption of property for taxes, shall apply to the collection of assessments pursuant to this sub-subparagraph (A).

(B) A county court or district court having jurisdiction over property from which rubbish shall be removed pursuant to the ordinances authorized by sub-subparagraph (A) of this subparagraph (I) shall issue an administrative entry and seizure warrant for the removal of such rubbish. Such warrant shall be issued upon presentation by a county of ordinance provisions which meet the requirements of sub-subparagraph (A) of this subparagraph (I) and a sworn or affirmed affidavit stating the factual basis for such warrant, evidence that the property owner has received notice of the violation and has failed to remove the rubbish within a reasonable prescribed period of time, a general description of the location of the property which is the subject of the warrant, a general list of any rubbish to be removed from such property, and the proposed disposal or temporary impoundment of such rubbish, whichever the court deems appropriate. Within ten days following the date of issuance of an administrative entry and seizure warrant pursuant to the provisions of this sub-subparagraph (B), such warrant shall be executed in accordance with directions by the issuing court, a copy of such issued warrant shall be provided or mailed to the property owner, and proof of the execution of such warrant, including a written inventory of any property impounded by the executing authority, shall be submitted to the court by the executing authority.

(I.5) (A) To provide for and compel the removal of weeds and brush from residential lots of two and one-half acres or less within the county and from the alleys behind and from the sidewalk areas in front of such property at such time, upon such notice, and in such manner as the board of county commissioners may prescribe by ordinance, including removal performed by the county upon notice to and failure of the property owner to remove such weeds and brush, and to assess the reasonable cost thereof, including ten percent for inspection and other incidental costs in connection therewith, upon the property from which such weeds have been removed. Ordinances passed by a board of county commissioners for the removal of weeds and brush pursuant to this sub-subparagraph (A) shall include provisions for applying for and exercising an administrative entry and seizure warrant issued by a county or district court having jurisdiction over the property from which weeds and brush shall be removed. Any assessment pursuant to this sub-subparagraph (A) shall be a lien against such property until paid and shall have priority over all other liens except general taxes and prior special assessments.

(B) In case such assessment is not paid within a reasonable time specified by ordinance, it may be certified by the clerk to the county treasurer, who shall collect the assessment, together with a ten percent penalty for the cost of collection, in the same manner as other taxes are collected. The laws of this state for assessment and collection of general taxes, including the laws for the sale and redemption of property for taxes, shall apply to the collection of such assessments pursuant to this sub-subparagraph (B).

(C) A county court or district court having jurisdiction over property from which weeds and brush shall be removed pursuant to the ordinances authorized by sub-subparagraph (A) of this subparagraph (I.5) shall issue an administrative entry and seizure warrant for the removal of such weeds and brush. Such warrant shall be issued upon presentation by a county of ordinance provisions which meet the requirements of sub-subparagraph (A) of this subparagraph (I.5) and a sworn or affirmed affidavit stating the factual basis for such warrant, evidence that the property owner has received notice of the violation and has failed to remove the weeds and brush within a reasonable prescribed period of time, a general description of the location of the property which is the subject of the warrant, and the proposed disposal of such weeds and brush. Within ten days following the date of issuance of an administrative entry and seizure warrant pursuant to the provisions of this sub-subparagraph (C), such warrant shall be executed in accordance with directions by the issuing court, a copy of such issued warrant shall be provided or mailed to the property owner, and proof of the execution of such warrant shall be submitted to the court by the executing authority.

(II) To inspect vehicles proposed to be operated in the conduct of the business of transporting ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials and to determine, among other things, that any such vehicle has the following:

Nothing in this subparagraph (III) shall be deemed to preclude the owner or tenant of any such lot or tract from removing discarded materials from his lot, so long as appropriate standards of safety and health are observed.

(IV) To regulate the activities of persons in the business of transporting ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials within the unincorporated area by requiring each such person to secure a license from the county and charging a fee therefor to cover the cost of administration and enforcement and by requiring adherence to such reasonable standards of health and safety as may be prescribed by the board of county commissioners and to prohibit any person from commercially collecting or disposing of ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials within the unincorporated area without a license and when not in compliance with such standards of health and safety as may be prescribed by the board;

(V) To do all acts and make all regulations which may be necessary or expedient for the promotion of health or the suppression of disease, limited to the following:

(A) In addition to the authority given counties under section 18-4-511, C.R.S., to restrain, fine, and punish persons for dumping rubbish, including trash, junk, and garbage, on public or private property;

(C) To adopt reasonable regulations for controlling pollution caused by wood smoke;

(D) In addition to the authority given counties under article 5 of title 35, C.R.S., to establish mosquito control areas, to assess the whole cost thereof against those persons especially benefitted by the service, and, if a person's portion of the assessment is not paid within a reasonable time as specified by ordinance, to direct that the assessment, which shall be a lien against the property of such person, be certified by the county clerk and recorder to the county treasurer for collection in the same manner as other taxes are collected;

(VI) To require every person in the business of transporting ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials to and from disposal sites to have, before commencing such operations, in such motor vehicle a motor vehicle liability insurance policy or evidence of such policy issued by an insurance carrier or insurer authorized to do business in the state of Colorado in the sum of not less than one hundred fifty thousand dollars for damages for or on account of any bodily injury to or the death of each person as the result of any one accident, in the sum of not less than one hundred fifty thousand dollars for damages to the property of others as the result of any one accident, and in the total sum of not less than four hundred thousand dollars for damages for or on account of any bodily injury to or the death of all persons and for damages to the property of others. Any liability for failure to comply with the requirements of this subparagraph (VI) shall be borne by the individual, partnership, or corporation who owns such vehicle.

The board of county commissioners, when enacting an ordinance to carry out the powers granted by this paragraph (d.5), may make it unlawful for a retailer to sell graffiti implements to juveniles but shall not dictate the manner in which the retailer displays graffiti implements. For purposes of this paragraph (d.5), "juvenile" means a juvenile as defined in section 19-2-103 (10), C.R.S., and "graffiti implement" means an aerosol paint container, broad-tipped marker, gum label, paint stick or graffiti stick, or etching equipment.

(e) To control unleashed or unclaimed animals, except those animals defined in section 35-44-101 (1), C.R.S.;

(f) To use the county jail for the confinement or punishment of offenders, subject to such conditions as are imposed by law and with the consent of the board of county commissioners;

When such bond is accepted, it shall have the same validity and effect as bail bonds provided for under the criminal statutes of this state.

(h) To control and regulate the movement and parking of vehicles and motor vehicles on public property; except that misdemeanor traffic offenses and the posted speed limit on any state highway located within the county shall be deemed a matter of statewide interest. (l) (I) To adopt reasonable regulations for the operation of establishments open to the public in which persons appear in a state of nudity for the purpose of entertaining the patrons of such establishment; except that such regulations shall not be tantamount to a complete prohibition of such operation. Such regulations may include the following:

(A) Minimum age requirements for admittance to such establishments;

(B) Limitations on the hours during which such establishments may be open for business; and

(C) Restrictions on the location of such establishments with regard to schools, churches, and residential areas.

(A) Collaborate with county and local jurisdictions such as the sheriff's office and fire protection districts, identify the agencies responsible for burner education, permitting, and compliance, and consider developing an education plan to inform private property owners of the benefits, criteria, and required processes for slash pile burning;

(B) Consider and be consistent with existing laws and processes that ban, regulate, or have developed recommendations concerning open burning, including sections 18-13-109, 18-13-109.5, 23-31-312, 23-31-313 (6) (a) (II) and (6) (a) (III), 25-7-106 (7) and (8), 25-7-123, 29-20-105.5, and 30-11-124, C.R.S.;

(C) Consider existing county ordinances;

(D) Consider existing scientific and applied knowledge of safe burning conditions, including consideration of, and the advisability of specifying permit limitations concerning, the number of slash piles that may be burned at one time per person who is monitoring the burn, the size of slash piles, temperature, humidity, snow cover, wind conditions, overhead and other types of electric utility facilities, including adequate distances from such facilities, fuel type and moisture content, slope, and setbacks from real estate improvements;

(E) Exempt broadcast burns conducted within federal and state guidelines that have a written prescribed fire plan and agricultural burns; and

(F) Include mechanisms to notify individuals with respiratory conditions, if requested by the individual, and contiguous landowners of the date, time, and location of slash pile burns.

(III) Nothing in this paragraph (n.5) infringes upon or otherwise affects the ability of agricultural producers to conduct burning on their property.

(IV) A board of county commissioners that has an open burning permit system on the effective date of this subparagraph (IV) need not comply with the requirements of subparagraph (II) of this paragraph (n.5) until the board materially alters the system.

(V) For purposes of this paragraph (n.5):

(A) "Competent evidence" includes the use of the national fire danger rating system and any other similar indices or information.

(B) "County that has a substantial forested area" means a county that has at least forty-four percent forest cover as determined by the state forester appointed pursuant to section 23-31-207, C.R.S.

(C) "Open burning" means fire that a person starts and that is intentionally used for forest management.

(D) "Slash" means woody material less than six inches in diameter consisting of limbs, branches, and stems that are free of dirt. "Slash" does not include tree stumps, roots, or any other material.

(n.7) To prohibit or restrict the sale, use, and possession of fireworks, including permissible fireworks, as defined in section 12-28-101 (3) and (8), C.R.S., for a period no longer than one year within all or any part of the unincorporated areas of the county; except that such an ordinance shall not be in effect between May 31 and July 5 of any year unless the ordinance includes an express finding of high fire danger, based on competent evidence, as defined in paragraph (n.5) of this subsection (1);

(o) In addition to the authority given counties under sections 30-10-513.5 and 30-15-401.5, to enact ordinances to restrain and punish any person who gives, makes, or causes to be given a false alarm of fire and to assess costs associated with such false alarms;

(o.5) To provide by ordinance for the regulation and licensing of alarm systems which transmit information to law enforcement or other public safety officials located within the county;

(p) In addition to the authority given counties under article 7 of title 29, C.R.S., and part 7 of article 20 of this title, to establish by ordinance and regulation the fees for certificates, permits, licenses, and passes for users in order to provide the funds for recreational facility development and to offset the costs of emergency search and rescue operations on public lands and the construction, operation, and maintenance of recreation paths on public property; except that areas, lakes, properties, and facilities under the control and management of the division of parks and wildlife shall be exempt from any such fees for certificates, permits, licenses, passes, or any other special charges;

(q) To provide for and compel the removal of any building or structure, except for a building or structure on affected land subject to the "Colorado Mined Land Reclamation Act", as the term "affected land" is defined in section 34-32-103 (1.5), C.R.S., or on lands subject to the "Colorado Surface Coal Mining Reclamation Act", pursuant to article 33 of title 34, C.R.S., the condition of which presents a substantial danger or hazard to public health, safety, or welfare, or any dilapidated building of whatever kind which is unused by the owner, or uninhabited because of deterioration or decay, which condition constitutes a fire hazard, or subjects adjoining property to danger of damage by storm, soil erosion, or rodent infestation, or which becomes a place frequented by trespassers and transients seeking a temporary hideout or shelter, at such time, upon such notice, and in such manner as the board of county commissioners may prescribe by ordinance, including the removal performed by the county upon notice to and failure of the property owner to remove such building or structure, and to assess the whole cost of such removal, including incidental costs and a reasonable fee for inspection which fee shall not exceed five percent of the total amount due in connection therewith, upon the property from which such building or structure has been removed. Any assessment pursuant to this paragraph (q) shall be a lien against such property until paid. If such assessment is not paid within a reasonable time as specified by ordinance, it may be certified by the clerk and recorder to the county treasurer, who shall collect the assessment, together with a ten percent penalty for the cost of collection, in the same manner as other taxes are collected.

(r) (I) To regulate distressed real property by requiring that such real property be secured, maintained, and insured by the owner of such real property or, if applicable, by a holder of a lien that has taken possession of such real property pursuant to part 6 of article

38 of title 38, C.R.S., or any receiver appointed to take possession of or to preserve the real property. The county may require that real property owners, a holder in possession pursuant to part 6 of article 38 of title 38, C.R.S., or any receiver appointed to preserve or take possession of real property provide to the county planning and zoning department contact information for the person or entity responsible for the preservation of the real property.

(II) For purposes of this paragraph (r), "distressed real property" means any real property in foreclosure or any vacant or abandoned real property.

(1.5) In addition to any other powers, the board of county commissioners has the power to adopt a resolution or an ordinance prohibiting minors from possessing cigarettes or tobacco products, as defined by section 39-28.5-101 (5), C.R.S.

(2) (a) (I) Except as provided in subparagraph (II) of this paragraph (a), the ordinances described in subsection (1) of this section shall apply throughout the unincorporated area of the county including public and state lands and to any incorporated town or city that elects by ordinance or resolution to have the provisions thereof apply.

(II) The board of county commissioners may designate, by resolution, areas in the unincorporated territory of the county exclusively within which an ordinance adopted pursuant to this section shall apply. The board shall set forth a rational basis for the designation and hold a public hearing prior to making the designation at which any interested person shall have an opportunity to be heard.

(b) Any regulation imposed prior to January 1, 1980, by resolution adopted under any provision of law may, upon suitable accommodation to the pertinent ordinance adoption procedure set forth in this part 4, be reimposed by ordinance. In such cases the resolution shall continue in force and effect until the ordinance which replaces it becomes effective.

(c) Nothing in this part 4 shall be construed to affect any proceeding arising under or pursuant to the provisions of law in effect immediately prior to January 1, 1980.

(3) Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to the transportation of sludge and fly ash or to the transportation of hazardous materials, as defined in the rules and regulations adopted by the chief of the Colorado state patrol pursuant to section 42-20-104 (1), C.R.S.

(4) Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to the transporting of ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials which are collected by a city, county, city and county, town, or other local subdivision within its jurisdictional limits, provided every vehicle so engaged in transporting the discarded materials has conformed to vehicle standards at least as strict as those prescribed in subparagraph (II) of paragraph (a) of subsection (1). Such governing body shall not grant an exclusive territory or regulate rates for the collection and transportation of ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials.

(5) Any provision of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section to the contrary notwithstanding, the governing body of a city and county shall not be precluded from adopting ordinances, regulations, codes, or standards or granting permits issued pursuant to home rule authority; except that such governing body shall not grant an exclusive territory or regulate rates for the collection and transportation of ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials.

(6) If the board of county commissioners or the governing body of any other local governmental entity is providing waste services, including the collection and transportation of ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage, or industrial waste products or any other discarded materials, within the limits of any county or other local subdivision on or after April 19, 1994, any private person seeking also to offer those services shall first give a one-year public notice advising of the intent to offer the services. If a private person or persons are providing waste services within the limits of any county or other local subdivision on or after April 19, 1994, any board of county commissioners or the governing body of any other local governmental entity seeking also to offer those services shall first give a one-year public notice advising of the intent to offer the services. The public notice shall be given in a local newspaper of general circulation in the area served by the waste service provider. The requirements of this subsection (6) shall not apply to any municipality or city and county subject to subsection (7.5) of this section.

(7) (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, nothing in this section shall prohibit the providing of waste services by a private person, if that person is in compliance with applicable rules and regulations, within the limits of any municipality or city and county if those services also are provided by a governmental body within the limits of that governmental unit. The governmental body may not compel industrial or commercial establishments or multifamily residences of eight or more units to use or pay user charges for waste services provided by the governmental body in preference to those services provided by a private person.

(b) Subject to the limitation set forth in subsection (6) of this section and notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this subsection (7) and subsection (7.5) of this section or any other provision of law, nothing in this section shall prohibit the providing of waste services by a private person within the limits of any county or other local subdivision if that person is in compliance with applicable rules and regulations. If services also are provided by a governmental body within the limits of the county or other local subdivision, the governmental body shall not compel any resident, including, but not limited to, an owner or tenant of industrial or commercial establishments or multifamily residences, to use or pay user charges for waste services provided by the governmental body in preference to those services provided by a private person.

(7.5) (a) Any requirement that municipal residents use or pay user charges for residential waste services pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of this section may be affected by utilization of the initiative and referendum power reserved to the municipal electors in section 1 (9) of article V of the Colorado constitution.

(b) The governing body of any municipality or city and county that chooses, after April 19, 1994, to require use of or to commence the imposition of a fee for residential waste services pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of this section in all or any portion of the jurisdiction, including any portion of the jurisdiction annexed after April 19, 1994, may do so subject to the following requirements:

(I) The governing body shall provide written notice to any private person who lawfully provides waste services within the jurisdiction and shall give a six-month public notice in a newspaper of general circulation within the jurisdiction prior to requiring the use or initial imposition of the fee. The notice shall include:

(A) The date upon which, and the area within the jurisdiction where, requiring use of or billing for residential waste services will commence; and

(B) An explanation of the option to request an opportunity to submit a proposal to provide residential waste services to that area.

(II) Any person may, within thirty days following publication or receipt of the notice, request in writing the opportunity to submit a proposal to provide residential waste services within the portion of the jurisdiction where required use of those services or imposition of the fee will commence. A request for an opportunity to submit a proposal shall suspend required use of the services or imposition of the residential waste services fee until a request for proposal process, as set forth in paragraph (c) of this subsection (7.5), is completed. Any person who has requested in writing an opportunity to submit a proposal to provide residential waste services pursuant to this subparagraph (II) is eligible to participate in the proposal process. If no written request is received within the time permitted, the governing body may proceed to require use of or impose a fee for residential waste services without conducting a request for proposal process as set forth in paragraph (c) of this subsection (7.5).

(III) Any municipality or city and county that complies with paragraph (c) of this subsection (7.5) shall not be subject to the provisions of section 31-12-119, C.R.S.

(IV) The requirements set forth in this subsection (7.5) shall not apply to any municipality or city and county that is legally requiring use of or imposing a fee for residential waste services within its jurisdiction pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of this section on April 19, 1994, and, having complied with the notice requirements of subsection (6) of this section applicable at the time of the initiation of such residential waste services, chooses to extend the requirement for use of or imposition of the fee for residential waste services to areas within the jurisdiction that have not been annexed after April 19, 1994.

(c) The governing body shall conduct any request for a proposal process required pursuant to this subsection (7.5) as follows:

(I) The governing body shall mail a request for proposals to all private persons who are eligible to submit a proposal. The request for proposals shall include a description of the portion of the jurisdiction to which residential waste services will be provided and shall request a proposed price of providing those services.

(II) When the jurisdiction issuing the request for proposals chooses to submit a proposal, a certification of an independent auditor stating that the public entity's proposed price is not based on subsidization from entity revenue streams or operations unrelated to the provision of waste services shall be appended to the proposal.

(III) Following review of all proposals properly submitted, the governing body shall award a contract for the provision of residential waste services based upon the criteria set forth in the request for proposals.

(d) As used in this subsection (7.5), "residential waste services" means the collection and transportation of ashes, trash, waste, rubbish, garbage or industrial waste products, or any other discarded materials from sources other than industrial or commercial establishments or multifamily residences of eight or more units.

(7.7) (a) If the governing body of a jurisdiction selects a proposal submitted by the jurisdiction, any private person who submitted a proposal may request a review of the selection as provided in this subsection (7.7). A request for review shall be submitted to the governing body in writing within ten days following selection of the jurisdiction's proposal. The filing of a request shall suspend the award until the completion of the review provided in this subsection (7.7).

(b) (I) Upon receipt of a request, the governing body, or its designee, shall promptly select a reviewing auditor to conduct the review. The reviewing auditor shall commence and complete its review as expeditiously as practicable.

(II) As a part of that review, the reviewing auditor shall afford the person who submitted the request for review the opportunity to present the reviewing auditor his or her views with respect to the governing body's determination, subject to any reasonable procedures, guidelines, and limitations as the reviewing auditor may prescribe, including but not limited to requiring that those views be expressed in writing and submitted by a specific date and time. No person shall be permitted to alter any previously submitted proposal in any respect.

(III) The reviewing auditor shall review each of the proposals submitted, but the review shall be limited to determining:

(A) Whether the selection of the jurisdiction's proposal was made in a manner contrary to the procedure set forth in subsection (7.5) of this section or in the request for proposals;

(B) Whether the selection of the jurisdiction's proposal was clearly erroneous in light of the criteria set forth in the request for proposals; and

(C) Whether the certification of an independent auditor provided pursuant to subparagraph (II) of paragraph (c) of subsection (7.5) of this section is materially inaccurate.

(IV) Should the reviewing auditor find that the governing body's selection of a proposal was improper, the determination of the governing body shall be void, and the governing body shall reconsider as expeditiously as is practicable all proposals timely submitted and determine which proposals it will accept, giving due regard to the determination of the reviewing auditor. No person shall be entitled to alter any previously submitted proposal in any respect. If the reviewing auditor finds that the governing body's selection of a proposal was proper, the selection shall be valid and conclusive and shall not be subject to further challenge or review.

(V) The reviewing auditor's fee for performing a review pursuant to this subsection (7.7) shall be paid by the private person requesting the review; except that, if the governing body's selection of a proposal is found to be improper by the reviewing auditor, the municipality or city and county shall pay the fee.

(c) As used in this subsection (7.7), a reviewing auditor shall be a qualified, licensed, independent public accountant or public accounting firm selected by the governing body and shall certify to the governing body in writing that it is not being retained currently, has not been retained within the previous five years, and currently has no basis for believing it will be retained in the future by the governing body, any persons who have submitted proposals, or, to the accountant's or firm's knowledge after due inquiry, any of the governing body's or person's affiliates, partners, or relatives for the performance of accounting or other services.

(8) No ordinance, resolution, rule, regulation, service, function, or exercise of an authorized power pursuant to this section or section 30-11-101 (1) (f) or (1) (g) or 30-11-107 (1) (u), (1) (w), (1) (y), (1) (z), or (1) (bb) or 25-1-508 (5) (g) or (5) (j), C.R.S., shall apply within the corporate limits of any incorporated municipality, nor to any municipal service, function, facility, or property whether owned by or leased to the incorporated municipality, outside the municipal boundaries, unless the municipality consents. If the municipality consents that any ordinance, resolution, rule, regulation, service, function, or exercise of an authorized power shall apply within the municipality or to municipal services, functions, facilities, or property outside the municipal boundaries, such ordinance, resolution, rule, regulation, service, function, or exercise of an authorized power shall be uniform within the municipality and the applicable unincorporated areas of the county, unless the county and the municipality agree otherwise pursuant to part 2 of article 1 of title 29, C.R.S.

(9) (a) No ordinance, resolution, rule, regulation, service, function, or exercise of an authorized power pursuant to this section shall apply within the jurisdictional boundaries of any special district enumerated in this subsection (9), nor to any special district service, function, facility, or property whether owned by or leased to the special district outside the special district boundaries if such ordinance, resolution, rule, regulation, service, function, or exercise of an authorized power would duplicate or interfere with any service or facility authorized and provided by such special district or contravene any power authorized and exercised by such special district, unless the county is specifically empowered by law to exercise authority with respect thereto, or the county and the special district agree otherwise pursuant to part 2 of article 1 of title 29, C.R.S.

(b) For purposes of this subsection (9), "special district" means any special district established pursuant to article 1 of title 32, C.R.S., the three lakes water and sanitation district established pursuant to article 10 of title 32, C.R.S., the urban drainage and flood control district established pursuant to article 11 of title 32, C.R.S., any metropolitan sewage disposal district established pursuant to part 4 of article 4 of title 32, C.R.S., any drainage district established pursuant to article 20 of title 37, C.R.S., the Cherry Creek basin water quality authority established pursuant to article 8.5 of title 25, C.R.S., any regional service authority established pursuant to article 7 of title 32, C.R.S., and the regional transportation district established pursuant to article 9 of title 32, C.R.S.

(10) (a) Subject to the exemptions found in 8 U.S.C. sec. 1621 (c) (2), to the extent that a license, permit, certificate, or other authorization to conduct business issued by a county constitutes a professional license or commercial license regulated by 8 U.S.C. sec. 1621, a county may issue such authorization to an individual only if the individual is lawfully present in the United States, and shall immediately deny any such authorization or renewal thereof upon determining that the individual is unlawfully present in the United States. The individual shall prove his or her identity with a secure and verifiable document, as that term is defined in section 24-72.1-102, C.R.S. A county shall not sell or utilize for any purpose other than those specified in law the information contained in the secure and verifiable document, and shall keep such information confidential unless disclosure is required by law; except that nothing in this paragraph (a) shall be construed to limit public access to records that are available for public inspection pursuant to article 72 of title 24, C.R.S.

(b) For purposes of this subsection (10), an individual is unlawfully present in the United States if the individual is an alien who is not:

- (I) A qualified alien as defined in 8 U.S.C. sec. 1641;
- (II) A nonimmigrant under the "Immigration and Nationality Act", federal Public Law 82-414, as amended; or
- (III) An alien who is paroled into the United States under 8 U.S.C. sec. 1182 (d) (5) for less than one year.

(c) This subsection (10) shall be enforced without regard to race, religion, gender, ethnicity, or national origin.

(11) (a) (I) If a county is the permittee of a municipal separate storm sewer system permit issued pursuant to part 5 of article 8 of title 25, C.R.S., the board of county commissioners may adopt a storm water ordinance to develop, implement, and enforce the storm water management program required by the permit.

(II) The storm water ordinance may specify that the county may:

(A) Provide for and compel the abatement of any condition that causes or contributes to a violation of the permit or requirement from any property located within the unincorporated portion of the county at such time, upon such notice, and in such manner consistent with the terms of the permit as the board of county commissioners may prescribe by ordinance;

(B) Perform the abatement upon notice to and failure of the property owner to abate such condition; and

(C) Assess the reasonable cost of the abatement, including five percent for inspection and other incidental costs in connection therewith, upon the property from which such condition has been abated.

(III) Storm water ordinances adopted pursuant to this subsection (11) shall include provisions for applying for and exercising an administrative entry and seizure warrant issued by a county or district court having jurisdiction over the property from which the condition is to be abated. An assessment pursuant to this subsection (11) shall, once recorded, be a lien against such property until paid and shall have priority based upon its date of recording. If the assessment is not paid within a reasonable time specified by ordinance, the county clerk and recorder may certify that fact to the county treasurer, who shall collect the assessment, together with a ten percent penalty for the cost of collection, in the same manner as other taxes are collected. The laws of this state for assessment and collection of general taxes, including the laws for the sale and redemption of property for taxes, shall apply to the collection of assessments pursuant to this subsection (11).

(b) (I) A county court or district court having jurisdiction over the property from which such condition is to be abated pursuant to the storm water ordinance shall issue an administrative entry and seizure warrant for the abatement of such condition upon presentation by a county of:

(A) Ordinance provisions that meet the requirements of paragraph (a) of this subsection (11);

(B) A sworn or affirmed affidavit stating the factual basis for such warrant;

(C) Evidence that the property owner has received notice of the condition and has failed to abate the condition within a reasonable prescribed period;

(D) A general description of the location of the property that is the subject of the warrant; and

(E) A general list of corrective action needed.

(II) Within ten days after the date of issuance of an administrative entry and seizure warrant pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph (b), the executing authority shall:

(A) Execute such warrant in accordance with directions by the issuing court;

(B) Provide or mail a copy of such warrant to the property owner; and

(C) Submit proof of the execution of such warrant, including a written inventory of any property impounded by the executing authority, to the court.

Subsection (1)(I) does not violate the right to equal protection of the laws under the United States and Colorado Constitutions. 7250 Corp. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 799 P.2d 917 (Colo. 1990).

Club that offered nude entertainment was "open to the public" and therefore subject to county regulation pursuant to subsection (1)(I). The club was not a private club, despite claims to the contrary, because: The club was not genuinely selective of its members; the membership fee was minimal; the club members had no control over the club's operations; the formalities of a private club such as by-laws and membership meetings were not present; the club was only recently converted to a private format and was advertised as being open to the public and in business in the same location for nineteen years; and the sole purpose of the club's purported conversion to a private club format appeared to be the avoidance of county ordinances. People v. A Business or Businesses located at 2896 W. 64th Ave., 989 P.2d 235 (Colo. App. 1999).

This section does not authorize an ordinance requiring the removal of a building because it was not "neat and orderly". Hibbard

v. County of Adams, 900 P.2d 1254 (Colo. App. 1994).

Trial court erred in determining that county possesses requisite authority to require that private access road across ranch parcels comply with county's fire code and its access requirements. The "farms or ranches" exception to the provisions of § 30-15-401.5 (3) found in § 30-15-401.5 (6) does not refer to access, roads, or the purposes thereof. Instead, it refers to the use or status of the land. If the land traversed by the road currently satisfies the "farms or ranches" exception, then so long as the fundamental character of the land does not change in a manner that would make the exception inapplicable, the county may not regulate the road under subsection (1) of this section. Zweygardt v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Elbert County, 190 P.3d 848 (Colo. App. 2008).

Whether a private road that begins at a public road, crosses various parcels, and dead-ends on private land may be regulated in its entirety or not at all should be determined by the predominant use of the private land that it crosses. The predominant use of these various parcels may change, which will affect whether, at some point in time, the county can require the entire road to comply with its fire code, although some parcels may still meet the "farm and ranch" exception. Zweygardt v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Elbert County, 190 P.3d 848 (Colo. App. 2008).

30-15-401.5. Fire safety standards. (1) In addition to any other powers granted by the general assembly, the board of county commissioners of each county has the power to adopt ordinances to provide for minimum fire safety standards which shall be modeled upon those contained in the uniform fire code, including the table of contents, indices, appendices, and tables, as promulgated by the international conference of building officials, the international fire code institute, and the western fire chiefs association.

(2) A board of county commissioners may adopt such ordinances only after it has approved the formation of and received the recommendations of a permanent commission, to be known as the fire code adoption and revision commission. The commission shall consist of the board or its designees, the fire chiefs whose departments or districts lie partially or wholly within the portion of the affected county encompassed by the proposed fire code, and such other members as the board may appoint. Members of the commission appointed by the board shall serve at the pleasure of the board. Members of the commission shall receive no compensation or reimbursement of expenses for their services on the commission.

(3) Such ordinances shall apply to all or a portion of the unincorporated area of the county and any incorporated town or city which elects by ordinance or resolution to have the provisions thereof apply.

(4) A fire protection district or county improvement district providing fire protection services may propose fire code provisions for its district that may be different from the minimum fire safety standards adopted by the county. Such provisions shall be effective within the petitioning fire protection district or county improvement district providing fire protection services only upon the approval of the board.

(5) No fire code provisions adopted pursuant to this section shall apply within any municipality unless the governing body of the municipality adopts a resolution stating that such provisions shall be applicable within its boundaries.

(6) The provisions of subsection (3) of this section shall not apply to farms or ranches.

(7) Fire protection districts organized pursuant to article 1 of title 32, C.R.S., and county improvement districts providing fire protection services organized pursuant to part 5 of article 20 of this title shall enforce the fire safety standards adopted by county ordinances within the fire district's jurisdiction. The county commissioners may contract with an enforcement agency for areas of the county not receiving fire protection.

(8) Nothing in this section shall be construed to affect the validity of any ordinance adopted by a board of county commissioners before July 1, 1985.

(9) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a board of county commissioners to provide fire protection services to any area of the county or to require a board of county commissioners to adopt fire safety standards.

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no fire protection district shall prohibit the sale of permissible fireworks, as defined in section 12-28-101 (8), C.R.S., within its jurisdiction.

ANNOTATION

Law reviews. For article, "The Lawyer's Role in Fire Code Enforcement Actions", see 24 Colo. Law. 2201 (1995).

Trial court erred in determining that county possesses requisite authority to require that private access road across ranch parcels comply with county's fire code and its access requirements. The "farms or ranches" exception to the provisions of subsection (3) found in subsection (6) does not refer to access, roads, or the purposes thereof. Instead, it refers to the use or status of the land. If the land traversed by the road currently satisfies the "farms or ranches" exception, then so long as the fundamental character of the land does not change in a manner that would make the exception inapplicable, the county may not regulate the road under § 30-15-401 (1). Zweygardt v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Elbert County, 190 P.3d 848 (Colo. App. 2008).

Whether a private road that begins at a public road, crosses various parcels, and dead-ends on private land may be regulated in its entirety or not at all should be determined by the predominant use of the private land that it crosses. The predominant use of these various parcels may change, which will affect whether, at some point in time, the county can require the entire road to comply with its fire code, although some parcels may still meet the "farm and ranch" exception. Zweygardt v. Bd. of County Comm'rs of Elbert County, 190 P.3d 848 (Colo. App. 2008).

30-15-401.7. Determination of fire hazard area - community wildfire protection plans - adoption - legislative declaration - definitions. (1) (a) The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that:

(I) Community wildfire protection plans, or CWPPs, are authorized and defined in section 101 of Title I of the federal "Healthy Forests Restoration Act of 2003", Pub.L. 108-148, referred to in this section as "HFRA". Title I of HFRA authorizes the secretaries of agriculture and the interior to expedite the development and implementation of hazardous fuel reduction projects on federal lands managed by the United States forest service and the bureau of land management when these agencies meet certain conditions. HFRA emphasizes the need for federal agencies to work collaboratively with local communities in developing hazardous fuel reduction projects, placing priority on treatment areas identified by the local communities themselves in a CWPP. The wild land-urban interface area is one of the identified property areas that qualify under HFRA for the use of this expedited environmental review process.

(II) The development of a CWPP can assist a local community in clarifying and refining its priorities for the protection of life, property, and critical infrastructure in its wildland-urban interface area. The CWPP brings together diverse federal, state, and local interests to discuss their mutual concerns for public safety, community sustainability, and natural resources. The CWPP process offers a positive, solution-oriented environment in which to address challenges such as local fire-fighting capability, the need for defensible space around homes and housing developments, and where and how to prioritize land management on both federal and nonfederal lands. CWPPs can be as simple or complex as a local community desires.

(III) The adoption of a CWPP brings many benefits to the state and adopting local community, including:

(A) The opportunity to establish a locally appropriate definition and boundary for the wildland-urban interface area;

(B) The opportunity to study the effect of fire ratings and combustibility standards for building materials used in wildland-urban interface areas;

(C) The establishment of relations with other state and local government officials, local fire chiefs, state and national fire organizations, federal land management agencies, private homeowners, electric, gas, and water utility providers in the subject area, and community groups, thereby ensuring collaboration among these groups in initiating a planning dialogue and facilitating the implementation of priority actions across ownership boundaries;

(D) Specialized natural resource knowledge and technical expertise relative to the planning process, particularly in the areas of global positioning systems and mapping, vegetation management, assessment of values and risks, and funding strategies; and

(E) Statewide leadership in developing and maintaining a list or map of communities at risk within the state and facilitating work among federal and local partners to establish priorities for action.

(IV) CWPPs give priority to projects that provide for the protection of at-risk communities or watersheds or that implement recommendations in the CWPP.

(V) CWPPs assist local communities in influencing where and how federal agencies implement fuel reduction projects on federal lands and how additional federal funds may be distributed for projects on nonfederal lands, and in determining the types and methods of treatment that, if completed, would reduce the risk to the community.

(VI) The development of CWPPs promotes economic opportunities in rural communities.

(b) By enacting this section, the general assembly intends to facilitate and encourage the development of CWPPs in counties with fire hazard areas in their territorial boundaries and to provide more statewide uniformity and consistency with respect to the content of CWPPs in counties needing protection against wildfires.

(2) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "CWPP" means a community wildfire protection plan as authorized and defined in section 101 of Title I of the federal "Healthy Forests Restoration Act of 2003", Pub.L. 108-148.

(b) "Fire hazard area" means an area mapped by the Colorado state forest service, identified in section 23-31-302, C.R.S., as facing a substantial and recurring risk of exposure to severe fire hazards.

(3) (a) Not later than January 1, 2011, the board of county commissioners of each county, with the assistance of the state forester, shall determine whether there are fire hazard areas within the unincorporated portion of the county.

(b) Not later than one hundred eighty days after determining there are fire hazard areas within the unincorporated portion of a county, the board of county commissioners, in collaboration with the representatives of the organizations or entities enumerated in section 23-31-312 (3), C.R.S., that established the guidelines and criteria, shall prepare a CWPP for the purpose of addressing wildfires in fire hazard areas within the unincorporated portion of the county. In preparing the CWPP, the board shall consider the guidelines and criteria established by the state forester and such representatives pursuant to section 23-31-312 (3), C.R.S.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, a county that has already prepared a CWPP or an equivalent plan as of August 5, 2009, and, in connection with such preparation, considered the guidelines and criteria established by the state forester and designated representatives pursuant to section 23-31-312 (3), C.R.S., shall not be required to prepare a new CWPP to satisfy the requirements of this section.

30-15-402. Violations - penalty - surcharges - victim and witness assistance - traumatic brain injury trust fund. (1) Any person who violates any county ordinance adopted pursuant to this part 4 commits a class 2 petty offense or, in the case of traffic offenses, commits a traffic infraction, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars for each separate violation. If authorized by the county ordinance, the penalty assessment procedure provided in section 16-2-201, C.R.S., may be followed by any arresting law enforcement officer for any such violation. As part of said county ordinance authorizing the penalty assessment procedure, the board of county commissioners may adopt a graduated fine schedule for such violations. Such graduated fine schedule may provide for increased penalty assessments for repeat offenses by the same individual. In the case of county traffic ordinance violations, the provisions of sections 42-4-1701 and 42-4-1703, C.R.S., and sections 42-4-1708 to 42-4-1718, C.R.S., shall apply; except that the fine or penalty for a violation charged and the surcharge thereon if authorized by county ordinance shall be paid to the county.

(2) In addition to the penalties prescribed in subsection (1) of this section, persons convicted of a violation of any ordinance adopted pursuant to this part 4 are subject to:

(a) A surcharge of ten dollars that shall be paid to the clerk of the court by the defendant. Each clerk shall transmit the moneys to the court administrator of the judicial district in which the offense occurred for credit to the victims and witnesses assistance and law enforcement fund established in that judicial district pursuant to section 24-4.2-103, C.R.S.

(b) (Deleted by amendment, L. 2004, p. 1012, § 1, effective August 4, 2004.)

(3) In addition to the penalties prescribed in subsection (1) of this section, persons convicted of operating a vehicle in excess of the speed limit in violation of an ordinance adopted pursuant to section 30-15-401 (1) (h) are subject to a surcharge of fifteen dollars that shall be paid to the clerk of the court by the defendant. Each clerk shall transmit the moneys to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the Colorado traumatic brain injury trust fund created pursuant to section 26-1-309, C.R.S.

30-15-402.5. Enforcement personnel - peace officer designation. (1) Personnel designated by ordinance duly adopted to enforce county ordinances adopted pursuant to this part 4, however titled or administratively assigned, may issue citations or summonses and complaints enforcing county ordinances without regard to the certification requirements of part 3 of article 31 of title 24, C.R.S.

(2) Nothing in this section is intended to vest authority in any person so engaged to enforce any resolution or ordinance through execution of an administrative entry and seizure warrant issued pursuant to section 30-15-401 or through exercise of any power other than the power to issue a citation or summons and complaint as described in subsection (1) of this section.

30-15-405. Record and publication of ordinances. All ordinances, as soon as may be after their adoption, shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose and shall be authenticated by the signatures of the chairman of the board of county commissioners and the county clerk and recorder. All ordinances of a general or permanent nature and those imposing any fine, penalty, or forfeiture, following adoption, shall be published by title only and shall contain the date of the initial publication and shall reprint in full any section, subsection, or paragraph of the ordinance which was amended following the initial publication. Publication following adoption may be in full at the discretion of the board of county commissioners. It is a sufficient defense to any suit or prosecution for such fine, penalty, or forfeiture to show that no publication was made. If there is no newspaper published or having a general circulation within the limits of the county, then, upon a resolution being passed by the board of county commissioners to that effect, ordinances may be published by posting copies thereof in three public places within the limits of the county, to be designated by the board of county commissioners. Except for ordinances calling for special elections or necessary to the immediate preservation of the public health or safety and containing the reasons making the same necessary in a separate section, such ordinances shall not take effect and be in force before thirty days after they have been so published. The excepted ordinances shall take effect upon adoption. A copy of an appropriate section or sections of the book of ordinances provided for in this section, certified as correct by the county clerk and recorder, shall be taken and considered in all courts of this state as prima facie evidence that such ordinances have been published as provided by law.

30-15-406. Reading before board of county commissioners - publication. No ordinance shall be adopted by any board of county commissioners of any county in this state unless the same has been previously introduced and read at a preceding regular or special meeting of such board and published in full in one newspaper of general circulation published in such county at least ten days before its adoption. If there is no such newspaper published in the county, copies of the proposed ordinance shall be posted in at least six public places in such county at least ten days prior to its adoption. Such previous introduction of such ordinance at such preceding meeting of the board of county commissioners and the fact of its publication in such newspapers or by posting shall appear in the certificate and the attestation of the county clerk and recorder on such ordinance after its adoption.

30-15-407. Reading - adoption of code. The simplified county court procedures set forth in part 1 of article 2 of title 16, C.R.S., and the penalty assessment procedures set forth in part 2 of said article shall be applicable to the prosecution of violations of county ordinances. Any summons and complaint brought in any county court shall be filed in the name of the county by and on behalf of the people of the state of Colorado. Any process issued from a county court shall be likewise denominated. It is the duty of the sheriff and undersheriff and deputies, in their respective counties, to enforce the provisions of county ordinances.

ANNOTATION

Determination and effect of conflict. No local government may adopt an ordinance or resolution that is in conflict with a state statute. If it does conflict, the ordinance or resolution is void. However, for a conflict to exist, both the state statute and the local ordinance or resolution must contain express or implied conditions which are inconsistent and irreconcilable one with the other. C & M Sand & Gravel v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 673 P.2d 1013 (Colo. App. 1983).

County ordinance which purportedly conflicts with a state statute may coexist with such state statute if the ordinance does not have provisions which irreconcilably conflict with state statute, but, if there is such a conflict, the state statute preempts the county ordinance. Bd. of County Comm'rs. v. Martin, 856 P.2d 62 (Colo. App. 1993).

A county ordinance and a state statute may both remain effective and enforceable as long as they do not contain express or implied conditions that are irreconcilably in conflict with each other. Wilkinson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 872 P.2d 1269 (Colo. App. 1993).

Applied in Hudspeth v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 667 P.2d 775 (Colo. App. 1983).

GENERAL ASSISTANCE

30-17-101. Legislative declaration. It is the intent of the general assembly in the enactment of this part 1 to enable each county to provide a means of temporary general assistance to poor persons who reside in the county or to transients. Such temporary general assistance is necessarily restricted by the limited ability of county government to make appropriations therefor.

30-17-102. Counties may provide temporary general assistance to the poor. Each county may provide temporary general assistance to the poor who reside in the county or to transients. If such provision is made, each county may provide eligible recipients with such relief as, in the judgment of the board of county commissioners, is needed.

Source: L. 81: Entire article R&RE, p. 1451, § 1, effective May 22.

30-17-103. Standards and guidelines. (1) If a temporary general assistance program is undertaken, the board of county commissioners of each county, by ordinance, shall establish standards and guidelines for determining who is eligible to receive temporary general assistance, what types of assistance shall be offered, what amounts of assistance shall be paid, and for what periods of time such assistance shall be offered.

(2) In adopting and promulgating such standards and guidelines, the board of county commissioners may establish requirements of residency for a specified minimum period, not to exceed six months, and may also set different residency requirements for different types of relief.

(3) The board of county commissioners, in the standards and guidelines adopted pursuant to this article, may require that any applicant for temporary general assistance search for employment and accept employment that is offered and also enroll with the divisions of employment and training and unemployment insurance in order to be eligible to receive temporary general assistance. The requirements, however, do not apply to an applicant who is unable to work due to a temporary disability. The board may require verification of a disability by a medical examination. The requirements to search for employment do not apply to persons who are sixty-five years of age and older.

ANNOTATION

At common law, as a general rule, there was no obligation on the part of a pauper to reimburse public authorities for support furnished. Denver Dept. of Welfare v. Gomer, 141 Colo. 65, 346 P.2d 1016 (1959) (decided under former § 36-10-9, CRS 53).

This section was intended to subject to reimbursement only property acquired after parties are on relief rolls and which is not disclosed on the application for assistance; a home owned and occupied by the parties during the entire time they received assistance with full knowledge of the authorities is not such property. Denver Dept. of Welfare v. Gomer, 141 Colo. 65, 346 P.2d 1016 (1959) (decided under former § 36-10-9, CRS 53).

SOLID WASTES DISPOSAL SITES AND FACILITIES

Law reviews: For article, "Solid Waste Disposal: Caught in the Act?", see 16 Colo. Law. 1010 (1987).

30-20-100.5. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:

(a) Proper disposal of solid wastes is a matter of mixed statewide and local concern;
 (b) Improper disposal of solid wastes poses significant public health risks, environmental hazards, and long-term liability for the citizens of the state;

(c) (I) Colorado citizens are increasingly voicing their concerns about solid waste issues. Such concerns include the following:

(A) How citizens can make maximum use of waste reduction and recycling programs as part of such citizens' personal environmental commitment;

(B) Concerns of citizens relating to the siting of a solid wastes site and facility near their homes;

(C) Challenges to public officials to react responsibly to assure safe and cost-effective solid waste management and disposal for their community over the next five to ten years.

(II) Reflecting such concerns, private citizens and companies have joined with local and state officials to address the needs of Colorado concerning solid waste.

(d) Optimal solid waste management in Colorado should include the following elements:

(I) The state government, local governments, and private companies and citizens of Colorado each must play important roles in the management of solid waste in Colorado.

(II) A statewide system of integrated solid waste management planning is necessary to meet Colorado's solid waste disposal needs over the next twenty years. Local governments and their citizens should be encouraged to work toward consensus concerning their solid waste disposal needs and concerning the types and numbers of solid wastes sites and facilities necessary or desirable in their areas.

(III) State and local efforts in this area must be focused toward the reduction of the volume and toxicity of the waste stream. Realistic waste reduction goals should be established and state and local solid waste management goals should strive to achieve such goals through source reduction, recycling, composting, and similar waste management strategies.

(IV) Renewed efforts and new mechanisms are needed to ensure the full participation of the public in all phases of solid waste decision-making. All participants and concerned parties must contribute to a continuing, dedicated effort to inform and educate the public concerning solid waste and its impact on public health and the environment.

(V) A strong component of statewide waste management efforts shall be the minimization of illegal disposal of solid wastes through the provision of the appropriate kinds and numbers of solid waste sites and facilities as needed to handle, treat, and dispose of solid waste in all areas of the state.

30-20-101.5. Additional powers of the department - legislative declaration.
(1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that a solid waste management program shall be created in and administered by the department and shall be implemented to protect human health and the environment in a manner that:

- (a) Promotes a community ethic to reduce or eliminate waste problems;
- (b) Is credible and accountable to the industry and the public;
- (c) Is innovative and cost effective; and
- (d) Protects the environmental quality of life for affected residents as required by the requirements of this part 1 and any rules promulgated in connection therewith.

(2) The department shall develop, implement, and continuously improve as necessary policies and procedures for carrying out its statutory responsibilities at the lowest possible cost while satisfying the legislative intent expressed in subsection (1) of this section. At a minimum, the policies and procedures shall, to the extent practicable, include the establishment of the following:

(a) Cost-effective level-of-effort guidelines for reviewing submittals, including without limitation permit applications and design and operation plans to assure conformity with regulatory requirements, taking into consideration the degree of risk addressed and the complexity of the issues raised;

(b) Cost-effective level-of-effort guidelines for performing inspections that focus on major violations of regulatory requirements that pose an immediate and significant threat to human health and the environment;

(c) Cost-effective level-of-effort guidelines for enforcement activity;

(d) Schedules for the timely completion of department activities including without limitation submittal reviews, inspections, and inspection reports;

(e) A prioritization methodology for completing activities that focuses on actual risk to human health and the environment;

(f) A preference for compliance assistance with at least ten percent of the annual budget amount of the program being allocated to compliance assistance efforts;

(h) A mechanism that continuously assesses and provides incentives for further improvements and policies and procedures of the department.

(3) On or before February 1, 2008, and not later than February 1 of each year thereafter, the department shall submit a report to the standing committee of reference in each house of the general assembly exercising jurisdiction over matters concerning public health and the environment that describes the status of the solid waste management program, the department's efforts to satisfy its statutory responsibilities at the lowest possible cost while meeting the legislative intent specified in subsection (1) of this section, and the department's implementation of the authority to accept environmental covenants created pursuant to section 25-15-321, C.R.S.

30-20-102. Unlawful to operate site and facility without certificate of designation - exceptions. (1) Except as otherwise specified in this section, a person who owns or operates a solid wastes disposal site and facility shall first obtain a certificate of designation from the governing body having jurisdiction over the area in which such site and facility is located.

(2) Except as otherwise specified in this section, solid wastes disposal by any person is prohibited except on or at a solid wastes disposal site and facility for which a certificate of designation has been obtained as provided in section 30-20-105.

(3) A person other than a governmental unit may dispose of the person's own solid wastes on the person's own property, as long as such solid wastes disposal site and facility complies with the rules of the solid and hazardous waste commission and does not constitute a public nuisance. For the purposes of this part 1, such solid wastes disposal site and facility shall be an approved site for which obtaining a certificate of designation under section 30-20-105 is unnecessary. This subsection (3) does not preclude any person from applying for a certificate of designation for the disposal of the person's own solid wastes on the person's own property.

(4) A person who is engaged in mining operations pursuant to a permit issued by the mined land reclamation board or office of mined land reclamation that contains an approved plan of reclamation may dispose of solid wastes generated by such operations within the permitted area for such operations. For the purposes of this part 1, such solid wastes disposal site and facility is an approved site for which obtaining a certificate of designation under section 30-20-105 is unnecessary.

(5) Any site and facility operated for the purpose of processing, reclaiming, or recycling recyclable materials shall not be considered a solid wastes disposal site and facility and shall not require a certificate of designation as a solid wastes disposal site and facility; except that, after an initial accumulation period specified by rule, such a site or facility shall maintain documentation that proves recyclable materials are being recycled at the site at a rate that approximately equals the rate at which recyclable materials are being collected. The solid and hazardous waste commission shall promulgate rules to specify what time periods and volumes of recyclable materials constitute operations that qualify for this exemption and to define what materials shall be deemed to be recyclable materials for the purposes of this subsection (5); except that such rules shall not define the term "recyclable materials" to include materials that are likely to contaminate groundwater or create off-site odors as a result of processing, reclaiming, recycling, or storage prior to recycling. This subsection (5) does not apply to activities regulated under section 25-8-205 (1) (e), C.R.S.

(6) The final use for beneficial purposes, including fertilizer, soil conditioner, fuel, and livestock feed, of biosolids that have been processed and certified or designated as meeting all applicable rules of the solid and hazardous waste commission and the department of agriculture does not require a certificate of designation for such final use. In addition, the use of manure as a fertilizer or soil conditioner or the composting on the site of generation of manure with other compatible materials necessary for effective composting as part of a standard agricultural practice does not require a certificate of designation.

(7) A transfer station shall not be deemed to be a solid wastes disposal site and facility and shall not require a certificate of designation as a solid wastes disposal site and facility. The department shall promulgate regulations establishing health and safety standards for the operation of transfer stations.

(7.5) (a) On or after August 8, 2012, a governing body having jurisdiction shall not require a certificate of designation for waste impoundments or other solid wastes disposal operations of drinking water treatment residuals generated on-site at a drinking water treatment facility. A certificate of designation for waste impoundments or other solid wastes disposal operations of drinking water treatment residuals generated on-site at a drinking water treatment facility issued before August 8, 2012, is voidable at the option of the facility.

(b) A drinking water treatment facility that does not require a certificate of designation pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection (7.5) shall comply with the rules of the solid and hazardous waste commission for waste impoundments and solid wastes disposal.

(c) Nothing in paragraph (a) or (b) of this subsection (7.5) limits the application of other local government land use regulations to waste impoundments or solid wastes disposal operations at a drinking water treatment facility.

(8) The solid and hazardous waste commission, by rule, may specify types of composting facilities, by size, volume, or other suitable criteria that provide equivalent protection of public health and the environment that would not be required to obtain a certificate of designation.

30-20-103. Application for certificate. (1) Any person desiring to own or operate a solid wastes disposal site and facility shall make application to the governing body having jurisdiction over the area in which such site and facility is or is proposed to be located for a certificate of designation. Such application shall be accompanied by a fee to be established by the governing body having jurisdiction, which fee shall be based on the anticipated costs that may be incurred by such governing board in the application review and approval process and shall not be refundable. The application shall set forth the location of the site and facility; the type of site and facility; the type of processing to be used, such as sanitary landfill, composting, or incineration; the hours of operation; the method of supervision; the rates to be charged, if any; and such other information as may be required by the governing body having jurisdiction over the area. The application shall also contain such engineering, geological, hydrological, and operational data as may be required by the department by rule. All such applications shall be referred to the department for review and for recommendation as to approval or disapproval, which shall be based upon criteria established by the solid and hazardous waste commission, the water quality control commission, and the air quality control commission. Such review and recommendation of an application by the department shall include a technical review of the environmental and public health issues provided in section 30-20-110 that are raised by the proposed site and facility. As a part of the department's review of an application for a solid wastes site and facility, the department shall provide a period of not less than thirty days during which members of the public may review and make comments concerning such application.

(2) Upon receiving an application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility, the department shall perform an initial examination to establish the completeness of the information submitted. Such initial examination shall be completed within thirty days after the department receives such application. The department shall mail written notification to the applicant within such time period of the department's decision either to begin its review of such application or to reject such application because of incompleteness.

(3) After the initial approval of an application pursuant to the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the department shall determine whether it shall complete the review of the application or whether it shall offer the applicant the option of having such application reviewed by a private contractor. Such determination shall be made pursuant to the provisions of section 30-20-103.7 (1). If the department reviews such application, the department shall complete such review within one hundred fifty days after the date of issuance of its initial approval of such application.

30-20-103.5. Existing solid wastes disposal sites and facilities - application procedures. Except as specified in section 30-20-109 (1.5), no existing solid wastes disposal site and facility that is operating pursuant to a valid certificate of designation shall be deemed to be in violation of any provision of this part 1 because of any failure to comply with application procedures that are enacted after the issuance of such certificate of designation.

30-20-103.7. Review of applications by private contractors. (1) (a) Upon issuing an initial approval of an application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility under the provisions of section 30-20-103 (2), the department shall determine whether it will be able to complete review of such application within one hundred fifty days. If the department determines that it is capable of completing the review within the required time period, it shall commence review under the provisions of section 30-20-103. If the department determines that it cannot complete the review of an application within such time period, the department shall offer the applicant the option of having such application reviewed by a private contractor within one hundred fifty days or having such application reviewed by the department. If the applicant chooses to have such application reviewed by the department, the department shall not be required to complete its review within the one-hundred-fifty-day time period.

(b) A county shall not reject an application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility solely because the review of such application was performed by a private contractor under the provisions of this section.

(2) (a) The department shall maintain a register of private contractors to review applications for solid wastes disposal sites and facilities. The department is hereby authorized to contract with such private contractors pursuant to the provisions of part 14 of article 30 of title 24, C.R.S., for inclusion on such register. Any such contract shall be between the department and the private contractor. An applicant shall be responsible for the fee charged by a private contractor for the review of such applicant's application, but shall not be a party to such contract. The department shall contract with a sufficient number of private contractors to allow reassignment of an application if it is necessary to disqualify one or more private contractors because of conflicts of interest or other reasons.

(b) If the department assigns an application to a private contractor under the provisions of this section, such private contractor shall provide the department and the applicant with the fee schedule of such private contractor and with an estimate of the fee to be charged for the review of such application.

(c) Upon being notified of the identity of the assigned private contractor and upon receiving such private contractor's fee schedule and estimated fee, an applicant has the option to allow the application review to commence or to reject the private contractor. If such applicant rejects a private contractor, the department shall assign a second private contractor. If such applicant rejects the second private contractor, the department shall review such applicant's application, but the department shall not be required to complete such review within the one-hundred-fifty-day time period.

(d) The review of an application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility by a private contractor shall be based upon the same criteria as is used by the department of public health and environment under the provisions of section 30-20-103.

(e) During the review period for an application, a private contractor shall contact the applicant and the department concerning any problems such private contractor finds in such application and shall offer the applicant an opportunity to provide such materials or explanations as the private contractor determines are necessary to complete review of such application or to make necessary amendments to such application.

(3) Any moneys which are collected by the department from solid wastes disposal site and facility applicants in payment for private contractor application review fees shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the solid waste management fund created in section 30-20-118. Such moneys collected for the fees charged by private contractors shall be annually appropriated by the general assembly to the department for the sole purpose of transferring such fees to such private contractors in payment for their services.

30-20-104. Factors to be considered. (1) In considering an application for a proposed solid wastes disposal site and facility, the governing body having jurisdiction shall take into account:

(a) The effect that the solid wastes disposal site and facility will have on the surrounding property, taking into consideration the types of processing to be used, surrounding property uses and values, and wind and climatic conditions;

(b) The convenience and accessibility of the solid wastes disposal site and facility to potential users;

(c) The ability of the applicant to comply with the health standards and operating procedures provided for in this part 1 and such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the department;

(d) Recommendations by county, district, or municipal public health agencies.

(2) Except as provided in this part 1, designation of approved solid wastes disposal sites and facilities shall be discretionary with the governing body having jurisdiction, subject to judicial review by the district court of appropriate jurisdiction.

(3) (a) Prior to the issuance of a certificate of designation, the governing body having jurisdiction shall require that the report, which shall be submitted by the applicant under section 30-20-103, be reviewed and a recommendation as to approval or disapproval be made by the department and shall be satisfied that the proposed solid wastes disposal site and facility conforms to the local government's comprehensive land use plan and zoning restrictions, if any. Any technical conditions of approval made by the department in its final report shall be incorporated as requirements in the certificate of designation. The application, report of the department, comprehensive land use plan, relevant zoning ordinances, and other pertinent information shall be presented to the governing body having jurisdiction at a public hearing to be held after notice. Such notice shall contain the time and place of the hearing, shall state that the matter to be considered is the applicant's proposal for a solid wastes disposal site and facility, shall provide a description of such proposed site and facility, and shall provide a description of the geographic area that is within three miles of such proposed site and facility. The notice shall be published in a newspaper having general circulation in the county or municipality in which the proposed solid wastes disposal site and facility is located at least ten but no more than thirty days prior to the date of the hearing. In addition, the notice of such public hearing shall be posted at a conspicuous point in at least one location at the offices of the governing body having jurisdiction and in at least one location at the proposed site. Such notice shall be posted for a period beginning at least thirty days before the public hearing and continuing through the date of such hearing.

(b) At the public hearing held pursuant to the provisions of this subsection (3), the governing body shall hear any written or oral testimony presented by governmental entities and residents concerning such proposed site or facility. All such testimony shall be considered by the governing body having jurisdiction in making a decision concerning such application. For the purposes of this subsection (3), "residents" means all individuals who reside within the geographic area controlled by the governing body having jurisdiction or within three miles of the proposed site and facility or who own property which lies within three miles of such proposed site and facility without regard to which county or municipality such individuals reside within.

30-20-104.5. Closure and postclosure care estimates - corrective action cost estimates - financial assurance requirements - rules. (1) The solid and hazardous waste commission shall promulgate rules that implement financial assurance requirements for the final closure of solid wastes disposal sites and facilities, the conduct of postclosure care for such sites and facilities, and the undertaking of any corrective action made necessary by the migration of contaminants from such sites and facilities into groundwater. Such rules shall include, but are not limited to, the following requirements:

(a) That the owner or operator of any solid wastes disposal site and facility shall maintain:

(I) A detailed written estimate of the cost of hiring a third party to close the largest area of such site and facility which has or will require a cover during the active life of such site and facility; and

(II) A detailed written estimate of the cost of hiring a third party to conduct postclosure care at such site and facility;

(b) That the owner or operator of any solid wastes disposal site and facility that is required to undertake a corrective action program pursuant to the requirements of subpart E of the federal regulations promulgated pursuant to the provisions of subtitle D of the federal "Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976", as amended, shall maintain a detailed written estimate of the cost of hiring a third party to perform such corrective action;

(c) That the owner or operator of any solid wastes disposal site and facility shall notify the department when the cost estimates required by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection (1) have been placed in the operating file for such site and facility;

(d) That the owner or operator of any solid wastes disposal site and facility shall:

(I) Express the cost estimates required by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection (1) in current dollars;

(II) Annually adjust such cost estimates to account for inflation; and

(III) Increase such cost estimates under the following circumstances:

(A) The cost estimate for the cost of hiring a third party to close such site and facility maintained pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (I) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (1) shall be increased if changes to the closure plan for such site and facility or changes in the conditions of such site and facility increase the maximum cost of closure at any time during the remaining active life of such site and facility.

(B) The cost estimate for the cost of hiring a third party to conduct postclosure care for such site and facility maintained pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (II) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (1) shall be increased if changes to the postclosure plan for such site and facility or changes in the conditions of site and facility increase the maximum cost of postclosure care for such site and facility.

(C) The cost estimate, if any, for the cost of hiring a third party to undertake corrective action for such site and facility maintained pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this subsection (1) shall be increased if changes in the corrective action program for such site and facility or changes in the conditions of such site and facility increase the maximum cost of corrective action for such site and facility.

(e) That the owner or operator of any solid wastes disposal site and facility shall comply with the financial assurance requirements mandated by the rules of the solid and hazardous waste commission promulgated pursuant to subsection (3) of this section.

(2) The owner or operator of a solid wastes disposal site and facility may reduce the amount of a cost estimate maintained pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (1) of this section if such cost estimate exceeds the maximum cost of completing the actions contemplated by such cost estimate.

(3) (a) The solid and hazardous waste commission shall promulgate rules that require the owner or operator of a solid wastes disposal site and facility to establish sufficient financial assurance to pay for the cost estimates required by paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) of this section. No solid wastes disposal site and facility shall operate without being in compliance with the financial assurance requirements contained in such rules. Such rules shall include, but shall not be limited to, provisions that define the mechanisms that may be used by the owner or operator of a solid wastes disposal site and facility to establish sufficient financial assurance pursuant to this section. The mechanisms to establish financial assurance that are defined by the commission shall include, but are not limited to, those mechanisms authorized by the federal regulations promulgated pursuant to subtitle D of the federal "Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976", as amended.

(b) (I) The sufficiency of the financial assurance provided pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection (3) for any proposed solid wastes disposal site and facility shall be reviewed as part of the department's review of the application for such proposed site and facility pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(II) The sufficiency of the financial assurance provided pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection (3) for any solid wastes disposal site and facility that is in existence at the time the applicable regulations of the department become effective shall be reviewed pursuant to the procedures established by the department. Such review may be performed either by the department or by a private contractor hired by the department for the purpose of completing such review. The department is authorized to impose a fee for any such review that is performed by the department; except that such fee shall not exceed the actual documented costs incurred by the department in the performance of such review. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any such review that is performed by a private contractor shall be conducted pursuant to the provisions of section 30-20-103.7.

(3.5) The department, pursuant to the provisions of part 14 of article 30 of title 24, C.R.S., is authorized to contract with one or more private contractors for the purpose of conducting the third-party closure, postclosure care, or corrective action at a solid waste facility as may be necessary. The department is authorized to expend such moneys for closure, postclosure care, or corrective action as is made available to the department by operation of law from the financial assurance mechanisms provided by the owner or operator of the solid wastes site and facility. Any such contract shall be between the department and the private contractor. The owner or operator shall not be a party to such contract. The department may disallow a contractor because of conflicts of interest or other reasons. The department may contract with the governing body that issued the certificate of designation to conduct such closure, postclosure care, or corrective action.

(4) The rules promulgated by the solid and hazardous waste commission pursuant to this section shall comply with the federal regulations promulgated pursuant to subtitle D of the federal "Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976", as amended. Such rules shall require that all solid wastes disposal sites and facilities be fully in compliance with such rules by the date established in the federal "Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976", as amended, and its regulations.

30-20-105. Certificate - state financial assurance requirements. (1) If the governing body having jurisdiction deems that a certificate of designation should be granted to the applicant, it shall issue the certificate, and such certificate shall be displayed in a prominent place at the site and facility. Such governing body shall not issue a certificate of designation if the department has recommended disapproval pursuant to section 30-20-103.

(2) No governing body having jurisdiction shall require an applicant for a certificate of designation to obtain any financial assurance mechanism or amount in addition to that required by the provisions of section 30-20-104.5.

(3) The department, on behalf of the solid and hazardous waste commission, shall consult the governing body having jurisdiction prior to the promulgation of the rules called for in this section and prior to accepting a financial assurance. The recommendations of such governing body shall be considered in formulating the rules and establishing the amount of financial assurance to be posted.

Operation of site through contract under governmental unit's certificate. A governmental unit which has received a certificate of designation for an "approved solid wastes disposal site and facility", may then operate that site and 30-20-109. Commission to promulgate rules - definitions. (1) The solid and hazardous waste commission shall promulgate rules for the engineering design and operation of solid wastes disposal sites and facilities, which may include:

(a) The establishment of engineering design criteria applicable, but not limited, to protection of surface and subsurface waters, suitable soil characteristics, distance from solid wastes generation centers, access routes, distance from water wells, disposal facility on-site traffic control patterns, insect and rodent control, methods of solid wastes compaction in the disposal fill, confinement of windblown debris, recycling operations, fire prevention, and final closure of the compacted fill;

(b) The establishment of criteria for solid wastes disposal sites and facilities which will place into operation the engineering design for such disposal sites and facilities;

(c) (Deleted by amendment, L. 91, p. 958, § 3, effective July 1, 1991.)

(d) The establishment of a reviewing fee to be charged by the department for the review of any written recommendation and findings of a private contractor who has acted in lieu of the department to review an application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility under the provisions of section 30-20-103.7 for compliance with the state's requirements. Such fee shall not exceed actual and reasonable costs and shall not exceed five thousand dollars.

(e) The establishment of a fee for the technical review described in section 30-20-119 (2), which fee shall not exceed ten thousand dollars, or the actual cost of such technical review.

(1.5) (a) As used in this subsection (1.5):

(I) "EP waste" means exploration and production waste, as that term is defined in section 34-60-103, C.R.S.

(II) "EP waste disposal facility" means a commercial solid wastes disposal site and facility that accepts the deposit of EP waste.

(b) The solid and hazardous waste commission shall promulgate rules that are specifically applicable to the deposit of EP waste at an EP waste disposal facility. The rules shall include the following:

(I) Mandatory set-backs of EP waste disposal facilities of one-half mile from all residences, educational facilities, day care centers, hospitals, nursing homes, jails, hotels, motels, other occupied structures, or outside activity areas such as parks and playing fields as designated in the rules;

(II) Mandatory fabricated liners and monitoring requirements as necessary to prevent the migration of EP waste to groundwater;

(III) Waste analysis and reporting requirements to ensure that only EP waste is disposed of at an EP waste disposal facility;

(IV) Fencing and netting requirements to prevent the public and wildlife from accessing EP waste disposal facilities;

(V) Contingency plans to respond to emergencies, including adequate freeboard, overflow ponds, or both; and

(VI) Financial assurance requirements that are adequate to cover closure and reclamation costs.

(c) Except as provided in paragraph (e) of this subsection (1.5), an EP waste disposal facility that accepted EP waste on or before June 4, 2008, and that had not begun closure by June 4, 2008, shall:

(I) File an application pursuant to section 30-20-103 within three months after the rules promulgated pursuant to this subsection (1.5) become effective with the governing body having jurisdiction to amend the facility's certificate of designation to incorporate the requirements specified in the rules; and

(II) Comply with the rules promulgated pursuant to this subsection (1.5) within twenty-four months after they become effective, unless the EP waste disposal facility demonstrates to the department no later than eighteen months after the rules become effective why it cannot timely comply with the rules and the department agrees to a compliance schedule. In such case, the department may extend the compliance deadline to no more than thirty-six months after the rules become effective; except that nothing in this subsection (1.5) shall be deemed to:

(A) Require an EP waste disposal facility that lawfully accepted EP waste on or before June 4, 2008, to comply with the set-back requirements of this subsection (1.5); or

(B) Place an EP waste disposal facility into noncompliance because of an alleged violation of a set-back requirement of this subsection (1.5) due solely to the fact that a residential or other occupied structure or a designated outside activity area is established within the set-back distance on or after issuance of the certificate of designation pursuant to this subsection (1.5).

(d) The department shall:

(I) Coordinate with the Colorado oil and gas conservation commission created in section 34-60-104, C.R.S., governing bodies having jurisdiction, and the federal bureau of land management to identify potential EP waste disposal sites that are located reasonably close to oil and gas operation areas on either federal or nonfederal land and that meet the set-back requirements of this subsection (1.5); and

(II) To the extent practicable, encourage governing bodies having jurisdiction and the federal bureau of land management to approve the siting of EP waste disposal sites at locations identified pursuant to this paragraph (d) when so requested by a commercial operator.

(e) (I) Upon the recommendation of the department, the solid and hazardous waste commission may waive, for individual impoundments, the requirement imposed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this subsection (1.5) that an EP waste disposal facility that accepted EP waste on or before June 4, 2008, but had not begun closure by that date, must install fabricated liners. The department may recommend a waiver only if all of the following conditions are met:

(A) There have been no unpermitted discharges to groundwater or surface water from the operation of the facility;

(B) Each impoundment for which a waiver is requested is located more than one thousand feet from any public or private water well or surface water;

(C) The owner or operator complies with mandatory monitoring and reporting requirements as determined by the department, including, but not limited to, individual impoundment leak detection monitoring; and

(D) The owner or operator is not subject to any outstanding compliance orders or enforcement actions with regard to the design, operation, or closure of the facility.

(II) If, at any time, the department determines that one or more of the conditions specified in subparagraph (I) of this paragraph (e) are no longer met, the department may bring the relevant information to the solid and hazardous waste commission with a recommendation to rescind the waiver of the requirement to install fabricated liners. If the solid and hazardous waste commission determines that one or more of the conditions are no longer being met, the solid and hazardous waste commission may rescind the waiver and instruct the department to establish a compliance schedule for the owner or operator to install fabricated liners.

(2) The solid and hazardous waste commission may promulgate rules concerning:

(a) The establishment of an initial examination of each application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility to establish the completeness of the information submitted. Such initial examination shall be completed within thirty days after the department receives such application, and the department shall mail written notification to an applicant and to the governing body having jurisdiction within such time period stating the decision of the department to begin its review of such application or to reject the application based on incompleteness.

(b) The establishment of a fee for the review of solid wastes disposal site and facility submittals and the preoperation inspection for such site and facility, for the attendance of department staff at public meetings and associated activities, and for the assessment of remediation activities concerning closed or old disposal sites or spill and incident clean-ups. The total fee charged for the review of an application or amendments to an application shall not exceed the actual documented costs incurred by the department in the performance of these activities and shall be subject to the maximum levels established in accordance with the provisions of subsection (2.5) of this section. Such review shall be completed within one hundred fifty days from date of issuance of the department's decision to begin its review. Moneys from the collection of such fees shall be credited to the solid waste management fund pursuant to the provisions of section 30-20-118. Such moneys shall be used solely to support the application review process and to support the staff of the department involved with such process.

(c) (Deleted by amendment, L. 98, p. 882, § 9, effective July 1, 1998.)

(d) The establishment of criteria for composting sites and facilities for which a certificate of designation is not required under section 30-20-102 (8).

(2.5) The solid and hazardous waste commission shall promulgate rules pertaining to the assessment of annual fees and document review and activity fees to offset program costs from solid waste disposal sites and facilities in accordance with the following requirements:

(a) Annual fees shall be established for solid waste disposal sites and facilities that are not required to pay solid waste user fees imposed pursuant to section 25-16-104.5, C.R.S. The fee imposed by this paragraph (a) shall not exceed five thousand dollars per year per facility; except that a monofill facility that contains coal combustion products shall be exempt from the fee imposed by this paragraph (a). The annual fee shall be uniform among owners of the same type of, and similarly sized, facility and shall consider the department's level of effort in regulating the facilities.

(b) The hourly charge for the document review and activity fees shall be established at a rate comparable to industry rates for performing similar tasks with maximum levels on document review and activity fees that reflect timely and cost-effective reviews.

(c) The department shall provide a receipt for the fees paid pursuant to this subsection (2.5), shall transmit such payments to the state treasurer, and accept the state treasurer's receipt in return for the payments transmitted. The state treasurer shall credit one hundred percent of the fees transmitted pursuant to this paragraph (c) to the solid waste management fund created in section 30-20-118 (1) to be used by the department in carrying out its duties and responsibilities concerning solid waste management.

(2.7) If the department determines that a site or facility is or has been subject to payment of the annual fee requirements pursuant to subsection (2.5) of this section and has not paid any portion of the amount of fees due and owing, in addition to any other remedies the department may have in such circumstances as provided by law, the department may assess the site or facility an additional fee to offset program costs caused by the site or facility, which additional fee shall be equivalent to double the amount of the estimated annual fee, without interest, that the site or facility would have paid the department if the fee had been paid as required by law.

(3) Any applicant aggrieved by a recommendation of the department concerning an application for a solid wastes disposal site and facility shall be entitled to a hearing and review pursuant to the provisions of the "State Administrative Procedure Act", article 4 of title 24, C.R.S.

(4) (a) Any and all rules promulgated by the department of public health and environment prior to the transfer of its rule-making authority under this section to the state board of health shall remain in full force and effect after the date of such transfer.

(b) All acts, orders, and rules adopted by the state board of health under the authority of this part 1 prior to July 1, 2006, that were valid prior to said date and not otherwise subject to judicial review shall, to the extent that they are not inconsistent with said part, be deemed and held to be legal and valid in all respects, as though issued by the solid and hazardous waste commission under the authority of this part 1. No provision of this part 1 shall be construed to validate any actions, orders, or rules that were not valid when adopted by the board of health prior to such date.

ANNOTATION

Applied in City & County of Denver v. Eggert, 647 P.2d 216 (Colo. 1982).

30-20-110. Minimum standards. (1) The rules promulgated by the solid and hazardous waste commission and implemented by the department shall contain the following minimum standards:

(a) Such sites and facilities shall be located, operated, and maintained in a manner so as to control obnoxious odors and prevent rodent and insect breeding and infestation, and they shall be kept adequately covered during their use.

(b) Such sites and facilities shall comply with the health laws, standards, rules, and regulations of the department, the water quality control commission, and all applicable zoning laws and ordinances.

(c) No radioactive materials or materials contaminated by radioactive substances shall be disposed of in sites or facilities not specifically designated for that purpose.

(d) A site and facility operated as a sanitary landfill shall provide means of finally disposing of solid wastes on land in a manner to minimize nuisance conditions such as odors, windblown debris, insects, rodents, and smoke; and shall provide compacted fill material; shall provide adequate cover with suitable material and surface drainage designed to prevent ponding and water and wind erosion and prevent water and air pollution; and, upon being filled, shall be left in a condition of orderliness and good esthetic appearance and capable of blending with the surrounding area. In the operation of such a site and facility, the solid wastes shall be distributed in the smallest area consistent with handling traffic to be unloaded; shall be placed in the most dense volume practicable using moisture and compaction or other method approved by the department; shall be fire, insect, and rodent resistant through the application of an adequate layer of inert material at regular intervals; and shall have a minimum of windblown debris which shall be collected regularly and placed into the fill.

(e) Sites and facilities shall be adequately fenced so as to prevent waste material and debris from escaping therefrom, and material and debris shall not be allowed to accumulate along the fence line.

(f) Solid wastes deposited at any site and facility shall not be burned, other than by incineration in accordance with a certificate of designation issued pursuant to section 30-20-105; except that, in extreme emergencies resulting in the generation of large quantities of combustible materials, authorization for burning under controlled conditions may be given by the department.

(g) All facilities shall have a waste characterization plan approved by the department that is consistent with the certificate of designation for the facility. The plan shall outline screening methodologies and waste handling procedures and shall include a hazardous waste exclusion plan.

(h) Material that is beneficially used shall be incorporated into the soil in the shortest time frame that is practicable, allowing for weather conditions. Materials that may be beneficially used under this section may not be stockpiled for long periods or used in such a manner that the material constitutes a public nuisance.

(i) Minimum standards for facilities that do not need a certificate of designation under section 30-20-102 (5) shall include an annual report of quantities of materials managed at the site.

(j) Such minimum standards shall require the reporting, documentation, or remediation of spills at illegal disposal sites, abandoned disposal sites, or contaminated sites.

(2) Any provision of section 25-7-108, C.R.S., to the contrary notwithstanding, the board of county commissioners in any county with less than twenty-five thousand population, according to the latest federal census, and any municipality within a county which county has a population under ten thousand and subject to approval of the board of county commissioners, is authorized to develop regulations, by resolution or ordinance, permitting the noncommercial burning of trash in the unincorporated area and, if appropriate, the incorporated areas of said county; except that no permit shall be issued which shall allow the county, or municipality if appropriate, to exceed primary and secondary ambient air quality standards as prescribed by federal laws and regulations adopted pursuant thereto, or which would contribute to any other county or municipality exceeding primary or secondary ambient air quality standards as prescribed by federal laws and regulations adopted pursuant thereto.

(3) As used in subsection (2) of this section, "noncommercial burning of trash" includes the burning of wood waste in wigwam wood waste burners.

30-20-110.5. Beneficial use of biosolids - water quality control commission to set fees - fund created. (1) The water quality control commission shall establish, and may revise as necessary, a schedule of nonrefundable fees to cover the reasonable costs of implementing a program for the beneficial use of biosolids. Such fees shall be imposed upon the producers of biosolids that are applied for beneficial use. In no event shall the fee exceed two dollars and forty cents per dry ton of biosolids.

(2) Repealed.

(3) All fees collected pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the biosolids management program fund, which fund is hereby created. The moneys in such fund shall be subject to annual appropriation to the department by the general assembly, which shall review expenditures of such moneys to assure that they are used to accomplish the purposes of this section. Any interest earned on moneys in the fund shall remain in the fund to be used for purposes of this section.

The governing body having jurisdiction, after reasonable notice and public hearing, shall temporarily suspend or revoke a certificate of designation that has been granted by it for failure of a site and facility to comply with all applicable laws, resolutions, and ordinances or to comply with the provisions of this part 1 or any rule or regulation adopted pursuant thereto.

ANNOTATION

Quasi-judicial action must be preceded by reasonable notice. Under the solid wastes act (§§ 30-20-101 through 30-20-116), quasi-judicial action by county commissioners must be preceded by reasonable notice. City & County of Denver v. Eggert, 647 P.2d 216 (Colo. 1982).

Proper notice of quasi-judicial agency action must reasonably describe the subject matter of the hearing, any charges to be considered, and the action contemplated. City & County of Denver v. Eggert, 647 P.2d 216 (Colo. 1982).

30-20-113. Inspection - enforcement - nuisances - violations - civil penalty. (1) No person shall:

(a) Abandon a solid wastes disposal site and facility or operate, maintain, or close such a facility in a manner that violates any of the provisions of this part 1, any rule or regulation adopted pursuant thereto, or any certificate of designation issued under section 30-20-104;

(b) Dispose of solid waste at a location other than a site designated for such use by a county or municipality, unless otherwise exempted by this part 1 or unless the person is disposing of his or her own waste on his or her own property;

(c) Dispose of solid wastes in any manner that violates any of the provisions of part 10 of this article or any rule adopted pursuant thereto;

(d) Collect, transport, store, process, or dispose of trap grease in any manner that violates section 30-20-123 or any rule promulgated pursuant thereto.

(2) (a) Whenever the department finds that any solid wastes disposal site and facility or any person is in violation of subsection (1) of this section, the department may issue an order requiring that the site and facility or person comply with any such requirement, rule, or certificate of designation and may request the attorney general to bring suit for injunctive relief or for penalties pursuant to this section. The department shall not be required to conduct a hearing in accordance with section 24-4-105, C.R.S., before issuing an order pursuant to this subsection (2).

(b) (I) An order issued pursuant to this subsection (2) may include an administrative penalty assessment as provided in subsection (4) or (5) of this section. In lieu of imposing an administrative penalty assessment for a violation of subsection (1) of this section, the department may seek to have a civil penalty imposed, as provided in subsection (4) or (5) of this section, for such violation. The department shall bring an action for a civil penalty in the district court for the judicial district in which the violation occurred.

(II) If the department issues an order that does not contain an administrative penalty assessment, the department shall not be precluded from subsequently imposing an administrative penalty assessment or seeking a civil penalty for the violations detailed in the order.

(c) The department shall serve an order issued pursuant to this subsection (2) on the person who is the subject of the order by personal service or by certified mail. In addition to imposing an administrative penalty, the order may prohibit the person from engaging in specified activity in violation of subsection (1) of this section or may require the person to comply with the requirements of part 1 or part 10 of this article. The order shall take effect upon issuance unless otherwise specified in the order.

(2.5) (a) A person against whom an order has been issued, referred to in this section as the "requesting party", may submit a written request to the office of administrative courts in the department of personnel for a hearing on the order and shall provide a copy of the request to the executive director of the department or the executive director's designee. The requesting party shall file the request for hearing by personal service or by certified mail within thirty calendar days after the effective date of the order. An administrative law judge from the office of administrative courts shall conduct the hearing in accordance with section 24-4-105, C.R.S., except as otherwise specified in this section.

(b) If a request for a hearing is filed, payment of any monetary penalty is stayed pending a final decision by the administrative law judge after the hearing on the merits. Absent a motion to stay the order pursuant to paragraph (c) of this subsection (2.5), the requesting party shall comply with any other requirements of the order. If the administrative law judge grants a motion to stay the order, the department shall not be precluded from imposing a penalty against the requesting party for subsequent violations of subsection (1) of this section.

(c) (I) The requesting party may submit a motion to the administrative law judge to stay the enforcement of the order pending the outcome of the hearing. The administrative law judge may grant the motion to stay any portion of the order if he or she determines that the balance of equities favors the requesting party. In making his or her determination, the administrative law judge shall consider the following factors:

(A) The probability of serious harm to the requesting party if the motion for a stay is denied;

(B) The probability that no serious harm to the public health or the environment will occur if the motion for a stay is granted;

(C) The merits of the requesting party's case; and

(D) The public interest.

(II) If the administrative law judge grants a stay of all or a portion of the order, the requesting party shall not be excused from its obligations under applicable laws, rules, permits, and valid, existing orders.

(III) The administrative law judge shall expedite hearings and determinations on a motion to stay an order. The requesting party bears the burden of proof in a motion to stay an order.

(d) Except as provided in subparagraph (III) of paragraph (c) of this subsection (2.5), the department bears the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence in a hearing pursuant to this subsection (2.5).

(e) (I) Upon the motion of a party to the hearing, and in the discretion of the administrative law judge, an administrative law judge may request an interpretive rule from the solid and hazardous waste commission pertaining to any rule that is at issue in the hearing, but only if there is no genuine issue of material fact or the parties have stipulated to the material facts for the purposes of the interpretive rule. The administrative law judge may adjust the schedule of the hearing to accommodate the receipt of an interpretive rule. In making a determination on a motion to request an interpretive rule, the administrative law judge shall consider the following factors:

(A) Whether the plain language of the rule in question is clear and unambiguous;

(B) Whether the proposed construction of the rule in question would lead to an absurd result; and

(C) Whether the solid and hazardous waste commission has previously issued an interpretive rule concerning the subject of the request for an interpretive rule.

(II) Notwithstanding section 24-4-103 (1), C.R.S., if the administrative law judge requests, and the solid and hazardous waste commission agrees to issue, an interpretive rule, the commission shall give notice to the public of the interpretive rule-making proceeding in accordance with section 24-4-103, C.R.S. The commission shall provide the notice within forty-five days after receipt of the request. The commission shall accept written material, not to exceed fifteen pages in length, from any interested person if it is provided within fifteen days after the date that notification is given. The commission shall issue the written interpretive rule no later than thirty days after the deadline for the submission of written material. The legal effect of any such interpretive rule shall be determined in accordance with applicable law and is not presumed to be binding on any party to the hearing.

(f) Notwithstanding section 24-4-105 (15), C.R.S., any appeal of a determination of the administrative law judge pursuant to this subsection (2.5) shall be filed in the appropriate district court in accordance with section 24-4-106, C.R.S.

(2.7) The department shall bring an action for a violation of subsection (1) of this section within two years after the date the department discovers an alleged violation or within five years after the date the alleged violation occurred, whichever date occurs earlier; except that the limitation period is tolled during any period that a person intentionally conceals the alleged violation. For the purposes of this section, "intentionally" shall have the meaning provided for such term in section 18-1-501 (5), C.R.S.

(3) Any solid wastes disposal site and facility found to be abandoned or inactive or that is operated, maintained, or closed in a manner so as to violate any of the provisions of this part 1 and part 10 of this article or any rule adopted pursuant thereto shall be deemed a public nuisance, and such violation may be enjoined by the department, the board of county commissioners of the county wherein the violation occurred, or the governing body of the municipality wherein the violation occurred.

(4) Any person who violates paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (1) of this section shall be subject to a clean-up and cease-and-desist order issued by the department or by the board of county commissioners if the violation occurred in the unincorporated area of the county or by the governing body of a municipality if the violation occurred within the municipality. Any person who fails to comply with such orders shall be subject to an administrative or civil penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars for each day of such violation. The violation and civil penalty shall be determined and enforced by a court of competent jurisdiction upon action instituted by the board or governing body that issued the orders. The violation and administrative penalty shall be determined and enforced in accordance with subsections (2), (2.5), and (5.5) of this section. Any penalty collected shall be distributed to the county or municipality that instituted the action.

(5) (a) Any person who is found pursuant to subsection (2) of this section to be in violation of subsection (1) of this section or who fails to comply with an order issued by the department shall be subject to an administrative or civil penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars for each day of such violation.

(b) Any penalty collected by the department under this part 1 or part 10 of this article shall be paid to the state treasurer; however, notwithstanding this paragraph (b), the department may enter into settlement agreements regarding any penalty or claim under this part 1 or part 10 of this article. Any settlement agreement may include but is not necessarily limited to the payment or contribution of moneys to state or local agencies for environmentally beneficial purposes.

(5.5) (a) In determining the amount of an administrative or civil penalty imposed pursuant to subsection (4) or (5) of this section for a violation of subsection (1) of this section, the department, the administrative law judge, or the court shall consider the following factors:

- (I) The seriousness of the violation;
- (II) Whether the violation was intentional, reckless, or negligent;
- (III) The impact upon or the threat to public health or the environment as a result of the violation;
- (IV) The degree, if any, of recalcitrance or recidivism upon the part of the violator;
- (V) The economic benefit realized by the violator as a result of the violation;
- (VI) The voluntary and complete disclosure by the violator of the violation in a timely manner after discovery of, and prior to the department's knowledge of, the violation, as long as all reports required to be submitted under state environmental laws have been submitted as and when required;
- (VII) The full and prompt cooperation by the violator following disclosure of the violation, including, when appropriate, entering into and implementing a good faith and legally enforceable agreement to undertake compliance and remedial efforts;
- (VIII) The existence of a regularized and comprehensive environmental compliance program or an environmental audit program that was adopted in a timely and good faith manner and that includes sufficient measures to identify and prevent future noncompliance; and
- (IX) Other aggravating or mitigating circumstances or factors.

(b) The factors contained in subparagraphs (VI), (VII), and (VIII) of paragraph (a) of this subsection (5.5) shall be mitigating factors and may be applied, together with other factors, to reduce the amount of the penalty.

(6) The department, by its duly authorized representatives, shall have the power to enter and inspect each solid wastes disposal site and facility, as well as any property, premises, or place in which solid waste is reasonably believed to be located for the purposes of determining compliance with the requirements, rules, and certificate of designation issued pursuant to this part 1 and part 10 of this article. Such employee or representative shall have access to all such sites and facilities during any time when the site or facility is open to the public. If such entry or inspection is denied or not consented to and no emergency exists, the department is empowered to and shall obtain from the district court for the judicial district in which such property, premises, or place is located a warrant to enter and inspect any such property, premises, or place prior to entry and inspection. The district courts of this state are empowered to issue such warrants upon a showing that such entry and inspection is required to verify that the purposes of this part 1 and part 10 of this article are being carried out.

(7) The solid and hazardous waste commission shall establish such rules as are necessary to implement this section.

(8) Nothing in this section shall preclude or preempt the authority of a county or municipality to adopt or enforce its own local resolutions or ordinances.

(9) Notwithstanding any other provision of this part 1 or part 10 of this article other than section 30-20-110.5, the processing, application, storage, or composting of biosolids or other materials under rules promulgated pursuant to section 25-8-205 (1) (e), C.R.S., shall be excluded from this part 1 and part 10 of this article.

ANNOTATION

Applied in City & County of Denver v. Eggert, 647 P.2d 216 (Colo. 1982).

30-20-114. Violation - penalty. Any person who violates any provision of this part 1 is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Nothing in this part 1 shall preclude or preempt a municipality from enforcement of its local ordinances. Each day of violation shall be deemed a separate offense under this section.

ANNOTATION

No unconstitutional delegation of legislative power. Vesting in the county commissioners authority to acquire, construct, and maintain public projects particularly defined in the act as intended for use in the promotion of the public health is not so broad or vague as to constitute an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power. Garel v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 167 Colo. 351, 447 P.2d 209 (1968).

The purpose of the general welfare clause in a statute is to extend the powers of a municipality beyond those specifically enumerated to other things which are necessary to accomplish the purposes of municipal government. Garel v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 167 Colo. 351, 447 P.2d 209 (1968).
